Rezoning Was Greatest Part Of Council Meet

ALDERMEN ARE DIVIDED.
LATEST PLAN CARRIES 7-3
John Knapp Proposal Also Comes UP

The common council meeting of last evening would have been a short one had it not been for this rezoning question. The matter has occupied a great deal of time at different meetings. There were hearings and re-hearings. The Board of Appeals, which constitutes the zoning committee, changed their original plans by curtailing the zoning district considerably, so as not to bring a hardship to many who have chosen that vicinity to build their permanent homes, and thus were not very much elated over having the thoroughfare near their homes transformed into a business zone.

Naturally development brings these things about and this is especially true where a large trunk line enters the city. The first business enterprise that seems to seek locations, naturally are service stations.

The matter of rezoning came up for the first time when Simon De Boer, who has had a piece of property lying idle for upwards of half a century upon which he paid taxes but has been deriving no benefits therefrom, made an effort to use it for commercial purposes in order that he might realize something on the outlay of years, he wanting to build a fine service station.

This move started others in similar positions to think in the same terms of commercializing their property along this super-highway and it is only natural that they should. They thought this the opportunity and that started the rezoning ball rolling.

Last night's meeting, while not heated, was a real interesting one. It was evident that the aldermen wanted to be fair to everybody, as near as possible, and the zoning board has also shown the same spirit as was evident from the talk of the chairman, Mr. Joe Geerts who repeatedly was called to explain the reason for certain things as this related to the new zoning.

The new zoning bill extends on Michigan Ave. from 28th St. to 32nd St. and on Washington Ave. from 30th St. The zoning property on these streets mentioned above will be considered commercial property in the future.

The matter came up to a vote on motion of Alderman Prins, supported by Alderman Kalkman. The proposed new zone carried by a vote of 7-3, those opposed being Alderman Drinkwater, Vogelzang and De Cook. Those in favor were Alderman Prins, Kalkman, Damsen, Bultman, Steffens and Van Lente. Alderman Van Lente of the first and Alderman Van Zoeren of the third were unavoidably absent.

Mayor Nicodemus Bosch stated that he knew this was a vexing question as all rezoning questions are. He advised going slow on the project and thus avoid hurting folk who have purchased property there for home purposes. He said he didn't believe in creating bad blood in that ward if this could be avoided.

The Mayor got a little mixed on the location of this rezoning, thinking it was in the fifth ward. But by far the largest part is in the sixth ward. He asked alderman Van Lente whether the majority of its constituency was in favor of rezoning. Mr. Van Lente stated he felt that they were.

The Mayor then said, "It is strange that you find them favorable when they nearly run the gauntlet of my door in protest." But Mr. Van Lente couldn't see it that way. He said he had made many inquiries. "When it comes to a petition or protest, nearly everybody signs these, often because they do not want to offend. A petition for most anything can be secured," Van Lente contended.

Alderman Niel De Cook of the third ward stated that if rezoning is too liberally dealt with there will be no end to rezoning in other parts of the city where property owners feel they can get a price for their property if they could not move very fast. That being the case, home owners who seek quiet in home surroundings will be in constant fear that their home will be surrounded with stores and business places.

Alderman Van Lente and Alderman Vogelzang suggested that the rezoning be done piece meal to possibly accommodate certain service stations and by so doing prevent these property owners from suffering a loss, where if they could build they could retrieve some of their past losses. City Attorney Parsons did not think that a checked system of zoning was possible or legal, so that matter was dropped.

One of the property owners, Paul Weidenhamer, stating that he was a present to voice his disapproval. His reason for dissenting was that he had purchased a home in that area two years ago, believing that that district would remain residential. He will now seek a reduction in taxes as a result of council decision, he declared.

Attorney Vernon Ten Cate who came as a spectator, supported Mr. Weidenhamer, stating that it was a hardship on a man who bought with the intention of buying a home with home surroundings. Mr. Ten Cate suggested a compromise that the rezoning be done on Michigan Ave. from 30th to 32nd St. He pointed out that Holland didn't need a commercial district in the south side of the city and he pointed as proof that the common council as well as the zoning board had repeatedly turned down a request of John Knapp who for the last five years endeavored to rezone River Ave. from 12th to 17th Sts. for the purpose of putting up a brick structure on one of the 15th St. and River Ave. corners.

The contention then was that with the many buildings down town that were vacant, a larger business district within the city limits was (Continued on Page 4)

COUNCIL NOTES

Alderman Al Van Lente led the council in prayer.

John Arendshorst asked for a permit to build a $3,000 house at 641 Columbia Ave.

The Holland Furnace Co. are to make two changes at their plant. They will spend $1400 on a new concrete coal bin and $200 in changes in their beautiful offices. Both permits were granted by the common council.

Mr. Bekken, 349 W. 15th St., asked permission to put an addition to his building of 144 feet. Mr. Bekken runs a blacksmith shop and needs extra space to take care of his growing business. The permit was granted.

The boilers of the Holland Hospital have been inspected and certain recommendations for boiler repairs were given the committee on buildings and property of which Art Drinkwater is president. It is understood that the repairs have already been made, showing that the committee is quick to act.

The Holland American Legion Band extended an invitation to the Mayor and common council to attend their annual meeting to be held Tuesday evening. President Harold Karsten and Secretary Ray Koohuizen point out that the council has given the band their annual allotment for which fine concerts were given all summer and now they want to show the "city fathers" how the money was spent. There is to be a program and refreshments. The Mayor said that he would be present. Then he had a roll call to find out how many aldermen would be there. He said he wanted to count noses for he surely wanted a quorum present.

Alderman Prins of the ways and means committee made a motion that Maifoffer and Moore again be given the contract to audit the city books and the books of the Board of Public Works. The firm has done a splendid job each year and the aldermen unanimously favored that this firm do the work again.

Alderman De Cook moved that the house owned by the city near the sewage disposal plant be sold for $75. The shack is in bad shape, it needs sewer connections and the house isn't worth it. It will be torn down by wreckers.

The lot on Lincoln Ave. and 16th St., better known as the Kirkhof property, was sold to James Groeters for $450, disposing of another city "white elephant." The house needed sewer connections and repairs and was practically a wreck and rather than make these repairs, the purchaser of the house moved it out to the country.

Alderman Bulman stated that the work of grading 26th St. is going along nicely and that 40 men are now laboring on the street. Bulman's remarks brought approval of everyone present. Alderman Damsen of the sidewalk committee also said that three gangs were still working on sidewalks under the W.P.A. and that the work was progressing rapidly.

Alderman Huyser wanted to know if the police department was keeping an eye on cars with trailers. He brought up the matter in the face of the fact that many serious accidents have occurred, one Holland woman working at the Holland Furnace Co. being killed. He pointed out that extra chains were necessary as an added precaution and he felt that the Holland police should enforce the ordinance and state law if this hadn't been done. He said this was not a matter of criticism but rather a matter of warning. He also said that the police may be enforcing it but it would do no harm to call their attention to this danger.

