Farmers Await Answer to Egg Problem of U.S.

Poultry farmers and hatchery operators in this locality, like interested farmers all over the country, are awaiting an answer to the egg problem by the war food administration in Washington which is trying to establish a program to cut production and yet keep prices up.

Letters have been pouring into the WFA from farmers who don't want a repetition of this year's avalanche of eggs and sagging prices. WFA officials, although already planning to cut next year's production goals drastically, still worry over the possibility of a surplus.

According to a Washington story this week in the Wall Street Journal, the WFA has been studying production-cutting and price-supporting possibilities which may or may not be recommended. Among the suggestions are those which would pay farmers from 25 cents to $1 over the market price for each laying bird sold, support the price of eggs only for farmers who reduce their laying flocks, pay subsidies on eggs sold below parity.

This year the WFA spent $288,188,611 to support the price of eggs. But the government never did succeed in solving the problem of what to do with all the eggs it bought in the price-supporting effort. After selling 1,383,725 cases of shell eggs and 168,093,668 pounds of dried eggs to government agencies here and in foreign countries, WFA still holds 1,613,476 cases of shell eggs and 91,646,116 pounds of dried eggs.

More than a million dozen eggs had to be sold for fertilizer, because they spoiled before they could be distributed through normal channels.

This overproduction had resulted from the desire of the government to see that there were plenty of protein-rich eggs for the war diet. To do that, federal officials decided they had to see that farmers were well paid. It is a typical example, some people in Washington say, of what happens when government tries to control production and distribution of a commodity.

Here is the story of how it happened, chronologically told:

April 3, 1941—WFA promised to support the price of eggs at an average of 22 cents per dozen, Chicago basis.

September 8, 1941—WFA guaranteed to keep the support price high enough to assure farmers 85 per cent of parity.

As a result of these two steps, egg production went up 6 per cent over 1940. In a normal free play of price and demand, consumers would have been able to get eggs at cheaper prices. Instead, retail prices rose from the 1940 average of 33.1 cents per dozen to 39.7 cents per dozen in 1941.

October 5, 1942—OPA froze egg prices at the highest maximum price received for any class between September 28 and October 2, 1942. Housewives were stunned by this one because they had no way of knowing what the maximum was. OPA admitted this was true and sent its agents to make spot checks. Even with this control, however, consumers in 1942 paid legally an average of 48.4 cents per dozen for eggs, compared with the 1941 average of 39.7 cents.

1942—A production goal of 4,204 million dozen eggs was set by WFA for 1943. Assurances of good prices encouraged farmers to go beyond the goal. Production topped it at 4,403 million dozen.

November 30, 1942—WFA raised the support price to 90 per cent of parity and guaranteed it would "reflect not less than a U.S. average farm price of 30 cents per dozen in the spring and early summer, and an annual average U.S. farm price of 34 cents per dozen." This was done to calm farmers' fears that the support price would average 90 per cent of parity throughout the year, but that it might fall below the figure at any given time.

1943—WFA asked farmers to produce 4,545 million dozen eggs. Farmers responded by supplying 4,965 million dozen, so the agency had to buy 536,380 dozen eggs to support the price. Retail prices continued to soar, however. They went up to 57.3 cents per dozen, compared with the 1942 average of 48.4 cents per dozen.

February 25, 1943—Specific dollars and cents ceiling prices were put on eggs in an effort to simplify enforcement of price control. Farmers complained that these prices reflected only an annual average based on parity and did not allow for seasonal fluctuations in production.

October 19, 1943—OPA announced it would change specific egg ceiling prices each week to reflect changing parity based on changing seasonal output. Housewives found this too complex to follow.

1944—The production goal was increased to 4,597 million dozen eggs. Output is expected to top this by about 100 million dozen.

April 5, 1944—with a deluge of eggs driving prices downward, WFA inaugurated three new measures to make the egg purchase program "more effective." Buying agents were designated in areas of heaviest production in the mid-west and south. Agents were appointed to buy eggs for WFA on the New York and Chicago mercantile exchanges. Controlling for frozen eggs was stepped up.

At the same time War Food Administrator Marvin Jones urged consumers to eat more eggs because 25 million dozen were in danger of spoilage. "If each consumer in the U.S. will eat but one more egg per week than usual during the next six weeks, over 60 million dozen additional eggs will be used," he declared.

May 29, 1944—Mr. Jones revealed that support price buying had reached such volume that suitable cold storage space for eggs was inadequate. "For that reason this administration is, to a limited extent, converting eggs into animal feed," he said.

August 19, 1944—For the month of September WFA said egg prices could offer dried whole eggs to WFA up to 100 per cent of their plant capacities for that month. It was hoped this would stimulate the egg market, weakened by "heavier-than-usual production for this season and substantial withdrawals from storage." The agency explained it was seeking additional foreign outlets for eggs and egg products.

