Many Motorists Still to Register For Gas Rations

But More Than One Thousand Are Listed
On First Day in City

A total of 1,056 automobiles were registered for gasoline rationing Wednesday at the five elementary schools between 4 and 9 p.m., Joe Moran, in charge of the registration, reported today.

He said the registration proceeded smoothly with only short waiting periods. From his own observations, only a small number of car owners applied for supplementary rations of gasoline.

Registration by schools follows: Froebel, 250; Washington, 225; Van Raalte, 250; Lincoln, 181; Longfellow, 150.

The registration got under way for the second day at noon today and will continue until 9 p.m. The same hours will prevail here Friday. Those who do not register during these three days will have to wait until Dec. 2 or afterward and then apply directly to the local war price and rationing board. Failure of the car owner to register either today or Friday will result in his being penalized by having some gasoline rationing stamps removed from the ration book.

In view of the fact that there are an estimated 6,000 cars in Holland, a large number remain to be registered.

There are several car owners, unknown to Mr. Moran, who are asked to report back to their schools because their registration is incomplete. Two or three of those who registered failed to leave the top half of their blank with the registrars. Two other car owners did not receive their "A" stickers which have to be placed on windshields.

John J. Good, executive secretary of the local rationing board, today reminded automobile owners who expect to apply for supplemental rations to enable them to drive to and from work that they should make plans now to share rides with others needing transportation to their jobs.

"Car sharing has been made an integral part of the mileage rationing program because it is the most effective means of providing essential transportation on a minimum amount of rubber. To get more than the basic A ration, a car owner must form a car-sharing club to carry at least three other persons to and from work or prove that he can not do so."

Mr. Good suggested that car owners arrange car sharing with their neighbors or fellow employees. If two or more cars are to be used in a club, members may divide up the use of those cars to suit their convenience. Supplemental rations will then be issued each vehicle for mileage to meet its obligations.

The club must be formed before the application for a supplemental ration is submitted to the board. Signatures of all members must appear on the application and applicants must certify that they will carry through their part in the car club agreement.

Supplemental application blanks may be obtained by the car owner from his school registrar. This is to be filled out later and sent to the war price and rationing board.

An accident occurred Friday at 1:30 p.m. at 14th St. and Central Ave. between cars driven by Eugene Sooter, 206 West 11th St., and Marine Kooyers, 351 River Ave.

The Sooter car was going south on Central Ave. and Mr. Kooyers was traveling west on 14th St. Mr. Kooyers told police he did not see the other car until he entered the intersection and she reported she thought Mr. Kooyers would stop and when he failed to do so, she turned to the right to avoid a collision. Nicholas Yntema, 12 East 16th St., was listed as a witness.

East Junior, Washington Schools Win Scrap Contest

East Junior high school and Washington school were announced yesterday as winners of the scrap collection contest which was conducted Oct. 12-22 among the Holland public schools by Supt. E. E. Fell on behalf of The Sentinel which is awarding large American flags to the two winning schools.

The contest was conducted on a per capita basis in order that schools with smaller enrollments would have an equal chance to compete with those of larger enrollments. Two contests were held among the public schools, one involving East Junior high school and Washington school and the other involving East Junior high school and the elementary schools.

East Junior high school students collected a total of 48,000 pounds. With 204 students, this gave the school a per capita of $235.29. Washington school's 289 students collected 23,451 pounds for a per capita of 81.1 pounds. Sale of the scrap netted the school $107.47.

Students of the eight public schools in Holland collected a total of 198,566 pounds or 99 plus tons of scrap during the contest. From the sale of this scrap they obtained $899.64.

Dr. Fell reported that all money obtained from the sale of the scrap is being used in the purchase of war savings bonds or other projects connected with the war effort.

Similar contests were conducted by The Sentinel among the Christian schools and the rural schools of Ottawa county but complete reports on the outcome of these other contests are not available. There has been some delay in transporting the scrap from the schools to the junk yards.

Presentation of the flags to the East Junior high school and Washington school will be made by W. A. Butler, business manager for The Sentinel, at an early date.

A coincidence of the contest is that East Junior high school won the major awards at the Junior Chamber of Commerce Halloween party last Oct. 31.

Students of East Junior high school, Junior high school and Holland high school collected 140,003 pounds of scrap and obtained $661.51 in its sale. In the elementary schools, students gathered 58,563 pounds and obtained $283.13 in cash.

Dr. Fell's report on the other schools follows:

Junior high school — Total weight, 54,873 pounds; number of pupils, 712; weight per capita, 77.06; cash received, $283.71.

Senior high school — Total weight, 37,130 pounds; number of pupils, 600; weight per capita, 61.88; cash received, $133.74.

Van Raalte school — Total weight, 13,590 pounds; number of pupils, 261; weight per capita, 52.06; cash received, $46.34.