Alderman Drinkwater again called up the matter of the necessary repairs to be made at the Holland hospital. He asked attorney Parsons, relative to giving his version on the matter, since he is not only city attorney but on the hospital board. Mr. Parsons stated that a start should be made in having the hospital repaired, that it had been neglected altogether too long and naturally if it could be done under the government alphabetical arrangement, well and good. He stated further, that in order to ascertain the price as a basis to work on, two bids were secured and it was pointed out by some bidders that it was an expert painter's job and these were not found on the welfare or among the unemployed. He stated that some mediocre painters had been put on the job but it proved anything but a first class job. Mr. Parsons pointed out that the undertaking would cost more than a thousand dollars and that being the case, it was a matter for the common council to decide. The aldermen were advised that sealed bids be asked for and that when these bids were received the matter was to come before the common council where the painting job for the Holland hospital would finally be disposed of. Alderman Huyser pointed out that the work must be done, for the longer the wait the more difficult and expensive the undertaking would become. Mayor Bosch pointed out that we should not hasten the matter for we would deplore the fact that if we paid this out of our own funds and then we found that we could do it under the government works relief program, we would regret it. So that's another angle to be looked into.

Alderman De Cook stated that there was some street debris near the Episcopal church on 9th St. and asked City Engineer Jake Zuidema if this could be cleaned up. Mr. Zuidema pointed out that it had been cleaned. Alderman Vogelzang pointed out that there was a heap of left-overs, left by the P.W.A. on 26th St. at Washington and on a motion of Alderman Prins, which was passed, the Mayor will appoint a committee, together with a committee of the Board of Public Work and the city attorney for the purpose of drafting certain changes in the charter to be voted on by the people at the election next April.

A request of Dan Meuwissen, who owns property at 400 W. 21st street to come under compulsory sewer act in which connections may be paid for over a 10-year basis, was approved.

New Plans For Red Cross May Be Adopted

RED CROSS MEETING IN ZEELAND TONIGHT

Wm. C. Vanden Berg, newly elected head of the Red Cross in Ottawa County, is holding a meeting in Zeeland this Thursday evening for the purpose of getting closer cooperation between the big centers, and from these centers work out in the rural districts.

Mr. Vanden Berg has a good plan that is being suggested by him this evening, namely, that at least four meetings be held by the officials and those interested in each center during each year. The first Grand Haven, later Coopersville meeting will be at Zeeland then at and last Holland.

Mr. Vanden Berg feels that these meetings with the committees of the respective communities will bring a better understanding all around.

The plans of one community relative to Red Cross activities, such as drives and so on, will be known by all. In that way there may be a concerted effort, working together in one common cause, without any over-lapping.

The American Red Cross stands in universal favor. There is not an organization that holds such a high place when it comes to unselfish service as does the Red Cross. In storm and pestilence, flood and famine, the Red Cross is there. Its "angels of mercy" walk where death stalks.

The Red Cross is behind every battle line of every army in the fray. They abhor war and would prevent it if they could, for no one knows the horrors of war and realizes the terrible residue of dead and maimed that war leaves better than does a Red Cross nurse.

Soft hands minister to the wounded or dying. A soft voice allays, in a measure, the suffering. Remember the Red Cross. Become a member. Your dollar will be well spent besides filling your heart with great satisfaction.

Fishing with nets in Macatawa Bay is again quite universally indulged in. Note: In a former story the News told of how through untiring publicity of this violation and the printing of names of violators this newspaper was instrumental in putting a stop to netting. Fifty years ago it was nearly impossible to find a jury who would convict netters. The defense would put up the argument "saving the fish for the silk stocking resorters so home folks get none." But when the News kept pointing out that netters would take them all shortly and destroy spawn beds besides and that tourists would leave and spend their money where fishing was good, the fish pole fisher got his eyes open and conviction followed. The files of the News are replete with stories of this fish fight. Deputy Kennedy, a small man but a fighter, had this violating territory to contend with and he did a good job. Other good game wardens in the early days were Charles K. Hoyt, Chris Hines, Frank Salisbury, Cornelius Dornbos, Dick Humkes, and still later Maurice Kuite and now Ira Anties of Grand Haven.

Channing Pollock's thrilling World War drama, "The Enemy" will be presented in Holland High School auditorium on the evening of Thanksgiving day, Thursday, November 28 at 8 o'clock by Theatrical club, dramatic group at Calvin college. The club presented the play in Grand Rapids last Friday evening before a large audience.

"The Enemy," a patriotic play, is a fitting tribute to those who paid the supreme sacrifice in the late world war and portrays the real enemy in war as late and greed. Although a pacifist play, Pollock's work is not lacking in stirring drama. The return of the hysterical, war scarred soldier, Jan, to depict the horrors of the trenches, and picture the death of the story's hero, Carl Berend, in the lines of action, affords intense dramatic effect.

Stanley Albers, graduate of Hope college '26, dramatic director at Union High school, is directing the cast. Members of Calvin Drama club who are playing roles in "The Enemy" include Miss Florence Vandenberg as Paul Arnt; Miss Helen Mae Hoogsteen as Mizi Winkelman; Miss Grace Hickman as Baruska; the Arnts' maid; Oris Bolt plays Paul's husband, Carl Berend; John Fiekens as the peace-loving Prof. Arnt; Peter DeJong, who is a young British friend of the Arnts; Harold V. Hargter in the role of Jan, Carl Berend's best friend; Melvin Berghuis as Fritz Winkelman, war-wrecked journalist and father of Kurt Winkelman, to be played by 6-year-old Jo Stevens.

It is expected that music will be by Calvin college concert orchestra under baton of Calvin's able music director, Seymour Swets.

Tickets for the event are being sold at the P. A. Selles Jewelry store, East 8th street and at James Heerspink Jewelry, Washington Square. They will also be on sale at the door.

HOLLAND MUSIC UNION ANNOUNCES CONCERTS

The Holland Choral union has announced its concert course for the season. The events in their order will be: The Messiah, early in December; Alberto Salvi, famous harpist, with an instrumental quartet, in February; Harry Farberman, distinguished American violinist, in March, and Charles Wakefield Cadman, composer and pianist, in April. All concerts will be given in Hope Memorial chapel.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woodruff and family of Hollywood, Ill. are visiting at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bos 514 Central and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woodruff Madison St.

Michigan Avenues, where the streets had been repaired. City engineer Zuidema stated that this mess had been cleaned up that very day, which was satisfactory to the alderman.

On a motion of Alderman Prins, which was passed, the Mayor will appoint a committee, together with a committee of the Board of Public Work and the city attorney for the purpose of drafting certain changes in the charter to be voted on by the people at the election next April.

A request of Dan Meuwissen, who owns property at 400 W. 21st street to come under compulsory sewer act in which connections may be paid for over a 10-year basis, was approved.

