MAKES EVERY MEMBER EXERCISE A LA VICTROLA

HARRIS MEYER SPRINGS A SURPRISE AT THE EXCHANGE CLUB

Harris Meyer believes in calisthenics before a hearty meal, and he rather surprised one hundred members of the Exchange Club, who were about to sit down to a chicken dinner when he told them to remain standing as he had a good pill for their digestion.

A Victrola had been placed upon the floor and one of the Victor records were soon plainly heard giving directions relating to the first lesson and the proper exercises.

The "Master's Voice" from the phonograph was heard to say, "hands straight up, down level to the shoulders, down straight to the side and repeat ten times."

Soon one hundred members were windmilling with their arms until the perspiration began to show. Some even threw off their coats to get in the game.

Shortly afterward another exercise was heard to come from the phonograph and the members followed the directions given. By the time the record was finished the members were glad to sit down to a hearty repast.

It is said that the next lesson that Harris is to put on will be exercises by music. Laying on the floor and drawing your legs in the air is one of the diversions it is understood.

This will be an interesting sight for a spectator, but as there are no spectators and all must participate the laugh will be on no one. Who knows, maybe, "shaking the shimmy" as a shoulder exercise may be a third lesson.

Anyway the Exchange members are very much pleased to get their much needed exercises with a musical accompaniment, rather sugar coated, you know.

MAYOR DOES NOT BELIEVE IN ALDERMANIC WARD LINES

BELIEVES THAT ALDERMEN SHOULD BE ELECTED BY ALL THE PEOPLE

Gives An Interesting History of Holland's Political Life, Past, Present and Future

Possibly one of the most interesting discourses ever heard in this city was given by Mayor E. P. Stephan before one hundred members of the Exchange club at their luncheon Wednesday noon.

The mayor's discourse embraced Holland's past present, and future. He told of the political licks he had had; he stated he didn't believe in the primary system as it was conducted these days, told of the fights of other mayors and the grooming of Holland's marshals as sheriffs.

There is more interesting history tied up in the mayor's talk than has been made public for some time past, in fact it was of such import, and involves so many questions that we also have to meet in the future that we publish the oration in full below.

This is what Mayor Stephan has to say on the past, present and future:

"Our city, is a subject I wish to discuss with you a few moments and will try to tell you some things which I know are of common interest to all of us. Much of it is well known to some of you, but which is well to be reminded of, and, I hope to tell you some things that you do not know but ought to know. I can't conceive of a topic which is of more vital concern to each and every one of us than our city and our city government, and which more directly affects each and every one of us. Yet there is nothing that the average man pays less attention to, and gives less thought to, than the administration of city affairs.

"In the former days when they used to have city caucuses, unless there was a fight on, and either that the citizens had an axe to grind or that contesting candidates would go out and urge their friends to attend—these were as a rule very poorly attended. This was especially true of ward caucuses and I have always maintained that the most important functions of the voters to assure election of efficient officers, were the ward and city caucuses.

Today we are working under a primary system, and that to my notion is a bigger failure than the old caucus system. If a man wants to run for an office today, he must get out a petition, or get some of his friends to circulate a petition. Most men object to going through this ordeal and very often the men who are best fitted for office, refuse to become candidates, while those that cheerfully consent are often of a mediocre calibre, that does not result in the best interest of the city. Under the old caucus system each party would try and put forth the best and strongest man they could get, and while very often this man might not be a willing candidate, he was forced by the citizens in caucus assembled, and would submit to public demands. There is something about a caucus or a public gathering that appeals to the vanity of a man, while he may not have any desire to accept the office, yet the fact that a great many of his fellowmen have come together, and write his name on the ballot, and give him a majority of votes as the nominee of that party or assembly, and he is told by able speakers that he is the man of the hour; this appeals to him and he submits to the demand. It gives the candidate a line on the situation, and it enthralls him, and these caucuses create a healthy sentiment among the people and keeps them more interested in the city's affairs.

"The primaries are a cold proposition. In the first place it is hard to get the people out to vote on primary day, and then again on election day, and I can see the lessening of interest in public affairs since the day that the primary system was inaugurated.

"Holland got its city charter in the year 1867, two years before the speaker was born and six years before he came to this community. Its first mayor was Isaac Cappon who held the office for one year and then was succeeded by Dr. B. Ledebor, who held the office for two years. Again Cappon was elected in 1870 and in 1872 Edward J. Harrington was elected for two years and in 1874 Isaac Cappon was again elected for mayor and held the office for one year. John Van Landegend was elected mayor in 1875 and held the office two years and in 1877 Kommer Schaddelee was elected and held the office for two years. In 1879 Isaac Cappon was again elected for mayor and held the office for one year and in 1880 E. VanderVeen was elected and held the office for one year. In 1881 John Root was elected and in 1882 William H. Beach was elected and held the office for three years. It was during his administration that the beginning of our water works system was inaugurated. Rokus Kanters was elected in 1885, Patrick H. Mc Bride in 1886, in 1888 C. J. De Roo was elected and in 1889 Dr. Henry Kremers and in 1890 Dr. Yates and in 1892 Edw. J. Harrington was elected again for mayor. In 1893 George P. Hummer was elected and held the office for two years. It was at this time that the speaker became actively interested in politics and I am glad to say that I have never lost interest in city affairs. While my experience in politics has not always been pleasant yet I have always felt that a man owes certain duties to his God and to his country and that he has no right to shirk and that any man who neglects either of the two is not doing justice to himself or his fellowmen.

"The first time Hummer was elected he ran against E. J. Harrington. Our elections in those days were conducted along party lines, democrats and republicans, and the defeat of Harrington who was a republican, by Hummer who was a democrat, did not sit good in the minds of a great many of the staunch, rock-ribbed republicans of those days. In those days a republican was a republican and a democrat a democrat, and to split a ticket was a discredit to a man.

"The second time that Hummer ran for mayor Isaac Cappon was his opponent. The republicans i. e. "those ayeed in the wool" republicans, felt that they had to put their strongest man forward in order to defeat Mr. Hummer and in that way wipe out the disgrace of having a Democratic mayor. This was a real fight as some of you will well remember who lived here at that time. Hummer won. In 1895 G. J. Diekema was elected mayor and held the office for one year.

"James DeYoung was elected in 1896-97. Both times Diekema was the nominee against De Young, both times they had a recount and both times De Young won out. In 1898 G. W. Mokma was elected mayor and served two years. Jacob G. VanPutten was his opponent and this most popular man had to go down in defeat because he was a democrat. William Brussee was elected mayor in 1900 and served two years. His opponent was Jacob G. Van Putten. In 1902 C. J. De Roo was elected. Mr. De Roo was a Democrat and his opponent was Isaac Marsilie. De Roo made a very strenuous campaign, went through all the factories, shook hands with all the boys and told them that he did not expect to be elected but that he would appreciate it if they would give him a complimentary vote. Well, so many did that, with no expectation of electing him, but when the ballots were counted, DeRoo had more votes than Marsilie. DeRoo served two years. In 1904 Henry Geerlings was elected mayor and served two years. In 1906 Jacob G. VanPutten was elected and served two years. In 1908 Henry Brussee was elected and served three years. I was his opponent twice and both times got a good licking. In 1911 I was elected and served one year. It was at this time that the gas question came to an issue and while I was convinced that the committee who had this in hand and who worked hard for four months to solve this question had done a good job, when it came to the vote of the people it was defeated. The leader in this fight against the report of the committee was Nicodemus Bosch, one of the great tils, together with Vernon King and Mr. Courtney. On account of the bitterness that had been stirred up by the opposition to the acceptance of the gas report, I did not think it was healthy for me to run the next year, and therefore told my friends that I was too busy to accept the office for another year.

