Holland Is Well Represented in Michigan Woods

Local Parties Leave For Widely Separated Areas to Hunt Deer

Holland was well represented in the north woods today as 300,000 red-shirted hunters turned Northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula into a virtual shooting gallery on the second day of the 1946 deer hunting season.

Surveys conducted in all sections of the northland indicate that the deer herd is at its peak in numbers. First reports from the deer areas indicated that the legal kill is normal, although some 160 arrests were made prior to the opening of the season and were for carrying loaded guns in cars and pre-season hunting.

One local party has left for Matchwood far up in Ontonagon county in the Upper Peninsula.

FIRST DEER REPORTED

First local hunter to report success in the current deer hunting season is Kenneth Atman of Central park who bagged an eight-point buck weighing 175 lbs. at 10 a.m. Friday, opening day. Centennial Commission Asks $2,500 of Council

A request for $2,500 to sponsor Centennial activities in Holland in 1947 was referred to the Ways and Means committee at a regular meeting of Common Council Wednesday night.

The request came in a communication from Cornelius vander Meulen, president of the Centennial Commission, who pointed out that plans are progressing for the year's program. Ald. L. C. Dalman of the Street Committee reported that council representatives had met with officials of the Texaco Co. to establish new routes for oil transports, the routes to go around the city wherever possible. He also said the city attorney has under consideration the smoke problem created by diesel trucks and is seeking some control.

Dalman also suggested a meeting of city officials, township officials and the county road commission in regard to paving Ottawa Ave.

Council approved the recommendation of the Buildings and Grounds committee to install an acoustical board ceiling to a height of 12 feet in the council chambers at a cost of $1,395.60.

Council also granted permission to the City Bus Service to advertise civic projects on the outside of buses.

A communication signed by Ald. J. Stoner, adjutant for the local American Legion post, calling attention to inadequate rest room facilities for Tulip Time guests, was referred to the Chamber of Commerce committee. The letter suggested possible temporary rest rooms and better posting of locations.

A petition signed by property owners requesting that West 27th St. be filled in for a distance of 200 feet east and west of Pine Ave. was referred to the street committee. Petitioners said water collects there during rains.

Claims and accounts amounted to $9,212.92. Other claims were hospital, $12,994.45; library, $298.52; park and cemetery, $2,936.98; Board of Public Works, $61,931.32. The city treasurer reported regular collections of $7,118.68 and BPW collections of $38,503.12.

Construction of the exhibits is now underway at Michigan State college. The show will open on Jan. 3 at Mason in Ingham county. All counties in the Lower Peninsula will have a one-day showing.

Termed by some as "The Farmers' Week on Wheels," the caravan will partially take the place of the usual Farmers' week at the college. This event has been crowded off the schedule because heavy enrollment allows no facilities for holding meetings or housing and feeding visitors.

The County agent said more details concerning the caravan would be announced later.

Fibre Products Company to Move Firm to Zeeland

Company Building Plant on Washington On Two-Acre Tract

Zeeland, Nov. 21.—The Northern Fibre Products Co., operated by Louis E. Nykamp, now located in Grand Rapids, will move to Zeeland within the next 60 days, according to C. Karsten, secretary-manager of the Zeeland Chamber of Commerce.

The firm is building a plant 40 by 120 feet on E. Washington St. just east of Mead Johnson siding on two acres of property purchased from E. Nagelkerk. Construction is already under way. The present size of the plant as restricted by CPA regulations, however the firm plans to build another plant of equal size in the rear future, regulations permitting.

The company has been in operation in Grand Rapids for the last 12 years. The firm makes twisted, folded paper and braided cords and laminated products, used by manufacturers of furniture and automobiles. It also manufactures paper and cotton products used in manufacture of the finished product. The firm ships to points all over the United States.

Mr. Nykamp said he will employ approximately 25 people, mostly male help. He stated he hoped to move here the first of January so that he could begin operations in January or February.

Two shifts at 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. will be employed to increase production.

The Chamber of Commerce industrial committee has made considerable effort to assist Mr. Nykamp in locating here. Members of the committee are A. C. Van den Bosch, chairman, John Wichers, G. J. Van Hoven, John H. Kole and Dave Van Ommen. This is in line with the Chamber's program of obtaining new industry and providing more employment locally.

Mead Johnson Co. has extended the new firm the use of its railroad siding.

To Visit Ottawa And Allegan Areas

The Michigan State college Rural Progress caravan will visit Ottawa county Feb. 20, 1947, it was announced today by L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent. The show, sponsored by the extension service of MSC will be held in Borculo, at the Bussis Bldg. It will be open for inspection from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The caravan will be in Allegan county Feb. 19, according to A. D. Morley, Allegan county agent. This year's caravan will carry a theme of planning the farm and farmstead, since many farmers are considering remodeling or building whenever materials are available. Stress will be put on the need for proper planning of construction.

The "back 40" will not be neglected in the caravan displays, as college officials realize that the production from the farm acreage is responsible for the funds available to improve the farmstead.

The first caravan, which toured Michigan from January through March early this year, showed before 92,000 people—nearly double the number anticipated.

Construction of the exhibits is now underway at Michigan State college. The show will open on Jan. 3 at Mason in Ingham county. All counties in the Lower Peninsula will have a one-day showing.

Termed by some as "The Farmers' Week on Wheels," the caravan will partially take the place of the usual Farmers' week at the college. This event has been crowded off the schedule because heavy enrollment allows no facilities for holding meetings or housing and feeding visitors.

The County agent said more details concerning the caravan would be announced later.

Expert Advice Offered To Ottawa Trappers

Mr. Bowditch would be pleased to meet with groups which might desire to secure information, particularly 4-H boys and farmers. If enough requests are filed at the extension office a meeting Arnold, county agricultural agent. Some trappers are quite successful, others not. In the latter case it may be due to lack of skill and knowledge.

Mr. Arnold reports that the Conservation department and Michigan State college are co-operating in supplying trained men who can assist trappers. The instructor of Ottawa county is Harold Bowditch, 226 Delano, Allegan.

Trappers of Ottawa county will soon be on the move, says L. R. place will be secured.

A short trip into "deer country" near Munising in the Upper Peninsula netted the above four hunters, all of the same family, one 10-point buck, two eight-pointers and a six point buck with an average weight of 180 lbs. Two of the deer were shot about 10 a.m. the first morning and the other two in the afternoon of the second day. Left to right, the lucky hunters and their quarry are Gerrit Tucker, father, Jerrold Tucker, his son, Glen Tucker, another son and James S. Hoover, a son-in-law. (Penna-Sas photo)

Further Study Ordered In Numbering Program

A nine-man committee of representatives of Common Council and Holland and Park township boards will study and clarify plans for "Holland Area" in the Ottawa county numbering program, following an open meeting Wednesday night in the City Hall attended by the council, post office officials, Board of Public Works officials, Holland and Park township officials and interested citizens.