Froebel school — Total weight, 6,837 pounds; number of pupils, 168; weight per capita, 40.69; cash received, $27.22.

Longfellow school — Total weight, 10,800 pounds; number of pupils, 268; weight per capita, 40.29; cash received, $46.15.

Lincoln school — Total weight, 3,885 pounds; number of pupils, 182; weight per capita, 21.34; cash received, $10.95.

Sub Chaser to Be Launched Nov. 28 By Victory Firm

Will Be First Major
Naval Vessel Built
By Holland Concern

The first major naval vessel ever to be built in Holland will be launched at the plant of the Victory Shipbuilding Co. at Macatawa park Saturday, Nov. 28.

The launching ceremonies are scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Mrs. John Gingrich, wife of Capt. John Gingrich, U. S. N., of Washington, D. C., will be the sponsor.

The vessel to be launched is the 110-foot submarine chaser, SC-1063. Her keel was laid June 22. When commissioned in the navy, she will carry a crew of three officers and 20 men. It is this type of patrol craft that has played an important part in riding the Atlantic coast of German U-boats.

Her armament and speed are military secrets.

The history of the Victory Shipbuilding Co. is typical of the spirit of resourcefulness and enterprise that has made America the arsenal of democracy. Two Chicago building contractors, Irvin A. Blizet and R. W. Bramberg, organized the company last May. They immediately made a survey of shipyards suitable for the construction of navy vessels and selected the yards of Jesek Bros. as the best suited for this purpose.

In typical cooperative fashion, a lease was negotiated and work rushed to empty the shops of large pleasure craft. Within 30 days, concrete floors were laid, complete mill machinery installed, plumbing, electrical and general stockrooms built, lights installed and materials purchased.

More than 100 men were employed, about 90 per cent of whom had never worked on a ship before. The 150 days required from keel to launching is unusually fast time for a new company on this type of craft.

The personnel of the Victory Shipbuilding Co. includes Mr. Blizet, president; Mr. Bramberg, chairman of the board of directors; Joseph Jesek, general superintendent; Rex Anderson, production manager; William Thumm, plumbing department head; and Herbert Bradley, electrical department head.

Pooling of Tires In Share-the-Ride Plan Urged Here

Transportation for Workers Is Key to War, Mayor States

For want of a tire, the car may be lost; for want of a car, the worker may be lost; for want of a worker, the war may be lost.

Mayor Henry Geerlings pointed this out today in emphasizing the present transportation problem in which he said group riding is "of the utmost importance."

He urged plant management and employees to cooperate in the pooling of tires and parts from cars which might be unable to operate because of the loss of one tire or because of other difficulty.

"American automobiles are going off the road at an estimated rate of three a minute," he said.

"That is something to think about in these days. The automobile is integrally as much a part of our war machine as any tank, plane, ship or gun."

"If for want of a tire the war is lost, the historian will be a gleeful Japanese, telling the world of the downfall of a big rich nation."

"Industry must do three things—establish effective group riding plans, participate wholeheartedly in community plans for staggering of hours to relieve peak loads on mass production and start planning now for the inevitable time when no combination of these two expedients will suffice to get all the workers to work."

"The transport problem is a personal responsibility. Management must impress upon industrial employees that both ought to be willing to do their part. The stark fact of the matter is that ultimate victory could depend on whether we handle our slender supply of rubber wisely or foolishly in the crucial months ahead. We have got to keep enough passenger cars in commission to provide for essential transportation. If the passenger automobiles in this country stop rolling it will be impossible for all workers to climb into buses, trolley cars or trains to ride to work. There are not enough public vehicles to take us when and where we need to go."

"There is no reason for supposing that a miracle will happen which will make the conservation of tires and cars and trucks unnecessary. Moreover, the problem is not simply one of tires. We face a serious shortage of automotive parts as well. And we must never forget that no more new cars are being built."

"Group riding is of the utmost importance at the present time. It will succeed only when we all pull together. Management must solicit and utilize the active cooperation of labor. Indifference or mere acquiescence will defeat the best plans. There is a big selling job to be done."

"The ideal group riding is for five persons to ride to work in one car rotating for periods of one week each. These people have increased the period during which all will ride from 18 months to 54 months."

"The time may come that more and more cars break down and drop out of the picture. When a tire wears out on a car and the owner is unable to replace it, removal of the car from the road would be a shameful waste for the three remaining tires, deteriorating on the rims in a garage. In this case the management could arrange a pool of all such surviving tires—and parts, too—and maintain a central exchange at the factory from which workers could purchase replacements."

"Of course, careful maintenance of cars is essential. Tires should be rotated, frequent check-ups on tire inflation will be necessary, cars should be greased and oil changed, and brakes ought to be examined regularly."

"Worn tires should be recapped at the proper time. This is vital. When a tire is worn beyond a certain point there is no further hope for it. If caught in time, it can be recapped at least twice. Many cars may be close to that critical state now, so there is no time to lose."

