More Huntsmen Get Their Deer

Seven more stories of deer hunting success were reported by Holland area hunters.

Chuck Stewart, Ken Knowlton and Ted Kow returned from the Baldwin area where they each bagged a 150-pound deer.

Irv Vrieling shot a spike horn while hunting at Big Bass Lake near Peacock with Nevin Van Anroy.

John Vrieling also bagged his deer, a 140-pound spike horn on the opening day while hunting near Au Train. In the party were Glen Gillespie, Carl De Kooyer and Jim Plewes.

Russ Brower, 155 East 16th St., bagged a good-sized buck during the week-end hunting north of Manistee. The party that includes Walter Coster, Jr., Willard Bruner and Ken Brower will return to Holland Saturday.

Ranford Wenzel of 397 Fourth Ave., shot a four-point buck Thursday morning while hunting in the Houghton Lake district. He returned home Tuesday night. Others in the party were Corwin Van Dyke and Lee Wenzel.

Local Accountants Learn About History of Credit

A film entitled "Man's Confidence in Man," in which the history of credit was traced, highlighted the regular meeting of Holland chapter, American Society of Women Accountants, Tuesday night in the Centennial room of the Warm Friend Tavern.

The establishment of credit started in this hemisphere between the fur traders and the Indians with pots and pans involved in the first exchanges of skins. These goods were given in advance of the hunting and trapping season and accounts later were straightened out. Trading posts later played a big part in the establishment of credit, and it was this system that led to establishment of credit as the country knows it today through Dun and Bradstreet.

President Irma Hoeland presided at the business meeting in which Miss Cecilia Ver Hage, commercial teacher at Zeeland high school, was introduced as a new member. Two guests from Zeeland, Miss Della De Pree and Edna Klunder, also were introduced.

In the study group afterwards, William P. De Long spoke on the Michigan inheritance tax and the federal estate tax.

Red Cross Hears Complete Report On Blood Program

Directors Selected
At Annual Meeting
Of Ottawa Chapter

GRAND HAVEN — Michigan's blood program, a novel arrangement which is not duplicated anywhere else in the world, was explained by Dr. Kenneth McCall of the Michigan Department of Health at the annual meeting of the Ottawa county chapter of the American Red Cross Wednesday night in the Legion clubhouse here. About 100 attended.

Dr. McCall, who was introduced by Dr. O. van der Velde who is medical director of the blood bank in Holland, explained the processing of blood, particularly the valuable fractions developed from whole blood. He said the state collects blood in 65 counties and the Red Cross collects it in the other 18 counties.

The state goal this year is 48,000 units, half for civilian use and half for the national defense program. Ottawa's share on a population basis is 1,426, much of which will be collected when the state mobile unit visits Hudsonville, Zeeland and Allendale the first week in December.

Dr. McCall explained some valuable blood fractions, the anti-hemophilic globulin for bleeders and the gamma globulin for measles. He said gamma globulin also is used in the polio experiments. It is not aimed to prevent polio so much as preventing paralysis. He said widespread use of the globulin for polio in Michigan is at present out of the question since the state would need 170,000 a year for polio treatment alone.

Whether blood is collected by the state department or the Red Cross, all counties in Michigan are eligible to use the valuable fractions, it was pointed out.

So far as Ottawa county is concerned, Holland has a blood program which provides whole blood, blood plasma and fractions free to all persons living in the area. Grand Haven has only a walking blood program so far as whole blood is concerned, but it participates in the state mobile program and plasma and fractions are available.

The following new directors were elected: Frank Meyer, Mrs. George Nordhouse, the Rev. Carl Strange of Grand Haven; Carl Baker, Conklin; Mrs. Florence Denberger, Port Sheldon; Mrs. Clyde Dykhus, Zeeland township; William P. De Long, Mrs. H. C. McClintock, Miss Mame Ewald and Walter Wrigler, Holland.

Peter Van Dornen, chapter president, presided at the meeting. He called attention to the annual report of the chapter which was distributed among the group. It includes a financial report and a review of all programs and activities. The Junior Red Cross gave a humorous skit, "Mr. Dash Goes to Town." Dinner was served by the Legion Auxiliary.

Immediately after the annual meeting, the newly elected directors met to organize. Van Dornen was re-elected chairman; Frank Meyer, first vice chairman; Wendell Miles, second vice chairman; Mrs. Ray Fehring, secretary; William De Long, treasurer. Three members, Mrs. H. Zierley of Spring Lake, Jack Thoma of Grand Haven and Harold Klassen of Holland, were elected to the executive committee.

There were no "conducted tours" as such, but visitors were free to ramble about the huge place as they pleased. Receptionists at all points were happy to explain the use of the rooms.

Music was included in the general program in a delightful informal way. At times, choir groups provided music in the choir room. At other times, there was organ music in the sanctuary. Records provided music in the ladies' parlor and fellowship hall where attractive tea tables were set up.

The open house was part of a week-long dedication which started Sunday with the dedication of the historic chancel furnishings. Formal dedication services for the new building will be held tonight at 8 p.m. with the Rev. William Van't Hof of Detroit, former Third church pastor, giving the address. The minister, the Rev. Christian H. Walvoord, will preside.

Hope Gridders Honored At Alumni Club Dinner

The Hope College Varsity Alumni club paid tribute Tuesday night to the 1952 Hope college football team that wound up in second place in final MIAA standings.

The old grad letterwinners, in an annual affair, sponsored the steak dinner held at Hope's Duffee hall, with about 175 college players and faculty members, club members and high school coaches and seniors from this section of the state on hand.