Representing Common Council will be the original committee appointed some weeks ago by Mayor Ben Steffens, consisting of Alds. William J. Meengs, L. C. Dalman and Henry Te Roller.

Park township will be represented by Dick Nieusma, Gerrit Nevenzel and Lloyd Van Lente, and Holland township will be represented by Walter Vander Haar, John Helder and Fred Bocks.

The Chamber of Commerce, which arranged Wednesday night's meeting, will call a meeting of the new committee with County Engineer Carl T. Bowen and county road commissioners soon.

Ald. Meengs presided at the meeting and called upon William H. Vande Water of the Chamber of Commerce, Harold J. Karsten of the Board of Public Works and S. H. Houtman of the post office to explain issues in the street naming and house numbering project. A lively discussion followed, lasting two hours with many citizens participating.

Meengs called attention to future expansion of the city and the eventual solution of many problems if a standardized system of 100 numbers to the block or 800 to the mile were adopted.

Karsten explained how the Board of Public Works had worked 10 years on extending Holland's numbering system of 22 feet to the number into the rural areas as an aid to services of the board.

Houtman said the post office was not advocating any particular system or change, but said the organization was interested in getting things done efficiently. With 50 employees in the organization in a constant turnover, a system similar to that booked by Consumers Power Co. in Ottawa county would eventually prove efficient and economic, he said.

Every physician, deliveryman, dry cleaner and Western Union boy would find a new numbering system of great benefit, he said. He explained the "Holland Area" which is roughly a five by seven mile plot which would operate under its own numbering system out of the Holland post office. Should Holland change its system to 100 numbers to the block, the numbers would conform with little change to those set up by the county.

City Attorney Vernon D. Ten Cate described the action of the Board of Supervisors to name county roads and number rural homes as a progressive step, one that would facilitate the locating of people.

W. A. Butler of The Sentinel, speaking as a business man, suggested obtaining information from

Dutch Centennial To Be Observed In Many Places

Representatives of Several Cities Gather Here to Discuss Plans

Dutch immigration into Western Michigan in 1847 will be observed in several Michigan cities as well as Holland which plans a year-long Centennial program in 1947, it was determined at a meeting of representatives of several cities here Tuesday night.

The meeting was arranged following action taken at a previous meeting of the Centennial Commission when it was decided to discuss with representatives of other communities possible plans for recognition of the 100th anniversary of the Dutch immigration.

As a nucleus, trustees of the Netherlands Pioneer and Historical Foundation as well as representatives of the Michigan Historical Society were invited. Cities represented were Kalamazoo, Lansing, Zeeland, Grand Haven and Holland.

Decision was made to set up committees in various communities to co-operate with Holland's commission in planning programs. Recognition of the event may extend to Dutch communities in Iowa and New York.

Forester Lauds Tree Nurseries

John W. Keller, forester, Soil Conservation service, Washington, D. C., made a survey of forestry conditions in the West Ottawa Soil Conservation district last week. He was particularly seeking information on operation of district nurseries.

Keller said that is an apparent growing demand for seedling trees throughout the nation. On the other hand, the supply of such seedlings is on the down-grade.

Three district nurseries are in operation in the United States, all in Ottawa and Muskegon counties. These nurseries have supplied trees to hundreds of landowners. Mr. Keller was seeking to determine how efficient these nurseries were.

His survey of the local situation convinced him that district nurseries could do much toward solving the future tree planting program.

Rotarians Hear Supt. Crawford

"The biggest job of the educational institution today is to teach boys and girls how to get along with people."

This conclusive statement was made by Superintendent of Schools Carroll C. Crawford at the Rotary club luncheon Thursday noon in the Warm Friend Tavern. He was one of 28 school officials and teachers who made a nation-wide tour through industrial plants this summer. Topic of his address was "A Tour of Industry and Labor."

Purpose of the trip was to observe at first-hand and gather information from an educational point of view, the methods used in manufacturing plants and how many industries trained their employees. Another purpose of the tour was to fit school content to needs of industry.

Supt. Crawford presented the conclusions of the group resulting from this trip. He said it was necessary to give students a broad education instead of training them for special payroll jobs. "The schools should take care of education and business and industries, the training," he said.

According to the viewpoint of industry and labor, the biggest job is to teach boys and girls how to get along with people. "This is what we lack most in education," he said, "and we have a big job of guidance to do in supplying vocation information."

Out-of-town Rotary members attending were R. E. Muma of Zeeland and Chauncey Beerman of Gary, Ind. Rotary guests were W. K. Von Weller, of Detroit, Netherlands diplomatic attache, and Capt. Elmer Ridenour of Holland.

Charivari Bobs Up Here Occasionally, But Wedding Noise-Making Wanes

The charivari, which Webster defines as a mock serenade of discordant noises made with kettles, tin horns, and the like, often bobs up in the Holland area, although the practice is less popular than it was some years ago.

It was hard to trace the origin of the charivari, and a session with Lillian Eichler's "The Customs of Mankind" failed to yield any information on the subject, although every other custom practiced by mankind from the beginning of time, particularly in weddings, seemed well covered.

Encyclopedia Britannica yielded a little more information. The charivari, it says, is a French term of uncertain origin, a mock serenade of "rough music" made by beating on kettles, fire irons, tea trays or tin pans.

Long ago in France, it was a regular wedding custom and all bridal couples were thus serenaded. Later it was reserved for ill-assorted and unpopular marriages, and in the beginning of the 17th century, charivaris were forbidden by the Council of Tours, but the custom still lingered in rural districts.

The French of Louisiana and Canada introduced the charivari into America where it became known under the corrupted name of "shivaree."

No mention was made of the Netherlands in the sketchy information available on the charivari, but it is understood that it is still practiced in the rural sections of the Old Country.

What any of the books failed to unfold was the real purpose of the present-day charivari. It may have been just an old-time noisy serenade, but today's kettle pounders have a more mercenary purpose at heart. The youngsters who engage in noise-making expect some treat, usually candy bars. Older persons usually hold out for bigger stakes, and usually demand a look at the bride "in all her finery." It is usually considered a good idea for the bridegroom to stay far away from the "musicians" to avoid kidnapping.

Charivaris often were delayed until bridal couples returned from their honeymoons.

A study of certain bridal customs yielded several fascinating surprises. Life for the "silly chick" may be modernistic and sophisticated, but when it comes to weddings, the bride borrows from the pages of yesterday to make her marriage romantic and picturesque.

The wedding form itself is a curious combination of ancient tradition-bound ceremonies.