Bosch was elected mayor three times—twice for a term of one year and then the charter was amended and the term of office for mayor was changed to two years, so he served four years in succession. He was succeeded by J. Vandersluis who served one term of two years and who then was succeeded by Nicodemus Bosch. In 1920 I was again elected mayor, and am still alive.

"Next to the office of mayor in olden days which always was of great interest and of great importance and which always showed up a good fight was the office of city marshal. This was because it was a stepping stone to a sheriffship. I will just give you the names of the city marshals we have had and to those of you who have lived here some years it will recall to you some interesting history.

"The first marshal we had was Tennis Keppel, father of Bastian Keppel. He was succeeded by Jacob Van Putten, father of "Black Jake" and John Van Putten. Then Arie Woltman, Cornelius Blom, Joe Ver Planke, Peter Koning, etc., for let it be said that up to within recent years every marshal that was elected was groomed for the sheriffship, and for 32 years, Holland has held the sheriff's office, until Jesse Woodbury broke the established precedent.

Marshals who were sheriffs were Woltman, Keppel and Ed Vaupell, Bastian Keppel, and Frank Van Ry, Henry Dykhuis, his son Hans, and Fred Kamferbeek who made the attempt against Jesse Woodbury some years ago. These men have all been marshals of Holland before a police department was established.

HOLLAND MEN GET HEAVY FINE FOR ASSAULT AND BATTERY

EIGHTEEN INVOLVED IN DAMAGE SUIT BROUGHT FOR TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS

Aftermath of Halloween Assault Taking Place More Than a Year Ago

A very interesting case was tried in Circuit Court this week involving several Holland young men who had been identified with an assault and battery case that took place more than a year ago.

The suit was brought by Norman Miller against Raymond Armbruster, Andy Vos, Harry Bronkhorst and Jim McCarthy.

The suit was an aftermath of a rowdy Halloween party in 1921, more than a year ago, when these four men together with fourteen others got onto a truck driving to different parts of the city to raise "Hell" over the.

"They happened along the Holland Shoe factory, saw the large gravel shoots and decided to empty them.

Norman Miller who was the night-watchman there for the Construction company asked the men to desist, but they knocked him down, and one unusually mean individual kicked Miller in the face, completely crushing his nose from which he has suffered ever since.

Dr. R. H. Nichols of Holland swore on the stand that the young man would have to undergo an expensive and a painful operation in order to have his nose put in proper condition.

When the rowdies had left, Miller crawled to the Holland Shoe factory where he called for aid.

Miller brought suit thru his attorneys for damages amounting to $2,000 against the four men and 14 others and the jury promptly rendered a verdict for nearly the full amount the complainant receiving $1,800.

It will be remembered that after the assault Miller made complaint against two of the men, Vos and McCarthy, who both pleaded guilty before Justice Van Schelven for assaulting him, and each paid a fine of $100 and costs, which they testified on the stand had been divided into eighteen parts, and each of the 18 men had contributed an equal share to the payment.

Prosecutor Miles in speaking of the case stated that the jury evidently considered it a most vicious and unwarranted and brutal assault and acted accordingly. People do not seem to complain if children parade the streets and cut, playing a few pranks, and even soaping the windows, but when it comes to men ranging from 24 to 30 years of age going out and deliberately damaging property and assaulting whoever is in charge, viciously, it ought to be heartily condemned, and the jury in this case by their verdict heartily condemns such action.

ATT. GEN. THINKS VOTERS SHOULD NOT BE DISFRANCHISED FEELS THAT LEGISLATURE DID NOT INTEND THIS STRICT STIPULATION

Prosecutor Fred T. Miles has interested himself in the Kamferbeek Fortney recount case and has written the attorney general for his opinion.

In a letter from Marlin Wiley, state's attorney to Mr. Miles, he gives his opinion that he does not believe that the legislature intended that there should be such a wholesale disfranchisement of voters because of the initialing of the ballots in lead pencil.

He feels that the case in question is a technicality and the intent of the voters is plainly shown.

While the attorney general's opinion will have no legal bearing on the case and the proceedings will go on along the lines outlined by the local attorney, Mr. Miles states that he felt that the opinion of the attorney general might not be amiss at this time.

The opinion of the attorney general must not be misconstrued. His opinion is simply that which might be given by any other high class attorney.

The position he occupies has no bearing on the case.

PEOPLE OF EBENEZER MAKE GIFT TO SEMINARY

The work of grading the campus of the Western Theological Seminary is going steadily forward and many persons are interesting themselves in it and helping it along. The people of the Ebenezer Reformed church, a mile or two east of Holland, have taken it upon themselves to deliver to the seminary a large number of loads of rich soil of that community. This soil is delivered free of charge, the work and the soil itself being a donation to the seminary by the people of the church.

FENVILLE AGAIN FOLLOWING EVEN TENOR OF ITS WAY

Saugatuck and Fennville have been having considerable excitement the past few weeks which is unusual in these steady towns at this time of the year.

Posses of men and even women with all sorts of firearms were chasing escaped convicts from Ionia, and an aggregation of newspaper men from Chicago and Detroit followed, armed with cameras.

Big stories appeared in all the metropolitan papers featuring the steps that were taken in order to capture bandits that had supposedly been surrounded. At one time here, at another time in some other place.

The elusive convicts however always managed to get away and the latest report is that one has been captured in Toledo.

Anyway the excitement is over, the newspaper men have gone home, and the posse of citizens have laid down their arms and have again started to occupy themselves with the more peaceful pursuits of life.

While it lasted however, it was great sport, kidding oneself in believing that they were hunting bandits and desperadoes.

Then too, the district got a great deal of advertising that it would not otherwise have received.

But as this paper has said long ago, bandits must eat and drink, and unless they were befriended by citizens in those parts, they before long would have to come out into the open.

The officers now think that the men got away, consequently they have withdrawn their forces.

PIONEERS' STRUGGLES ARE TOLD DURING CHURCH ANNIVERSARY

The commemoration of the 75th anniversary of the 9th Street Christian Reformed church took place on Thursday evening. In the large church edifice that accommodates 1500 people and only standing room was available.

The ceremonies were unusually impressive and the speakers told of the heartaches the struggles and the pestilence that nearly wiped out the little band who came to Holland under the leadership of Dr. A. C. Van Raalte to plant the standard of religious freedom in a free country that has written in its constitution "Every man may serve God according to the dictates of his own conscience."

Into the wilderness they came, blazing a trail as they went and settled down on a beautiful bay in which the woodman's axe had not yet been heard.

The first speaker was Rev. A. Keizer, who was pastor of the church from 1902 to 1910. His delivery in the Holland language was unusually interesting, his subject matter being "The remembrances of God's blessings in the midst of His temple." Mr. Keizer told of how the first congregation worshipped in a little log church located on a hill which is now the site of Pilgrim Home cemetery. The small congregation comprised of only a handful of people, so to speak, and during the intervening time that has elapsed from the advent of that little log church until the present time, thousands had been baptized in the present church, and thousands more had made confession of faith, and many thousands more had passed to the great beyond their burial taking place from this church edifice.

Mr. Keizer also stated how the imposing church structure that had stood the ravages of time also played an important part in our community life. The tolling bell kept time with the funeral march as well as tolling the time of day. It warned us of fires and tolled out the old and rang in the new year for several decades.

Said Mr. Keizer in closing, "Surely as we look upon this great concourse of people who are gathered in this wonderful building, we can truly lift up our hearts in silent prayer and thank God for the wonderful blessings he has bestowed upon us."

The next speaker on the program was Dr. Henry Beets of Grand Rapids who spoke on the subject "The seven struggles of the pioneers," and that these struggles would try the souls of men was apparent from his discourse.

Said Mr. Beets: "Men hated to leave their fatherland for in their going they left pleasant associations, loved ones and old customs behind, to cast their lot into an unknown world, of which they knew nothing. They were feeling their way in the dark, going to a land where it had been told them that religious freedom was the cornerstone of a free country."

