Eight-Man Crew Was Reduced To Three Tuesday

The Holland Coast Guard station was placed on a "caretaker" status at midnight Tuesday until April 1.

Along with the semi-active status the station compliment was reduced from eight to three men. Remaining at the station are Chief Raymond Chapman, Engineer First Class Ed Feddick and Bosun Mate Second class Paul Claus.

Reasons for the action ranged from shortage of men and dollars resulting from a cut in appropriations and the bad physical condition of local Coast Guard building to the lack of need for the station during the winter months.

The Coast Guard Group office in Grand Haven declined to comment directly. It was learned that the Coast Guard felt that because the power boats are pulled out of the water and put on land for the winter the resulting condition of the station was of no further value.

The sole job of the remaining three men will be to act as caretakers of the buildings and maintain the lighthouse and buoys in Lake Macatawa as aids to navigation.

The tower watch, near the entrance to Lake Macatawa, will also shut down at midnight Tuesday. A Holland Coast Guard official said the telephones will still be connected but no one will be on special duty to answer incoming calls.

U.S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford said the present condition of the station is so bad that it will not be repaired or rebuilt on its present site.

Plans have been completed for the construction of a new station on the north side of Lake Macatawa as soon as the legal situation has been solved, Ford said.

Ford said the present station will not close completely until the new buildings have been erected.

In Grand Rapids, U. S. Attorney Wendell A. Miles said Monday that a U. S. marshal has served summons on more than 50 persons who own property at Ottawa Beach, pointing to a hearing in the near future which is a necessary step in the condemnation proceedings.

He explained that the property sought for the Coast Guard station is owned by the West Michigan Park Association, an organization in which most owners of property in the area have an interest. Originally, it was intended for park purposes but was never fully developed. For a time, the main building was used as a parking garage, later as a beer garden and still later as "The Big Top," popular eating spot. "The Big Top" burned down about four years ago.

The Coast Guard has attempted to obtain the property in question for a new station for many years. There has been considerable litigation in local courts throughout the years, and the case has twice been up to Supreme Court.

A spokesman for the Ninth Coast Guard district in Cleveland, Ohio, who declined use of his name, said the main reason for closing was the drastic cuts in money from the government for manpower and fuel for the boats.

He admitted the condition of the station had some bearing on it, but not much. The officer said the new station will house living quarters, galley and offices in an administration building. A finger pier will also be built.

Even with the construction of the new station it is believed the Holland station will go on semi-active status every winter hereafter. This year was the first time the life boat station had been put on an inactive status, according to long-time lake shore residents.

Along with Holland a number of other stations have been placed on similar status including Manitowish and Pentwater in Michigan, Wilmette in Illinois, and Kenosha in Wisconsin.

The Cleveland officer said the local station will still do what they can in case of emergency with their limited manpower but he emphasized the Coast Guard is not responsible to act as watch-dogs over ice fishermen.

He said it is an unusual situation but they do not have any authority to tell fishermen to remain off the ice.

An additional reason for the closing was because the power boats have to be put in storage. The present Coast Guard facilities for storage have been badly damaged by high water.

Reliable sources said the new station will not contain storage space for power boats.

Ottawa County Farmers' Union Raps Benson Plan

The Ottawa County Farmers' Union at a recent meeting adopted a resolution condemning the Benson Plan of reorganizing the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The resolution points out that the "democratically elected county PMA committeemen and the Soil Conservation Service committees have done splendid jobs in administering the PMA and soil conservation programs" in the past in Ottawa county.

The group gives its full support to similar resolutions adopted at the October meeting of the Ottawa county Board of Supervisors and the Ottawa County Soil Conservation committee and has instructed that a copy of the Farmers Union resolution be sent to the clerk of the Board of Supervisors and the Ottawa County Soil Conservation Committee.

The resolution cites the following flaws in the Benson reorganization plan:

"Whereas by placing a political appointed manager in every county PMA office in every state a political machine will be built up at the public expense that will reach every farmer in the nation and...