The third finger of the left hand is known as the ring finger because the ancient Greeks believed that a certain vein passing directly from the finger flowed to the heart. And since this finger was the least used of all fingers, it became the natural recipient for jewelry.

The "something blue" comes from the ancient Israelites who were bidden to put on the borders of their fringed garments a ribbon of blue which was the color of love, purity and fidelity.

The best man is a relic of "marriage by capture." When the ancient bridegroom set out to capture a bride, he usually was accompanied by a strong-armed friend who covered the pursuit of the girl's protectors.

The term honeymoon originated in northern Europe where it was the custom for newly married couples to drink mead (a kind of wine made from honey) for 30 days after the marriage. Anti-quarians say that from this custom grew the term honeymoon.

In days of marriage by capture, it was necessary for the bridegroom to remain in hiding with his bride until her kinsmen tired of the search for her. Later when love entered marriage, elopements were frequent.

Carrying the bride over the threshold originated in ancient Rome where it was ill luck to stumble over it.

Dr. Sessler Talks On Puritanism

Emphasizing the strong moral fibre of Puritans throughout the ages, Dr. J. J. Sessler of Third Reformed church outlined the history of the Puritan movement in the second in his series of three lectures on church history at Nettinga chapel early Thursday. His talk, entitled "Puritanism in America," brought out the debt which modern society owes to Puritan fortitude.

"The Puritan has been praised and blamed, eulogized and excoriated... He excites both admiration and hate," said Dr. Sessler. "He remains a vital issue in morals and religion as a character never to be disregarded."

After tracing the history of the Puritan from his beginning as a minority within the Church of England which demanded a more thorough reformation, to his eventual move to make his own free society in America, Dr. Sessler pointed out the important stages in the development of the Puritan.

"They came seeking not gold but God," said Dr. Sessler and showed the lasting effects of this purpose. "We live today on vitalities these men created. They purified the streams of literature, cleansed the prisons, built schools and colleges and dispatched missionaries to the four corners of the world. In all ages the Puritans have been the antiseptic poured into the wounds of a decadent society."

The third lecture in the series will be given Nov. 21 at 9 a.m. in Nettinga chapel and is open to the public. The subject will be "Pietism in America."

Officers Named For New Military Company Here

Sikkel Is Commanding Officer, and Ver Hey Is Company Officer

First officer appointments for the new Co. D, 126 Inf., 46th Inf. division of Michigan, were announced Friday by Brig. Gen. LeRoy Pearson, adjutant general of Michigan for Gov. Harry Kelly.

The appointments include Capt. William Arnold Sikkel, 26, of 97 West 19th St., new commanding officer of the Holland unit, and 1st Lt. William Ver Hey, 28, of 36 East 26th St., company officer.

Both appointees are former members of the old Co. D which left Holland for federal service in October, 1940, and both were commissioned in the field by direct appointment.

Capt. Sikkel enlisted in Co. D, 126th Inf., Dec. 2, 1938, and served with that unit until Sept. 15, 1942, when he was transferred to other units of the 126th infantry with which he went into combat. In 1944 he became a mess supervisor and commandant of a cooks and bakers' school under a department of Far Eastern headquarters.

After his return to this country, he completed his federal service as commanding officer of an officers' candidate company at Fort Benning, Ga. He was placed on inactive duty Dec. 21, 1945. Of his five years of federal service he spent three in the Pacific theater.

Lt. Ver Hey enlisted in Co. D April 3, 1938, and served with that unit through the entire war until he was separated from the service Jan. 1, 1946. He received a field commission in the Philippines in May 1945.

Lt. Ver Hey served overseas longer than any of the original members of Co. D and was the last to be released from active service. However, one member, Lt. Homer C. Lokker, is still serving at officers' school at Fort Benning.

Lt. Ver Hey has 5½ years federal service to his credit, 43 months of which were spent in the Pacific theater.

The two appointees and Lt. Russell Kemper, also a former Co. D man who is awaiting appointment to the new company, attended a meeting in Grand Rapids Thursday at which time Brig. Gen. Cleary, deputy chief of staff of Michigan, outlined plans for a new aviation program.

Capt. Sikkel said Holland's unit will once again be a heavy weapons company and will use the latest equipment offered by Army ground forces.

The local unit will be composed of seven officers and 189 men. Members of the company will be placed on the federal payroll as soon as initial phases have been reached which call for a minimum of two officers and 19 men.

Two drill periods a week will be held until July, 1947, and all members will receive one day's pay for each drill period attended.

Capt. Sikkel said much interest has been shown, particularly by some returned veterans. He said there are many key positions open in the organization which may be had by those who "get in on the ground floor."

Miss Cook, lyric soprano, who joined the college staff this fall, sang two groups of songs, with Mrs. Harold J. Karsten at the piano. In her opening selection, "Elizabeth's Prayer," from "Tannhauser," by Wagner, Miss Jantina Holleman assisted at the organ.

In this group Miss Cook also sang the aria "Pace, Pace, Mio Dio," from Verdi's "La Forza del Destino." Mrs. Karsten and Miss Holleman are instructors in piano at the college.

In her second group Miss Cook included a variety of selections, two modern numbers, "Silent Noon," Williams and "Let My Song Fill Your Heart," Charles, being especially pleasing. Other songs were Schubert's "Hark! Hark! the Lark," "Die Lotusblume," Schumann, and "The Waterlily," Grieg.

Mr. Johnston first played the interesting Brahms "Variations and Fugue on a Theme by Handel." Holland Reserves Down Buccaneers At Riverview

The Holland High school reserve football squad carried off another victory Thursday at Riverview park, this time the victims were the little Bucs from Grand Haven. The Dutch looked strong as they piled up a 19-6 score for their second win over the Havenites.

The local Yannigans looked sharp last night as they pulled off many trick plays and triple reverses ending in long passes. The Hollander, looked like a midget college team in action with plenty of speed and deception on both offense and defense.

The locals kicked off to the Bucs and the ball went out of bounds and the Havenites took over on their own 40. They plowed all the way to the Holland 19-yard line where the Hollanders took over after a penalty put them on the 14-yard line.

Inside two minutes the locals had passed and ran their way to the Buc's 15-yard line where Wlodarczyk rifled a swift pass to Van de Velde who scored the first local tally. An attempted conversion pass was muffed and the Hollanders led 6-0.

A FRUITFUL CAREER

The announcement by Circuit Judge Fred T. Miles that he will not seek re-election next year should serve as a reminder to the local public that they are fully competent to choose a public official for even the most important offices. Eighteen years ago when Judge Miles first offered himself for the position of circuit judge the suggestion was met with almost contemptuous opposition from many of the leaders of the party. If the choice had been left to party leaders alone, the chances are very great that he would never have been chosen.