"I believe that both management and labor will cooperate 100 per cent."

Begin Stocking Salvage in City

Stores for Women Are Designated as Collection Centers

A program to salvage women's discarded silk and nylon stockings for use in the war is being placed in operation here.

Andrew Steketee, a member of the local salvage committee who has been placed in charge of the project, has arranged with Holland's women's clothing and dry-goods stores to serve as collection centers.

As several hundred pairs of stockings are needed to make a pound and as the price for the discarded hosiery is only a few cents a pound, no payment will be made for the scrap items, according to L. Philip Van Hartesveldt, general salvage chairman.

To acquaint women here with the details of the program, mimeographed sheets of instruction are being prepared by Holland high school students and will be distributed this week by block mothers under jurisdiction of the local office of civilian defense.

The instructions also cover salvage of tin cans, scrap metal, fats, rags, rubber and rope. Clean cotton rags are especially needed.

Women are asked to take the stockings—which must be washed—to the collection centers any time. Stockings which include rayon and cotton are acceptable as the rayon and cotton can be removed.

Silk, which burns completely, is needed for the powder bags used in the big guns and nylon is used in other important war material.

ARE WE GOING TO HAVE ENOUGH FOOD?

In The Midst Of Plenty, Americans Must Adjust Food Buying To Wartime Conditions. Here's The Truth About The Food Situation—Facts Every Homemaker Should Know To Make The Most Of Our Supply!

BLESSED with good weather, America's farming families have labored long and well to bring forth a mighty harvest—by every standard the greatest in our country's history. For this we can give humble thanks. From the standpoint of our total food supply, no one need go hungry. But even with this unprecedented bounty of grain, fruit, vegetables, live stock and dairy products, we have been jarred to learn that our "plenty" is hardly enough. Here are the facts about the food situation.

Increased Demand—Not only must we keep our own soldiers and sailors the best-fed fighting men on earth, but we must act as the larder as well as the arsenal of our many brave allies. Thus the demand is tremendous—so tremendous that even the amazing productivity of American farmers cannot meet it.

Shortages in Farm Labor—Industry and the armed forces are drawing increasingly large numbers of workers from farms. The farm labor shortage is very real. Even now the services of women, children and old people are required to get crops grown and harvested.

Shortages in Farm Machinery—Under the pressure of arms production, farm-machinery manufacture is cut to one-fifth of the 1940 volume—at a time when the need for farm machinery is greater than ever before.

Shortages in Transportation—Farm products are bulky, heavy—as are the goods farmers buy for production. That means heavy demands on rubber and rail transport, now seriously curtailed. Warning for the future is that bulky items without much food value probably will not be shipped at all.

HOW TO MEET THIS EMERGENCY

Share the Meat—To provide Army, Navy and Lend-Lease needs, and insure a fair share of meat for all civilians, the government is asking that we voluntarily hold our weekly meat purchases to 2½ pounds per person over 12 years of age. This amount of meat would be considered a luxury by Europeans. Nevertheless it calls for greater consumption of other protein foods such as milk, beans, cheese, poultry, eggs, peanuts; greater use of cheaper cuts, leftover meats, gravy and drippings; spreading the meat flavor by mixing it with other foods.

Shop Wisely—Buy "Victory Food Specials"—To release for overseas more canned or dried foods, government and industry are promoting Victory Food Specials—perishable foods that are in season and plentiful. Watch for these "Specials" on display at your grocers. When you buy them you help save tin and shipping and release more foods for our fighting men!

Help Cut Down Deliveries—Unless present delivery equipment is carefully maintained, the bread on the family dinner table and milk for baby's bottle are definitely hazarded. For your protection, government has ordered stores to eliminate special deliveries, call-backs and multiple trips to the same sections—and further reduce delivery mileage by 25%. Don't blame your grocer for delays. He's doing the best he can. Help out by planning your orders. Carry all you can or buy ahead for the whole week!

Buy What Is Produced Locally—If there's locally caught fish on the market where you live, eat it regularly. Do the same with perishable fruits and vegetables grown in neighboring districts. By taking up the surplus in your own community you relieve the transportation shortage.

Coffee... Don't Waste It—Coffee will be rationed beginning Nov. 29th, but don't "take it out" on your grocer. Remember... ships are carrying more precious cargoes nowadays! Actually, there's still enough coffee for our armed forces, civilians, institutions. But there's none to waste! Make only what you're sure to drink.

Fats and Grease for The Firing Line—Fats and grease make glycerine... glycerine makes explosives... explosives are essential to victory! Your job is to: 1. Save pan and broiler drippings, deep fats—all waste cooking fats. 2. Pour and strain them into a clean, wide-mouthed can. 3. Keep in a refrigerator or cool, dark place to prevent them from becoming rancid. 4. Sell them to your meat dealer in quantities of one pound or more at the current price per pound. He will start them on their way to war industries... and the guns, tanks and planes of our men at the front!