"Whereas the Benson plan of putting all farm programs under the Extension Service and having farm experts (under the guise of an educational program) set up long range plans for the individual farmer could mean that if a farmer did not choose to follow the expert's plan for his farm he would not be eligible to benefit from any federal farm program and would be deemed a poor risk in case he needed credit from his banker or supply merchant and...

"Whereas regional Soil Conservation offices have been abolished and instead 51 political appointed directors will be in charge of the program with only an engineer and soil scientist in each state, we believe this will endanger all the good work that has been done in increasing soil productivity controlling soil erosion, etc."

It was signed by Eugene Ten Brink, president, route 1, Hudsonville, and Jacob Morren, secretary, route 3, Zeeland.

Weak Defensive Ball for Dutch Marks Difference

A highly prized Alma College football team pulled the big surprise of the current MIAA grid season Saturday night by upsetting league champion Hope College 33-19 at Bahkile Field.

Coach Lloyd C. Eaton's crew evidently considered this contest worth the entire season, as the Scots carried him off the field following the game as if they had won the championship.

Alma took command right from the beginning and scored its first touchdown before two minutes had passed. The Scots received the kickoff and in a brilliant series of running plays marched all the way to the goal.

Hope was still of balance minutes later when Scot Halfback Marv Raab ran and passed the Alma squad right down the field. A pass climaxed the drive and Alma led 13-0.

Hope, paced by the accurate passing arm of Quarterback John Holmlund, fought its way back into the game on a long pass from Holmlund to Halfback Frank Talario covering 60 yards. Bud Prins' try for extra point was no good and the half ended with the Dutch trailing 13-6.

A fine series of plays after the start of the second half gave indication that Hope was going to play better ball in this period. They took the kick on their own 20 yard stripe and marched all the way to the Alma 45 in a few plays.

Here the drive stalled, and a fourth down gamble for first down failed as Alma took over and marched right down the field. Raab again counted the marker and the kick was good.

Still the Dutch seemed determined to fight it out, as they retaliated with a beautiful pass from Holmlund to Halfback John Adams. This one also covered three-quarters of the field.

Again for the rest of the quarter, and most of the remaining minutes of the game, it was all Alma. Faced by the running of Raab and Fullback Bruce DePue, they consistently picked up yards through a faltering Dutch defense.

Two more touchdowns, both by Raab, gave the Scots a commanding lead but coach Eaton chose to keep pouring it on.

Late in the game Alma was again threatening on passes, deep in the Dutch territory. But Hope Halfback Bob Hoeksema broke up their hopes with a pass interception and nice run back.

With only a minute remaining in the game Quarterback Holmlund opened up with one of the finest displays of passing seen in small college circles in a long time.

Alternating between Ends John Brannock and Jim Van Hoven, as well as the halfbacks, Holmlund marched the Dutch right down the field to the Alma one yard line.

Here, with just seconds remaining in the game, Fullback Dave Kempker plunged over for the final tally.

Major factor in the game was the difference in line play between the two schools. Hope, who has surprised everyone this year by the spirit and determination, was beaten to the punch consistently by the fighting Scots.

Hope was also forced to play without the services of ace guard Herm Nienhuis. From the first quarter on and linebacker Ed Stapert from the second quarter on. Both normally are a big part of their defense. Captain and End Jim Van Hoven was also injured, playing only less than half the contest. Fullback Dave Kempker saw the limited action, but Dave Kuyers did an excellent job in replacing him.

Unknown throughout the game was that Tackle John Hollander was playing with a bad head injury. Hollander was hit in the face by one of the Scot linemen who was playing with a plaster cast on his forearm.

He said he was all right and a check up showed all physical functions were okay. But following the game the big lineman toppled over and was taken to the Alma hospital. Spending the night under observation for a mild concussion he returned to Holland Sunday.

There were no excuses for the loss, and Hope Coach Al Vanderbush was the first to point out that "So many things were going wrong that I couldn't even start to work on them."

"Our line play was the poorest of the season, and our backs were playing lousy defensive ball," he added.

Coaches Ken Weller and Russ De Vette agreed that the big trouble was already having the championship sewn up.

Alma's squad was "higher than a kite" for this contest. And with runners like Raab and DePue they were just in a position to pull the upset.