"Great was their disappointment when after sailing the seas for weeks and weeks they as immigrants, were looked upon as unpatriotic subjects, much the same as our tramps are today. In the early days there were no big ocean liners; there were no ships propelled by steam, but the ships, of small draft, had to depend upon wind and weather to take their precious burdens over stormy seas. It took 47 days for Dr. Van Raalte and his little band to come over the Atlantic in a two-masted schooner that was tossed about in mid-ocean as a chip on the waves. Tired and heart-sore the little group of men and women landed in Detroit, in the winter of '46. At that time a location had not yet been selected, and the venerable pioneer leaving his band for a little while, went out to look for a proper location upon which to start a settlement."

"The State of Wisconsin was first considered but because of the lack of money, this location was unthinkable and in his wanderings the Doctor found beautiful Black Lake with its virgin forests, its fertile soil, and its proximity to a fresh water sea. Another cause that entered into choosing Holland was the fact that this location was in close proximity to valuable trading points such as Allegan, Grand Rapids, and Kalamazoo while the settlements in Wisconsin were rather isolated."

"When the settlers arrived at this spot all was primitive. Clearings had to be cut and wild beasts such as bears and wolves were running at large. The forests in those days would be a mecca for the squirrel hunter, for tradition has it that some 70 squirrels were shot out of one tree, while another story chronicles the fact that one hunter killed 80 squirrels in a single week. The squirrels in those days were considered a pest rather than pets. Doves of them ate up the crops, leaving the pioneers little or nothing for themselves. The settlers soon found the value of cranberries that were growing wild, and these were disposed of to good advantage at the trading post at Grand Rapids, and some ready money was made in this way."

"The hardships and sickness that were caused by the bogs and swamps and new turned soil were most prevalent. Pestilence and death stalked everywhere. At times there were not enough well to take care of the sick, and in their agony the people murmured and asked whether God had forsaken them. The stern pioneer however appeased his people and when all seemed to be lost, upon one occasion, he climbed upon a stump, and preached upon the text, "The Judge Standeth at the Door," after which he got down on his knees and prayed to his Maker, "O Lord, must we all die?", and breaking down he wept bitterly."

Rev. Tuuk, former pastor spoke on the subject, "The Vision of the Leader." He pictured Dr. Van Raalte as a man of wonderful foresight and as Pershing said at the tomb of Lafayette during the recent great struggle, "Lafayette we are here," "So," said Mr. Tuuk "we as descendants from this brave band of struggling pioneers can say to Dr. Van Raalte in our thoughts and in our prayers, 'We are here to perpetuate what you have wrought. We are here to keep the memory of our pioneers green; to keep the name of Dr. Van Raalte a living memory in our hearts and homes.'"

"Dr. Van Raalte believed in education. He called it the 'Anchor of Hope' and it is rather significant that the great institution in Holland should be called 'Hope,' the results of his handiwork."

"So engrossed was Dr. Van Raalte in the cause of education that he even commanded the servant girls of colonial days to attend school, during spare moments."

Rev. Ghysels, the present pastor of the church spoke on the subject "The Message of the Past for the church of the Present." Mr. Ghysels stated that on the 17th of November, 76 years ago the Van Raalte band landed in New York. Fifty-three passengers were the number that left the Netherlands on the sailing vessel but during the trip, first a child, then a mother had died on shipboard and were buried at sea.

In a word picture he portrayed the hardships of these noble people. He told of how cornmeal was the principle diet 21 times each week, and how, while the men were at work, the women traveled on foot to Allegan for food, carrying their babies on their backs like papooses, while the men on the other hand, were compelled to traverse a less beaten path to Grand Rapids for supplies. He told of the illness and death, while the colony seemed a hospital and the woods a cemetery.

Rev. Ghysels dwelt lightly upon the secession of the church, stating that while Dr. Van Raalte was still living he visited all the people including the so-called secessionists. He felt that all were God's people and treated them as such. Through it all, secession on the one hand and the change of the mother-tongue to the common language of our American people, on the other, members came and went, but even in the face of these changed conditions the 9th street congregation can pride itself in having 240 families in its congregation.

In closing, Rev. Ghysels stated, "Our past achievements should be our guiding star and should spur us on to greater zeal, and we should pledge ourselves anew with the faith of our fathers, and the noble work done by them under the most trying conditions should be emulated by us under more favorable circumstances."

"Our church was dedicated on June 29, 1856, by men who brought God's word, the Psalms, and Calvinism."

"Surely the past should fill us with gratitude, should inspire us to do even greater things for the Master, and should imbue us with faith in Him who guides us in all things."

A very timely and unique incident in the memorial exercises at the church, and one that brought tears to the eyes of many present, was the singing of Psalm 66 vs. 3, which the pioneers sang as a psalm of joy when they first set foot on America's shores.

The decorations for the occasion were indeed patriotic. American flags not only draped the stone tablet dedicated to Dr. Van Raalte many years ago, but a beautiful picture of Van Raalte was also framed in this nation's colors. Combined with Old Glory floral decorations were noticeable everywhere.

As guests on this occasion the living members and descendants of Dr. Van Raalte were present at these exercises, Mrs. C. V. R. Gilmore, an only daughter, now living, being among those participating in the anniversary. The program was as follows: Organ Prelude; Singing, No. 408, (Stanzas 1-2 audience; Opening by Pastor; Singing, "Faith of our Fathers," chorus; address, "Het Gedenken van Gods Weldadigheid in 't midden Zijns Tempels," Rev. A. Keizer; Singing, Ps. 66 vs. 3, led by chorus; address, "The Struggles of the Pioneers," Dr. H. Beets; Singing, No. 280, audience; address, "The Vision of the Leader," Rev. E. J. Tuuk; "He Leadeth Me," G. Ter Beek, H. Etterbeek, C. Jelving, H. Topp, Jr.; address, "The Message of the Past for the church of the Present," Rev. J. M. Ghysels; Singing, "Guide Me Great Jehovah," chorus; closing prayer, Rev. D. R. Druker.

WANT INFORMATION RELATIVE TO A MISSING GRAND HAVEN BOY

The Holland and Grand Haven police have been notified by Mrs. R. Van Hoeven of 214 South Wallace street that city, of the fact that her son Laverne Van Hoeven has disappeared. She desires to get in touch with him and believes that he is now working on a farm in this vicinity or else that he wandered to some larger city. He is 15 years old, five feet four inches in height and weighs about one hundred pounds. When the boy left he wore a corduroy knee pants suit, a blue sweater with gold collar and stripe dark grey overcoat with cap. The boy ran away and his mother is very desirous of finding him.

COMES HOME AS USUAL WITH A DEER

Martin Vander Bie, of the Wolverine Garage has returned from White Fish Point in the upper peninsula near Lake Superior, where he went deer hunting. Mr. Vander Bie as usual shot his deer and he was looking for it to come through today. He went in a party of 14 from Ann Arbor and Lansing and the 14 of them shot 11 deer, while four of the party stayed on to get four more. On his way home Mr. Vander Bie met Fred Hietje and Bill Tubegen, who had one deer between them.

VanderBie is against the one buck law. He declares that it is impossible to see the horns except at close range. He believes there should be a one deer law, the deer to be two years old. He says that the upper peninsula hunters shoot anything they see. If it happens to be a doe they take it home and get away with it. Not being compelled to ship, they can do this with little danger, and so they have much the best of the hunters from below the straits.

With the long table groaning with good things to eat and with happy faces all around, H. B. Knowlton, 79, of Allendale, and Mrs. Knowlton, 74, recently celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary by giving a dinner to the families of their four adopted daughters and one adopted son.

MODEL SHOP IS BUILT UP OF ALADDIN BLOCKS

Within a few days Grand Haven will have a chance to see a model factory building, constructed entirely of Aladdin building blocks. If the present program goes through this model will show almost exactly how the new building for the Bildmore Co. will look.