Two important team announcements were made at the meeting. Center John Newton, a four-year varsity performer from Traverse City, was selected as the most valuable player on the Hope team. Newton received the James Den Herder award presented annually to Hope's most valuable performer.

In addition, Newton will enter consideration for the league's most valuable player citation, the winner receiving Randall C. Bosch MIAA award. In this competition, one player is selected from each of the six MIAA schools, and opposing players vote on the league's most valuable. So far, no other school has announced its individual choice.

Newton, who played both offense and defense during the past year, is the first lineman to be so honored at Hope in the past few years. Former winners included Ron Schipper in 1951, Tom Van Wingen in 1950, and Nick Yonker in 1949—all backfield men.

Co-captains for the 1953 team also were picked by team members. Chosen to lead the Dutch next season were halfback Don Piersma from Holland and tackle Jim Van Hoeven from Grand Rapids.

Piersma has completed his second year of varsity competition, while Van Hoeven will be playing for the fourth year next season. Both co-captains are juniors, and both were selected to all-MIAA honors last season. Present captain is tackle Lloyd Beekman of Grand Haven.

In all, 40 players were honored by Hope Tuesday night. Winners of varsity letters were John Adams, Ken Bauman, Lloyd Beekman, Paul Bos, John Brannock, Bob De Young, John Fisher, John Hamilton, William Heydorn, Bob Hoeksema, John Hollander, Don Howard, Dave Kempker, John Newton, Herman Nienhuis, Don Piersma, Don Prentice, Bob Prins, Bob Schriener, Ed Stapert, Frank Talarico, Paul Vander Meer, Don Vander Toll, Donald Van Hoeven, James Van Hoeven, Donald York, Joe Ypma and Donald Miller as senior manager and John Kenwell as junior manager.

Winners of freshmen numerals were Ronald Barkel, Donald Broekstra, Ronald De Graw, Carlton Falor, Thomas Moore, Frank Schroeder, Richard Schultz, and Richard Ter Avest.

Other players who finished out the season were Ron Kaper, Don Maxam, Eugene Oudekerk, Paul Van Eck and Henry Van Houten. Players and coaches were present from 20 different high schools from throughout Western Michigan. Those schools represented included Holland, Zeeland, Hudsonville, Coopersville, Grand Haven, Allegan, South Haven, Grand Rapids South, Saranac, Godwin Heights, Kelloggsville, Byron Center, Ottawa Hills, Kalamazoo State High, Kalamazoo Central, Comstock Park, Grand Rapids Central, Grandville, Greenville and Wyoming Park.

Allegan Residents May Force Action To Curb Fatalities

Supervisors Again Are Urged to Provide Funds For Highway Patrols

ALLEGAN (Special) — Public opinion appeared to be settling on the Allegan county Board of Supervisors as "the goat" as residents cast about for a way to "do something" about the county's tragic death toll on the highways.

With 25 fatalities on record so far this year (compared with 28 in 1951) insurance companies were giving the county an uneasy look and the local press was asked to support plans to circulate petitions asking the supervisors to reconsider their frequent refusals to grant funds for a sheriff's department highway patrol.

Sheriff L. A. Johnson has been asking for aid in financing such a patrol for the last five years. The most recent refusal came at the October session when both Johnson and State Rep. Ben E. Lohman appeared to plead for the patrol.

Before last Friday's triple fatality near Moline, a representative of the Western Adjustment Bureau which handles settlements for many major auto insurance firms in the county, visited Allegan in an attempt to learn if there was a solution to the problem.

He said the county's death and accident toll was "definitely not in ratio" with those in other counties. It was indicated that higher insurance rates would result if the trend is not halted. He recalled that in one Texas county insurance companies stopped writing policies entirely when the accident rate soared.

At the request of the adjustment bureau, a local newspaper has prepared an analysis of fatal traffic accidents in the county this year.

The 25 fatalities resulted from 14 accidents, according to the newspaper's analysis. Five were killed in one mishap, three in another and two died as a result of two others. Ten died (10 pedestrians) in accidents on US-31 which crosses the county from south to north on the west side; four were killed in accidents on US-131, the north-south highway on the east side, and three died on M-40, between Allegan and Holland.

Speeding was involved in all but two of the accidents in which there were fatalities. The exceptions were blamed on drivers who were believed to have suffered heart attacks just before the accidents. In the two accidents blamed on heart attacks, four were killed. Drunkenness was a contributing factor in accidents in which 12 died. In these mishaps, speed and drinking combined to cause death on the highway.

Sleeping drivers — in two cases drowsy because of overindulgence — were blamed for nine fatalities. Four died in accidents caused by open, unmarked intersections or poor vision on township roads. Two serious accidents resulted from failure to cut brush along highways.

One death resulted from mechanical failure of steering apparatus.

Two pedestrians died because they failed to watch for traffic. One was a seven-year-old boy, another a 76-year-old man.

Arrests resulted in two accidents in which there were fatalities, but in three other cases drivers subject to arrests were killed. In two cases, the driver at fault had no operator's license. One had lost his license for physical reasons, the other had been revoked for a record of traffic violations.

Fridays between 6 and 9:30 p.m. seemed to be the most hazardous time on county highways.

Ten of the fatalities occurred on Fridays, four on Saturdays and nine on Sundays. Thursday and Monday had one each.

He was stricken on Nov. 13 and admitted to the hospital on Nov. 17. Although there is no report as to the involvement, his condition is reported as fair.