News Items Taken From the Files of Holland City News Fifty, Twenty-five and Fifteen Years Ago Today

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Mrs. L. Walter, music teacher, gave her pupils' recital Friday evening and despite the disagreeable, rainy night, 60 interested persons were present. The News then gave a long program which space forbids printing in this column. The names of the young pupils, however, are printed below: Kittle Brower, Rose Doyle, Martha Blom, Mary Huntley, Nellie Verschuere, Calla King, Sadie Howard, Kittle Doebberg, Darius Gilmore, Frank Nye, Louisa Walter, Miss Anna Albee. The recital was held at the home of Captain Frank Brower, on Ninth and Maple sts. Note: Capt. Brower was a pleasure boat captain here for many years and left Holland 45 years ago when he purchased the Barker and sailed for Ashland, Wis., on Lake Superior, where the family remained for years. His daughters were song artists of yesterday and Miss Kittle especially was often heard at church functions and public musical activities. Miss Kittle Doebberg and Mr. D. Gilmore were also artists of note when Holland was 45 years younger. Miss Doebberg still lives on East 10th st. and conducts a class for piano study. Her father was the late Prof. C. Doebberg, for years on the faculty of Hope college. A few are still living here: Mary Huntley, Mrs. Fred Poene, East 9th st.; Nellie Verschuere, Mrs. A. L. Cappon, West 12th st.; Sadie Howard, the daughter of Manley D. Howard who at one time owned the whole north side, died last year in Mobile, Ala., the wife of Gregg Leach, one time furniture manufacturer at Grand Rapids. They lived in the south at least 35 years and were prominent in that southern city.

North Holland news gives an account of the death of Frederick Stegenga who died of heart failure while working in a sugar beet field near Coopersville. His little daughter was with him and she hastily ran to her mother to give the alarm. The man died shortly after the wife arrived. He is survived by a wife and two children, an aged father, M. P. Stegenga, and six brothers and four sisters.

Cards are out announcing the coming marriage of Carlton Ray Shaw and Miss Eva St. Clair of Holland to take place Nov. 23. Mr. Shaw is well known as a local ball player. He did fine work as a pitcher in the Michigan State Baseball league. Note: Carl, a silver wedding is in the offing.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

A very interesting fire was chronicled in the News as occurring at Allendale where the store of L. J. Wolbrink burned. When the fire broke out, causing a fire loss of $12,000. The interesting part of the fire was that Wolbrink's store was the depository for the countryside. Many Allendale folks had kept their Liberty bonds there for safe keeping. The safe was a large one but had already gone through the big fire of '71 at Chicago before it came to Ottawa County. Anyway, a fire inspector, seeing the "red hot" safe and knowing its origin, gave the Allendale people little hope that the contents were not destroyed. There was a day and a night of watchful waiting until the safe had sufficiently cooled so it could be opened. When work on the opening started the highway in front of where the store had stood was jammed with anxious rural dwellers. Finally the strong box yielded to the safe openers' efforts and when the doors were swung back the contents—bonds and all—were as safe as always—papers had not even been scorched. There were at least $6,000 in bonds and securities in the old safe. It was a happy lot of citizens as well as a thankful store proprietor who thought more of the loss of others than that of his own just then.

School Commissioner Nelson R. Stanton of Holland, to the pupils of Ottawa county rural districts, looks more like a Santa Claus than a person who deals out doses of algebra and trigonometry. "Nels" wants to see the children play health-giving games and thinks that baseball is about the best. While Stanton can't even play "one old cat," he knows that boys will follow the great American game and like it. His car therefore is filled with baseball bats and balls and he leaves a consignment at each school to be used during recess. Note: No wonder he was a popular school commissioner. Knowing him as well as your editor did we can truly say he was not only a fine man but was imbued with high ideals and sound principles as well.

John Arendshorst was again elected secretary of the Holland Fair and Ben Brower secretary. Otto Schapp of Zeeland, president. The directors named Andrew Klompars, Jack Lokker, John Kooiker, Samuel W. Vander Ven, Klaas Koester, of Holland, M. C. Van Zoeren, Wm. Gierum of Zeeland, Wm. Schutmaat of Hamilton.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Robinson, Wednesday, a daughter, Katherine Anna. The new arrival makes a quartet of daughters in the Robinson family.

John W. Garvelink, prominent political figure of Allegan county, died at the age of 77 years. He served in the state legislature of 1873 and '74 and again in 1883. He was elected state senator 1891-'92. He was clerk of Fillmore township for nearly a half century. He was one of the organizers and directors of the First State Bank of Holland. Ben Mulder of Zeeland lies at his home with a fractured leg as a result of being kicked by a fresh colt. Dr. Masselink says the break is a serious one and it will take some time before Mulder can get to his colt again.

Fred McEachron and Frank Salisbury are in the north woods hunting partridge.

Should Canal Go Through, Farmers
Would Be Paid for Their Land

The proposed canal from Holland to Grand Rapids is not a new thing. It has been simmering for half a century, first being a political plank in a platform which elected Attorney Melvin H. Ford, Grand Rapids Democrat, to a seat in Congress, through the help of several Holland Republicans who could see nothing but the great possibilities of a canal. The election over, the canal proved to be a political mirage, fading away until 8 years ago a Grand Rapids realtor, John Buys, saw great possibilities in this waterway, saving Grand Rapids freight rates enough to make it a paying proposition.

The Holland City News has repeatedly stated the advantages to this entire district should the St. Lawrence waterway become a fact. Ocean liners and freighters could then sail right into Lake Michigan and to the docks of any sizeable port. Naturally, Grand Rapids wants to be in on that. It is very anxious to become a seaport town while now it is inland.

Anyways, just lately the canal project has gained impetus because of a meeting called by Mayor Timmers of Grand Rapids in the council chambers in the city hall there, which was largely attended by representatives from all localities interested in such a project.

At this meeting Mr. Buys and others gave facts and figures as this relates to the advantages Grand Rapids would derive, and if these figures are correct, it would be a sizeable sum annually.

The celery farmers paid little attention to any proposed canal suggested during these past fifty years, but undoubtedly the activity that assumed greater proportions in the way of meetings and hearings before government engineers, set the celery belt all agog.

They now talk as if the entire stretch of land which thousands of years ago was a river bed, which after change of course or a drying out, left deposits of muck and fertile soil suitable for celery, will be taken away from them.

Should this waterway be dug, the fact remains that Mr. Buys in his figures also made provision that the farmers should be paid well for their land, or at least that part of it, 300 feet across, necessary for the canal. It is immediately evident that only a small part of the celery land could or would be used for a canal of that sort and it would appear that rather than drying out the land, water from Black Lake would add moisture to the land by virtue of the high water in the canal.

Be that as it may, the Editor of the News is not an engineer and does not know the technical part of the canal building and the results that the digging of a canal may have on the adjacent banks. To us it appears that the canal project is so far in the offing that no one need lose sleep over it for a while yet.