WFA prognosticators believe that egg output in 1945 may decline 8 per cent to 12 per cent from this year. But, they warn, the surplus situation will continue because of a slackening of lend-lease demands and large carryover stocks.

October Was Dry Month With Only Five Days of Rain

October was a dry month. The records show that only 62 inches of rain fell during that period which meant dusty roads, fast football fields and dry cracking leaves on the ground. It was the lowest amount of rainfall for that month ever recorded in Holland, according to figures compiled by Fred Slikkers, chief weather observer.

The rainfall compared with 1.28 inches in 1943, 3.73 in 1942, 4.69 in 1941 and 5.33 in 1940. Number of days in which Holland had precipitation last month were five, while there were eight in 1943, 12 in 1942, 17 in 1941 and nine in 1940.

Last month's maximum temperature was 78 on Oct. 1. Other maximums were 78 in 1943, 76 in 1942, 78 in 1941 and 76 in 1940. A minimum of 44 degrees was registered for the month, compared with 29 in 1943, 32 in 1942, 33 in 1941 and 33 in 1940.

Average temperature for the month was 49 degrees while it was 50 in 1943, 50 in 1942, 56 in 1941 and 57 in 1940. Average maximum for October was 64.30. Other average maximums were 61 in 1943, 59.50 in 1942, 64.20 in 1941 and 66.10 in 1940. Average minimum was 38.40 compared with 40.40 in 1943, 43 in 1942, 45.33 in 1941 and 48.08 in 1940.

There were 13 clear days in 1944, 13 in 1943, 12 in 1942, 11 in 1941 and 15 in 1940. Partly cloudy days totaled 15 in 1944, 10 in 1943, 12 in 1942, 10 in 1941 and 12 in 1940. There were three cloudy days in 1944, eight in 1943, seven in 1942, 11 in 1941 and four in 1940.

The prevailing wind was from the southwest in 1944. It was from the northwest in 1943, 1941 and 1940 and from the southwest in 1942.

Muskegon High school rode the top of Michigan High school football teams today and the Southwestern conference by virtue of a 12-0 conquest over Muskegon Heights Saturday afternoon on Hackley field. It gave the Reds an undefeated season and a lot of credit goes to Coach Leo "Tiny" Redmond who brought the Reds up from a less than mediocre eleven to claim the state championship.

In early season games Muskegon had all they could do to whip Grand Haven and edged out three straight wins although being outplayed, especially by Flint Central which fell before the Reds 9-6.

Then they hit their stride against Holland with a 39-0 victory which proved to them they really could go places using the T formation with a man in motion. Everything clicked from then on.

They completely dominated every game and handed a favored Jackson crew a 19-0 setback which immediately set them up as the best team in the state as Jackson was undefeated until that time. They went on to whip Kalamazoo 25-2, and then Muskegon Heights.

There was hardly an outstanding player on the team when the year started but now to the Muskegon fans they are all stars.

The Reds did not leave much doubt Saturday that they were the champs of both the state and conference as they easily overpowered a valiant Muskegon Heights crew which threw back many more Red touchdowns than the Reds could score.

The Muskies pounded at the Heights goal all afternoon and only once did Muskegon Heights threaten theirs. They registered six points in the second quarter and six in the third.

Legion Trophy Goes to Kuipers

Bob Kuipers, Holland High school's 190-pounder of driving full-back, was awarded the American Legion trophy for the 1944 football season Saturday by vote of the school's athletic board for leadership, sportsmanship and general football ability.

Out of three important games with injuries, he might have made the all-state team, but it is doubtful now that he will make it no matter how impressive his record in the games he did play.

He scored 36 of the team's 57 points, gained 474 yards from scrimmage, carrying the ball 102 times in six games, and averaged 4.5 yards per try.

He was the only Holland backfield man who could find his way through holes in the line consistently and required only a narrow breach in the defenses to send him into the secondary when it required two or more players to bring him down.

Coach Malcolm Mackay said several boys were considered but the final vote was greatly in favor of Kuipers.

He is a senior, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kuipers, route 1, and recently enlisted in the marines.

The announcement was made by Ernie Hartman, representing the American Legion at the Holland-Grand Haven game. Kuiper's name will be inscribed on the trophy which is kept in Holland High school's trophy case in effect. Kuipers possesses the trophy until the annual honor is conferred upon some other grader next year.

Thirteen seniors who played their last game for Holland High Saturday were also honored between halves.

Bravery in France

The gallantry in action for which Pfc. Arthur M. Nivison won his Silver Star is described in the citation which was received here recently.

It reveals that Nivison, whose wife, Betty, resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Czerkies, 72 West Seventh St., first was slightly wounded in France Aug. 2 when an enemy artillery shell struck within 10 feet of his battalion observation post where he was stationed as a radio operator.