This year's co-captains were guard Jerry Victor and halfback Carl Vischer.

Allendale Pupils Given TB Tests

Tuberculin tests were given Tuesday to ninth graders in Allendale Christian school in keeping with a program conducted by the Ottawa County Health department in which ninth and 11 grade students are given TB tests at various times.

Miss Elaine Abbott of the Michigan Tuberculosis association talked to the Allendale group on the importance of 100 per cent participation in the tuberculosis test program.

Although the fact that tuberculosis is caused by a germ was proved by Robert Koch 70 years ago, tuberculosis still takes more lives than all other communicable diseases combined. These tests are conducted periodically to detect cases early when they are less costly to treat and before the disease can be spread to others.

In the school testing programs, the state health department provides the tuberculin and the county department administers the test free of charge. The Christmas seal agency provides educational programs and materials and the schools arrange for both educational and testing places.

The ninth and 11th grade students in Holland public schools already have been tested for TB.

Dutch Are Second Place in Final MIAA Standings

Hope college's football team wound up its season Saturday afternoon with a 20-6 victory over Adrian before only a handful of fans at Riverview park.

The victory gave Coach Al Vandebush's crew a record of four wins and one loss in MIAA competition, and handed Hope second place behind champion Albion. The Britons made sure of their crown Saturday with a 59-7 lacing of Kalamazoo, giving them a 5-0 mark.

Hope scored one touchdown in the second quarter, and Adrian came back for its only tally in the same period. Two more touchdowns in the fourth period, clinched the victory for the home club.

A fumble recovery by Capt. Lloyd Beekman gave Hope the ball on the Adrian 18 and resulted in the first Dutch marker after two minutes were played in the second period. Scoring play was a six-yard pass from Dave Kemper to Ken Bauman in the end zone, and Bob Prins kicked the point. The scoring pass came on fourth down with six to go after a penalty and incomplete pass had made the Dutch worry for a while.

The Adrian touchdown came late in the same period, and was set up when back Clarence Hawkins for the Bulldogs intercepted a backfield lateral from John Adams to Dave Kemper and carried the ball to midfield. Running from the split-T, the Bulldogs moved down to the Hope 27, where they were stalled for no gain in two downs. Then Adrian called on the spread formation, and quarterback Jim Niebauer faded to the right and whipped a long aerial to end Bob Ohman who stepped into the end zone for the score. Jim Van Hoven broke through to block the Adrian kick for the point and Hope led 7-6 at the half.

A short Adrian punt that traveled only 15 yards from scrimmage helped to score the second Hope touchdown after Adrian failed to click on spread passes late in the third stanza.

Hope took over on its own 45 at the end of the quarter, and Frank Talarico and Kemper carried down to the Adrian 31. Then Kemper threw a pass to end Paul Bos who was spilled on the five for a 26-yard gain. Adams swept wide around left end for the final five yards and the score, and Prins' boot was wide to make the score 13-6.

The marker that really clinched the victory came late in the fourth period. Defensive halfback Joe Ypma intercepted a Niebauer pass on the Hope 45 and raced 55 yards down the sidelines to score. The point after touchdown was added by Beekman on conversion and Hope led 20-6.

Two more pass interceptions held the Bulldogs at bay the rest of the way. The Adrian attack was contained most of the way by a defensive platoon that worked well for the Dutchmen. Adrian never threatened seriously outside of its touchdown surge.

One Bulldog attempt in the first part of the third quarter was halted just inches short of a first down on the Hope 28-yard line. Score at this point was only 7-6 for Hope, and if the Bulldogs had carried it may have been a different story.

Hope, on the other hand, had at least seven different touchdown intentions thwarted for various reasons in Adrian territory. Three times the Dutch were stopped on interceptions, twice on fumbles, once on a good Adrian stand and again by the clock at halftime.

The game-time was the last for five Hope seniors—four of whom saw action. Capt. Lloyd Beekman, Don Howard, Ken Bauman and John Newton graduate as well as Don Prentice, who has been sidelined because of injuries much of the season.

Hope used 35 players all who were in uniform in the final contest of the year.

Fumes Overcome Two Aboard Boat At Spring Lake — GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Two persons were overcome by fumes aboard a 65-foot sailboat Saturday which was tied up at Barrett Boat Works in Spring Lake for the winter.

Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Wright, 27, of Greenville, and Robert Edward Kettner, 42, of Grand Rapids, were victims. They were taken to Municipal hospital in Grand Haven after being found unconscious aboard the craft. Mrs. Wright regained consciousness shortly before being admitted and Kettner shortly afterward. Both were released Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright came to Spring Lake earlier Saturday evening and along with Kettner, were aboard the boat. Mrs. Kettner was to join the group Sunday. The two families are long-time friends.

Wright had gone to town for some refreshments and when he returned about a half-hour later found his wife and Kettner on the cabin floor, both unconscious. He summoned Robert White, Spring Lake police officer, and with the help of Grand Haven police they got the two victims out on the deck. They were immediately taken to Municipal hospital.

It has not been determined what caused the fumes. Wright told officers that he felt nauseated when he left the boat and said "the fresh air sure felt good" although he was not aware of anything wrong.

It is believed fumes may have escaped from the sewer underneath the boat, from a galley range in which coal and wood were burning, or from a gasoline generator, which was running at the time.

It was reported that the port-holes on the boat usually are open, but were closed Saturday.

Kettner is employed by Murray Engineering Co. of Grand Rapids.

White lauded the ambulance drivers for their quick work in getting to the scene and hurrying the victims to the hospital for treatment.