Undoubtedly a canal would help Holland and Zeeland, first, because of the labor that will be needed when it is built, second, Holland would be a port of entry for many more boats than it has now. There would be much docking and business brought to this city by virtue of the ships entering here, first going up the canal and then returning after their cargo had been unloaded along different centers in land, bordering the canal. It would also have a tendency to bring more ships here to lay up for the winter and to prepare steamers for the opening of navigation in the spring.

Holland, in her harbor, would team with crafts of all sorts and besides would encourage pleasure boats, not only to come here, but to make trips up the canal which would become an added showplace.

Anyway, the Zeeland Record tells us that the farmers in Hudsonville and Vriesland swampy areas are right up in the air, believing that it will destroy every acre of muck land between here and Jenison. They contend that the proposal of John Buys is still a dream, but that if it would become a reality over the route proposed, it would destroy their fine celery beds which it has taken years to create.

They realize that the canal is not going to be built tomorrow or the next day, but they feel that there is something in the wind that might be a possibility since the government is going "all-degrees" in an endeavor to provide work for certain classes of employment, and a canal would fit (Continued on Page Four)

To us it appears that the canal project is so far in the offing that no one need lose sleep over it for a while yet.

Undoubtedly a canal would help Holland and Zeeland, first, because of the labor that will be needed when it is built, second, Holland would be a port of entry for many more boats than it has now. There would be much docking and business brought to this city by virtue of the ships entering here, first going up the canal and then returning after their cargo had been unloaded along different centers in land, bordering the canal. It would also have a tendency to bring more ships here to lay up for the winter and to prepare steamers for the opening of navigation in the spring.

Holland, in her harbor, would team with crafts of all sorts and besides would encourage pleasure boats, not only to come here, but to make trips up the canal which would become an added showplace.

Anyway, the Zeeland Record tells us that the farmers in Hudsonville and Vriesland swampy areas are right up in the air, believing that it will destroy every acre of muck land between here and Jenison. They contend that the proposal of John Buys is still a dream, but that if it would become a reality over the route proposed, it would destroy their fine celery beds which it has taken years to create.

They realize that the canal is not going to be built tomorrow or the next day, but they feel that there is something in the wind that might be a possibility since the government is going "all-degrees" in an endeavor to provide work for certain classes of employment, and a canal would fit (Continued on Page Four)

AT LEAST 340 FARMER SIGN
WHEAT CONTRACTS

Sign up meetings for applications on the wheat program closed in Ottawa County Nov. 16. A total of 340 applications were received at the county agricultural agent's office. Checking of papers for correction of errors, listing and transmittal sheets being made out will follow and these papers will be sent to the wheat section at Lansing.
When approved typing of contracts will follow.

Any wheat grower who still wishes to enter into a contract should get in touch with one of the following men. Glenn Taylor, Ellis Peck and Frank Hambleton of Coopersville, Dick DeKleine of Jamestown, Robert Andre of Oliverson or Clarence Raak of Olive-township. No applications can be accepted after listing sheets are started.

L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, believes that the reason for a smaller sign up is that acreage in many cases is too small and the higher market price of wheat may have caused some to drop out of the program. Reports from most counties in Michigan show a decided drop in signers.

THE FOOTBALL SUN SET IT IS THE DAWN OF BASKETBALL

With the local football season completed, Holland schools are turning to basketball campaigns that will open the first week in December.

The curtain was rolled down on the grid schedule Saturday when Hope college created a mild upset by holding the strong Michigan Normal eleven of Ypsilanti to a 7-to-7 tie. Hope scored in the first period on a 44-yard march culminating by a plunge from the one-yard line by Jim De Weerd for the touchdown. Alvin Klomparsen kicked the extra point.

With six minutes remaining in the ball game, Fullback Parker of the Normals dove over the goal from the one-yard stripe after a 52-yard sustained drive. Hanneman booted the extra point to tie the score.

The American Legion post was guest of the college athletic association at the game and presented nine senior members of the Hope squad with bronze medals. Stanley Boven, a member of the 1934 team, was given a like honor.

Local basketball coaches have a sprinkling of veterans. At the college, Coach M. L. Hinga has six lettermen returning and the opening game will be played December 5 with Muskegon Junior college here.

Coach Fred Weiss, who is assuming duties at Holland high, has five lettermen and plays his first game
at Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills,
December 6.

At Christian high school, Coach
John Tuls, successor to Albert H.
Muyskens, has four vets, one of whom completes his career in February, as a nucleus of a team defending its state Class C championship. The first game is with Grand Rapids Davis Tech here December 6.

GRAND HAVEN

A petition with 662 signatures, asking the milk ordinance requiring grade A milk, passed last spring, be rescinded or that the question be put to a vote, was received and filed by the Grand Haven council last night.

No action will be taken unless the petitioners ask for a referendum and present petitions bearing enough signatures to represent 10 per cent of the registered voters of the city. The council may use its discretion in calling the election but if the petitioners desire to force the issue, after the council has refused the vote an additional number of signatures from 15 per cent of the registered voters will call a special election.

T. A. McMahon said he had circulated the petition and expressed belief he could obtain many more signatures. The petitioners claimed the ordinance is viable adequate protection from poor milk, a hardship is worked on milk producers; higher prices will be charged due to increased production costs; the ordinance tends to create a monopoly in the milk business; and the present city ordinance for grade B milk is satisfactory.

COMMON COUNCIL

then unnecessary.

Mr. Huyser said, "When state highways come into the city it simply means rezoning. It becomes a hustling, bustling thoroughfare and now that this is the case, I am for rezoning the whole street, even River Ave. to 12th St. If the John Knapp proposal should again come for re-consideration, I think that thoroughfares that become trunk highways, immediately become undesirable residence property."

Alderman Steffens said, "I am for the rezoning because I know that a trunk line is the worst possible street to live on. Present 17th St. has taught me that. It is worse than living near a railroad, for there you get an occasional train, but on a trunk line the going of the motor cars is endless and sleepless and is only fit for commercial purposes."

Many of the aldermen felt if only those pieces of property that were used for gas stations would be so utilized, this would at least temporarily the whole affair for a time. All of them felt that these men who have held property all these years, never deriving one cent of benefit, had a claim for the coming of the trunk line meant that they were willing to build and improve their property, but without the trunkline, making improvements would be simply an added burden of no value.

That in substance is what transpired at the council meeting as this relates to the rezoning. However, an aftermath came when John Knapp in a long communication asked that the council again reconsider the rezoning of River Ave. from 17th St. to 12th St. making this a commercial zone. There was no discussion, but the whole matter was thrown in the laps of the zoning committee who will report at some future meeting.

Mr. Knapp brought out that if Michigan Ave. and Washington Blvd. could be rezoned, surely his proposal had preference and was of greater merit. What the outcome will be, the future will tell.