The contest was the last of the season for Hope, giving them a record of seven wins and two losses. They are undisputed champions of the MIAA league, the first in the history of Hope College.

Alma Brocke, DePue, Hahn, Hamilton, Kring, Doyle, Pierson, Rieckley, Spain, Spencer, Stolz, Talcott, Voska, Wood, Carelton, Raab, Laskarides.

One is a T-shaped alley between 28th and 29th Sts. from Central to River Aves. and the other between 21st and 22nd Sts. from Ottawa to Cleveland Aves.

Planning consultant Scott Bagby outlined acre-zoning and the history of city development into outlying areas which make this type of zoning necessary for both the city and township areas.

Representatives from Park, Holland and Fillmore townships queried Bagby on various aspects of the regulations as pertaining to their special situations.

City Manager Harold C. McClintock suggested that the permanent zoning board members meet with the township boards at each of the following meetings:

Hollis S. Baker Advanced to Post Of Board Chairman

Frank Van Steenberg, vice president of Baker Furniture Inc., since 1933 has been elected president of the company to succeed Hollis S. Baker who is retiring as president to become chairman of the board, the company announced Friday. Baker has been company president since the death of his father, Siebe Baker, the founder, in 1925.

Hollis M. Baker, son of the former president, is the new executive vice president.

The management announced that there will be no change in the general policies of the company nor in the local management in the Holland plants. "In electing the new officers to the post of president and vice president it is being done to give recognition to the fact that these men have been in charge of the active management of the company for some years. Mr. Baker, Sr., does not contemplate retirement in the near future and will continue to give his attention to matters of general policy, finance, public relations and design."

The company was established in Allegan in 1890 by Siebe Baker who previously had been in the lumbering business in Hamilton where he had a saw mill and general store. First products were sash and doors and other wood-working requirements for builders. In 1893 the factory produced its first furniture, the combination bookcase which was then popular. Later it added buffets and china closets, all made in the golden oak of the era.

As the company developed its line was changed to include complete dining room suites. Then with the purchase of two other plants in Allegan, complete living room and bedroom furniture lines were added. In 1933 the company operations were moved to a single large plant in Holland. Three years ago the plant formerly occupied by the Lambert Co. containing about 350,000 square feet of floor area was purchased and put into operation for production of dining chairs and upholstered furniture. About 500 people are employed.

Last spring, the company moved its furniture museum to Holland from Grand Rapids.

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

If a club should be formed to select the "book of the year" instead of merely the "book of the month," I would vote for Charles A. Lindbergh's new volume, "The Spirit of St. Louis." I have read no book published in 1953 that comes near to matching this one in sheer interest.

The wonder is all the greater because Lindbergh does not claim to be a writer. As an aviator he has few peers, but he modestly disclaims any skill as an author. Yet, purely as an author he outshines in this volume nine out of ten writers who have made authorship their profession.

"The Spirit of St. Louis" is the simple story, play by play, thought by thought, act by act, of what took place between the time, in the fall of 1926, when young Lindbergh first conceived the idea of making the New York-to-Paris flight in a single-motored plane and the day, the following spring, when he successfully landed his plane on the LeBourget airfield in Paris. A book of over 500 pages covers a time period of about six months. But the reader of those pages succeeds in living those six crowded months with the boy who will probably go down in history as the greatest individual American hero of this century.

It all happened a quarter of a century ago. Since that time the author has experienced a life of triumph and of tragedy, of hero-worship and condemnation, probably unexampled in the life of any other American of our time. It is significant that the writer of "The Spirit of St. Louis," the Lindbergh of 1953, never so much as hints at any of those things that happened to him later. He keeps strictly within the time period between the conception and the successful execution of his flight. When he lands his plane the book ends.

He keeps every paragraph, every sentence, every word in that setting. The story is told in the present tense, and the readers are always kept in the present. We are in his author's mind every moment of the narrative.

What makes this book so exciting, remembering that it all happened 25 years ago, and also remembering that every reader knows beforehand that the flight ended in success? The only answer I can suggest is that Lindbergh is unconsciously as great a writer as he is a flier.