Follow These 5 Commandments—As a patriotic American, and as a wise and thrifty homemaker, be guided by these five commandments of wartime menu planning:

1. Buy what is plentiful.
2. Buy what is fresh.
3. Buy what is produced locally.
4. Buy what the government asks you to buy through its Victory Food Program.
5. Don't hoard or waste food.

Now, as always, the House of Heinz is extending every effort to provide you with the most delicious, highest-quality foods that can be produced. Yet because of the tin shortage and the vast quantities of food needed for our

Book Review Presented Before Holland WCTU

William Van Den Berge

Before a large group of members and visitors of the local unit of the Women's Christian Temperance union, Mrs. H. D. Terkeurst reviewed the book, "In the Shadow of the Himalayas," by Emma Dean Anderson and Mary Jane Campbell. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. John Van Oss on State St., Friday afternoon.

In her introductory remarks Mrs. Terkeurst stated that this book, while not written as a textbook, lends itself easily and admirably to mission study purposes. The authors were both active for more than half a century as missionaries in north India for the Presbyterian church and their book is a complete record of the mission work done in India by that church covering a period of 80 years.

The first chapters of the book picture India as the strangest, most impossible country and tells of the complicated problem, the independence of India. "Only when India realizes the injustice of the terrible treatment of its millions of untouchables, when its many religion have blended into the one and only worship of God in Jesus Christ, will it be safe for India to have that independence which today would only result in chaos and tragedy," Mrs. Terkeurst quoted. The book tells of the great struggle and poverty of the first missionary to north India, Dr. Gordon, and his first native convert, a young Indian who volunteered to spread Bibles, suffering great hardships, but becoming the greatest native missionary after his release from prison.

Miss Campbell, a young inexperienced missionary, worked for the sweeper mission, so-called because the untouchables flocked in great numbers to the only place where they found love and compassion. Other chapters of the book deal with the children of India, suffering from neglect and ignorance, plague and famine. The final chapter refers to the work of the W. C. T. U. in India. Mrs. Terkeurst revealed, and the book closes on a note of praise and thanksgiving.

The presiding officer, Mrs. Carl Dressel, thanked Mrs. Terkeurst and announced the book as available to members. Mrs. Frank Kooyers was in charge of devotions in keeping with the Thanksgiving season, she read appropriate passages of scripture.

FIGHTERS AND VOTERS

In suggesting that the voting age be lowered to 18 Senator Vandenberg is on firmer ground than he would have been at any time before this year. Incidentally, from a practical angle, he also has a better chance to see his suggestion written into the constitution than at any time before this in our history. The idea that if a boy of 18 is old enough to fight for his country he is old enough to choose its public officials, is so sane and fair that it will appeal to the American people.

The proposal would have had no chance at all before the agitation for drafting the younger men. It is almost as difficult to add an amendment to the constitution as it is to change a law of nature. Moreover, up until now many of the citizens who will have to approve such an amendment had a strong feeling that a boy of 18 lacks the judgment to be a voter. Whether that idea is right or wrong makes little difference; so many people have always had it that the proposal to lower the voting age has never even been seriously considered.

But Senator Vandenberg's suggestion has the driving power of emotion behind it. Doubtless many would almost feel ashamed to accept the sacrifice that the younger men are being asked to make if at the same time those youths were denied the right to have a part in the government they were defending with their own flesh.

Even now the Vandenberg amendment will probably not pass; or at least, it will be so long in going through the mill of constitutional procedure that the war will be over before it ever becomes a practical reality. And when the war ends, and the need passes for the flesh and blood of our very young men to defend us, many of us will first grow lukewarm to the proposal, then cool, then cold, then hostile. If the amendment is to pass, it will have to become a part of the constitution before the war ends.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

The Rev. O. Franklin Archer says, "My community needs the church. I should attend it and help it to do its job better. I need to go to church to hear a man talk about valuable attitudes of personality I would do well to cultivate. I need that other point of view in order to make my life richer and broader. I need to be jared out of my smugness, my complacency, my tendency to justify myself; we all need to see that we have been wrong (and admit it) about many things.
Going to church will help me to see myself from another angle, and I, as well as every human, need that occasionally." Why not accept the invitation to go to church next Sunday?

Motives That Strengthen
Family Life
Exodus 2:1-4; Joshua 24:14-15;
Ephesians 5:28-31; Ephesians 6:1-4

By Henry Geerlings

The name of the man to whom we are introduced here is not given, though we know it was Amram, who was the husband of Jochebed. They were the parents of three of the most powerful persons in ancient Israel—Moses, Aaron and Miriam. To announce these names is to indicate, without the repetition of familiar history, how large a place they held in the beginnings of the Hebrew people. The force of their personalities has never ceased to be felt. Their actions were dictated by religious motives. They knew God, and they worshiped him in the midst of a people of whom they were a part. Moses was the great lawgiver, Aaron, the brother of Moses, and his senior by three years, acted as his spokesman and representative. Miriam was a leader of song and a prophetess.