The model is 41 inches by 56 inches in size and is built on a scale of 1-3 inches to the foot. The model was built at the Bildmore factory entirely of Aladdin blocks and is a good example of the work which can be done with the blocks.

After supper Steve hitched faithful old “Lucy” to the wagon and drove over to the neighbor's house and placed the load on the wagon. After joking a little inside the house with the neighbor, he started out of the door, and lo and behold, “Lucy” was gone. Steve could see visions of the damages he would have to pay through the trouble his runaway horse would cause. He almost ran down the streets looking everywhere for the runaway outfit, but finally gave it up and returned to his home. Upon entering his yard he glanced out toward the barn and here saw the wagon but no horse. Upon investigation in the barn he found faithful old “Lucy” in her accustomed stall eating her fill of oats and hay as if nothing unusual had happened. Steve says he could almost see the horse smile at him as if to say, “I belong to the union and will not work overtime.”

PREACHES THRIFT IN SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS.

Last Sunday John D. Rockefeller, Jr., had for his subject: “Thrift.”

John D. teaches a Sunday School Class every Sunday in New York City, and on this particular Sunday he showed his pupils how to make dollars out of pennies.

He states that the fundamentals of good citizenship are four:

- Work,
- Practice Economy and Thrift,
- Show respect for Authority and Law,
- Show reverence for things that are Sacred and Holy.

Relative to Thrift he stated that the spirit of extravagance which is sweeping over the world to-day is a very dangerous spirit, and unless we turn to the thrift and economy of our ancestors, we may well shudder when we think of the future.

“The best way to make money” said Rockefeller, “is to save it. How many of us to-day do not stop to think of saving the pennies; we think to-day in terms of dollars and dimes.”

“There is no more helpful way than by keeping a cash account of your personal receipts and expenditures. I did this all my life until a few years ago,” said Mr. Rockefeller.

John D.'s advice is good. It is easy to start a Savings Account at our Bank, and as to the personal cash and checking account we can aid you materially in this.

Turn your cash into the bank and check against it and in that way you have a complete record of your income and your out-go, and it is an easy way to find out where economy begins and extravagance ends.

JOHN ARENDSHORST IS AGAIN ELECTED SECRETARY OF FAIR ASS'N

The annual meeting of the Community fair was held at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon at the city Hall, and the gathering was unusually well attended and besides the meeting was very interesting.

The Zeeland folks, by their presence showed great interest, even the mayor, Martin Ver Hage, being present.

Chairman Austin Harrington opened the meeting, giving a resume of the wonderful success of the fair, telling of the pleasant relations that had existed between the officers and directors and that this spirit of cooperation and doing one's duty in his own way was one of the great factors in building up a property that was worth approximately $40,000.

Mr. Harrington stated that the directors should not be discouraged because of criticism, pointing out that in every enterprise, the boosters are beset by a few knockers, "but," said Mr. Harrington, "don't quarrel with them, for their knocking results in boosting after all."

He also brought out the fact that the night fair was an unusual success, and that not a case of rowdism was reported. Mr. Harrington complimented the secretary upon his able work and untiring efforts.

Next in order was the report of the auditing committee, whose duty it was to audit the books of Secretary Arendshorst.

Mayor Ver Hage of Zeeland in making his report stated that a committee of three had gone over the book reports and accounts of the secretary, and had found them absolutely correct and made out in an understandable way that was easy to follow.

The next in order was the election of officers, and on a motion of John Kooiker, rules were suspended and Austin Harrington was unanimously chosen as president for another year.

On motion of Sam Miller, Mayor Martin C. Ver Hage of Zeeland, was elected vice-president.

On motion of M. Van Zoeren, of Zeeland, Benjamin Brower, the newly elected county treasurer, was re-elected treasurer of the Holland fair, a position he has efficiently occupied for several years.

B. A. Mulder moved that John Arendshorst be elected by acclamation to succeed himself as secretary of the Community Fair, and that his salary be commensurate to the amount of work done.

John received the unanimous vote and is also going to get a raise in pay which he so richly deserves.

While all directors and officers are compelled to put in considerable time, the work for secretary Arendshorst has already begun. Mr. Arendshorst had contemplated to make this his last year, has signified his intention of resigning and placing the burden on other shoulders. But those present at the meeting felt that the fair without Johnnie would not be complete, and prevailed upon him to rescind his idea of severing his connection with the fair.

Mr. Arendshorst has done yeoman's work on the Community exhibition, in fact a large proportion of his time during the year is devoted to fair work.

There were only two changes in the directors this year, E. M. Wynyard of Zeeland and Wm. Vander Ven of Holland, resigning their positions. Wm. Vanden Berg of Holland and John Fris of Zeeland were named in their places.

The directors as these now stand are as follows:

POSTOFFICE EMPLOYEES TO HOLD A BANQUET

Holland postal employees are planning to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the inauguration of free delivery service with a banquet in the Woman's Literary clubhouse on Friday evening, Dec. 8—the exact date on which the four original carriers shouldered their mail sacks and covered their routes on their first trip.

The present force numbers several veterans and includes Assistant Postmaster A. J. Westveer, 33 years, John H. Kramer, money order clerk, 27 years; W. E. Vander Hart and Jacob Geerlings, city carriers, 25 years; Clarence Fairbanks, 20 years; G. Rutgers, A. A. Paris and Lambertus Tinkhof rural carriers 18 years.

Before the Social Progress club, which met Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Champion, Prof. Wynand Wichers drew a picture of the contrast between the political hopes of the world four years ago and the actual conditions of today, when he delivered a lecture on "European Politics in 1922". He gave a masterly outline of the outstanding political events in Europe during the past four years, calling attention to the significance of the numerous conferences that have been held, analyzing the meaning of the break-up of the entente and the formation of the "little entente," tracing the various new alignments of nations, showing how the league of nations has been changing in its aspect, and forecasting, so far as this can be done, some of the things that may be looked for politically in Europe in the coming years.

It was a lecture packed with facts that were placed in a setting of intimate knowledge of past political history, and it clarified for the club the tangled situation across the ocean.

The program at the W. L. C. meeting Tuesday was on better reading for our young people. Mrs. J. C. Post read a paper in which she mentioned as first stories for children Mother Goose, Bible Stories, and stories of nature. Poetry should early come to the child's attention. Swiss Family Robinson, Jungle Book, Indian Legends and Nights with Uncle Remus were mentioned; and among periodicals, "American Boy" and "Youth's Companion." "Little Women," "Alice in Wonderland," "Robinson Crusoe" and "Arabian Nights" are still popular and will never grow old.

Mrs. Durfee had selected three books typical of modern literature for youths which were reviewed: "What Happened to Inger Johanne," a story of Norway; Mrs. R. Vischer reviewed "Boys' Life of Theodore Roosevelt" as a most helpful and thrilling book for boys. Miss Dean spoke of "The Story of Mankind," by Hendrik W. Van Loon, as full of pictures and a most jolly way to tell history.

Mrs. Olive, in the name of the Art Committee, presented to the club two valuable gifts—a silk flag on standard and the beautiful cast "Centaur" by Luco Dello Robbia, illustrating the hundred and fiftieth psalm.

Mrs. A. Dekema gave interesting World News items.

The book stores of the city had large and interesting displays of books in the club house. There should be no difficulty in selecting suitable Christmas presents from their stocks.

That the church has its big share in prohibition law enforcement and in creating an atmosphere in which law enforcement can live was one of the main contentions made by Rev. Elmer Lynn Williams, the "fighting parson" of Chicago, who delivered an address in the Methodist church Tuesday evening. The church was crowded to the doors, members from all church and walks of life being there to hear this vivid lecturer tell of his experiences in the fight for prohibition. His subject was "The Big Game," and his theme the responsibility of the churches for law enforcement.