That answer involved the question of honesty. Lindbergh, the author of "The Spirit of St. Louis," never pretends. He never tries to appear more important than he is. He never strikes a pose. He is never trying to be impressive; he is impressive because he is honest. All he does is to set down on paper a full record of what he did and thought and felt during those crowded six months.

The book is great—I am tempted to say supremely great—for the same reason that the "Memoirs of General Grant" is a great book. Grant, too, was a writer and did not pretend to be a writer; he was a doer. But as a doer he had lived a life that only such a man could describe. Because he strictly kept to the facts that he himself had lived, his book turned out to be a classic.

I unhesitatingly predict that "The Spirit of St. Louis" will be known as one of the classics of twentieth century American writing, for much the same reasons. Lindbergh reflects himself in every sentence, in every paragraph. And because he is sound and true and honest, that reflection takes on those same precious qualities.

"The Spirit of St. Louis" strikes me as great writing. That great writing should come out of an experience 25 years old is a minor miracle.

Ford Addresses DAR Chapter

U.S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford discussed news from Washington in four different areas at the monthly meeting of the Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E.V. Hartman.

Rep. Ford explained the fiscal problems of the government and showed that while the estimated budget had been severely cut by a careful allocation of accumulated funds and by the elimination of waste, no department should lack sufficient funds.

He said the loss in government revenue resulting from the promised tax reductions Jan. 1, 1954, would probably be met, not by the levying of a new form of tax but rather by readjustments and redistribution of some of the present forms of taxation.

In foreign policy, he said people should be realistic. "We must see that the mind of the Kremlin is realistic and has no concern whatever for human life. With present methods of transportation there can be no isolationists."

He said aid should be given to those countries that really need outside aid to the extent the United States can afford it and to extend foreign countries can absorb it at the moment. He explained most countries need to be taught the know-how and given trained native workers to help them absorb the necessary foreign aid at once.

He discussed at some length the infiltration of Communists in government and quoted directly from Attorney General Herbert Brownell the facts of the Harry Dexter White case. He said the public must be told all the facts and that Communism in government must be cleared up.

First Vice Regent Laura Boyd presided. Mrs. John Kramer, chairman of the approved schools committee, took charge of gift parcels for two DAR mountain schools. Other gifts must be left with Mrs. Kramer before Dec. 1. Mrs. Eldon Dick announced plans for a rummage sale Nov. 27 and 28 in charge of Mrs. C. C. Wood.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. O.S. Cross, Mrs. Roy B. Champion, Mrs. Bruce Mikula, Mrs. Almon T. Godfrey and Mrs. R.F. Keeler.

Civil Case Settled During Court Recess

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — After proofs had been completed before the court and a jury Friday afternoon in the case brought by Howard Hyma against Gilbert Vanden Berg, both of Holland township, during a recess the parties agreed upon a settlement of $650, without costs, in favor of plaintiff against defendant. Hyma, who was 20 years old at the time of the accident which resulted in the suit, incurred medical and hospital expenses, plus loss of earnings of approximately $500, to which his parents would be entitled by reason of his minority.

The case resulted from an automobile accident on US-12 in the village of New Buffalo, Dec. 23, 1949, while Hyma was a passenger in a car owned and operated by Vanden Berg. The pair was returning from Chicago, where they both worked and had attended a Christmas party, when it is alleged by plaintiff that defendant drove over the center line of the highway into the path of oncoming traffic and struck another vehicle, causing severe and permanent injuries to Hyma.

Hyma was seeking $10,000 damages. Both parties to the suit were, and still are, close friends.

The jury has been excused until 9 a.m. Nov. 2, 1953, when the criminal case against Roger DeWitt, 17, Grand Haven, on a charge of breaking and entering in the night time, will be heard. DeWitt allegedly broke into and entered the apartment of Mrs. Sue Turner at 108 Washington St., Grand Haven, on June 20.

THE OTHER SIDE OF MURDER

A Grand Haven family has offered a home to Michigan's oldest convict, Tony Duly, who has been in Jackson Prison since 1907
for murder. The Ottawa County family believes that Duly "certainly has paid the penalty for his crime" and should be paroled.