The cruel decree of Pharaoh that every male child among the Hebrews should be slain struck at the heart of every parent.
Amram and Jochebed mourned as did all fathers and mothers. Was it possible that their baby Moses could be saved? They would do everything in their power, and employ every device that love could invent. They prepared a basket-boat, placed Moses in it, and concealed the basket and its precious cargo at the water's edge.

Knowing that any attempt on their part to further conceal him in the home would fail, they committed him to the tender mercies of the waters and to the good providence of their God. It is supposed that Miriam was twelve years old at the time he was born.
She took her stand near enough to see what would happen, and still far enough away so as not to have it appear that she had any interest in him. Knowing the outcome of the story we need not pursue it any further. Suffice it to say that good and religious motives were evident in this family.

Joshua had been an attendant of Moses and later became his successor. He had had chance to observe the strengths and weaknesses of the people. One of his frequent duties was that of calling the people under him back to an attitude of loyalty to Jehovah.
Their proneness to wander was a sign of the wavering nature of their faith. Joshua seems to have become impatient with their waywardness, so that he called upon them to choose quickly, whom they intended to serve.

They were given three alternatives. First, they could choose to worship the gods beyond the Euphrates, whom their fathers before them had worshipped.
Second, they could choose to worship and serve the gods of the Amorites, the people of the land in which they now dwelt, and the people whom God destroyed because of their idolatry. Third, they could choose to worship Jehovah, who had led them, and give them the victory. Joshua gave them to understand whom it was the purpose of himself and his household to serve.

Whoever hated his own body?
If one does, it is contrary to the will of Christ. On the other hand, what attention we pay to it. The doctor bills we pay prove that.
But this is only a small part of the evidence we could draw upon.
We do fade as a leaf, but we do dislike to see the grass grow on our graves. Our love of the flesh sense of unity with men can only help to strengthen our conception of the solidarity of the body of Christ. We are one in him.

Our times clamor for the realization of the ideal home. We are stunned by the separations. We look upon a sea of broken homes.
We see sad pictures of children underfoot. Christ's plan for us is unity, solidarity, oneness. We are to be joined, not to be disjoined. We are to be one, not two.

Obedience is a very inclusive word. The apostle could not have found another to suit his purpose better. He recognized that the duties between parents and children are reciprocal. The presence of the one is contingent upon the active presence of the other. This virtue is to be extended to both parents, and not the father only.

Obedience is a Christian virtue.
It is to be practiced as a command of the Lord. It is important enough to have found a place in the decalogue. To obey our parents is not only beautiful, but also right.

Obedience to our parents and superiors brings a reward. Disobedience is accompanied with threatenings, obedience with promised blessings. In every day life the apostle must have seen obedience and disobedience working out their particular fruitage.

Mrs. Katherine Borr, 46, wife of James Borr, local retail shoe merchant, 198 West 18th St., was taken to Holland hospital suffering of painful injuries which she received about 2:15 p.m. Thursday when she was struck by an automobile at Eighth St. and College Ave.

Mrs. Borr suffered bruises to both legs, the left side of her face and to both elbows.
Driver of the automobile, according to local police, was Glenn Morris Walters, 18, 135 South Wall St., Zeeland, a Hope college freshman. He was driving the car of John G. Walters of the same address.

Walters appeared before Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith this morning to plead guilty to a charge of failing to yield the right of way to a pedestrian. He paid a fine and costs of $5.

Police were informed that Walters was driving north on College Ave and turning left onto Eighth St. Mrs. Borr was crossing Eighth St. from the northwest corner to the southwest corner of the intersection with the green traffic light. Walters told police he did not see the pedestrian until his car struck her.

The scene of the accident was four blocks from 12th St. and College Ave, where on Sept. 4 Mrs. Borr's father, the late Samuel Bremer, 83, was fatally injured by an automobile as he was crossing 12th St.

Eugene L. King, route 5, Holland, reported to police that as he was driving east on Eighth St.
Nov. 10, his car hit the front of an automobile driven by Kenneth Langans, route 6, Holland, as the latter was making a left turn off Eighth St. onto River Ave.

Bicycle Safety Told Students

Holland school children are learning safety rules, especially on bicycle safety, this week as the Holland police department is cooperating with the Holland safety council by sending Police Officer Rance Overbeek to the various schools to instruct children in safety.

In his talks, Officer Overbeek is stressing bicycle rules which are to be enforced. Bicycle booklets provided by common council and local business firms are being distributed to the children.