He declared that the church has no right to stand aloof from politics but that it is the church's business to try to improve politics and social conditions and thus create an atmosphere of good morals and respect for the laws of the land. The church, he said, is under the obligation to help individuals by helping to change the conditions as well to help individuals directly and individually. He called upon his audience to do their share to elect men to office who shall be devoted to the cause of law enforcement and whose sincerity and zeal in this line can be depended upon.

"We are all responsible for conditions that exist," he said, "and we are all responsible for changing those conditions. We cannot wholly delegate that responsibility to officers and legislators, but must keep constantly alive to the situation and must be personally active in the big game."

The Junior class of Hope College has decided by a unanimous vote to dedicate "The Milestone," the college annual, to Prof. Wynand Wichers. This book is each year dedicated to some person connected with the college whom the students wish to honor. In the past men like Pres. Dimment, Dr. Patterson, and Dr. Nykerk have been honored in this way; the class of '24 decided to let the book express for them their appreciation of the work of Prof. Wichers.

SPUDS PREVENTED MARK HANNA FROM SEEING GAME

It has just leaked out that Mark Hanna of the Strand didn't see the big football game between Michigan and Wisconsin at Ann Arbor, a trip that he had planned for weeks ahead. "Mark" had invited Larry and Herbert Ingham and Garry Bates to be his guests on the trip and all went well until 5 o'clock Saturday morning when the car of Markus Hanna was approaching Lansing. A farmer with a large load of "spuds" was coming in the direction of the Hanna car, but as it happened the farmer didn't have a light, which is necessary according to the laws of the state of Michigan.

Mr. Hanna, who was driving, was nearly on top of the approaching horses when he noticed the rig. Swerving to one side, he also noticed a ten foot embankment. Whirling his wheel to the right he escaped the embankment, but the momentum of the car, together with the slipperiness of the road, brought about a collision with the wagon of potatoes.

The wagon was shoved over the embankment on the other side, and for a moment the air was full of "spuds". Neither the horses nor the farmer were injured in the least, nor were the occupants of the car hurt.

The wagon however was a wreck, while the front end of the Essex belonging to Mr. Hanna was stove in and the fenders torn off.

The other boys went on to Ann Arbor, and got there just in time for the game, but poor Markus was left behind, and for several hours helped to pick up potatoes in a driving rain.

The Hanna car is now being repaired in Lansing, and Mr. Hanna left on Thursday for the state capitol to take his repaired machine from a garage there. The damage to the Hanna car was about $150, while the loss to the farmer is approximately $100.00.

HOPE COLLEGE RECEIVES GIFTS AMOUNTING TO $10,500.00

Hope College is $10,500 richer today than it was a week ago. This welcome announcement was made from the platform of the V. V. V. chapel by President Dimment Friday morning at the usual religious services. Dr. Dimment announced to the students that the sum of $5000 had been received during the week from persons in this city, friends of the college who are interested in the welfare and growth of the college. He further announced that a fund had been started by friends of the institution in Grand Rapids, the total of which had reached $5,500. This fund is not a closed incident however and more money is to be added to it, it is understood.

Dr. Dimment expressed himself as very happy over the donations and he expressed his gratitude, to the alumni and friends of the institution for their interest in the college.

HORSE KILLED BECAUSE IT HAD RABIES

Mr. Van Wyk, living one-half mile south of the North Holland store, lost a valuable horse through rabies. The horse became suddenly affected; it tore loose from its stable, before its owner became aware of its condition, and went tearing down the fields and exhibiting a vicious disposition. Through the united efforts of the neighbors the animal was finally subdued but not until it was terribly cut and lacerated by coming into contact with wire fences. A veterinary was summoned who pronounced the malady rabies, and it was later substantiated by the state health department where the head was sent to determine the nature of the illness. How the animal became effected has not been ascertained nor has any theory been advanced.

The people working in the Bush & Lane Piano factory came across with $136 for the Red Cross roll call.

This was reported to Mrs. G. J. Van Duren Wednesday by Miss Rose Slooter, who was in charge of the drive in that factory. Miss Slooter who is president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Legion, took it upon herself to canvass that factory, and the response was very encouraging.

Two other reports were turned in to Mrs. VanDuren, one by Russell Putgers, who reported $22 and 1 by Gus De Vries who turned in $68. Miss Blanche Loucks of Grand Rapids, who has recently returned to this country on furlough from China where she has been engaged in missionary work under the auspices of the Methodist Board, will speak in the Methodist church on Friday afternoon at 2:30.

Miss Loucks has a fine personality, is a good speaker and will have a vital message. Miss Loucks and Miss Mildred Dressher, formerly of Holland, are the two who are supported by the Grand Rapids District W. F. M. S. All women are cordially invited.

The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. S. C. Nettinga, 133 W. 11th street. The following program was rendered: "Thanksgiving in Word and Deed," Mrs. James Wayer; roll call, "Reasons for Thanksgiving," "Kindness as a Character Builder," Mrs. H. Ketel; The Hope College Trio sang "Waack, Miss Lady." The music was in charge of Mrs. N. Prakken; devotions in charge of Mrs. G. R. Fleming. A collection was taken for Miss Nellie Churchford which amounted to $10.35.

The Union welcomed 17 new members. Tea was served by Meadmoes Wied and Harris. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. E. J. Piekirk, 303 College avenue. Reports from the National convention will be read by Mrs. S. M. Zwemer.

ARE YOU SAVING FUEL TOO?

An investigation made for the Fuel Administration in 1917, proved itself very conveniently to the proof that HOLLAND FURNACES use less fuel than other types of heating systems.

The investigation was made to determine the exact amount of fuel used in the City of Mt. Pleasant, Michigan, in one year. A house-to-house canvass was made and the records showed conclusively what our customers have always said:

The Holland Furnace average much more efficiently than any other system in the city.

This news is so particularly interesting because Mt. Pleasant has hot water, steam, vapor, stove heat and all types of warm air.

The City was chosen as truly representative, which it proved to be.

We are pleased to be in a position to offer these additional and vital reason why

OTTAWA COUNTY PLACES SIGNS AT RAIL ROAD CROSSINGS

At a meeting of the Ottawa county road commissioners, a report was made of the activity in placing signs at required distances from the railway crossings. This was required by a state law which was enacted in the last legislature and which requires that a sign be placed five hundred feet from all crossings on both county and township roads.

Circular metal signs are placed on five foot, crescent poles, 500 feet from the crossing. Upon these is a maltese cross with the letters R. R. These comply with the state law. The county undertook to place all the signs at a minimum of cost to the townships and having done so are billing the townships at the actual figure.

FORMER HOLLAND GIRL WEDS TORONTO MAN

Mr. and Mrs. Marinus Van Putten formerly of Holland, but now of Grand Rapids, announce the marriage of their daughter, Frances Marie to Mr. Douglas Pearson Hoey of Toronto, Canada.

The marriage came as a surprise to all of the friends and relatives and was a very quiet affair.

The bride is a graduate of Holland Business College and Holland High school, and for the past three years has been employed as stenographer in the offices of the Morton Salt Co., Detroit, Mich. The groom is in the employ of the Tobacco Products Corp., of New York City.

For the present the young couple are residing at 674 Brainard Avenue, Detroit.

HOLLAND HIGH VICTORIOUS OVER ST. JOSEPH ELEVEN 6-0

Playing on a water-soaked field, which slowed up the play considerably the Holland high school football team was able to score but one touch down against the heavy St. Joseph eleven. The line-up of the local team was somewhat shifted, Kleis calling the signals, and Vanden Brink performing at left halfback. Substitutes were also sent in for VanZanten and Nies, Masselink taking Nies' place in the line, proved to be the star of the contest, when he scooped up a fumble and raced 35 yards for a touchdown. Holland's count should have been a great deal larger they carrying the ball many times inside of their opponents' 5-yard line, and failing to score. Kleis caught a punt on one occasion and ran 60 yards for a touch down, the officials refused to allow it however as Holland was accused of clipping from behind. The local team has but one more game on its schedule, they tackling the classy Union High team of Grand Rapids next week Saturday at the Furniture City.