The following officers were elected at the regular meeting of Douglas chapter No. 203, O. E. S., recently: W. M., Ethel Coxford; W. P., Grace Larson; Associate M., Mrs. Andrew Meles; Associate P., Edmund Meles; Secy., Mrs. Anna Leggett; Treas., Mrs. Mary Larson; Cond., Mrs. Beatrice Eaton; Asso. Cond., Mrs. Evelyn Anderson.

On New Canal

into that scheme of things very readily since common labor is required. They don't realize that this proposition has to do with Congress, but first with the engineering department where it will be found out whether the scheme will work and whether it will be a beneficial project to the largest number and will eventually be self-sustaining. The News believes that the answer lies there.

All the same, Hudsonville and Vriesland farmers are not leaving any stones unturned in their fight to even prevent the consideration of the proposed Buys route. They claim once the thing gets started there is no method of stopping it, and they feel certain that only a small fraction of the loss they are bound to sustain will ever be paid them, and that all the benefits of the canal are never going to repay the loss sustained by them.

The Zeeland Record continues its article, saying they are anxious that every farmer in this section shall be fully aroused to the danger they face, and that they shall all join in meeting this common economic enemy at their door.

They point out that there will result a complete destruction of all the muck lands for cultivation purposes, and that this will destroy the economic existence of Hudsonville and will materially affect Zeeland as well. There is a large influx of money from the two principal muck crops, celery and onions, which constitutes the largest part of revenue for Hudsonville and is a large item for Zeeland, both of which are threatened with complete extinction.

There is no definite route announced in the scheme, the Zeeland Record says, but it is reasonable to believe that the surveys made would follow the lowest points in the general course. If it does, then it would follow directly through the center of the muck lands. East of Hudsonville there is only a narrow strip along the course of Rush Creek, which runs into Grand River between Jenison and Grandville.

Then as it progresses westward it would swing in a wide circle north of Hudsonville, after which it would follow quite closely along the north side of the Pere Marquette Railroad as far as the Vriesland "sink hole." From this point it would cut in a southwesterly direction two miles, and finally follow the swamp land south of Zeeland running directly west to Black River, according to the Zeeland Record.

There is, however, in John Buys' plan, the proposal to follow along the north side of Zeeland city, running directly east and west from a point directly north of the "sink hole" through the high land, crossing the Pere Marquette Railroad at some point near Waverly. If this route is followed it will affect Zeeland in another way than the loss of trade through the elimination of the celery and onion growers, and the farmers are urging Zeeland citizens to think and act in cooperation with them in preventing the destruction of this, one of the most productive and prosperous agricultural areas in Ottawa County.

Various claims are made, ranging from 100 per cent down of the farmers who are opposing this project, and from indications it seems the estimates are substantially correct, the Zeeland Record says. One farmer estimated that there are more than one thousand acres of muck land involved which he valued on an average at not less than $1000.00 per acre. In fact, he recited that land in that district had been sold for $1200.00 per acre and that there are many farmers who would not part with their holdings at that figure. If these figures are substantially correct, the money involved in the principal price alone would exceed $1,000,000, and this indicates in a measure what these muck farmers have at stake in this matter. There may be a few of these farmers who are unable to hold their properties, being excessively in debt, for which reason they might care to favor the sale at a fancy figure for canal purposes, but these instances are so rare that they should not be considered as a sentiment favoring the project.

Edward Tanis, who has established a storage plant for muck farm products, and has an investment of some $20,000.00, indicated that his business would be ruined and his whole investment would be waste. That is a fair evaluation of the injury that would result to Hudsonville business, according to the statement of several of these interested men.

It is the purpose of those interested in Hudsonville and the surrounding territory to voice their protest against this menace to the community according to the Zeeland Record.

The Zeeland Record also comes out with a column editorial showing the baneful results to Zeeland, Hudsonville, Vriesland and Jenison should the canal be dug. The Editor goes into the technical impossibilities of digging a canal because Grand River at Grandville is only six feet above the water level at Lake Michigan and it would be impossible for water to back up from Black Lake and even if it did the canal would become a stagnant pool since there would be no current.

The editorial is replete with figures showing the slight water fall along the entire route of the proposed canal and at the close the editor urges that Zeeland, Vriesland, Hudsonville, Jenison and the property owners adjacent the canal zone take this matter up as their own, and to oppose the proposed project, considering it a dire menace to this entire celery area, which according to the editor, would put many a farmer out of business and would curtail tremendously the incomes of the cities and villages who derive benefits from this celery growing district. So that's that.

Undoubtedly several crops of celery will be grown before the canal becomes a reality, if future progress is no more rapid than the progress in the past. Anyway, Holland is not excited and no program committee has yet been appointed to function at the grand opening of the Holland-Grand Rapids waterway.

AMERICAN LEGION

Those men who were so enthusiastic about the American Legion drive for the Red Cross should report at once to Nick Hoffman, Jr., the chairman. A third of those who promised to be on hand have reported. We are hoping for a 100% response.

Keep in mind the meeting on the 27th, prizes for the more fortunate ones and empty cards for the rest.

To date we have heard nothing from the deer hunting crowd, so maybe you'd better keep a slab of side pork ready in case no invitations are received.

The membership campaign is about to close. All team members are requested to call their captains and give the names of the men they signed up.

The regular meeting of the Auxiliary is called for 7:45 on next Monday evening. Members having any wearable clothing are asked to bring such articles with them as the organization has calls among the needy for clothes. A good program has been arranged and refreshments will be served.

The Major Bowes program with the amateur artists, was a wonderful performance attended by at least 1800 patrons. The participants were even better than when heard over the Major Bowes program, indicating that their traveling experiences had given them confidence. They had already visited more than 50 cities. In this vicinity, Grand Rapids, Holland and Muskegon were the places where the artists gave their performance. There was a children's hour in the afternoon which was quite well attended, but the two shows in the evening in the Armory, drew the large crowds. A large committee of Legionnaires were present in uniform, helping wherever they could. With the troupe there were two pianists, both playing at the same time, and how they could tickle the keys! All in all, it was quite a novelty and on two occasions now, Major Bowes has announced that the show was in Holland, Michigan and that adds materially to the publicity that this city gets, which over that program is world-wide.

Miss Janet Glupker has returned to her home in East Saugatuck and expects to leave about December first to enter Moody Bible Institute in Chicago.

Banks Have Confidence to Loan

—when business men have confidence to borrow.

THIS bank is in a strong position to make loans whenever individual business plans and related business conditions warrant them. From many quarters come reports of improvements in general business conditions for the nation as a whole. As such gains become more prevalent and firmly established the opportunities for successful undertakings will increase. At the beginning of such a stage in business it is important for business men to take stock of the future.

This bank is continually studying national and local business information and is always ready to discuss plans and conditions with its business neighbors. If it develops that a loan is justified, we will make the loan.