Fortunately for him, as well as for the judicial circuit over which he has presided with distinction, his appeal was to the people. Although within the party itself
many efforts were made to com-vince the voters that some other man than Mr. Miles was needed for the job, the voters had their own ideas on the subject. They insisted on ignoring the judgment of the so-called leaders and substituting for it their own. After that first battle Mr. Miles' re-election always was a matter of course.

That the people's judgment was sound has been proved by eight-teen years of competent service.
No man could have held so important an office for so many years without being made the target of criticism. But when the record is taken as a whole, almost any fair-minded citizen would admit that Judge Miles' career on the bench has not only been competent but that he has served the people of the circuit with distinction.

Yet that first campaign, now happily forgotten, was electric with dire predictions from people who were supposed to know much more about such things than the common run of voters that the election of the Holland attorney would be a serious mistake. The campaign took on to some extent the character of the leaders of a party gangling up on a candidate.

As things have turned out the common run of voters in the circuit were wiser than the leaders.
They believed that Mr. Miles had qualities of heart and mind that fitted him for the job, and he has not let them down. It is a good thing for voters to get the feeling that it is not always necessary to defer to the advice of those officially in positions of leadership.
Good horse sense is all that intelligent people need to choose wisely. The local voting public has proved that it possesses that type of political wisdom.

Finnish workers have a true sense of values. Factory employes that few things would be more helpful to workers everywhere than the prevention of such wars

as that which the Nazis started.

Paul in Athens and Corinth
Acts 17: 22-28; 18: 1-4;
1 Corinthians 1: 22-25

By Henry Geerlings

We are in company with Paul today in two great cities—one is the intellectual center and the other a commercial center. They were as well known in the ancient world as London and New York are in our modern world. Cities have character and they become known for it.

The intellectuals of the ancient world seemed to center and grow up in Athens. We think of pagan culture today the minute Athens is mentioned—of philosophy, of art and of religion. Possibly there never has been given to the world greater brain power than Athens gave to civilization. Surely no more wonderful art and artists have been produced than Athens gave the world. Of course the subject of art and the uses of art have been improved upon, but the technique of art and the beauty of art, and the perfection of lives have never been surpassed. But what is brain power if it is not dedicated to the highest uses? And what is art if it does not lift the soul to great spiritual heights?

Paul came to this intellectual and art center. With his eyes wide open and with his soul as sensitive to what he saw as a camera to a face, he wandered around through the city. He could not keep silent as to what he saw and felt. He was great enough and intellectual enough to attract attention to himself. He soon got an invitation to address the intellectuals of that city. What he has been preaching about seemed so strange to these Athenians, and being intellectually curious they were eager to know what novelty he was offering.

Here in this intellectual center, Paul made one of the greatest speeches of his life. It was tactful and forceful, and eloquent, but it did not get many results for the kingdom of God. And this may not be altogether surprising, for not always do the intellectuals of our day respond to the challenges of Christianity. Some are too proud to humble themselves before the simplicities of the gospel. Some know so much as not to know what their spiritual needs are.
Some intellectuals think they are too intellectual to accept some things of religion on faith when the rest of the world with which they have to do are accepting things on faith every day of their lives. Sometimes intellectuals forget that faith may be reason raised to the nth degree.

At any rate we know very little of the fruitage of Paul's visit to Athens. Whether the great apostle to the Gentiles was discouraged over the results of his Athens experience we do not know, but from the intellectual center he went to the commercial center. He came to a very wicked city. Whatever good there may be in great cities, certainly they have in them the very depths of badness. Here such human degradation is possible and becomes such a terrible reality as to make one wonder if some human beings are anything more than mere brutes. But Paul found good here as it can be found in all cities. If there are ways that lead to the bottomless pit there are also ways that point to the heights of celestial.

The faith of Paul is marvelous—
his faith in the good possibilities of humanity and his faith in the power of the gospel. It was that which gave him courage to go on when he had abundant reason to quit. Of course, he was human enough to get a little discouraged and, we suspect, to wonder at times what the outcome of his service was going to be. But here at Corinth he was divinely encouraged to continue in his good way. He had both human and divine encouragement.
He seemed then to take a new grip on life. He rallies his old brave self and preaches with a new enthusiasm and daring.

It is significant that the Lord revealed to Paul that He had many people in Corinth and unknown to the preacher. The fact of the matter is, that is true in all our modern cities, namely, there are always more possible good people than any one or all preachers know of. We never know how or when and where some people are going to be captured for the kingdom of God. Our tomorrows are holding for all of us some splendid surprises in the way of recruits for Christ. Of course multitudes of people in our cities are not interested at all in the religion of Jesus beyond a funeral occasion. But on the other hand there are those who can be reached in their deepest circumstances of life, that compel men to think of something else than material things.

It is interesting to note that Paul was successful in Corinth, in spite of many seeming failures and rough treatment. It is interesting to note also that he made friends there. Aquilla and Priscilla are two of the famous ones. Their common trades brought them together and they became real friends.

Educators See Turning Point in School Situation

More Teachers With Better Pay Employed This Year in Michigan

Washington, Nov. 21 (Special)—The crisis in education in Michigan is not over, but a favorable turning point is seen during this school year by Washington educators.

More teachers are employed in the elementary and secondary schools of the state this year than last, and a larger percentage are receiving better salaries. So the National Education association reports on the teacher shortage, which grew increasingly serious in the war years.

The NEA report, made as part of the observance of the American Education week, said that the percentage of teachers receiving salaries of less than $2,000 in Michigan had dropped from 41.8 per cent to 35 per cent from the 1945-46 school year. This school year only one per cent of all the teachers in Michigan receive salaries of less than $1,200, whereas last year 1.5 per cent did. The report showed that while on a national scale 1.2 per cent still are receiving salaries of less than $600, no teacher in Michigan gets less than that amount.

The number of teachers in the state has increased from 32,140 to 32,200 this year. There has been no change in the number of emergency certificates issued, the number remaining at 5,000.

The NEA contributed the teaching crisis to the following factors:

1. The exodus of teachers from "under-paid professional public service" jobs to higher-paying war jobs.

2. The lack of enough public recognition of the importance of teaching to make the profession attractive.

3. Unsatisfactory working conditions have driven many teachers out to other jobs. Listed were the lack of tenure protection, restrictive contracts and board rules, inadequate retirement guarantees, discrimination against married women, salary differentials on the basis of sex, lack of democracy, and inadequate housing.

4. Inadequacy of professional standards has affected teacher morale and depressed the public's attitude.

5. Lack of comprehensive programs of recruitment and teacher education constantly undermine professional standards.

Jack Plewes has been appointed chairman of the forthcoming infantile paralysis drive in Holland it was announced Tuesday.