Despite his injury, the citation reads, "he moved his radio to a new position under enemy mortar fire, returned to assist in evacuating the wounded, after which he maintained continuous operation of his radio for seven hours until ordered to the battalion aid station."

Nivison's Purple Heart medal, presumably awarded for wounds suffered in this campaign, was received here late in August.

Carter Brown in Many Invasions

With the Twelfth Air Force—"Invasions Incorporated" could well be the name tacked on to the veteran troop carrier group of the twelfth air force to which 2nd Lt. Carter W. Brown, of Tryon, N.C., and Castle park, Mich., is assigned. For during its 26 months overseas, the organization, commanded by Col. John Cerny, Harrison, Ind., has participated in the invasions of North Africa, Sicily, Italy and South France, in addition to rendering distinguished service in the China-Burma-India theater of operations.

A member of the combat crews that fly the big twin-engine C-47 transport planes of his group, Lt. Temporary Shelter Is Built by Local Soldier Michelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Michelson of 40 East 17th St., Holland, Mich., assistant crew chief in the engineering section, is serving with a Liberator bomber group based in Italy. Barracks are some distance from the engineering line where he works so Sgt. Michelson is shown constructing a small shelter to harbor him in case of a sudden shower.

Sgt. Michelson was graduated from Holland High school, class of '41, and worked for a garage in Holland prior to entering the service Feb. 3, 1943.

(Michelson wrote his parents last week that he was about to start his third furlough in Italy and was again planning to visit Rome which he described as one of the few good places in Italy to visit. He said he was stationed at the same place as Major Jack Lokker and M/Sgt. Willard Kraker of Holland. The latter is at present home on furlough, called by the death of his father.)

Holland Downs Buccaneers In Last 19 Seconds

The Holland High school football team stunned some 3,000 football fans, a great percentage of which were heading for the exits at Riverview park Saturday afternoon, with a 6-0 triumph over Grand Haven, scoring with only 19 seconds remaining in the game.

For three quarters and all but one minute of the fourth, the teams battled in a style considerably lacking the vim and spark of traditional Holland-Grand Haven contests, but in the last minute the Hollanders made up for all they lacked with three sparkling pass plays which netted them a victory in their most important game of the season.

It all started from Holland's 43-yard line with about a minute to play in the final frame. Bob Kuipers tossed a pass good for 12 yards to Quarterback Jack Van Dorpe which put the ball on the Grand Haven 43. Caravia then dropped back and tossed one to Red Hulst who headed for pay dirt down the south sidelines for the east goal. After warming his way from two would-be-tacklers he was nailed from the side by the Buccaneers' safety man on the Grand Haven 12.

Holland's big ground gaining play for a great part of the season has been Red Hulst around end to a reverse, but with Hulst tired from his run on the last play Coach Malcolm Mackay hurriedly substituted Kenny Van Tatenhove at the right half spot, replacing Hulst.

Van Tatenhove came running out on the field with his jacket still on and failed to get the officials' attention before the next play started and consequently Holland was penalized back for 12 men on the field.

On the next play Van Tatenhove, a speedster, but generally lacking in solid, driving football went over the left side on a reverse but was hauled down easily without making any yardage.

Quarterback Jack Van Dorpe then called a pass play with Van Tatenhove on the throwing end and it worked beautifully with the ball just going over the head of a Grand Haven defense man who was not more than a yard from Joe Caravia who caught the ball, looked down to see if he was across the line and then took two backward steps over the goal.

It all happened so quickly, that hundreds of fans were stopped in their tracks while leaving the park by the explosion that came from the stands when the touchdown was scored. Many never saw the touchdown.

Holland then tried Bob Kuipers over the right side for the extra point and he went over untouched but a 15-yard penalty was imposed on the Dutch and it nullified the extra-point. They tried for it again on a pass play but it failed to work when Kuipers could not find a receiver.

The game ended on the kick-off from Holland.

It was a wild battle all the way through with Holland looking like the best team most of the way, but quarterbacking which failed to use Bob Kuipers, Holland's ace driving back, made it a hard contest for the Dutch to win.

Kuipers was used only four times. He went for three yards, nine yards, five yards and once was stopped cold at the line of scrimmage when

Officers Check Two Accidents

Two accidents occurred Saturday, one involving a car which crashed head on into a tree at Lakewood farm resulting in injuries to two occupants, and the other involving a truck carrying 30,000 pounds of freight which ran into a deep gully on M-21 just east of Holland Sheriff's officers investigated.

Donald Strowenians, 17 or 18, route 4, driver of the car, and Miss Joyce Vining, 18, 403 West 22nd St., were admitted to Holland hospital at 1:15 a.m. for treatment of injuries received when the car crashed into a tree just north of the main gate at Lakewood farm. The car was badly damaged and the windshield was shattered. According to marks on the pavement, the car slid about 100 feet.