William Ver Duin, died early Sunday morning in her home at 928 Washington St. after an illness of several years. Mrs. Ver Duin was born in Grand Haven Oct. 7, 1874, and was married May 27, 1896. She was an active member of Second Christian Reformed church, the Ladies Aid societies of the church and the school, and the WCTU.

Ver Duin of Grand Haven and Cornelius Ver Duin of Detroit; four daughters, Mrs. Jesene Koelman of Grand Haven, Mrs. Evan Van Lopik, Mrs. Elmer Roossien, Grand Rapids and Mrs. Percy Ziegler of Muskegon Heights; four sisters, Mrs. William Poel and Mrs. Sherman Clark of Grand Haven, Mrs. Sidney Bos and Mrs. Dick London of Grand Rapids; 14 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mrs. Brown Is Speaker At Philathea Meeting — The Philathea class of First Methodist church met Friday evening in the social rooms of the church. Mrs. Edwin Sharland and her committee served a chop suey supper.

Miss Claribel Wright was in charge of devotions and Miss Norma Houtman accompanied by Mrs. Peter Houtman, played a violin solo, "Adoration," by Borowski.

Highlight of the program was a talk by Mrs. Donald Brown. Her topic was "Touring Europe in a Station Wagon." She told of amusing incidents and accidents that occur when taking a family of five children on a trip through foreign lands. Dr. and Mrs. Brown and family toured Europe last summer.

Abraham Nederveld, 80, Dies in Grand Haven — GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Abraham Nederveld, 80, of 315 Columbus St., died at 2 p.m. Thursday in Municipal hospital. He had been ill for six months and seriously so for the past three weeks when he was admitted to the hospital.

He was born in Grand Haven Aug. 30, 1872 and left for Chicago in 1910, returned to Grand Haven about eight years ago. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Evert (Ed) Nederveld. He was formerly employed at the Passow Furniture Manufacturers in Chicago for several years.

WHO HEADS

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY?

President Truman has thrown out a hint to Adlai Stevenson that he should in future be regarded as head of the Democratic party.
Stevenson, while not declining, has not definitely accepted the role. So far he has made no "definitive decision."

The issue will probably be resolved before January 20, the date when the Democrats leave the controls, and until that time Truman can be regarded as head of the party. But who will take over as a permanent head?

If Stevenson should step into the background out of which he came to make the battle for the presidency, the post will go to the president almost by default. But such a development would be hard on the party. Truman is after all a badly discredited statesman. The defeat of Stevenson was far less a reputation of the Illinois governor than it was a slap at the president. Truman's prestige within his own party is at an all-time low.

From the point of view of the country rather than from that of the party, it would be disastrous to continue the leadership of the man who has lost the allegiance of much of the rank and file of his own party. A vigorous, belligerent Democratic party is good for America. That party is now in the minority, but it would be bad for the country if the minority party should be characterized by a lack of wholesome vigor.

The head of the Democratic party will be a symbol of the character of that party. It would seem that Adlai Stevenson is in a much better position to represent the rank and file of his party than a worse than lame-duck ex-president. Even his political enemies agreed during the campaign that Stevenson was personally high-grade; they felt that he was operating on a higher level than the man who happened to be in the White House and who had fixed himself on the Stevenson back.

The irrepressible Truman could not be shaken off during the campaign, but after January 20 he can be eased into private life and into innocuous desuetude, to use a phrase coined by Grover Cleveland, a real Democrat and a great man. It will have to be done if the party is to take its proper place as a vigorous opposition force to the Republicans. And for the sake of the Republicans themselves it should become such a force. America needs two political parties that are somewhat in balance. That calls for vigorous leadership in both parties.

Jesus' Thanksgiving and Ours—
Matthew 11:2-6, 25-30
By Henry Geerlings

This lesson is designed to be in keeping with the season of the year, our annual Thanksgiving Day. It is but right and proper that we should both privately and publicly, think of our blessings and acknowledge our indebtedness to God and give Him thanks for the same. The thanks which Christ expressed in our Scripture lesson was not for national or temporal blessings. It was for God's perfect ways in revealing Himself to such as trust and follow Him.

John the Baptist was not the only person whose opinion about the kingdom program and the Messiah had to be revised after Jesus' ministry opened. There were potential disciples of Jesus, like the rich young ruler, who failed to find in Him the things which they had been taught were essential in the life of a believer. We may be sure there were a great many people who had eagerly awaited the Messiah's advent but who did not see the picture materialized in the life of Jesus.

At least one of the gospel accounts gives the impression that disciples left in droves when they saw that the spectacular leader whom they hoped would deliver them from the Roman yoke had refused to be an earthly king.
This record further implies that even the loyal inner circle, who believed in Him because He spoke the words of eternal life, were nonetheless mystified at the things which He said and did.

One of the first conclusions that a New Testament reader reaches is that in both the intellectual and religious field Jesus was so far ahead of His time as to arouse resentment. If he had been like some leaders, He would have tempered His message. But in curing the ills of life, Jesus took the position that a modern physician takes in curing the ills
of the body; that the remedy, to be effective, must be based upon an honest appraisal of the disease. He found people who believed themselves to be examples of spiritual well being, but who in reality harbored shocking moral malnancies in their hearts. In this class were the scribes and pharisees, who took violent exception to the Great Physician's diagnosis of their needs.