ASKS FOR CLOTHES TO PROTECT POOR AGAINST THE COLD

The advent of cold weather and snow is calling attention to the fact that there are in Holland a number of families that are without the necessary clothing to protect themselves against the weather. Miss Nellie Churchford is looking out for the needs of such families and she now knows of a number of them who will suffer from the cold unless the generous people of Holland make immediate response to her appeal.

Miss Churchford believes that there are many people in the city who have old garments hanging around that they do not use. She will be glad to receive any such, any time at the Mission from now on. There will usually be some one at the Mission to receive them, but whenever that place is found closed donors can call up Miss Churchford at 2197. The need is urgent and Miss Churchford is therefore sending out an urgent call for help.

Y BOYS GIVE PROGRAM AT P.T. MEETING

Unusual interest centered around the Van Raalte P.T. club meeting Friday night. The club reported a record attendance for the extraordinary program that was given.

The Hope College Y. M. C. A. boys were in charge of the program. Chairman Jerry De Vries related some interesting facts regarding the Hope College Y. M. C. A. "Hope Y. M. C. A. tries to co-operate as much as possible with the people of Holland and outside of the city," said Mr. De Vries. "We are proud of our Sunday School activities, being in charge of four organizations, at Jamestown, Pine Creek, Jenison and Beechwood. Fifteen Sunday school teachers are sent out every Sunday from the Hope Y. M. C. A." De Vries outlined other work conducted by the college boys.

The college quartet composed of Kots, Yonkman, VanT'Hoff and De Maagd rendered some pleasing numbers of generous variety. A vaudeville sketch was presented by Kuiper as "Key" and Wesseling as "Jakey". The Fieldhouse brothers, Raymond and Edwin, delightfully entertained with two violin duets, with George Kots at the piano. The quartet completed the program with "Sleep Kentucky Babe" and some pleasing disharmony on "Hush a Baby in Our House."

Henry Geerlings made a few remarks, warming up the audience with his characteristic anecdotes.

Contractor Frank Dyke was in Grandville and in Gr. Rapids Saturday. Mr. Dyke is erecting a fine public school building at Grandville.

Two large flocks of geese passed over the city Friday going north.

HAD NO MONEY BUT WENT TO SEE EUROPE ANYWAY

Two local young men, Peter and William Tunisma, were unassisted by the expense of a trip to Europe, and they not only succeeded in getting to the other side without borrowing, but when they arrived there they were money ahead. They spent considerable time in at least three countries and came back to America at a total expense of approximately $60.

To turn this trick the two young men last summer secured work on a cattle steamer and in this way worked their way across the Atlantic, being money ahead when they arrived in Liverpool, England.

From that place the young adventurers went to the Netherlands to visit their parents whom they had not seen for eight years. They spent five weeks with them and traveling in the land of their birth, and they report that the people there seem to be quite prosperous as a general thing.

William Tunisma returned to America direct from the Netherlands to get here in time to enter Wabash College, but Peter remained for a time to engage in still other adventures, his wanderlust not yet having been satisfied. At Rotterdam he applied for a job as a seaman on board a freighter bound for Hamburg, Germany, and in this way he won the chance to spend a week in that country. He declares that the people there are poverty stricken and are not enjoying the prosperity that he found in the Netherlands.

From Hamburg the freighter sailed for Norfolk Va. Thus Mr. Tunisma had been in England for awhile, in the Netherlands for five weeks, in Germany for a week, and for all this he was out of pocket only about sixty dollars, certainly not a great outlay for such a trip.

Both young men are graduates of the Northwestern Classical Academy at Orange City, Ia., and after that they both attended Hope college for a while. Both are ex-service men. William having served with the A. E. F. in France. William is at present attending Wabash College, and Peter is employed in Holland and is also a sergeant in Co. D, Michigan National Guards.

MRS. BLOM, FORMER HOLLAND WOMAN DRINKS POISON

Dispatches have come to Holland that Mrs. Evelyn Blom, formerly of Holland died of poison taken in her apartments at Kalamazoo late Saturday night.

From the information received it was stated that Mrs. Blom was entertaining guests at an oyster supper, and while seemingly pleasant with apparently nothing to bother her, it is alleged she slipped away to her room and mixed a potion of sodium cyanide, one of the deadliest poisons. She returned to the dining room to entertain her guests and accidentally or otherwise she drank the poisonous liquid, and then staggered back into the room where her friends were waiting for her. The woman took a few steps across the floor and then collapsed into the chair she had vacated at the head of the table.

While in Holland, she had considerable domestic trouble, which finally brought the case in the divorce courts where her husband obtained a divorce more than two years ago.

The funeral of Mrs. Evelyn Blom took place from the home of Seth Nibbelink, Rev. Fleming officiating. Interment was in Holland township cemetery.

KAMFERBEEK JUMPS INTO FAME THROUGH ELECTION CONTEST

One of the best known men in Western Michigan just at this moment is Fred Kamferbeek, sheriff-elect (mayor) of Ottawa county. There is hardly a newspaper and through the western section of the state that has not had something to say about the Ottawa county election controversy. In some far-distant sections the papers are just beginning to comment on it, now that it has become an old story here. As a result of the contest the Holland claimant for the sheriff's office has been boosted into fame, or at least into notoriety, because his case is unique in the election records of the state.

His first claim to attention on the part of the newspapers was that he was the first democrat in nearly half a century to turn the trick of polling more votes than his republican opponent in a rock-ribbed Republican county. This alone would have given the Holland man a claim to notoriety; but when on top of that came the dramatic recount and the disfranchisement of a thousand voters or more because of a technical point, Kamferbeek's place in the local hall of fame was secure or some time to come. Even if he should be counted out finally by the supreme court of the state of Michigan, which many believe will not be the case, he will have received more advertising out of the contest than has perhaps fallen to the lot of any other man who ever ran for that office in Ottawa county.

The jokesmiths are beginning to wait for quips out of the case and livening up editorial columns with references to the Ottawa contest, and editorial writers are pointing the obvious moral that election inspectors ought to read the election law. And the public meanwhile is waiting with interest for the next step, and large numbers of republicans who voted for Fortney are just as eager to have the disputed votes counted as are the friends of the Holland man.

Miss Anna Tietsma left Monday for West Palm Beach, Fla., where she will spend the winter.

MRS. MAGGIE ARENDSEMA CONVICTED AT LAST

Mrs. Maggie Arendsema living at East 13th street, has been convicted at last on the charge of keeping a place where intoxicating liquors are sold and stored.

Two times before Mrs. Arendsema was arrested on the same charge, but each time her attorneys convinced the jury that the woman was innocent, notwithstanding the fact that the evidence was substantial.

This time Maggie couldn't get away with it and she was convicted in short order by the jury.

Attorneys Robinson & DenHerder again appeared for Mrs. Arendsema, while Prosecutor Miles appeared for the people.

John Tinholt who has been in many difficulties before was convicted in circuit court on the charge of selling a quart of moonshine whiskey on the 19th day of June of this year. Tinholt of Zeeland produced a number of witnesses but the jury was convinced that he sold and furnished the liquor to Knoll and promptly convicted him.

Tinholt it will be remembered is the man who was arrested on the charge of attempted murder on his step-son Hecox of Zeeland, for the reason that he had trouble with the mother of the boy.

He was acquitted of this charge and next Prosecutor Miles charged him with perjury in the first case. He was also acquitted on the perjury charge.

The third time up however he was convicted on a liquor charge and it is quite a coincidence that Maggie Arendsema was finally convicted on third charge as was John Tinholt, each of the defendants being acquitted on two other charges with a final conviction on a third.