The occupants walked to a nearby house where they telephoned. A local resident took them to the hospital where Strowenians was treated for a laceration on the left hand and Miss Vining for a laceration to the forehead, right hand and sprained left foot. Both were released.

Paul Komes, Chicago, was the driver of a truck owned by Harry Volkens, route 6, which ran off the highway on M-21. Komes told officers the steering gear locked causing him to lose control. He said the same thing happened earlier Friday in Chicago when the truck ran up on a raised safety zone.

The truck headed toward Grand Rapids ran off the left side of the road and remained upright. It was pulled out by wreckers and normal traffic was resumed at 4:30 a.m. officers in the meantime directing it over the road shoulder. There was little or no damage and the truck proceeded under its own power.

WAR! It is our individual responsibility to see that we DON'T quit or wait for someone else to do our part. It is a private matter we can settle only with our own conscience.

"There is a service panel in Centennial park, just across from the city hall. It is filled with familiar names. Each name represents a son or daughter that once upon a time filled our homes and our streets with happiness. They are watching us now, wondering if we are getting tired and indifferent, ready to quit or wait for the mythical George to do OUR job. We have great faith in their ability and willingness to do the job assigned them. They have a similar faith in us.

"Let us dedicate this sixth war loan drive to these men and women, these sons and daughters of ours, and dedicate ourselves to the duty of seeing that it shall be of such success as to inspire all who read or hear of it. Make these sons and daughters as proud of us as we are of them.

"Let us demonstrate before the world that we are proud of our American heritage; that we accept FULL responsibility for the gift of citizenship; that we are finished with "Too little, and too late."

"The story of Invasion day was not a story of ALMOST. Our soldiers and sailors didn't ALMOST make the landing. They MADE IT. We face another day of equal importance—less spectacular, perhaps, but just as important—"B" Day, BOND DAY, Nov. 20th.

"On that day we write history. On that day, and during the days that follow, we announce to the world that "AMERICA HAS JUST BEGUN TO FIGHT," that we didn't ALMOST do enough, but that we went ALL OUT in a smashing attack that didn't stop until Hitler, Himmler, Yamashita and Hirohito cried quits."

"We know that 'ALMOST IS NOT ENOUGH."

"ALMOST" is not enough! "There is food for thought in this short statement," Lt. Col. Henry A. Geerds said as the sixth war loan campaign got under way here Monday to raise Holland's quota of $1,001,602 toward the nation's goal of 14 billion dollars.

"Almost" is short of the goal. It is a promise that never materialized," Col. Geerds, honorary city chairman for the drive, said in urging all-out cooperation on the part of all Holland citizens.

"Like 'it might have been,' 'ALMOST' is filled with regret over something which could have been attained had there been sufficient effort," the colonel said.

"History is replete with examples of 'ALMOST.' It never won a battle or a war. It never won anything. It will NOT win the present war," according to the local officer who arrived here last August after spending 28 months in the southwest Pacific, serving first as commander of the second battalion in 1942, and later in various administrative positions including that of plans and operations officer which put him in control of several thousands soldiers. Geerds joined the national guard in 1914 as a private and participated in the Mexican war in 1916, the first World war and the present war.

"ALMOST is nerve-racking too, Germany almost bombed Great Britain into submission. She almost conquered Russia. Japan almost destroyed our Pacific fleet. Almost, not quite!

"MacArthur almost saved Bataan. Stillwell almost stopped the onrush in China. Almost!

"We almost crashed into Germany in one headlong rush from the channel ports to the Rhine. We had almost enough supplies available to do the job. Our soldiers had almost enough of war's necessities to crack the Siegfried Line. Almost!

"We almost filled our personal purchase quota in the last bond drive. That meant that we almost accomplished one of the most important duties we citizens were ever called upon to fulfill. Almost!

"BUT 'ALMOST' WAS NOT ENOUGH!

The preceding drives were oversubscribed in total amount. Each bond drive accomplished its specific objective. But it was not enough.

"Today we are still faced with determined and powerful enemies across both oceans. Bitter fighting is still ahead. Fighting means bullets. Bullets cost dollars. Dollars come from bonds sold. Our duty is clear.

"If we quit now, or wait and let George do it, we stand to lose the ground already gained. WE STAND TO LOSE THE

HE WROTE HIS OWN SPEECH

Our own Paul Mallon, in a post-election column naming an address by Actor Gary Cooper as the best example of oratory in this campaign, remarked almost as an after-thought, "And Cooper even wrote his own speech." In saying this Mallon let the uninitiated in for a moment on an open secret of campaign speech making. In general campaign speech-makers do not write their own speeches.

The recent campaign was notable for the number of non-politicians who made the welkin ring for their favorite candidates. They stood on both sides of the national political fence. Thus Gary Cooper whooped it up for Dewey, whereas another actor, Orson Welles, took the stump from a hospital bed, for Roosevelt. And back of those defenders of the two champions there were an astonishingly large number of Hollywood celebrities who turned politicians for the duration of the campaign. Perhaps never before in American political history have so many stage figures played a part in a campaign.