John T. Hasper, safety and traffic engineer, met with the Holland safety council Monday night in Washington school to discuss the bicycle problem.

Mr. Hasper said, "A bicycle ordinance would definitely expedite enforcement. However, much could be done to more efficiently enforce present regulations relative to the use of bicycles on our streets and highways."

He contends that education will go a long way toward correction with the elementary school child but that a more strict enforcement program is the best solution for the high school students and adult groups. Because bicycle riding becomes a habit, it is important for children to form good habits, he pointed out.

The safety council is composed of representatives of the service clubs, the American legion, the V.F.W., and police and sheriff departments, common council, Junior Chamber of Commerce and schools.

Japanese Build Program of Hate, Rotary Club Told

Missioner Bovenkerk Says Christians Have Rejected Propaganda

His experiences as a Japanese prisoner following the outbreak of the war were related by the Rev. Henry G. Bovenkerk, Presbyterian missionary to Japan, in a talk given last Thursday before the Holland Rotary club.

Speaking on "The First Pan-Asiatic War," he said that until five years ago, the Japanese thought they and the Americans were the best people in the world and many Japanese were sent to this country to be educated. However, in the past five years, the Japanese war lords have conducted a program of hate against Americans by printing nothing but adverse stories. They also led the people to believe that Americans would not fight if attacked, he said.

Those not sold on this hate propaganda against Americans are the Japanese Christians who are a silent factor just now as far as the Japanese government is concerned as the roots of Christianity are firmly planted in Japanese thinking and with encouragement will grow rapidly in the post-war era, he said.

Rev. Bovenkerk was en route home on a Japanese ship when United States and Japan. He was taken back to Japan and interned. The missionary and his fellow prisoners slept on the floor of their prison.

They had no change of clothes. Two small Japanese quilts were provided for sleeping. Finally a Japanese friend was successful with the police in gaining permission to talk with the interned prisoners to learn their wants. Afterward, the friend was taken before a military court and questioned as to why he had given the prisoners this assistance.

The prisoners were later told, the Rev. Bovenkerk related, that if they could pay their board and passage they would be allowed to return to this country on the diplomatic exchange ship. He said the Japanese classed Americans as fighters in the same class with Italians and did not think the British were much better because of the ease with which the Japs took Hongkong and Singapore. The army which they feared most was the Russian, he said.

After his internment, Rev. Bovenkerk was allowed to conduct Sunday religious services for protestants and on Sunday afternoon the Dutch internees would get together and discuss his sermon.

C. Neal Steketee, introduced the speaker. Elizabeth Aldrich spoke briefly in which she urged support of the Holland Community war chest campaign.

Lloyd Heneveld, the Junior Rotarian for November, was a club guest. He is captain of the Holland high school football team and president of the senior class. A Junior Rotarian is selected monthly and at the end of the school year, the group attends a meeting in a body besides attending club meetings during the month they are Junior Rotarians.

Two Holland Motor Express company's trucks are pictured on the November sheet of the Standard Oil company's nationally distributed 1942 calendar. One of these calendars adorn the office wall of Charles Cooper, vice-president of the Holland Motor Express Co., 1 West Fifth St.

He also told a Sentinel reporter the government was allowing motor transportation companies an interchange of equipment on long hauls to speed up transportation movements, especially of war plant products.

Chinese Statesman Is Century Club Speaker

Painting an optimistic picture of a future in which the United States and China will experience a closely knit relationship for world prosperity, Dr. Tehyi Hsieh, distinguished Chinese statesman, spoke before members of Holland Century club Monday night on the timely subject, "China's Vital Role in World Democracy." More than 100 persons attended the meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Everett on College Ave.

Dr. Hsieh, speaking from a background of culture and experience, plus a thorough understanding of current affairs, has faith in the Chinese republic, and believes that China will become more economically sound than Japan could ever believe. He prophesies the new world financial center will be Wall St., and not London's Lombard St., and he sees a vision of a post war world in which the United States will be mistress of the seas and Chinese industry will be developed through American cooperation and genius.

Dr. Hsieh told of the ammunition and supplies going into China today by transport and glider, with staples and tea coming out, to illustrate the ingenuity of the Chinese people in the face of adversity. He praised the leadership of Gen. Chiang Kai Shek and Madame Kai Shek and other Christian leaders in China. The Chinese are learning the strategy necessary to exist in these desperate times, he said.

Briefly discussing the situation in India, Dr. Hsieh stated that he holds no brief with India in wanting her freedom, and declared he considered the leader, Gandhi, a stumbling block to the solution of the Indian problem. Let Indian leaders unify their country and make her literate before they demand their freedom, the speaker said.

Lillian Shop in Step With War

An innovation to accommodate women war workers in Holland has been instituted at the Lillian Beauty shop with special evening appointments for those who cannot be served during the day.