Plewes was named by the board of Kiwanis which will sponsor the drive locally.

State Police Will Enforce New School Bus Stop Law

Because of many complaints regarding the new school bus stop law, state police of the Rockford post today clarified the law on overtaking a school bus which has stopped to receive or discharge passengers.

The law states that the driver must bring his vehicle to a full stop at least 10 feet in the rear of such a school bus, and then proceed with caution.

The only exception is at an intersection where traffic is controlled by an officer or a traffic stop-and-go signal where a vehicle may proceed past such school bus at a speed not greater than is reasonable and proper and in no event greater than 10 miles an hour and with due caution for the safety of bus passengers.

This act is not applicable to buses inside incorporated cities or villages, according to Capt. A. A. Downing, district commander.

Ter Haar Co. Maintains Goodwill

Arie Ter Haar, local Pontiac and Buick dealer, says one of the biggest problems confronting automobile dealers today is the job of retaining and extending the goodwill which has been built up over a period of years.

In the last 20 years the Ter Haar Auto Co. has measured up in these respects with the result that public acceptance of Buick and Pontiac today is at an all-time high. "We aim to protect that goodwill now during this period when the demand for new Pontiacs and Buicks is so much greater than the supply," Mr. Ter Haar says.

"We are faced with widespread ill-feeling over the retail delivery of new cars and we cannot afford to ignore the future when dealers will be doing their utmost to promote sales," he adds.

The company pledges to remember all the customers and fellowmen, to deal with them honestly to retain goodwill.

Mr. Ter Haar employs a loyal group of men who are capable and willing to service your car. Mr. Ter Haar also invites anyone to inspect the Ter Haar garage located at 150 East Eighth St.

Ottawa Red Cross Hears Reports; Elects Officers

Percy Jones Aides Relate Activities Of Soldier Patients

Red Cross services in military hospitals were outlined by two executive workers at Percy Jones hospital, Battle Creek, at the annual meeting of the Ottawa County Chapter of the American Red Cross Monday night in Hope Reformed church.

Mrs. Elizabeth Porter, field director at Percy Jones since last February, explained the over-all program in military hospitals, and Miss Ethel Perry, recreational director who formerly taught physical education in Holland Junior high school, outlined recreational facilities at the four installations at Percy Jones.

In addition, 11 new directors were elected for three-year terms. They are Melvin Lubbers, Zeeland city; Mrs. Anna Polich, Port Sheldon township; Henry Mellema, Zeeland township; Stanley Yntema, Park township; Arnold Hertel and Mrs. Irwin Lubbers, Holland city; George McCarthy, Grand Haven township; R. Sund, Chester township; Mrs. Don Lundberg, Mrs. Ben Lowell and Rev. Donald Hallock, Grand Haven city.

Mrs. Porter, in her address, emphasized that the Red Cross is not so much an organization as a spirit. She quoted the Congressional charter which charges the Red Cross with giving aid to the sick and wounded in time of war.

She listed such aid as (1) recruitment of nurses, (2) military and navy welfare service, including active service on the field and in hospitals, and (3) volunteer service at home.

She said the military establishment, whether a few hundreds or 70,000, represents all the social ills of villages or cities of like size. Because of military discipline and the inability to be at home, the soldier's difficulties in readjustment are more sharply focused, and an intermediary, such as the Red Cross worker, is needed, she explained.

And when the able bodied soldier becomes a casualty and needs treatment which involves long periods of time, and too much thinking, he needs this intermediary even more, she said.

Red Cross services in such cases extend to such things as obtaining information for physicians, loans and grants, providing information on legislative changes, services to visiting relatives, and many others.

Of the 12,000 amputees in World War II, 3,000 were treated at Percy Jones and a rotating 500 to 600 amputees remain as patients all the time, Mrs. Porter said. The amputee, she explained, has a certain heroic appeal and his health is usually good. After fittings for artificial limbs and special training in trades, he gradually fits himself into civilian life.

The spinal cord victims, with their varying degrees of paralysis, require a different type of treatment and their recovery is much slower, she explained.

Infinite patience is necessary in the plastic surgery cases where many of the 700 to 800 patients often need 30 to 50 operations to graft bit by bit the skin, muscle or tissue to rebuild a face or hand. A different type of social treatment is necessary for the brain injury cases where enough of the brain tissue is destroyed so that the patient cannot speak, read or write.

In addition, Red Cross ministers to the nervous and mental patients who have their own tragic but funny situations, and the large surgical and medical wards, as well as the terminal services for such incurables as cancers, and bone and brain tumors.

Because the Army appropriations are being pared down constantly, the need for Red Cross services, both professional and volunteer, are more important now than ever before, Mrs. Porter said.

Miss Perry took the guests on an imaginary tour of the four installations at Percy Jones hospital and explained the recreational programs for the various types of patients.

A 16-page printed booklet complete with pictures and reports was given to every guest at the meeting. The receipts for the year ended June 30, 1946, listed $45,548.14, and disbursements were listed as $48,025.21. Cash balance last June 30 amounted to $25,502.46.

The Rev. William C. Warner, president of the chapter, presided. Dinner was served by the canteen corps headed by Mrs. William Reagen. Century Club Hears of Early Church History

The interesting story of the founding of the Moravian church and the establishment of a "religious communism in America" was outlined for members of Century club Monday night by Dr. J. J. Sessler, pastor of Third Reformed church. The meeting was held in the home of Dean and Mrs. Milton L. Hinga, with Dr. John R. Mulder presiding.

Dr. Sessler explained that he made an extensive study of the records of the Moravian church at Bethlehem, Pa. for Columbia university. His research uncovered many unusual practices of the sect during the period of its development. During his study, Dr. Sessler had access to a library of 2,000 volumes of original manuscript written in German with pen and ink, and dating back to 1750.

Tracing briefly the European background of the Moravian church to the area near Prague, Dr. Sessler pointed out that discontent with the Catholic church was the basis for the new sect, and at the time of the Reformation, this group already numbered 200,000 members. Count Nicholas Ludwig Von Zinzendorf of Saxony was their great leader.

The speaker described their first settlement in America about 1741, which later became the city of Bethlehem, Pa., as "an experiment in religious communism, under a typical dictator." The settlement and the church were one, and the success of the community was more important than that of the home, he explained.

During the social hour, refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mrs. J. L. Telling, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Yeomans and Mr. and Mrs. John Bonnelly. Dr. and Mrs. Arnold Mulder and Mrs. Wynard Wichers of Kalamazoo were out-of-town guests at the meeting.