It is an open secret that most of these celebrities merely spoke the words that were put into their mouths, much in the same way in which theatrical producers put words into their mouths in staging a play. Actors often are required to speak lines that do not represent their personal feelings, and it is not at all unlikely that in this campaign some pronounced speeches that merely represented the political "line" which their companies wanted to put across.
At least Paul Mallon, who is pretty wise in the techniques of political propaganda, strongly hints that such is the case.

There is of course nothing particularly unethical about such a practice. All but the most innocent know that many of the candidates themselves do not write their own speeches. And while the candidates dictate the substance that is to go into their addresses, thus making the speeches their own in the true sense even if they are not verbally their own, the fact remains that so-called "ghost writing" is a practice that is not regarded unethical in any sense; without it political campaigns would be impossible under modern conditions. Incidentally it is worth remembering that even George Washington sometimes used "ghost written" speeches.

Hollywood was within its rights to provide its economic slaves, the actors, with synthetic political speeches. The only moral to be drawn from the situation by the average run of voters is not to take such speeches too seriously.
Next time the same actor, happening to be doing a picture for a rival concern, may be heard delivering just as eloquent a speech, written for him by a "ghost" on the other side of the political fence.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Much is being said about the church making a special appeal program for the returning men in the armed service. The church can do nothing that will meet their need so much as to give them that spiritual discipline which will match the military discipline they have experienced. There is needed the discipline of daily devotion of Bible reading, prayer, and personal work in helping others to become Christians and to increase in faith, love, and power and Christian service. The discipline of church attendance, of cooperating in a Christian program for the community and for the world—the discipline that will make the kingdom of God first. Why not accept the invitation and go to church next Sunday?

The Christian View of Industry
Luke 19: 15-26; 2 Thessalonians
3: 10-11

By Henry Geerlings

From the very beginning there have been employers and the employed. At least there have been those who worked for others even though the relationship was a very simple one. Industry has been an evolving something in our human world. It has come up from great simplicity to great complexities. Today in our modern world the relationships between those who employ and those who are employed are many and often times difficult to maintain. In this fact there lies one of the greatest problems of human society. There are many misunderstandings and many maladjustments and many unjust practices and many almost hopeless situations, so that there is always friction somewhere in the world of industry. To reduce this friction to a negligible quantity is the hope and aim of all men who love their fellows and who have a passion for making this a better and a happier world to live in.

One of the very first steps toward this is for employers to regard the employed as human beings made in the image of God and destined for high ends. Too many employers look upon the employed as so many human tools or instruments for the purpose of production and so making dividends. A man is no more a man and entitled to human rights because he is an employer. A man is no less a man because he happens to be employed. A man is to be regarded as a human being worthy of divine and human consideration no matter what his position in life is.

Of course, we have come a long way in this matter under the influence of Christianity. In the early days of this religion it had to face the fact of slavery as a social institution. With its very lofty conception as to the rights of man and as to the value of human personality it could not look with favor upon this institution. Sometimes we readers of the New Testament wonder why Christ did not speak out boldly against slavery and why His followers did not seek to destroy it in the Roman Empire. We must see the spirit of Christianity if we do not see that this religion was and is against human slavery, but it never put on a violently revolutionary program against it. It would have been very unwise to do this. It would have lost more than it would have gained.

Christianity is not revolutionary, but evolutionary in its effect upon human society. It secures by the slow processes of the truth what a revolutionary program might aim at. Human slavery could not last in the face of Christianity's evaluation of the human personality and of its teaching that all men are brothers in Christ. No Christian can consistently enslave his fellow man. Become a Christian and you must become an emancipator.
Christianity is an emancipation proclamation. So Christianity approaches the ancient world.

When men regard themselves as brother men in Christ their relationships will be colored and directed by the spirit of Christ.
Such a conception of service reaches unto the sublimest heights and involves a sense of the fairest play.

And likewise this great Christian philosophy urged upon masters the duty of fair treatment of their slaves, a treatment of them which would imply that they were worthy of the most human consideration. He called to their attention that God is the master of both slave and master and he is no respecter of persons. How strangely this must have sounded to the ears of those who knew no other social order than that of masters and slaves.
But we can easily see that though many a master would resent such words, yet when these very words would sink into his soul a great change would come over his thinking. He would see his slave in a new light.