FOLEY OF FEDERAL HOUSING FAME TO SPEAK HERE

Raymond M. Foley, State Director of the Federal Housing Administration, will deliver an address to the citizens of Holland and neighboring communities, Friday evening, November 22, at a banquet to be held in the main dining room of the Warm Friend Tavern, at six-thirty o'clock. His subject will be "What the Federal Housing Administration's Housing Plan means to Michigan."

Mr. Foley's reputation as an orator and public figure is well known in Michigan but is rapidly extending beyond the state lines. Recently he was invited to speak in Toledo at a large public meeting on housing. This address led to an invitation from Springfield, Ohio, for a similar mass meeting.

Mr. Foley is being brought here under the auspices of the Young Democrats of South Ottawa County, but the meeting will be in no sense political. An earnest invitation is extended for all those to be present who are interested in this phase of the Government's activity. The meeting will open at six-thirty with a dinner in the Main dining room of the Warm Friend Tavern. It is hoped that similar meetings may be arranged for the future after which Mr. Foley will speak in order that the public may have an opportunity to get first hand information from the hands of the various Government organizations which are attempting to assist in overcoming the disastrous effects of the depression. If anyone is interested in hearing from any particular department, it is suggested that he call Attorney Louis J. Stempfy and it may be possible to arrange to hear from that particular organization.

The Freeman & Newnam Auto Co., organized 12 years ago, has been discontinued by mutual consent. Richard B. Newnam will continue the business under the name of R. B. Newnam Motor Sales. Percy L. Griffin, formerly of Chicago, has leased the Walz business corner, which he is remodeling into a rustic lunch garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Koopman celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary at their home at 84 East 18th St. November 14th in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. Rev. H. D. Ter Kuurst gave a brief address followed by a brief speech of congratulations by Mayor Nichodemus Bosch. Mr. N. J. Jonker, and James Veltman gave readings. Mr. James A. Brink was master of ceremonies. Games were played and refreshments served. Mr. and Mrs. Koopman were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Koopman and daughter Lois, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Koopman, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Koopman, Winifred Wyman, Mr. and Mrs. Kryn De Blay, Mr. Calvin De Blay, Miss Petersen, Mr. Albert Vander Wal, The Misses Anna, Mary, and Reka Vander Wal, Mr. Geo. POLICE AND FIRE COMMISSIONERS HAVE MEETING

At a regular meeting of the board of police and fire commissioners Monday, a uniform committee and regular target practice to increase efficiency in using the weapons were prescribed for the Holland police department. Police Chief Van Ry recommended that officers bear .38 caliber pistols. Commissioner John F. Donnelly, chairman of the personnel committee, reported that negotiations with the Holland Rifle club are nearing completion to permit police officers to engage in target practice at regular intervals. DOMINIES-TO-BE WANT THEIR TEACHER TO STAY

Students of the local seminary object to Dr. John R. Mulder accepting a call to Third Reformed Church just received from that congregation. Through their student spokesman, Harry Zegarius, the student body asked Dr. Mulder not to leave the institution. In their petition they say: "Feeling as we do that your work in the seminary is of increasing usefulness, that your leaving would be a great loss to this institution and that your influence in the Reformed church at large is greater as a professor than it could be as a pastor, we express our desire that you remain with us." It is a strong appeal that cannot help but bear weight and at the same time be gratifying to this faculty member knowing that his students have such a high regard for him personally and at the same time appreciate his rare ability as a theologian.

TRINITY LEAGUE TO PRESENT PLAY

Trinity League for Service is to present the play, "Whatsoever Ye Sow" by Mary S. Hitchcock on Thursday and Friday of next week. The setting of the play is Jerusalem about the year 29 A.D. The story centers about Prince Stephen, a lover of horses and money; capably played by Harold Reginaldus.

Rebecca the princess betrothed who presents herself at the Prince's Court only to save her father's fortune, is very dramatically taken by Corrine Baker.

Cornie Sketetes, as Daniel playing the role of the Prince's scribe and Ruth the handmaid of Anna played by Dorothy Van Saun afford a touching love scene of early Judean life.

Esther Bultman ably takes the part of the Prince's mother Anna, who tries to change the Prince's Philosophy of life and conduct.

The part of the Prince's Steward Eli is taken by Jay Kepens and the Prince's slave Esau by Neil Baldwin.

Jude, a Samaritan and a debtor of the Prince who arouses much interest by his fiery exclamations and his desire for revenge is portrayed by Jack Englesman.

Other parts are, Rabbi Joseph, Peter Bol; Sarah, a debtor, Esther Bade; Tabitha, Rebecca's Aunt, Clarine Elenbaas; Martha, Rebecca's handmaid, Charlotte Jacobs.

The play is being coached by Mrs. Theodore Bolt.

Wheat Plans Much Less Popular in Ottawa

About 350 wheat growers will sign up for the coming year's wheat control program, Leo E. Arnold, county agricultural agent and secretary of the growers' association, believes. This number will be considerably less than the number signed for the two year program in 1933.

Mr. Arnold reported 250 applications were taken out in the first series of meetings but he has no totals to date on the number for the second series which will close Friday. The reason for the drop in number of signers Mr. Arnold reports is due to three things, in his opinion: too small a base to make signing worth while, interference with crop rotation and opposition to the program on the part of the grower.

A rye program is being started by the federal government, Mr. Arnold reports, and Ottawa county rye growers will soon be offered details of compliance. Not 5% of Ottawa county farmers have signed. They still believe in letting nature take its course.

SUSTAINED WILL OF MAN WHO DIES AT 102

An Allegan county jury sustained the will of Alexander Lake of Fennville, made when the testator lacked less than two months of being 100 years old. Lake died in February, 1934, at the age of 102 years. The contest to break his will was brought by his only living child, Eldora, of Vermont, who in July, 1934, won a verdict in the case. In appeal to the supreme court, however, the case was returned for retrial on alleged undue influence. The high court established a precedent when it ruled the testator was mentally competent at the advanced age of 99 years to dispose of property as he desired and saw fit. The bulk of the approximately $10,000 estate now goes to the five children of Lydia Bale, Fennville, with whom Mr. Lake made his home the five years preceding his death. The descendants of Alexander Lake, besides his son, now number 11 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Flag Thieves Not Men But Park Squirrel

Take the Colors from Standards on Graves of Soldiers, Make Warm Nest for Young

(Muskegon Chronicle)
The disappearance of American flags from the graves of war veterans in Maple Grove cemetery is no longer a mystery. For weeks Sexton Frank Hoad could not account for the large number of emblems stripped from their standards and carried away. Speculation was rife as to the identity of the thief but it was not until an encounter with the culprit in the act of ripping off one of the flags that the real identity was disclosed.

Walking down one of the cemetery lanes one day recently Frank saw a gray squirrel cross his path. Curious, he stopped to see what its mission was. To his amazement he saw the squirrel hop up on the holder of one of the American flags, gaze for an instant at the stars and stripes, then climb the slender standard until it reached the top. Here it grasped the flag close to the standard with its teeth and slid down again neatly ripping the cloth away and carrying it to the ground. The squirrel stopped long enough to roll its prize into a ball which it took in its mouth and scampered for a spruce tree.