Dwelling to some extent on the "theological extravaganzas" which developed about the middle of the 18th century, Dr. Sessler termed the religious excesses as "pietism gone mad." Although this period was only a phase in the church's development, the communistic settlement continued until 1814, he stated.

Dr. Sessler described the present Moravian church, organized along lines similar to other denominations, as one of the strongest missionary churches in the world, with a tolerant attitude and little interest in creed.

Refreshments were served by Mesdames A. T. Godfrey, Harold McLean, E. P. Sooter, Simon Blocker and E. S. Price.

Vandenberg told members of Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. P. Oggel on West 12th St. "It is a story that makes the heart of every American throb with pride and pleasure."

In her program on the flag, Mrs. Vandenberg refreshed the memories of her listeners on the historical background of the flag, its symbolism and significance. She described the early colonial flags, the origin of the stars and stripes and reviewed the fascinating legend of Betsy Ross.

"The flag is the visible token of the ideals and aspirations, the hopes and spiritualities which make a nation, and which make men and women willing to fight, suffer and die in its defense," she said.

Mrs. M. L. Hinga, regent, presided at the meeting, which opened with the customary patriotic ceremony and devotions by the chaplain, Mrs. W. F. Kendrick. The secretary read a letter from Mrs. Carl Mapes, Grand Rapids, championing the candidacy of former state regent Laura Clark Cook for the office of organizing secretary general, DAR.

J. Brower presided at the dessert meeting which preceded the club's afternoon program. Members of the Civic Health committee were guests.

The discussion was one of a series designed to acquaint the group with the needs of Holland's facilities.

Mrs. Wichers stressed particularly the need for living quarters and working space for personnel, increased space for x-ray, surgical and nursery departments, and adequate consultation, waiting room, storage and kitchen space.

Describing the ideal reconstructed hospital as one of 180 beds serving the surrounding area of 40,000 persons, Mrs. Horner told of tentative plans to enlarge the building, providing an individual maternity wing, an adequate children's department and improved surgical, x-ray, technical and other departments.

She also mentioned possible methods of financing the project, pleading for an informed, intelligent nucleus of voters who will lead the way when building conditions are better and the time comes for the floating of a necessary bond issue.

A question and answer period followed.

Holland Gets 2 On All-Conference Football Teams

Leverette and Slager Named by Coaches as Star Back and Linesman

The Tigers of Muskegon Heights walked off with six spots in the Southwestern Conference honor team Wednesday. Coaches of teams in the league met in Holland to make the selection of an all-conference team. Kalamazoo placed five men, Muskegon Heights and Kazoo finished in one-to-two order in final standings.

Third place Muskegon got four honorary nominations and Benton Harbor, Holland and Grand Haven placed three, two and two respectively.

The Dutchmen who landed on the all-league squad were Eddie Leverette, Holland scat back and Herm Slager, linesman. In the past a first team was picked and a second team with a list of honorable mentions as well. The backs were not labeled with a position and the position they played on their own team had no bearing on their spot on the all-conference squad.

Woman's Club Schedule Includes Two Meetings

With the avowed purpose of influencing his listeners to give serious thought to "What It Means to Be an American," Dr. Willis F. Dunbar, Kalamazoo news commentator and former history professor, addressed members of the Woman's Literary club Tuesday afternoon.

Declaring the study of Americanism and its manifestations to be one of his hobbies, Dr. Dunbar defined an American as not a communist, not a fascist, not a leftist nor a rightist, not an "American firster," but the man who has been in the middle of the road throughout the history of America. That man, said the speaker, has "something to give the world."

To the historian, four characteristics are native American traits, the speaker said. The first is rank, or rugged individualism seen in the pioneer settlers; the second, the collective characteristics, evidenced in the settlers' groups who by voluntary co-operation solved community problems; and a third trait is the American's practical nature, the voice that says, "Will it work?" "Should I follow this?"

The last American trait was seen in the rise of democracy in Greece, Rome, France, Dr. Dunbar said, "To be an American means to believe in the rule of the majority. But there must be a faith that the minority will acquiesce in this majority rule. An American believes in the bill of rights for the individual citizen, but he also accepts the role of leader, one who corresponds to the ancient meaning of the word, dictator. Not a despot who rules arbitrarily, but one who takes over the role of burden-bearer when things grow heavy and releases them when times grow better."

"We who believe in these four characteristic American traits, must also meet the challenges they bring us," said the speaker. Americans must be united in patriotic fervor, must accept regimentation in time of crisis. Youth must think soberly about the meaning of patriotism. True Americans must concern themselves with politics. He closed with a plea to make democracy work and meet its challenges in the modern age.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. John K. Winter, first vice-president, who presided.

On Sunday, at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., special reference will be made of the anniversary date in the sermons to be delivered by the Rev. Albert Hellinga, pastor of the church, and Dr. Leonard Greenway, former pastor and now teacher of Bible in the Grand Rapids Christian High school.

The Second Reformed church was organized Nov. 22, 1871, and the first services were held in the old courthouse which was erected on Washington St. in the block where the present courthouse was later built. The first pastor of the church was the Rev. Evert Van der Hart, and since that time there have been 12 ministers, including Rev. Hellinga, who has served the church for six years.

Other pastors who have served the church are: The Rev. Christian Vander Veen, the Rev. E. Stapelkamp, the Rev. Jacob Van Zanten, the Rev. George Z. Collier, the Rev. Jacob Vander Meulen, the Rev. James Ver Burg, the Rev. Henry Vruwink, the Rev. Walter S. Bloom, the Rev. Henry Beltman and Dr. Leonard Greenway.

When the church was founded all services were in the Holland language, but during the pastorate of the Rev. Christian Vander Veen, the change was made to hold the evening service in the English language and in 1893 all services were conducted in the English language.

The church partially supports the Rev. Ralph Korteling and Dr. Anna Korteling at Arcot mission in India, and a pastorate, South Barnard, at Charlevoix.

Another Case Of Poliomyelitis Listed In Allegan

Health Department Warns Of Rabbit Fever And Lists Precautions

Allegan, Nov. 21 — One case of infantile paralysis was included in the communicable disease report for Allegan county for the week ending Nov. 16, the Allegan County Health department said today.

The polio victim is a 35-year-old man of Hopkins who is now hospitalized in Grand Rapids. The department said no source has been found for his infection, nor had there been any contacts with the patient so far as could be determined.

Eight cases of chickenpox were reported in Cheshire township, one case of scarlet fever in Allegan, another case in Wayland, one case of streptococcal sore throat in Otsego and one case of whooping cough in Otsego.

Four cases of tularemia (rabbit fever) among Michigan hunters brought a warning from the state health department and suggestions for precautions.