We very well know that our modern day presents many more problems in the world of industrial relations than Paul's day did but we likewise know that the simple principles of social justice to which Paul gave expression are applicable to conditions of today.
We are to do our business as unto the Lord. The far end of all business is the service of humanity and the bringing in of the kingdom. We are to be mindful of the welfare of others, that we are to keep the spirit sweet and the conscience clean while we are at work, that no matter whether we are classed as masters or ser-

on having been recaptured, besioner has found that the squirrels do not seem disposed to leave the city, but are willing to stay around here. For that reason no further attempts will be made to recapture them, although it would be comparatively easy in view of the fact that the squirrels have become quite thoroughly domesticate and are no longer much afraid

City Prepares To Celebrate Thanksgiving

Many faces will be missing from festive boards due to travel difficulties and the fact that the majority of servicemen are now overseas. Nearly all churches are planning special services.

Turkey, in spite of its ceiling price of over 30 cents a pound, continues to reign as king and although the supply has not been plentiful, those who want turkey will be able to find one. Some families, of course, will serve venison and other game, the result of successful hunting trips.

Few defense plants will continue production Thursday. The Holland Precision Parts Corp. and the Doughnut Corp. will operate and the Hart and Cooley Co. will operate its war production units only. All other factories will be closed, according to the Chamber of Commerce.

Local Firm Urges Car Conservation

Bern Deters and Martin Diekema, local mechanics, who have been with the Venhuizen Auto Co., for more than 17 years, says that wartime conservation of every car now on the road is necessary and monthly inspections and check-ups on tires, engines and all moving parts are essential and will avoid serious troubles later for which it will be impossible to get the necessary parts for repair.

They add that it is imperative to keep cars on the road because of the important war jobs and with car production at almost "zero" it is especially necessary for motor vehicles to be kept in good condition.

To make sure of continued efficient and economical operation during the winter season, Deters and Diekema urge a monthly check-up.

Both Mr. Deters and Mr. Diekema are well-known in Holland. Their garage carries a complete line of repair parts and offer to care for your car and keep it rolling for the duration. Their business is located at 36 West 16th St., specializing in Studebaker, Packard, De Soto and Plymouth cars.

Exchangites Hear Rev. Oudersluys

"Some Unusual Reasons for the Usual Thanksgiving" was the title of an address presented Monday noon to Exchangites at their luncheon meeting in the Warm Friend tavern by Rev. Richard C. Oudersluys, professor of New Testament language and literature at Western Theological seminary.

In his talk the speaker pointed out some of the traditional things for which thanks are expressed, life, food, clothing, being free citizens in a democracy, the privilege of living in a great nation, a good harvest and busy industries. To these he added present-day reasons for thankfulness, not being bombed as European countries are, being on the crest of almost sure victory and reasonable assurance of winning the peace.

As some of the unusual reasons Rev. Oudersluys listed living in a world of moral law, the denials and disciplines to which all people are exposed, the noble possibilities to achieve joys which tend to awaken those about to settle down to one way of life, and the awareness of the impending loss of liberty. These items, it was pointed out, will remain long after the usual things have been forgotten.

The speaker was introduced by Prof. Clarence Kleis.

In the absence of Honorary Campaign Chairman Henry Geerts, who is ill with a recurrent attack of malaria, Exchangites Vernon Ten Cate and James Bennett spoke on the sixth war loan drive. A report on gifts sent to men in service by Exchange club was made by Charles Van Zyl of the war efforts committee.

Rev. Paul E. Hinkamp gave the opening prayer and President William J. Brouwer presided. A sextet of girls from Holland High school, with Miss Frieda Grote as accompanist, presented several selections.

Guests of the club were Eng. Kendall, chairman of the navy corps and Russell Bouwman of the coast guard.

Concluding number was the sophomore musical number, an Indian scene which featured Myra Brouwer singing "Indian Love Call" accompanied by Betty Van Lente. Also in the scene were Lois Hoppers, Harriet Haines, Mary Young, Barbara Dalcher and Ruth Bartholomew.

Elaine Meussen was the sophomore chairman with Rosanna Atkins senior advisor. Edith Wobink was junior advisor to the freshmen, for whom Louise Rove was chairman. Eleanor Everse, president of student council, presented the cup to Miss Rove for the class of '48, which will add its name to the previous winners before replacing it on the shelf of the trophy case in Graves hall.

Following the program the traditional burning of the green was modified to an indoor program because of bad weather. Eugene VanTamelein had a barrel brought to the stage in which the freshmen threw their green "pots" as he called them. Miss Everse stood by to take down the names of anyone who didn't appear, or didn't have his green.

Penalties were given out to those who had broken the rules of the wearing of the green. These will be fulfilled today and tomorrow around the campus.

Plans have been completed for a home talent program to be presented Friday at 7:45 p.m. in Bethel Reformed church. A 15-minute song service will be led by Gilbert Van Wylen and various other vocal and instrumental numbers will be included on the program.

Approximately 80 Bluebirds turned out for the annual "hobo" hike sponsored by the local Camp Fire organization for all Bluebirds of the city Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Arthur J. Peters, chairman of Bluebird activities, assisted by Mrs. Ward Hanson and Mrs. Milton Hinga of the Camp Fire board, were in charge of arrangements.