John had indeed a clear understanding of the person of our Lord and of His manifold ministry. He proclaimed Him, not only the Messiah king but the Lamb of God which takes away the sin of the world. But so far Christ had not yet revealed that He would die on the cross. Nor was the kingdom in mystery form revealed yet.
John, like all the other believers at that time, believed that with the coming of Christ the kingdom would immediately appear.

He had been in prison now for some time and so far nothing about the appearance of the kingdom had been related to him. He was a man of like passions as we are. He was like his great prototype Elijah, who had stood alone
before all Israel, and then had fled and sat under a tree, requesting that he should die. For a time he was overcome with doubt and discouragement, and wavered.

Jesus sensed the situation and understood John's quandary. For one thing He understood what effect the idleness and tedium of prison life would have to the mind of a restless prophet. Free from the vigorous activity of his preaching duties, the forerunner of a spiritual focus. His mind undoubtedly drifted from essentials to nonessentials, from the service which the Messiah was going to perform to the way in which He was to perform it.

The answer, therefore, that Jesus sent back to John was calculated to restore certainty in his mind and to make the bleak prison environment glow with the radiance of heaven. Jesus did not answer any moot questions. Indeed,
He did not answer John directly.
He merely told the messengers to call to John's attention the things he already knew, that the ministry of Jesus was true to the spirit of human service and to the passion for saving the lost that ran like a golden cord through the entire Old Testament.

Allegan (Special)—County and state detectives are checking on the most recent in a long series of robberies at the farmers' co-operatives at Dorr and Burnips.

The Burnips co-op lost between $1,500 and $2,000 in a robbery early Monday morning while approximately $25 was stolen from the cash register at the Dorr Co-op during the same period. Both feed mills are operated by the same organization.

At Burnips, thieves entered through a large door which was opened by bending the bottom braces. They rifled the safe, but bookkeepers were still checking late Monday to determine how much was missing.

At Dorr a basement window was broken to gain entrance. Officials of the firm said it was the eighth time in recent years that the two co-operatives have been victimized. They said most of the loss was covered by insurance.

County Deputy Robert Whitcomb and State Detective William Menzies, of the Paw Paw post, are checking on the robberies.

VOLLEYS FROM AMBUSH

Have you heard the prize hunting story that's making the rounds these days?

It concerns Ben Zuverink who as an employee at the local rendering works is occasionally called to shoot an aged or infirm horse or cow.

Such a call came in a few weeks ago and Ben arranged with the farmer to destroy a certain horse. The next day he went hunting with some of his cronies and somehow meandered the party to the designated farm.

When he spotted the old horse he said casually, "I wonder if I can hit that horse," and blasted away.

His shocked companions, suddenly afraid Ben had gone berserk, ran for cover.

They all enjoyed a good laugh afterwards.

The Rev. John den Ouden's sermons in Zeeland seem to be something for the birds these days.

Last Sunday, a sparrow made an unexpected appearance at the evening service. It really flittered around during the song service, but when the dominie got up to talk, the sparrow settled down to listen.

The election is over, and except for possibilities of a recount, a great and wonderful calm has settled on most of the state. Even The Sentinel force has recovered from a rough all-day, all-night, all-day siege which in addition to compiling a complicated election chart for Ottawa county also involved the first election extra in several years.

If it hadn't been for those voting machines and a prompt accounting of totals, we'd never have been able to get a complete election table into that early edition.

As it was—and we're still taking bows for it—the figures The Sentinel carried for governor in that early edition were the same totals that the county board of canvassers arrived at after 4½ days of work after the election. Two years ago, the Sentinel also hit it square on the nose in the close Williams-Kelly vote. We can't hope to stretch that luck forever.

Lots of people liked the special edition with its big headline, "Eisenhower Wins." The boys in the composing room dusted off the biggest type The Sentinel had.

Rev. John Beebe, route 5, called particularly to say he appreciated the extra. Thank.

Dan Vander Werf, who was pressed into service on the election board at the sixth ward after long lines indicated there would be little respite for workers, had some novel experiences while doing that work.

He arrived at 11 a.m. and relieved one worker who was going out to lunch. When she returned, he moved up the line for the next worker to go out to lunch. On and on it went until he reached the end of the line at 3:30 p.m. Then it was time to start all over again for the second meal.

The Holland Elks pulled a new stunt at their Halloween party a couple of weeks ago. There was no admission to the masquerade party, but anyone not in costume was assessed $1.

Wotals we hear about a girl from the BPW office getting into an embarrassing situation about her operator's license. When said applicant went to police headquarters for her operator's license, she hooked her bumper around a tree, and had to have the police get her out of that jam.

Said the BPW Pow Wow a week or so later: Attention to all alert drivers: Keep off the main streets of Holland this afternoon. Marnie is taking her driver's license test.

Tulip Time is just six months away.

Some people never forget that. Perhaps the most conscientious is Harold J. Karsten who bosses the big band reviews. He already has received applications for the event from two bands in the state.

The Chamber of Commerce needs some help. Maybe you know the answers. It concerns a letter from Minneapolis, Minn., which reads:

"Some years ago in Chicago I heard a girl about 16 years of age who had always lived in your city and who was visiting friends ask: 'Is beefsteak as good as muskrat?' as she evidently had not tasted beefsteak at home and these friends were having it for dinner."

"The lake on which I have a cottage has a large number of muskrats in it and I was wondering if you could pass this letter on to some church group or lady who could furnish me with one or more recipes for preparing these animals."

Anybody who knows how to prepare muskrats should contact the Chamber of Commerce or drop the Ambusher a line.

William Vander Heide, route 4, has found an old booklet dating back several decades (we can't find a date on it) but it has a lot of sketches of outlandish styles and an outfit for a little boy with skirts. That must date at least back to the time of "Life With Father."