These warnings listed: Always wear rubber gloves when dressing rabbits. Be careful that a sharp bone does not pierce the glove. Do not handle rabbit that are found dead. Beware of slow or sluggish rabbits, since they are likely to be infected with tularemia. Cook rabbits thoroughly so that no red meat or blood remains. Thorough cooking of the meat destroys the germs. Play safe — destroy all rabbits whose internal organs are studied with small white spots. It may be tularemia.

Tularemia in man is a long, protracted disease, the state department said. Its first symptoms include chills, fever, headache, body pains and nausea. Usually a local sore or ulcer appears at the point where the germs of the disease enter the skin. This is usually accompanied by pain and a swelling of the lymph glands draining the area.

In other news of the county department, Miss Frances Van Tassel, supervising nurse, attended a meeting of the American Public Health association in Cleveland last week and brought back information of interest to the health department staff.

Attorney Speaks To Exchangites

Principles and procedures involved in the Nuernberg war crime trials were recounted Monday night to local Exchangites by John B. Martin, Grand Rapids attorney. Mr. Martin served as an interrogator at the trials and also worked with the Office of Strategic Services during the war.

He traced the history of the trials from their inception to their conclusion. He emphasized that had the court convened when Germany was invaded, there would have been insufficient evidence to convict anyone. The speaker pointed out that gathering the defendants, witnesses, documents and documentary films was an involved process. By Nov. 20, 1945, all evidence had been gathered and the trials were culminated last August.

The American staff, the speaker said, consisted of 700 men, and eight judges constituted the court.

Mr. Martin concluded his talk with a suggested evaluation of the proceedings and a plea for democracy, urging abolishment of force as an instrument of policy.

Exchangite Peter Boter introduced the speaker. Ernest V. Hartman announced that the football banquet will be held Dec. 2 when Holland football squads will be guests of the club.

Richard Ruch, Bob Albers and Victor Kleinhessel, presented corn music, accompanied by Miss Norma Albers. Guests of the club were W. H. Van De Voort, Pfc. Ervin Knooihuizen, Charles Bertsch, Hub Boone and Edgar Lampen, all of Holland.

Exchange club president, Eugene Ripley, presided at the meeting.

Holland Dutchmen Snatch Victory From Grand Haven

Eleventh Hour Score Turns Tables on Invading Buccaneers

Holland High stepped out of the Southwestern conference cellar by jacking the hapless Buccaneers of Grand Haven 14-7. A decision was not made until closing minutes of play when the Dutchmen scored after a 66-yard march before a capacity crowd of 6,000 here Friday night.

It was the mighty right arm of Jack Van Dorpe and the sticky fingers of Kenney Bauman, Leo Vander Kuy and Gord Barendse which opened the door to victory. The Dutch completed 16 of 27 pass attempts. When the Dutchmen chose to run it was the boy from the south, Eddie Leverette who carried the brunt of the offensive attack thrown at the Bucs. The Dutchmen couldn't be stopped as they plugged their way to 17 first downs against the Bucs' 10.

It looked like Grand Haven was off to a touchdown in the early stages of the game after the Bucs

SLAGER GETS HONOR

Herm Slager, rugged left tackle on the Holland football squad, was named the most valuable player by local coaches and his name will be engraved on the cup which was presented to the high school by the American Legion. The presentation was made by E. E. Hartman of the local American Legion Post.

Nineteen members of the football squad who played their last game last night were presented with slips which will be turned in for medals by Hartman also.

Members receiving awards were: Allen, Vander Kuy, Kuipers, Van Dorpe, Vande Wege, Hinga, Van Dyke, Barendse, Leverette, Meyer, Slager, Tubbergen, Van Ingen, Van Tongeren, Van Voort, Ver Schure, Veldheer and Boes.

Kicked off to Holland and the locals punted to the Buccaneer 40-yard line, Westerhof and Recorla took turns carrying the ball and brought it all the way to the Holland 6 before the Dutchmen turned on their defensive power and held them. After Bud Vande Wege punted to the Grand Haven 33-yard line the Bucs booted one back which didn't stop until it hit the five-yard line. Leverette picked up five yards to the 10 as the first quarter ended.

The Dutchmen then put on their offensive show as they drove 85 yards on a touchdown bid that fizzled on the Grand Haven 11. It all happened when Van Dorpe tossed two passes to Bauman which netted 37 yards and along with ground gaining by Van Hekken and Leverette took the ball to the Buc 11 yard line, where Van Dorpe threw a pass to Van Hekken who after making a first down fumbled and Krause was on the spot to nab it and race all the way to his own 40. Several plays later Van Dorpe intercepted one of Westerhof's passes and was downed on his own 25-yard line.

On a pass from Van Dorpe to Bauman the locals got to the Buc's 46-yard line but Bauman injured his left leg as he was tackled, Vander Kuy was sent into the game and took up where Bauman left off as the Dutchmen continued their march to the Buccaneers 14-yard line. After holding the Hollanders the Bucs took over as the first half ended.

Midway in the third quarter the Buccaneers began a 75-yard push that netted them seven points. After receiving Vande Wege's punt on their own 25, Rescorla and Westerhof took charge of the Buc offensive and carried the ball to the 5 in 10 plays. Westerhof plunged over for the tally from the 5 yard line to give the Havenites a 6-0 advantage. Rescorla booted the extra point to make the score 7-0.

After Grand Haven kicked off to the Dutch Van Hekken carried the ball to the 36, then to the Grand Haven 47-yard line. Leverette took it to the 35, as the third quarter ended and the locals still behind 7-0. Opening the fourth quarter Van Dorpe lined a pass to Vander Kuy who got to the 11 before he was dragged down. Several plays later Van Dorpe again rifled a colorful pass to Vander Kuy who caught it in the end zone.

Bauman then limped into the game and booted the extra point despite his bad left leg. The Dutchmen then had the ball game all tied up at 7-all.

After the Dutch kicked off to the Havenites and they failed to make a first down on their own 48 yard line. They punted out of bounds on the Dutch 34 where the locals again began rushing the Bucs.

A group of line plays brought the ball to the Buc 43-yard line where Van Dorpe aerialled a pass to Vander Kuy on the 35; the same play picked up another nine yards to the 26 on the next attempt. Van Hekken plunged to the 15-yard line off left tackle and Van Dorpe again threw a pass to Barendse who stole the ball from two Grand Haven defenders. The Dutchmen played as good defensive backs on the 1-yard line. Leverette plowed through the Grand Haven line to score what proved to be the winning touchdown with less than two minutes

Hinga Prepares to Throw Tough Team Into Intercollegiate Cage Scramble

Hinga has his old combination Coach Milton (Bud) Hinga opens his 15th year as basketball mentor at Hope college this season and is fast rounding a team into shape for the first game Dec. 3. Hinga has established a record for Hope college, claiming four championships in the MIAA and three ties for the circuit's top honors.