No similar incident of this kind can be remembered in a single session of circuit court.

Attorney Jerred N. Clark of Zeeland appeared for Tinholt while Prosecutor Miles appeared for the people.

The board of county canvassers, composed of John Arendsema, E. J. Pruim, and Philip Reister, who passed on the present sheriff election controversy, today made the following statement of their position:

To the public—At the last session of the board of supervisors of Ottawa county we were duly appointed as members of the board of county canvassers and as such qualified by taking and subscribing the usual oath and without making apologies for our decisions we do feel that the public should know the law relative to a legal ballot and by which we had to be guided in making our decision.

Previous to 1917 the election law expressly provided the use of a common lead pencil in the initialing of the ballots but in 1917 the law was amended expressly providing that ballots should be initialed with ink or indelible pencil, the law as amended meaning expressly that pencilled ballots should not be construed as being a legal ballot.

This board, before examining any ballots voted unanimously to abide by what we interpreted the law to be and while our common sense view point would be one way, viz—to count the ballots which obviously were cast in good faith we could not do so and come within the law.

It is to be regretted that precinct boards do not read the election laws before passing out ballots to the voters. We have discovered some flagrant errors made by election boards and can only recommend to the township and city boards that more attention to the election laws as amended be paid.

LOCAL MAN CONTRIBUTES ARTICLE ON PEACE

Dr. E. J. Blekkink, of the Western Theological Seminary, is the author of an article in "Christian Work" in regard to an appeal made by Dr. Jowett to Christian people to make renewed efforts for world peace. Dr. Blekkink's article is quoted in the editorial department of this week's issue of "The Leader," and reads as follows:

"I heartily approve of the appeal Dr. Jowett has made to the people of England in particular and Christians in general. I hope that it may result in renewed efforts for peace. It ought to come with special urgency to the churches of the United States. It is my sincere conviction that the present world confusion is more largely due to us than to any other nation. The nations were brought up to the border of the promised land of international peace, but we refused to enter. The result is that they are now wandering around in the wilderness of suspicions, if not of growing hate, and the grave danger of another war in the not distant future.

"There seems to be only one way out, and that is to repent, get together in the League of Nations and bravely, as Christians, contend for less war and more peace."

SUNDAY SCHOOLS TO GIVE COMMUNITY PAGEANT

George Schilling has been appointed general chairman of the organization that is to present a religious pageant "Light of the World," which is to be given by the churches of Holland as a Christmas feature this year. The other officers of the organization are: W. J. Westveer, general secretary; committee chairman—Music, J. Vandersluijs; Pageant, Miss H. Warnshuis; stage, A. Smeenge; lights, A. Nauta; costumes, Mrs. S. R. McLean; publicity, D. Damstra; ushers, L. Van Appledorn; finance, Otto P. Kramer.

The decision to give this pageant was made during the state Sunday School convention in Lansing. The delegates to that convention were enthusiastic over it, and they immediately made plans to give it in Holland. All the churches in the city were invited to help put it on, and it will be in the nature of community Christmas program, the contribution of the Sunday schools of the city to the Christmas festivities. The place will be the Carnegie Gymnasium, but the date has not yet been determined upon.

GAME AND FISH ASSOCIATION MET LAST THURSDAY NIGHT

A meeting of the Holland Game and Fish Protective association was held last Thursday night in court room in the city hall, the meeting to start at 7:45. All persons interested in the game and fish situation in this community, whether members of the association or not, are cordially invited to attend. Last winter there was much trouble in regard to fishing through the ice on Black Lake, and the association hopes to prevent any recurrence of such conditions. Hence all who are interested can help to do this.

A copy of the constitution of the association shows that the object of the organization is "protection of the game and fish of the state, and the recommendation of the enactment of proper laws for this state and particularly for this district."

In other words, the association is not to protect members in violating the game laws but to help make sane game laws and then secure their observance.

Any person aged 18 or over, of good moral character is eligible to membership, the membership fee being $1, and the annual fee also being $1.

How quickly the association can respond to an emergency that might arise is shown by the following section of the by-laws: "The president shall have power to call a special meeting of the association at any time he shall see fit and he shall also call a meeting of the association at any time he is requested to do so or the application of five members in good standing."

When a member does not show himself a good sportsman and when he does not live up to the spirit of the game laws, the association has the power to expel him by a two-thirds vote. This provision shows the association stands for game protection in good faith and is constructive in its character. This is further shown by the section which requires that every member shall report to the president and executive board any violation of the game and fish laws that may come under his observation.

"Jock" Riemersma was the first man to digress and bring a lady guest to the Exchange club. Never before has a lady attended a meeting and Miss Cogdall came and brought with her, four young men constituting the high school quartet. The boys were Fleming, Huizenga, Cook and Wabeke, and if the work of the boys at the Exchange club is a sample of Miss Cogdall's teachings, she certainly is an instructor of unusual ability. This is a real quartet who furnish excellent music, as was evidenced from the repeated encores they received.

Tommie De Voy, W. 8th St., was given a birthday party Tuesday. Tommie is just one score years old, and still has three score and ten to live if he acquires the ripe old age so often spoken of. A very entertaining evening was spent by the guests present, games, music and refreshments being features of the evening.

Mayor Stephan, John Vander Veen and W. J. Olive were in Grand Rapids on business today.

Next Sunday evening the pastor of Trinity church, Rev. C. P. Dame, will begin a new series of sermons on the general topic, "Bible Types of Twentieth Century Women". The following subjects will be discussed: "A woman with much self-respect"; "A woman with much tact"; "The ideal woman"; "A woman with a great faith in Christ"; "A woman with great love for Christ"; "A woman with a helping hand."

G. Van Schelven was in Grand Haven yesterday on court business.

WHEN WILL NEW JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL BE BUILT?

The public is much interested in the present status of the proposed Junior High school building and the question is frequently asked what is being done or what is to be done about this building. A new Junior high school was authorized by a vote of the people at a special election and a definite sum was fixed in the vote on this project, the understanding being that that sum was to include all expense of erecting and equipping the building. The board of education at the time pledged that they would not go beyond that sum, and this pledge is still being regarded by the board as binding in spite of the fact that conditions have changed materially.

It appears to be a question now whether the new school will be built during 1923 or whether the work of erecting the building will have to be postponed. The board of education is working steadily on the project, one of the members of the board explains, and it is hoped to have the project in such shape that it can be submitted to the contractors for bids. But it is not certain that the board will be any more successful in receiving bids that will come within the limits of the bond issue authorized by the people than it was before, and if the figure should be beyond the mark and there should not be a possibility to make changes so that the limits set by the people can be observed, it is not impossible that the work may have to be postponed again.

The difficulty lies in the uncertainty of the price of building material. Since the bond issue was authorized some kinds of building material have increased greatly in price and this is expected to have its effect; and builders seem to be very uncertain about what the rise in prices will be in the immediate future. Bids were once submitted for the new school, but were rejected because higher than the bond issue, and this may have to be done again, although the board of education hopes to be able to start the work on the new school during the coming year.

past. Now for a few moments' consideration of the present—what this city has and what it needs.

"First of all, there ought to be a change in our city charter. Our present charter was passed in 1913 and is open to many improvements; not the least of these would be the changing of the system of electing aldermen. This city is one and should not be divided in ward lines and have men elected by the voters of the wards who have the running of our city in their hands. While every part of the city should be represented in the council and it might not be amiss to have wards nominate their candidates, but personally I believe the whole city should vote as to the choice of these candidates. Each alderman should feel that he represents the city, and not a ward, and inasmuch as they are legislating for the whole city, the whole city should have the say as to who the men should be that will legislate for them.