In addition to sketches of hand-drawn costumes, the book also

These two scenes were snapped Friday night as Grand Haven defeated Holland 24-14 in high school football activity for the year. At left, Holland's Terry Burns is brought down after a 10-yard gain by Grand Haven's Clare Ver Berkmoes. Burns' gain was the result of quick thinking, when he dropped the ball on a handoff then picked it up to streak for the 10-yard gain. At right, Holland's Carl Viescher loses the ball just after catching a pass from Paul Mack in the third period. But Viescher scrambled around to recover the fumble. (Sentinel photo) contained music (no copyright date), stories, poetry, book reviews, plus hints on gardening, health and recipes.

Laff for the day:

There's the story of the couple who furnished a 12-room house with premiums redeemed for soap coupons. They showed a friend around, proudly commenting on how many coupons each chair, table or carpet "cost." At the end of the tour the visitor said, "But you've shown me only five of the 12 rooms—what about the other seven?"

"Oh, those," shrugged the householder. "That's where we keep the soap."

Rozeboom-Bontekoe Vows Spoken

Mr. and Mrs. James Rozeboom (Van Iwaarden photo)

The Eten House was the scene of a wedding Thursday, Nov. 6, when Miss Mary Lynn Bontekoe and James Rozeboom were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. William Haverkamp.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bontekoe, 318 Central Ave., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Marinus Rozeboom, route 6.

Wedding vows were spoken by candlelight before a background of palms, ferns and large baskets of white and pink pompons and anapdragons.

Wedding marches were played by Miss Suzanne Haverkamp. Bernard Sharp, soloist sang "Because" during the ceremony and "I Love You Truly," at the reception.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white velvety-embossed organza, styled with a sheer nylon yoke, basque fitted bodice and cape sleeves. The full bouffant scalloped skirt was accented with a wide organza ruffle. Her fingertip veil of imported bridal illusion was held in place with a lacy sweetheart shaped bonnet trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of white pompons and snapdragons, with white satin streamers to which flowers and trailing ivy were attached.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Alfred Driesenga, sister of the bride, wore a gown of pink chiffon, with sweetheart neckline and trimmed with little velvet bows. She carried a colonial bouquet of white pompons and pink roses and wore a cluster of flowers in her hair. Miss Dorothy Rozeboom, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, was attired in a gown of blue taffeta with a sheer nylon yoke and fitted bodice. Her bouquet consisted of white pompons and Hibbard roses. Matching flowers were worn in her hair.

Little Larry Kleinheksel was ringbearer. He wore a white suit and carried the rings on a white Grandstanding...

by Dick Milliman

Football, as played at River-view park Friday night between Holland and Grand Haven, was a game of inches instead of yards, according to Dutch Coach Dale Shearer.

Coach Shearer pointed out that the turning point against the Dutch was on the first play of the fourth quarter. Holland was ahead at the time 14-12, and the Dutch had fourth down and three to go on the Grand Haven 13. Paul Mack hit the line, but was stopped just three inches short of a first down, and Grand Haven took over. From there the Bucs marched 91 yards to score, and followed this with another 62-yard march into payoff.

But Coach Shearer figures that if Holland had made that first down, the next logical step would have been a touchdown. At any rate, Grand Haven seemed to take renewed strength from the fact they had stopped the Dutch drive.

"We just didn't have the punch Friday night," Shearer commented, pointing to three separate Holland drives that were thwarted. Grand Haven, on the other hand, seemed to be playing inspired ball. The Bucs hit especially hard in the first half and in the final period, and there was little doubt as to the better team on the field Friday night.

Carl Viescher was involved in a couple of freak pass plays in the third period. One was a 45-yard completed pass from Mack to Visscher, but one of the Holland ends must get an assist.

Mack threw from his own 25 and the ball bounced out of the Holland end's hands on the Grand Haven 45. But Viescher was there to grab the pigskin before it hit the ground and he legged to the 30.

In the same drive, Terry Burns hit Visscher with a seven-yard pass on the Grand Haven 13. But a determined Buc tackler smeared Visscher and he dropped the ball. Instead of grabbing for the loose ball, the tackler held on to Visscher, who had to squirm over him to pick up the ball and recover his own fumble.

Fourteen players closed out their high school careers for Holland high Friday night.

Led by Co-Capt. Carl Visscher and Jerry Victor—who played stellar ball all evening, especially on defense—the list of seniors includes Terry Burns, Jack Kemper, Ron Boeve, Dave Bos, Ken Lubbers, Ed Raak, Tom De Pree, Roger Kolean, Roger Israels, Warren Klievit and Len Rowell. In addition, Paul Dozeman will be ineligible next year because of age.