Hinga came to Hope in 1931 and began to stamp the name of Hope into the basketball "migh-ties" of the MIAA. He has coached the Dutchmen through 13 seasons of MIAA competition and proved himself one of the best in the MIAA and in Michigan.

Hinga not only can coach basketball but in his day played for during his two years at Kalamazoo Central from 1917-19 the Kazoos took the state crown both years.

Going from high school to college Hinga continued his basketball and in his four years at Kalamazoo college, the Hornets captured first place honors each year. One year the Kazoos took second place in the national tournament. After college he played six years of professional basketball.

He took up his coaching duties at Holland High school in 1923 and remained there until his appointment to the Hope coaching staff in 1931. Hinga took care of the gridiron crew as well as the cagers in his years at the college until last season when Al Vanderbush was added to the staff at the local college as football and track coach.

Hinga was and is still regarded highly as a basketball official, for he worked as an official in 10 Michigan state basketball finals. He was an official for 25 years and retired only last year.

Hinga's name buzzed around the state back in 1942-43 when he headed the famed "Blitz Kids". Members of his squad that year included Higgs, Butler, Slager, Van Dort, Vanden Berg, Boersma, Rowan and the big five that went so far that season: DeVette, Van Dis, Kleinjans, Mulder and Dalman. In addition to winning the MIAA crown that year, they won 15 games while losing only two. Calvin and Western were the only teams that defeated the Dutch that year.

Last season Hinga's squad again made the top, gaining first honors in the state among small colleges and having the best record in the state of any college team. Last year's squad also took MIAA honors along with Albion to keep up the tradition of staying on top of the heap.

Hinga has announced a 19-game schedule for his 1946-47 team and has it loaded with tough opponents. He is still working on one more game for the Hollanders.

Hinga has the same team back from last year with the exception of his big guard, Art Slager, who dropped school last semester. Slager stands 6 foot 4 inches tall and weighs well over 200 pounds and claimed the title of "Big Art" on last year's outfit.

Van Dis, De Vette, Mulder and Dalman back on the court this season but is looking around for a guard to fill Slager's vacancy. Hinga has been working at Don Scholten, a local boy who stands well over six foot, in an attempt to work him into the fast combination to take the ball off the backboard. Harv Butler is also being considered for the job.

Hinga has a large crew of lettermen back this season including some boys who have been gone for many years and have now returned to the campus. Hinga said, "We're loaded with material and will be plenty tough, but the rest of the schools are loaded too and they'll all be laying for us this year."

Hinga has a record of 145 games won against 59 losses. He opens this year with a winning streak of nine games. Here is the way Hinga's record looks against other colleges: Hope won 21 out of 22 games from Hillsdale; 15 out of 22 games against Albion; 15 out of 22 games against Alma; 18 out of 24 games against Kalamazoo; 12 out of 17 games against remaining in the ball game.

Bauman came into the ball game, still injured and still limping, and booted another one-point to make the score 14-7 and the fans whooped it up. The ball game ended after Grand Haven had two plays, one a pass which was intercepted by Van Hekken on the Holland 38 yard line.

football as they played all year to trim the Bucs and the locals teamed up to make everyone a star. The passing of Van Dorpe, the receiving of Vander Kuy and Bauman, the running of Leverette and the conversions by Bauman all combined to dump the Bucs. Westerhof playing his first year of football looked like a veteran as he went for many long gains. Rescorla was also outstanding for the Havenites.

Statistics:—Holland 17, Grand Haven 10. Passes completed: Holland 16, Grand Haven 3. Passes intercepted: Holland 11, Grand Haven 5. Passes intercepted: Holland 2, by Grand Haven 0. Penalties: Holland 15 yards, Grand Haven 20 yards. Touchdowns: (Holland) Vander Kuy, Leverette, (Grand Haven) Westerhof, Conversions: (Holland) Bauman 2, (Grand Haven) Rescorla.

Hydrangea in Cemetery Gets Its Seasons Mixed

A hydrangea plant at Pilgrim Home cemetery has lost track of its season and has produced a fairly large pink blossom. According to Cemetery Supt. Howard Reising, the hydrangeas bloom for a few weeks in the middle of the summer, and a blossom in the fall is unusual.

The blossom on the John S. Dykstra lot in cemetery No. 1 was discovered by cemetery workmen who were about to prune down the plants for the year.

Reising said roses are still in bloom in cemetery No. 3. A few October roses are the only other flowers at present.

Scout Court of Honor Planned in Hudsonville

Donald E. Kyger, scout executive for the Ottawa-Allegan council, will assist in ceremonies at a court of honor Monday night in Hudsonville, sponsored by troop 20.

From the collection, "Fifty Latin American Prints," which will be displayed in Netherlands Museum Nov. 18 through 30, is this etching titled "Assisi, Italy," drawn by Enrique Caravia Montenegro of Cuba.

Latin-American Prints To Be Exhibited Here

Fifty prints of Latin America, comprising a collection of graphic art representing 18 countries of Central and South America, will be exhibited at the Netherlands Museum through November 30. In its revelation of the character and human aspect of these countries, the collection provides an interesting cross section of native life in the neighboring republics.

The collection presents outstanding etchings, lithographs and woodcuts executed by 39 different artists of whom eight are from Mexico. Along with Mexico, Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil are today the most active in this field. The prints are a permanent collection of the Fine Arts department of the International Business Machines Corp. In acquiring the collection, Thomas J. Watson, president of the corporation, had the collaboration of John Taylor Arms, president of the Society of American Etchers.

In describing the graphic art situation in present day Latin America, Arms said "It seems, as a whole, stronger in woodcut than in any other medium while the copper plate appears to hold less appeal for our South American neighbors than either wood or stone, except in Argentina."

Many of these artists were schooled in Europe but their technique is as distinctly Latin-American as the Indians and burros they use for subject matter. With few exceptions, there is the heavy line, simplified form, or distortion which turns back to Indian culture for inspiration, rather than to the polished style of American schools or Paris salons. Subject matter ranges from peasants, peddlers and artists, to street scenes, harvest groups and dance themes. The presence of a figure in almost every print reflects the interest of the Latin-American artist in people, in contrast with the North American printmaker's preoccupation with more impersonal subjects such as landscape and architecture, and invariably, the people are in motion, which gives to the exhibition, it is said, its air of vitality.

Critics, in appraising this collection have found "a great feeling of spontaneity, vigor and freshness." What some lack in craftsmanship and polish, they say, is balanced by an inherent feeling for movement and a sort of primitive sincerity. In the words of one of our own artists, "they have a force we often lack."