After meeting at the Camp Fire office with their supper tied in a bandanna on a stick, hobo style, the girls were led by Mrs. Piers' Sunbeam group who blazed a trail which brought them to the Woman's Literary club. At the club Mrs. Albert Timmer, Camp Fire executive secretary, announced the events.

The Smiling Bluebirds, Mrs. George Appledorn and Mrs. Jacob Fris, guardians, led in song; Miss Elna Stocker's Fairy group led in games; Miss Esther Van Dyke's Sunshine group sang a song and Mrs. John White's Happy group presented charades. ## Sixth Bond Drive Opens Here With Great Enthusiasm Bombardment salvos by an American Legion shooting squad and placement of attack symbols on the Tower clock opened the sixth war loan drive in Holland early on Monday amid enthusiasm never before rivaled during a bond campaign.

At the colorful ceremony, Capt. Marine Brandt of the fire department climbed to the tower at River Ave. and Eighth St. on the aerial fire truck ladder and placed two banners on the east and south sides of the tower with the words, "It's Time to Buy Bonds."

Music was furnished by the ununiformed Holland High School band which later marched up Eighth St. to the Warm Friend tavern where hundreds of bond workers swarmed the Tulip road and the lobby for the big pep meeting arranged by the merchants' division of the bond committee under the direction of Ervin D. Hanson, executive chairman, who served as master of ceremonies.

Charles E. (Cubby) Drew in his talk "From Holland to Berlin" reverted back to the old days of 1912 and 1919 when he coached football, and delivered a timely message in true football coach style. "Back in Dec. 7, 1941, and the days following the Pearl harbor attack, we all said 'If I could just get out of here'! We couldn't all go but we sent our sons, and we went them to come back, too. The only way we can get them back is to build a bridge of supply to where they are and get those materials there as fast as we can. Get that bridge built by buying and selling bonds!"

Drew, in a surprise move, introduced four-year-old John Joseph Knapp, Jr., and his parents, and sold the youngster the first $1,000 bond of the drive. Young Johnny wearing a sailor suit was placed on the speaker's table and received his bond with his parents standing near. Credit for the sale goes to the division headed by Jacob Barendse.

Another surprise sendoff was the announcement of the purchase of $70,000 in bonds by the local Montgomery Ward and Co. by L. D. Vogel, assistant manager.

Coffee was furnished by the Chamber of Commerce. Loud speakers broadcast the program into the lobby and to the street. The invocation was given by Dr. John R. Mulder, president of Western Theological seminary followed by presentation of colors by the color guard of Holland High school and community singing led by Capt. Herbert Jensen of the Salvation Army with accompaniment by the band sextet.

Due to a recurrence of malaria, Lt. Col. Henry A. Geerts, honorary chairman of the drive who was scheduled to give citations to workers, was unable to be present but Hanson read Geerts' bedside message which explained that the workers now all private, will advance rank with the sale or purchase of each bond. A $25 bond will raise him one rank and $3,000 in bonds will make him a four-star general in the third army of Holland, the bond-selling fund. Promotions will be made twice a week.

Hanson concluded by quoting parts of Geerts' message in Saturday's Sentinel entitled "Almost is not enough."

Jay H. Peltier, Ottawa county bond chairman, explained the various types of securities offered under the bond program and reiterated his conviction that there is no better investment in the whole world. He emphasized the latest slogan, "Buy and Hold," and discouraged the practice of cashing in bonds after 60 days.

The program adhered strictly to its hour schedule and workers filed out at 10 a.m. Henry Wilson, chairman of the merchant's division, gave the concluding challenge as workers were leaving. "Let Holland be the first city in Michigan to go over and exceed its quota."

A total of 1,365 workers are cooperating in the merchant's program. Police assisted in seating and directing the crowds in the hotel.

County Has Many Outstanding Milk Producing Cows

Grand Haven, Nov. 16 —DHIA records for October, turned in by Teeter Louis Cugel, show definitely that this county has some outstanding animals, County Agent L. R. Arnold said here.

The two high cows in the association are both in the mature class over five years of age. Both are owned by Gerrit J. But. One animal shows 2,154 pounds of milk and 80.1 pounds of butterfat. The second cow gave 1,989 lbs. milk and 73.6 lbs. fat.

In the class under five years, records of two leading animals are more than satisfactory. Arnold said. A cow owned by But produced 2,195 lbs. milk and 70.2 lbs. fat. Gerald Poest, Zeeland, owns the next high producer with 1,931 lbs. milk and 69.5 lbs. fat.

In the group under four years, both winners go over the 60-pound record. The animals are owned by But and Reishig and Groen brothers with 64.2 lbs. fat and 63.8 lbs. fat.