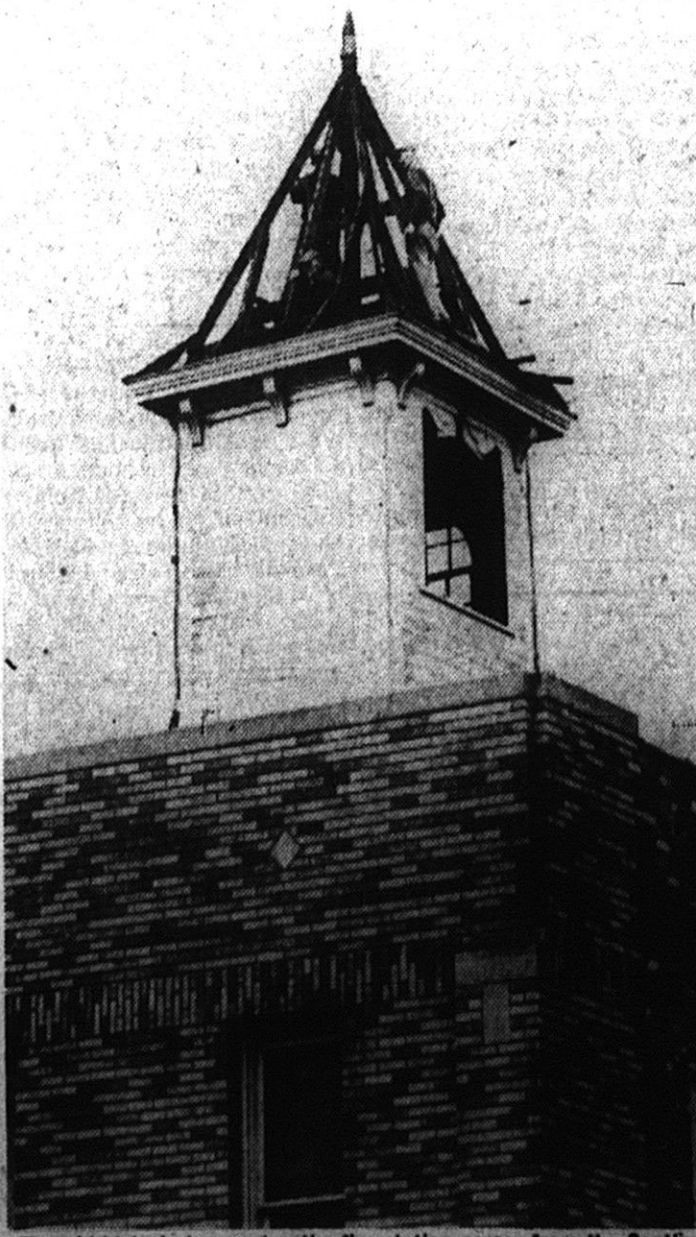

Homecoming Queen Jo Fisher and her court — Mary Sanger, Norma Harbin, Geri Skorske and Phyllis Brink—were driven onto the field in a shiny red convertible to take seats of honor at the game.

The Holland high band received a good hand for its halftime salute to members of the armed forces.

The estimated 6,000 fans present represented the largest home crowd of the season for Holland.

The game completed the first season at Holland for Coach Shearer with five wins, three losses and one tie. Grand Haven ended with six wins, three losses.

The old historic tower atop the fire station across from the Sentinel office now is a thing of the past. Employees of the street department were busy Friday and Saturday tearing down the old structure whose functional value was removed about eight years ago when new slanting racks for drying hoses were installed on the main floor. Otherwise, for years, wet hoses were pulled to the top of the tower to dry before they could be stored. Racks now in use have steam heat underneath to hasten the drying, particularly during the winter. Fire station No. 1 on East Eighth St. still uses the tower method of drying hoses. Its tower, however, is brick and not likely to disintegrate. (Sentinel photo)

Starting Crew Selected For Christian's Opener

Maroons Unwrap Basketball Year Thursday Night

Capt. Art Tuls of the Holland Christian basketball squad named a starting lineup today and ordered only light workouts this afternoon in preparation for the season opener Thursday night at Muskegon Christian. The contest scheduled to get underway at 8 p.m., will be played in the large Central Campus gymnasium, the home of the Muskegon Big Reds.

Following a lengthy workout at the Armory Tuesday, Tuls named a starting five, consisting of three seniors and two juniors. The three seniors, all regulars from last year's club, are Merle Van Dyke, Dave Schreuer and Earl Schipper. The two juniors are Ken Scholten and Ron Nykamp. Scholten saw considerable action with the varsity last season, while Nykamp is up from the second team.

By position, the lineup will have Scholten at center, Schipper and Nykamp at the forwards and Van Dyke and Schreuer at the guards. This lineup will give Tuls a five averaging 6'2" or more in the height department. Van Dyke is the only starter who does not hit the 6' mark. Tuls commented that reserves Rich Sharda, a forward, and Paul Vander Leek, a guard, should see plenty of action.

The Maroon mentor wasn't making any predictions concerning the merits of this year's outfit, but only said he was anxious for the first contest. He feels that one of the things that may hamper this early in the year is a lack of practice on a good sized court. He has switched the attack somewhat this season and feels that the boys may have to have some time to find themselves in the new setup.

He said the club certainly isn't smooth as yet, but expects that a couple of games should find his boys holding their own. Although there is plenty of height on the squad, Tuls mentioned that the boys aren't utilizing it to the fullest extent as yet. One of the biggest problems appears to be the defense. He says the club needs a lot of work in this department before he'll be satisfied.

Muskegon Christian is an unknown quantity this season, but if past games are any indication, Thursday's tilt should be a close affair. Coached by Elmer Walcott, a Holland Christian graduate, the Vikings always give the Dutch trouble. Last year the two clubs split in two closely played affairs. Walcott has several boys returning from last season to form the nucleus for the 1952 edition.

Taking care of a bit of business before the season gets underway, the local squad named Earl Schipper and Dave Schreuer as co-captains for the coming season. Both boys have played varsity ball for two seasons.

The Holland Christian reserve squad, under the direction of John Ham, will also make its debut against the Muskegon reserves in a preliminary contest.