"All of this, of course, is intended if we want to maintain our present system of city government. This is a very live and interesting question and this club might do many things worse during the coming winter months than to discuss and consider whether or not Holland wants to continue under the old system of ward aldermen or whether we would favor the system that is being adopted in a great many cities, both large and small, of a commission manager form of government. Much can be said pro and con on this subject, but it is of sufficient importance that the thinking men of this city should give it serious consideration and help in the working out of this important problem.

"Under our popular form of government the people can get anything they want if they will only apply themselves intelligently in the working out of their desires and wishes, but the great trouble is that so few are willing to give it any thought and try to help construct, but there are always plenty of them who are ready to destruct, i. e., the public is always ready to criticize, to find fault, to point out where the city officials are wrong, and are always backward in an endeavor to help them work out the problems of city government and in a constructive way advise them and assist them.

"We have a wonderful city with many advantages superior to most of the cities in this country. We have every opportunity to make this one of the most beautiful cities in the state. We have a city park, our Centennial Park, which is noticed and admired by every visitor that comes to our city, and often in my travels meeting people in other towns, if they have been in Holland they will recall this beautiful park and it is the one outstanding thing they remember of our city. Right here I want to say that I was in hopes that a movement would get under way during this year to change the name of this park from Centennial to Van Raalte Park and would like to put the suggestion that the Exchange club might start this movement in order to have this accomplished.

"We have another splendid piece of ground out of which we can make a nice park which has been donated to the city, and that is the George E. Kollen Memorial Park. Here is a splendid opportunity for another nice addition to our city. I wish some way could be devised that this could be brought about in the future so that the present generation may get some pleasure and comfort out of it. It will probably take about forty or fifty thousand dollars to make of this a place of which every one of us would be just as proud as we are of our Centennial Park or City Hall. The Council is appropriating $2,000 a year for this purpose but you can readily see at this rate it is going to take years before we get anywhere.

Then we have a beautiful river and lake along side of our city that I know we have never fully appreciated and have never taken the advantage of as it is possible to do. What wonderful opportunities here, not only for the beauty of the city, but for the comfort and pleasure of its inhabitants as well. These possibilities are absolutely neglected and instead of trying to make and keep this a nice clean body of water, we are polluting it with city sewage and industrial off-fall.

"The solving of these problems are mighty ones, but I am bringing them to you today to give you something to think about and remind you of your opportunity, and probably some time in the future if you keep on thinking about it, and talking about it, somebody will propose a solution that will make it possible for us to obtain these high and worthy aspirations and ambitions without having it become a burden to the taxpayers.

"We have started a paving program and if nobody rocks the boat within five years, this city will be thoroughly paved and put us in the forefront of other cities as much as we are now trailing behind. I would like to see every paved street have boulevard lighting, and this is another that I want to bring to you for your consideration and solution. If we want it, we can have it and the way to get what you want is to give expression to your wishes and desires and it is up to the club to take the initiative in matters of this kind and get behind these various movements and force them to a final issue.

"It is very nice to come every week or every two weeks and sit down and have a sociable time and meet a lot of good fellows but that isn't what these clubs are primarily organized for. You should be an active, living force in your city, state and country, and the influence of these clubs should be felt and seen in the immediate community where they exist.

"So much for what Holland ought to have—now a short review of what it has. I have mentioned the park and the city hall, both of which we are proud, but not the least of which Holland can be proud of is its two public utilities, the electric light and water works plant.

"I wonder how many of you fully realize and appreciate what we as a city own and possess and how little it has cost us. While figures are never interesting and are soon forgotten, I am going to give you a few however, which I believe will be of interest to you. The total investment in our public works is in round figures almost one million dollars, to be exact it is $923,988.00. The total indebtedness against this total is $77,000.00. Sixty thousand dollars of these bonds fall due in February and as the board has ample funds to take care of these bonds when they fall due, we will only have $17,000.00 outstanding debt against a total investment of $923,988.00. Again, the board owns liberty and Victory bonds and war savings stamps to the amount of $52,196.60, has loaned the board of education $15,000.00 and has a balance in the bank of $36,591.43 or a total surplus of $97,788.03 to take care of the $77,000.00 which they owe on outstanding bonds.

"The electric light department shows an investment of $460,078.00. The replacement value today would far exceed this. What has it cost this city to build up a plant of such magnitude. The total amount that has been raised by direct taxation for this magnificent electric light power plant is $37,000.00. We have not contributed one cent in taxes toward this department since 1907. Then when you consider that up to that time the city did not pay anything to the Board of Public Works for their street lighting, which they would have had to pay if this plant had been owned by a private corporation, you can readily figure out that our light and power plant as it stands today hasn't cost the city one cent. In fact, if we should have paid for our lights from the day the plant started as we might have done, we would show a surplus over and above the total investment. We have today 3,712 light consumers and 120 power consumers and 412 street lights throughout the city ranging from 250 to 400 candle power each. Last year the total revenue of our electric and power service was $174,553.00, total distribution $113,598.00, showing a net profit of $60,955.00.

"In our water department we cannot make as good a showing but yet a very satisfactory one. Our total investment in the water department is $310,864.00. This is $150,000.00 less than in our electric department, but the total revenue we get out of the water is only $47,422.00 as against $174,553.00 in our electrical and power department. Our total disbursement in this department was $44,463.00 leaving us a net profit of $2,959.00. We have 2,921 customers in our water department. We have raised by direct tax on for water department $173,530.00, but to offset this we had free fire hydrant service until 1917.

Our Board of Public Works conduct their department in a strictly business way. They pay for everything they get and they charge up the city for hydrants, street lighting and the lighting used in the various city departments, they pay city taxes same as private corporations would do, rent in the city hall, pay for their light and water the same as a private corporation would have to do. In the city of Rochester, which I visited a few weeks ago, the members of the board and the mayor have free light and water service. I would oppose a proposition of this kind in this city as far as the board members are concerned, but it might be a good thing to extend this courtesy to the mayor until May, 1923. We pumped 365 million gallons of water last year or an average of a million gallons a day; the maximum amount pumped in any one day was two million two hundred twelve thousand gallons. We are developing a new water supply now on East Eighth-st. and when the new pump is installed, this will have a capacity of 1,760,000 gallons a day. This new site is the best proposition we have discovered up to date and it would look now as if we have ample water supply for some years to come. The old 19th street station is still holding out nicely and we have a supply there that will give us about one and a half million gallons a day. The station on 28th street, which has now run six years has been out of commission all this year; not that there isn't a good supply of water there as there is just as much water there now as there was when we first started—but the trouble has been in getting the water out of the ground. On account of the fine sand in this locality that clogs up the screens in the pipe we have been unable up to the present time to get this difficulty remedied. The board is working on an experiment now which they hope will prove successful and if it does we will have a nice additional supply of water in this territory. All in all Holland is in a better condition as far as water supply goes than they have ever been before.

"I cannot close my talk without paying tribute to the men who have been instrumental in making these satisfactory conditions possible. The two outstanding figures that have done more to the success of the municipal plant in the city of Holland has been the former superintendent, James De Young and the present superintendent, Roy B. Champion. The city of Holland will never appreciate or can never repay these two men for the service they have rendered. It is true that we have had some good men as members of our Board of Public Works, but after all the guiding hand has always been the superintendent and the Board has followed the recommendation of the superintendent. On this the city of Holland can be congratulated that the members of the Board of Public Works had sense enough to do this because a superintendent of Public Works like a manager of any industry must have a free hand, and unless they do it is impossible for him to succeed.

"Finally, the city of Holland is fortunate today in having four men who are conducting its business and taking care of its interest in a conscientious and capable manner that it would be hard to improve upon, and I want to publicly acknowledge on my personal observation as mayor of this city the faithful services of Richard Overweg as clerk, Jacob Zuidewind as city engineer, Chris Nibbelink as city assessor and last but not least, Rob B. Champion as superintendent of our Public Works. Long may they live and long may Holland have the value of their services and the people have sense enough to keep these men in there as long as they can.