Mrs. John E. Howard, owner and manager of the shop, suggests the new feather cut hair-do for these women and all others who especially want a short and practical hair style for their many wartime activities.

Besides Mrs. Howard, three experienced and capable operators serve the patrons of the Lillian Beauty Shop. They are Mrs. Charlotte Olive, Miss Leona Vaughan and Mrs. Ruth Nydam. The business, which is located at 210 River Ave., will celebrate its fourth anniversary next March.

Mrs. Howard's husband, Sgt. John E. Howard, is attending an army school in Kansas City and will attend an officer's training school following the completion of the radio technical course.

Fire Destroys Barn Near City

Fire which broke out about 8:45 p.m. Monday completely destroyed a barn belonging to W. Hoogedorn, on the Waverly road, just south of M-21, east of Holland.

The fire is believed to have originated from a grass fire. Holland firemen responded to an alarm and remained on the scene for about 45 minutes.

Firemen were called back a second time at 10:45 p.m. when the wind blew hot embers about and set fire to some scrap paper nearby.

Although handicapped by lack of sufficient water, firemen were able to prevent the fire from spreading to nearby buildings. Holland firemen were called to the home of John Hesselink, at the junction of North Holland road and East 24th St., about 5:15 p.m. Monday when a rubbish fire threatened to spread to the residence. There was no resulting damage.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

WHEN worrying about what to serve for Sunday dinner, smooth your brow by remembering that there is no shortage of some of the most healthful meats. Of hearts, kidneys and liver there is quite enough to go around. A dish of one of these, attractively prepared, will be heartily welcomed by members of your family and at the same time enrich their diet with valuable vitamins and minerals.

Supplies of fish and poultry continue ample and prices reasonable. Veal is slightly more plentiful this week, while supplies of lamb are somewhat lighter.

Cauliflower is a headliner in vegetable stalls, the supplies are plentiful, prices low and quality good. Cabbage, mushrooms, onions, spinach, rutabagas and greens also fill requirements as best buys of the week. Apples are attractive both in quality and price. Grapes, cranberries, pears and citrus fruits are reasonable buys.

To help you plan Sunday dinner, Vivian Whaley, director of the Kitchen, suggests the following menus:

Low Cost Dinner
Broiled Lamb Patties with Horseradish Sauce
Buttered Brown Rice

Council Holds Shortest Meet Of Four Minutes

All-Time Record for Briefness Believed Established Here

Common council established what is believed to be an all-time record for brief sessions Wednesday night when only four minutes elapsed from the time Mrs. Helen Termeer, acting city clerk, called the roll until Mayor Henry Geerlings ordered adjournment.

Not an alderman could recall any time when council had been in session for such a short period. Ald Ben Steffens claimed it was the shortest session in the 15 years he has served in the council.

For council's information, Ald. Bruce Raymond, chairman of the public safety committee, reported his committee had taken over the direction of the police and fire departments as "directed by the voters at the last election." He said the committee had met Wednesday afternoon with the police department and reached an understanding with the chief of police and the police force over how the department will be operated. WHAT AN $18.75 WAR BOND WILL BUY

Or maybe you'd rather have three sharp new bayonets for your $18.75, bayonets that will some day determine whether our enemies can take it hand to hand.