Guy Vander Jagt Speaks At Exchange Club Meet

Guy Vander Jagt, Holland's Community Ambassador to Europe last summer, recounted some of his experiences for members of Holland Exchange club at their meeting Monday at the Warm Friend Tavern. He summed up lessons he had learned in the "experience in international living."

Among his "lessons," he emphasized a deeper appreciation of America, deeper feeling of the tragedy of war, realization that the idealism of youth must be tempered somewhat by the cold facts of reality, and that the brotherhood of man can be achieved, but only after "the mud of prejudice and national differences has been scraped away and one can find the real soul of man at the center."

Preceding the program, Dick Schutt and Art Sas explained their Airplane club exhibit and commented on the value of hobby clubs to the boys and girls of this area. President Bill Aldrich was in charge of the meeting.

Grandstanding...

By Dick Millman

Hope college has wound up what Coach Al Vanderbush calls "an interesting" season.

"This isn't one of those years where you have a sign of relief that it's over," Vanderbush said. "It has been an interesting year." Who could have predicted, Vanderbush asks, that the starting Hope backfield Saturday would have what it was after last year's final game? Then Hope had three out of four backs returning; Saturday, none of those three played much.

Hope should have four backs returning next year; but who can tell, Vanderbush asks.

The Hope coach was well impressed with the Adrian team. "They are a well-coached outfit and they didn't fold as some teams do," Vanderbush said. "They kept trying all the way."

Vanderbush also pointed out that Hope seemed to lack scoring punch when they were in scoring position.

Capt. Lloyd Beckman was undoubtedly the happiest man on the field Saturday when his kick for point after touchdown was good. Beckman's boot was a little weak and off to one side, but still it sailed through to give a lineman the thrill of scoring a point. And the Dutch captain gave way to a couple of jumps for joy right about then.

In Russ McGinnis and Ron Tuck, Adrian has two of the best linemen seen around here this year. McGinnis is an all-state freshman from Benton Harbor, and Tuck is a junior from Detroit. Both played well against the Dutch.

The field at Riverview park Saturday was in the worst condition in our memory of the last three years. The general dry condition, plus the fact that games were played there Friday afternoon and evening, made the gridiron a miniature dust bowl. It was bad enough at the high school game Friday, but worse yet Saturday afternoon.

And Adrian's white uniforms certainly didn't stay white long. In the second half, it was almost impossible to read the numbers of two-way players.

Adrian presented a better team than last year, and loaded with youngsters may cause trouble in the coming year. Of 35 men listed in the roster, 24 are freshmen and five more sophomores.

The spread formation that caused Hope such worry in pregame practices was not too effective for the Bulldogs. But it was more effective than the alternate split-T offense. Hope's spread defense was to rush the passer as much as possible, and as a result most of the Adrian passes were wobbly and weak.

Mayor Wants Paving Petitions In Early

Mayor Harry Harrington urged local councilmen at Wednesday's meeting to consult their constituents and have all their paving requests in by the first meeting in December. That meeting is Dec. 3.

The mayor pointed out that the city saved considerable money this year by having an early start on the paving program. Work was completed earlier than usual in the program that ran up toward the $200,000 mark. The $114,000 mentioned in the bond program which council adopted Wednesday night includes nine of the 10 payments for persons paying on a time basis, and does not include those assessments for which people paid cash and did not include the intersections which the city pays from the gas and weight tax returns.

The mayor also told the aldermen all were invited to a party given by the Michigan Coloprovia Co. Saturday, Dec. 6, at the Mocha room in Pantlind hotel in Grand Rapids.

The Ninth grade class of Holland Junior high school has chosen as its annual play the comedy, "Turn Back the Clock." The play will be given Dec. 4 and 5 in the Holland high auditorium.

Muskegon Official Speaks at Rotary

Secretary of the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce John Beukema spoke at the luncheon meeting of the Holland Rotary club in the Warm Friend Tavern Thursday.

Beukema who has served as secretary for the past 31 years, told about Muskegon's "Salute to Industry." The program was developed with the purpose of meeting the problem created by the large influx of migrants to the Muskegon area, he said.

The problem is one of assimilating a heterogeneous population into a group of people interested in community affairs. "Few of the newcomers speak of Muskegon as home; yet these people, most of whom are not actively interested in the affairs and problems of the community, vote on issues which vitally affect the Muskegon area," Beukema said.

"The 'Salute to Industry' is the first step to try to make a newcomer feel at home," the speaker said. The program was designed to include all groups, the established firms as well as the new, he said. He described several features of the event, a parade, dinner for management given by labor and school discussions in civics classes. He discussed results and success in achieving integration of new residents into community affairs.

Visiting Rotarians were A. Davis of Saugatuck, Guy Kleis of Pittsburgh and Al Van Zoeren of Kalamazoo.

Going deer hunting is a simple matter for Casey Tubergen of Waukazoo this year. Casey loaded up his bus with equipment and took off Tuesday morning along with his wife. The former school bus, converted into a camp on wheels, now is parked west of Munising where Casey and the Missus are waiting for opening day Saturday. Casey bought the bus—formerly operated by the public school system for crippled children—and has been working on it since last spring. The bus now sleeps four, has gas for heat, light and cooking. It includes a nifty table and chair set, sink and ice box. Casey has christened the new rig "The Shrimp Boat." He'll use the rack on top to transport any deer. Bottom photo shows an interior shot of the former bus. (Sentinel photo)

Young Polio Patient Has 'Birthday to Remember'

FENNVILLE (Special) — Jacqueline Steenberg had a birthday party Thursday afternoon that she no doubt will never forget.