The mystery of the missing flags was solved! But later discoveries produced interesting glimpses of the cunning and ingenuity of the animal. Within a few hours after Mr. Hoad's discovery, 10 more flags disappeared. An inspection was made of the tree and in the top-most branches the squirrel's nest was discovered. On top of the nest, laid out neatly like so many small blankets, were 17 of the missing flags. And underneath these "blankets," snug and warm and protected from rain, were three tiny squirrels, not more than two or three days old. In the nest itself several more of the flags were discovered as part of the construction.

Evidently because of this molestation, the squirrel promptly moved to another tree in the east end of the cemetery. On one occasion it was seen carrying one of the young in its mouth to the new home. Almost immediately flags began to disappear from that section of the cemetery.

An interesting sidelight, Sexton Hoad points out, is that only American flags were used by the squirrel and if any of these were torn in the process of taking them down they were left lying on the ground useless for the desired purpose. Furthermore, of all the fraternity flags in the cemetery only one was torn off and the animal, evidently discovering its error, left it lying on the ground beneath the standard.

G. H. DEER HUNTERS TURNED AWAY AS LICENSES ALL SOLD

The supply of deer licenses at the Jonker Hardware company, Grand Haven, license distributor, is exhausted, Hartger Jonker reported. He said it was impossible to obtain more as the supply in other communities was either gone or nearly gone.

Last year 83 licenses were issued and Mr. Jonker was supplied with 100 this year to insure a large enough supply. The increase at present is 20 per cent and would have been as high as eight prospective hunters were turned away today.

Of those obtaining licenses at Grand Haven this year, 23 were successful in hunting deer and one killed a bear last year.

WINGS ON LAKE PATZCUARO

It looks as though a flock of giant locusts had lit on the lake for a chat. The lacy-looking wings, however, are finely meshed fishing nets with which the Tarascan Indians capture the little white fish which abound in Lake Patzcuaro.

This lake is one of the most picturesque in all Mexico and one which those "in the know" always stop off to see when taking the fortnightly cruises between New York, the Spanish Americas and Mexico. The lake which is in the heart of what was once the Tarascan Empire has a regular grand opera setting. It is ringed completely 'round with quaint little Indian villages set against a background of white capped mountains. On one side is Tzintzuntzan, "the place of the humming birds," once capital of the great Tarascan Empire, now a place of ruins deserted except for a few natives living in adobe huts clustered around the two remaining churches. Across from this place is Patzcuaro where the Tarascan rulers once had their summer palaces. The jade green surface of the lake swarms with native craft—whole families crowded into dugout canoes, made from hollow logs, transporting produce to market; others cutting rushes from which to weave mats; and a majority of them fishing with their cobwebby nets. It is a place completely off the beaten track where travelers find real refreshment.

The following statement in answer to the request: "I am happy to endorse and support any progressive enterprise or undertaking sponsored by the citizens of Holland, I feel this production, 'The First Commandment,' is a fine thing, not only from the standpoint of being a worthwhile achievement, unusual entertainment, but also that it is something of benefit to everyone in the community."

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Roos, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Borchers, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Van Kolken, Mrs. Sena Maatman and Mrs. Baker, all members of the Henry Walters post and auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, were among those from Holland who attended a joint installation of officers of four posts and three auxiliaries in Grand Rapids Friday night. Five members of the local auxiliary were in Muskegon Wednesday night for an installation in that city. They are Sena Maatman, Florence Tiesenga, president of the Holland auxiliary; Laura Baker, Jeannette Sundin and Margaret Kolken.

The convention slogan, "We Fight Alcohol," was stressed. A miscellaneous program was presented. The tea committee was composed of Mrs. H. Maris and Mrs. Belle Haight, assisted by Mrs. B. Welton.

Harold Bussies, 36, Holland R. F. D. No. 6, escaped with severe bruises Friday night when his car and another driven by Mrs. Gerrit Boeve, collided several miles southeast of here. He is in Holland hospital.

YOU CAN EAT WITH FALSE TEETH But You Can't See With GLASS EYES

When your eyes become weak through over-strain, and seeing becomes more and more difficult, it's too late to think of what you might have done to prevent this terrible misfortune. Sight is a matter of light,—and the way to save your eyes from the strain that ruins them is to give them plenty of the RIGHT KIND OF LIGHT for the task of seeing. Don't neglect your eyes. Good light—and enough of it—is much cheaper than the price you would otherwise pay for damaged eyes.

GOOD LIGHT IS CHEAP Use It To Save Your Eyes

Plenty of lamps in the home, especially the new scientific I.E.S. BETTER SIGHT LAMPS, are within the reach of everyone. They cost but little,—and they pay handsome dividends. And when you consider that today's 15c light bulb will give you more light than over $700 worth of candles did in grandfather's time, you can see how cheap it is to enjoy good light,—plentifully. For less than a cent you can burn the average bulb for more than ten hours under Holland's cheap electric rates.

The Message of Hagai and Zechariah-Hagai 1:2-8, 9; Zechariah 4:6-10

Henry Geerlings

Politically the end of the sixth century marked a critical period in the Persian Empire. Cyrus, its founder, and his successor Cambyses, had conquered many of the smaller powers of the eastern world. But these subjugated tribes and nations remained restless and rebellious under Persian rule. Under Darius open revolt flared up in many parts of his conglomerate empire.

During this revolutionary period Hagai and Zechariah began their prophetic activity in Jerusalem. Eighteen years had elapsed since the decree of Cyrus had given permission to Jewish exiles in Babylon to return to their native land. It is altogether probable that only a small number of the captives availed themselves of this privilege. These exiles had not fared badly in Babylon. They were prosperous and content. Most of them represented the second generation, who knew the glory of Jerusalem only by hearsay. Thus, the prospect of returning to a devastated and desolate country was far from alluring to successful Jewish merchants and farmers in Babylon.

Almost immediately after reaching the homeland the colonists gathered at Jerusalem to reestablish the formal worship of Jehovah. The altar was rebuilt and the foundations of the temple were laid. But then opposition and dissension arose and for fifteen years the work of reconstruction stood still.

It was then the two prophets began their work. Doubtless the unsettled state of the Persian Empire was the occasion though not the cause of their messages. The mission of the returned exiles, as seen by the prophets, was to found a religious community, not a political state. God, represented by the high priest, was to be their king. Hence the destroyed temple must be rebuilt, the formal worship of Jehovah, with feasts and sacrifices, must be re-established.

Accordingly, the supreme aim of these two prophets was to arouse the Jews of Jerusalem to the performance of their divine mission. That was the central topic of their great sermons.