In the large high herd class, high production goes to But with an average production of milk at 1,005 pounds and fat at 36.8 pounds. But and Reishig's herd follows with 957 pounds of milk and 34.8 pounds of fat. In the medium class actual productive records show greater production. ## X-Ray Unit Will Be in Ottawa for TB Exams Soon

The Michigan department of health's mobile x-ray unit will be in Ottawa county from Dec. 11 through Dec. 29.

On previous visits, a large number of the employees in local factories have availed themselves of this service. The present plan is to make it available to everyone who is interested in an x-ray of the chest.

Many of the large hospitals in United States are having routine x-ray examinations of all admissions. As many as 1.5 per cent of the patients examined show evidence of tuberculosis.

The present program of tuberculosis control recommends x-ray examination of as large a number of adults as possible and all known contacts.

This is a free service. It includes only a diagnostic x-ray examination of the chest.

Centers will be set up in Holland at the Old Hospital annex, Central Ave. and 12th St. in Zeeland at the city hall, in Grand Haven at the City garage and in Coopersville, place to be arranged. The schedule has not been completed.

Interested persons may call the health department in Grand Haven or Holland for information or appointment.

Local Cage Card Opens Friday In Holland Armory

Holland sports fans were glad to switch their attention from cold, windswept Riverview park and football games to the cozy comfort of Holland armory this week as the local basketball schedule gets under way with Holland Christian battling Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills Friday night in the armory.

Holland High opens the following Friday against Allegan at the local armory.

Christian has only two more practice sessions before tangleing with Ottawa Hills and Coach John H. Tulk is looking forward to a hard contest with that class A school.

Holland High opened practice for the boys not out for football last week and the football boys are scheduled to join the ranks this afternoon with Coach Malcolm Mackay doing the coaching, assisted by Fred Weiss.

Four veterans return to the HHS squad from last season. Al Van Meeteren, Ken Zuverink, Pete Van Domelen and Louis Van Dyke. About 35 boys were out for basketball at the first call and football players will swell the ranks to about 60 or 70 now that the pigskin sport is done.

Both local squads have rugged schedules but will likely end the season above the 500 mark because of fairly good teams although that assumption of strength is based solely on the returning lettermen of both Holland High and Christian.

Two HHS Boys Make All-Star Team

Two Holland High school football players, Don "Red" Hulst and Stan McClure, were placed on the 1944 Michigan Southwestern conference honor team at a meeting held last night by the coaches in the Warm Friend Tavern to pick an all-star aggregation, two deep in every position.

Bob Kuipers was not considered because he failed to participate in enough games to make him eligible for the team.

Hulst was placed at an end position and was a surprise choice. He played end on defense and halfback on offense for the Dutchmen. McClure's choice was a foregone conclusion as the 145-pound guard was the big nose in the Dutch defense all year.

Muskegon dominated the selections, placing seven men on the squad of 22 or about one-third of the team. Kalamazoo and Muskegon Heights each placed four. Benton Harbor three and Holland and Grand Haven two.

Hulst, a senior, although not receiving a great amount of praise during the season, played consistent ball for Holland. He was a hard end to take out, having learned the technique of carrying a would-be blocker with him for a split second, thus avoiding the shock of the block, and then pushing the blocker away and going in for a tackle.

McClure, a junior, was consistent on defense and was in over 50 per cent of the tackles or plays going through the line. He was also a driving force on offense.

It is regrettable that Kuipers, Holland's outstanding fullback, failed to play in enough games to win the honor of being on the all-conference team. However, he has the consolation that he would have certainly made the squad had a knee injury not forced him to the sidelines in three important contests.

The complete all-conference team and the school for whom they each played is as follows:

night in Holland hospital.

Welcome him when he knocks at your door

THE 6th WAR LOAN STARTS TODAY

Within the next few weeks in every city, town and hamlet, men and women will be knocking on the doors of American homes. They come in the name of your fighting men, giving their time to take your subscriptions for extra War Bonds.

Welcome them as though they were actual soldiers from the foxholes of the Pacific. Your boys know what cooperation means during a battle—with them, it's a matter of life or death, victory or defeat. Think of this when a volunteer worker knocks on your door. Double your Bond buying during this drive. Buy at least one extra $100 Bond. Then buy another and another. It's going to take a lot of Bonds to meet the goal of $14,000,000,000.

Remember that the Japs are firmly united against us. They have 73 million people at home plus many of the 400 million enslaved people in conquered territories working to prolong this war. Japanese industry is strong and modern, and they have the supplies to carry on a long war unless we stop them.

And remember, when you buy a Bond during this drive you're backing the boys fighting into the heart of the Nipponese strongholds. Buy Bonds with a grateful heart out of an open pocketbook.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE!

The "basket" of securities to be sold under the direction of the State War Finance Committee is especially designed to fit individual investment needs. It consists of eight issues:

- Series E, F and G Savings Bonds.
- Series C Savings Notes.