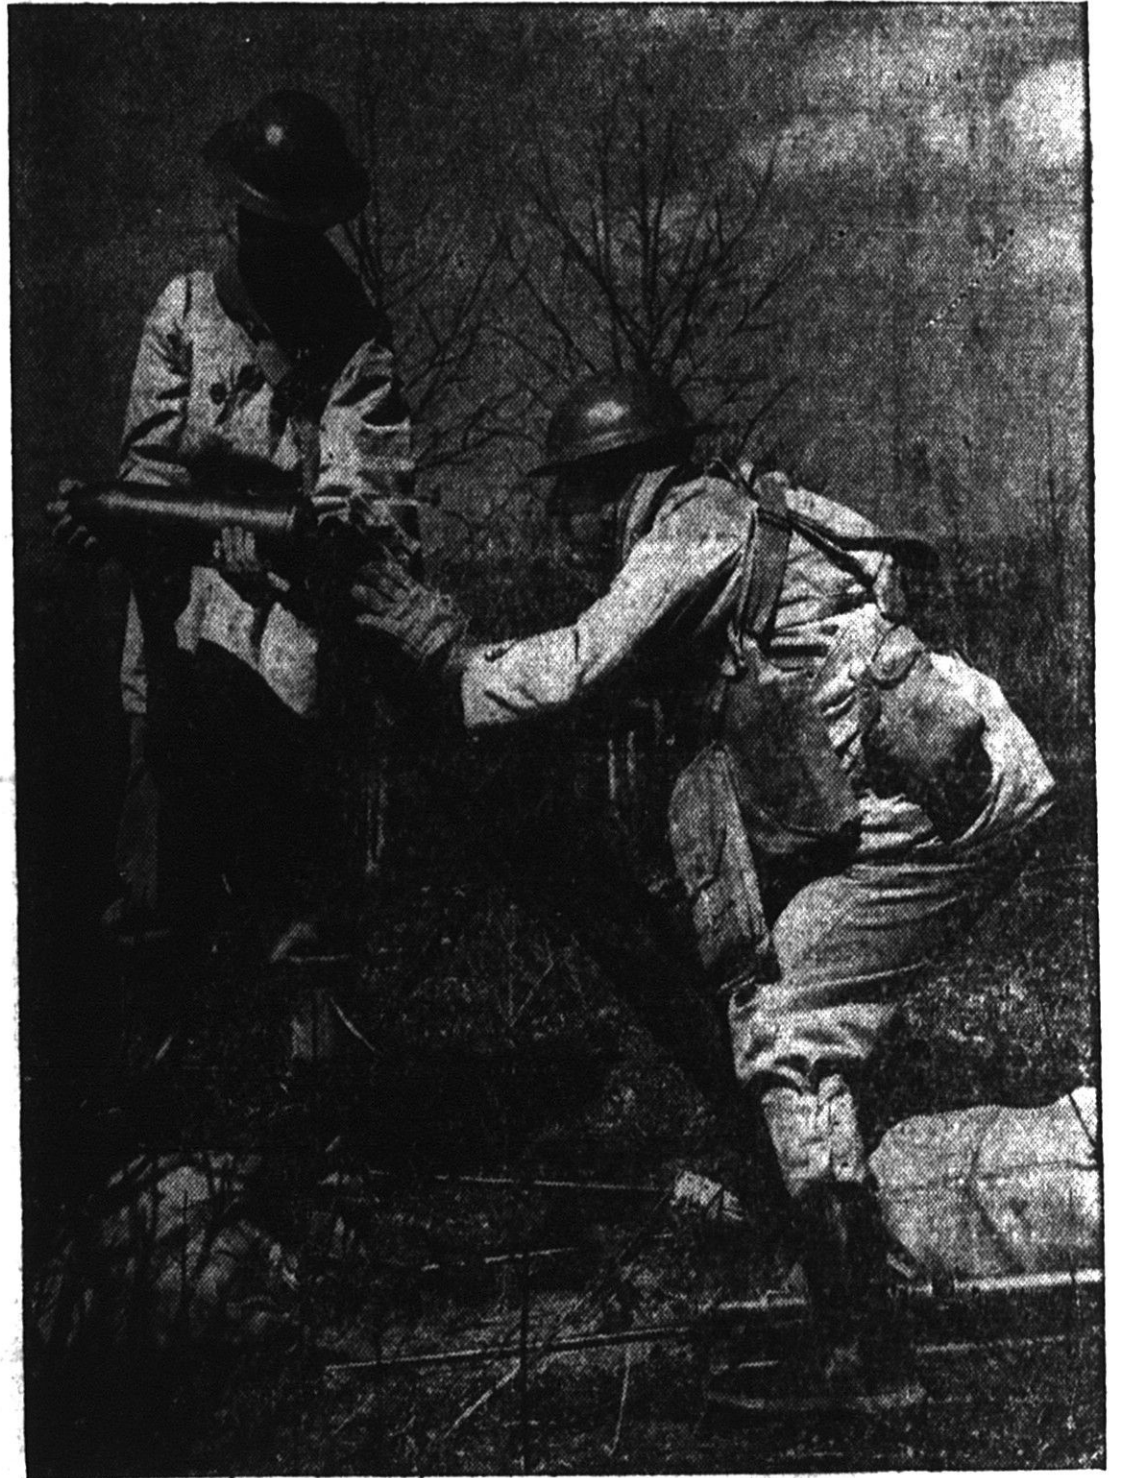

Or would you prefer ten rounds of anti-aircraft fire to topple enemy raiders from the clouds? Ten rounds, if properly placed, will bring down the biggest Jap bomber that flies. It's good to know that our Army and Navy can buy ten more anti-aircraft shells every time you buy a bond.

Most people don't know it, but the smallest of America's War Bonds will buy enough fuel oil to enable one of our destroyers to cruise 37 miles in search of the Nazi submarines. Those 37 miles may be the ones that count. They may save a merchant ship and its crew.

Or $18.75 will just about buy an 81 millimeter trench mortar shell—to send to the Russian front, or to help General MacArthur blast the Japs out of some fortified position in the East.

All this, and security too—for your family after the war

BUT these weapons to put dread in our enemies are only a part of what the smallest War Bond will buy.

For America doesn't ask you to give your money—even to such a cause as the survival of civilization.

It asks you instead to lend it—at a generous interest rate, an interest rate greater than any bank in the country can get on the Government bonds it buys.