The people were stung to action. Work on the temple was resumed. When the first enthusiasm was waning, Hagai preached several other sermons, full of reproof and encouragement. Soon Zechariah reinforced the message of Hagai. The Persian Empire was breaking into pieces. The messianic age was about to usher in. But the first step to Jehovah's rule was the rebuilding of the temple. Then God would take up his residence in Jerusalem. Mount Zion will be called the holy mountain.

The unbounded idealism of these men, however, was doomed to disappointment. The Persian Empire did not fall to pieces. Darius restored order and peace in his far-flung domain. It was a half century of profound discouragement to the faithful remnant of the chosen people. But the religious hopes of the two prophets did not perish. There ever was a faithful band that kept them alive, and there came other prophets to proclaim them anew.

Ours too is an age of reconstruction. There are those who despair of the future, and there are others who long for the return of the good old times. As followers we share neither this hopeless pessimism, nor this foolish optimism. We share neither this hopeless pessimism of Hagai and Zechariah, as it was finally incarnate in our Lord.

Thus, with a faith clarified and strengthened by the gospel of Christ, we may well turn to these ancient prophets and ponder anew the timeless truths they proclaimed to a Jewish community so many centuries ago.

We need prophets like these ancient men of vision to proclaim that neither politics nor economics, but only religion can give strength and stability to our disintegrating world. We need them to arouse the church to the supreme task of rebuilding the church, not materially but spiritually, so that it truly may become the dynamic source and center of life redeemed from sin and selfishness.

We need their faith that it is the Spirit of God that fulfills the hope of a better day, but that the messianic age does not depend upon Jehovah alone. It is conditioned upon the energetic practice of social righteousness in Israel. We need their magnificent faith that the tumultuous panorama of history will end with the triumph of God. Jehovah will be king over all the earth. There shall be no more curse. Only faith in God will give us a hopeful outlook.

Substantial business gains by the Holland Furnace Co. revealed in a quarterly financial statement offered further indications that Holland is reaching a normal industrial trend. Continuing its summer pace when black ink took the place of red, the net earnings of the plant are well over a half million dollars. According to a report over the three-month period released by Secretary A. W. Tahaney, the company stacked up a net profit of $616,243, after all charges, including bond interest and depreciation, but exempting provision for federal taxes, are figured. The amount is more than 100 per cent larger than the profit of $260,341 for the same fiscal period a year ago. Sales have been stepped up at the Holland Furnace Co., augmenting the trend to the better business trend now being felt in this community.

A DINNER prepared with the first cut of a piece of meat, crisp vegetables and fresh fruit is an interesting but fairly routine cooking job. There is no great opportunity to create unusual food combinations in such a menu. But when the meal is done, you sometimes find yourself with a few left-overs that do present a real challenge to your ingenuity and imagination. Don't wait a meal or so and then serve the same dishes again unromantically reheated. Try combining two or three of the tidbits with a seasoning trick of your own invention, or extend a refrigerator remnant into a substantial supper dish by adding a savory new ingredient to win your family's enthusiasm. Ready-to-serve Cooked Spaghetti is one of these grand budget stretchers that combines readily with a wide variety of dishes. Its spicy flavor adds pleasant zest while its fine bright color heightens the appeal of many a second appearance. These splendid left-over recipes all have Spaghetti as the background for their success:

Spaghetti with Ham and Mushrooms.—Sauté ½ lb. fresh mushrooms, thinly sliced, in 2 tablespoons butter until tender. Add 1 cup finely diced baked ham or tongue, and 1 small onion, scraped or finely diced. Continue cooking until slightly browned. Add 1-21 oz. can Cooked Spaghetti in Tomato Sauce, and cook until thoroughly heated. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Serve on hot platter and garnish with Ripe Mission Olives.

Spanish Spaghetti.—Cook 1 small onion, finely chopped, and 1 small green pepper, finely chopped in 3 tablespoons butter until tender. Add ½ cup finely shredded dried beef and brown slightly. Pour in 1-12½ oz. can Cooked Spaghetti in Tomato Sauce and continue cooking just until Spaghetti is heated through. Add a dash of pepper and serve very hot.

Casserole of Meat and Spaghetti.—Combine 2 cups diced cooked beef, 1 medium onion, finely chopped, and 1 medium green pepper, finely chopped and fry in fat until brown. Season with salt and pepper, then add 1-21 oz. can Cooked Spaghetti in Tomato Sauce, and ½ cup water, and pour into buttered casserole. Sprinkle with buttered crumbled Rice Flakes and bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) until brown (about 20 minutes). Bring directly to the table in the casserole in which it has been baked. Buttered spinach, Sweet Gherkins, and a Waldorf salad will appropriately round out the main course of the dinner in which this dish is served.

Spaghetti and Ham Soufflé.—Melt 4 tablespoons butter in a saucepan, add 4 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add ½ cup Cream of Tomato Soup (from 1-16 oz. can), and cook, stirring constantly, until thick. SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

WITH Thanksgiving so close, Sunday dinner must take second place in the plans of the housewife. This week it is wise to buy staple and non-perishable foods. In order to know what will be needed, a menu with its market list should be made. Tell your butcher what size turkey you want so that it will be on hand for you next week.

Sunday's dinner will be attractive and good but not quite so special as usual. Chunks of beef and lamb and pork cuts other than from the loin are fairly economical. Eggs are cheaper but butter is higher. All root vegetables and most members of the cabbage family are cheap. So are string beans and spinach.

Here are two Sunday dinners and an average Thanksgiving feast.

Low Cost Dinner

Pan-broiled Ground Beef
Mashed Potatoes
Spinach
Vanilla Pudding
Tea or Coffee

Medium Cost Dinner

Beef a la Mode
Baked Stuffed Potatoes
Spinach
Bread and Butter
Chocolate Cream Pie
Tea or Coffee

Thanksgiving Dinner

Consomme or Grapefruit
Celery
Roast Turkey
with Two Kinds of Stuffing
Giblet Gravy
Cranberry Sauce
Cauliflower, Maitre d'hotel
Green Beans
Hearts of Lettuce
Pumpkin
Peanut Ice Cream
Fruits and Nuts

THE PUBLIC DEMANDED

HEINZ ANSWERED

Public clamor for soups that taste "home-made" grew to public acclaim for Heinz when the famous Home-Style soups were introduced. The secret of that "home-made" taste is the secret of home-style cooking. It's the secret of long, slow simmering in smallish, open kettles. It's the secret of care in the washing and preparing of ingredients; of cautious stirring, sipping and seasoning! And it's the secret of fresh vegetables—the pick of the crop; vine-ripened and dew-flecked; of fresh, rich cream, the world's best spices, and finest cuts of prime meats! Better order a few tins of Heinz Home-Style, home-tasting soups today! Your grocer has them.

See if you don't like HEINZ SOUPS best!

Make this test tomorrow: Buy any Heinz home-style soup. Buy the same variety of any other brand. If you do not like Heinz soup better, we will pay back the full purchase price of both soups! Simply mail the 2 labels (with your written criticism) to H. J. Heinz Co., Pittsburgh.