All honor to the county family for the impulse to provide a few years of freedom and ease to an ailing convict. Duly has no claims on the Grand Haven family and was unknown to them until quite recently. He came originally from Tawas City, Michigan, and it was there that he committed the crime
for which he has been serving time all these years.

But commendation for the offer of the Ottawa County family need not blind one to the significance of the other side of this murder case. Not a few Lansing and Jackson reporters are giving the impression that the state of Michigan is somehow to blame as a cruel tyrant for keeping "Tony,"
as he is familiarly and affectionately referred to, in prison all these years. He is almost being described as a victim.

But look at the other side of the picture.
"Tony," back there in Tawas
City in 1907, was robbing a bank,
and he was armed to kill while he did so. The manager of the office tried to protect his own, and good old "Tony" shot him down.
There are no doubts about the details.

Good old "Tony" has of course
been behind the bars since 1907,
working like any other prisoner and getting three square meals a day. But his victim has been lying in his grave during all those years,
unable to do the work he wanted to do and had a right to do,
enjoying nothing, meals or anything else.

The victim's wife, presumably—details are lacking in the prison
reports—has had to shift for herself ever since 1907. His children, if he had children, have been compelled since 1907 to get along as best they could trying to get an education and make a living. Society has not bothered much about them, and kind-hearted families have not opened any homes to them. The victim is dead; let's forget him.

PRACTICING CHRISTIAN

Two Nobel Peace Prize awards were announced this year. The 1953 prize went to General George C. Marshall. The 1952 prize, which was not awarded last year, went to Dr. Albert Schweitzer, philosopher, musician and medical missionary to the Africans.

Dr. Schweitzer is a man who had dedicated his life to the service of his fellow man. He relegated his career as a philosopher and musician to second place to go to Africa where he has tended the sick and in general taught Christianity by living the Christian life. He has a deep reverence for all living things and has made friends of many of the animals
that inhabit the jungle.

The life of Dr. Schweitzer is a source of inspiration to all who have come in contact with his work. Great philosophers are usually remote men who live on a plane of ideas and evolve their theories for the sake of learning and knowledge itself. Dr. Schweitzer chose to labor in the fields, to put into practice the things he believes. Good men everywhere rejoice in the honor which has come to this humble man who has never sought worldly acclaim.

Not all the saintly souls are those "who from their labors rest." Some are still living and it is good for the rest of us to appreciate them.

public life in Holland, was elected chairman of the Ottawa County Red Cross chapter at the chapter's annual meeting Monday night in Hope Church. He succeeds Peter Van Domelen, Jr., who has been active in Red Cross for several years. Hertel, who currently is a member of the building committee for the Municipal Recreation Building, had previously served on the county
Red Cross board.

Mrs. Raymond H. Fehring was re-elected secretary and William De Long was re-elected treasurer.
Frank Meyer of Grand Haven,
vice-chairman who is currently

Washington, D.C., will continue as vice chairman until an acting vice chairman or a replacement
is named at the next board meeting.

New directors named for three-year terms are Ray Brummel of Zeeland, Clarence Klaasen, Arnold Hertel and Willis Van Vuren of Holland. Fred Veneburg of Olive, Mrs. Cornelia Vander

ing with Reformed Church domestic missions at the New York headquarters.

A talk on Red Cross activities was given by James O. McNamee, chairman of the Muskegon Red Cross chapter, who said Red Cross service is what it is mainly because of the unselfish efforts of countless volunteers.

He urged recruiting volunteers
on a planned basis, giving the opinion that too many chapters
think mostly in terms of a fund
campaign in utilizing volunteers
instead of keeping them interested in Red Cross all year. He also urged good press relations, a watchful eye on expenditures, and above all remember the high ideals of Red Cross service in having a job well done.

Information on atmospheric con-

Sunday School
Lesson

November 22 1953
Christian Compassion for a Needy World
Matthew 9:35-36; Mark 8:1-9
By Henry Geerlings

If it were necessary to reduce one's creed to two essentials, the first would be that God loves the world. The whole purpose of the death, resurrection and ministry of Christ is to implement God's love in behalf of a needy world.
The second essential is that God designs to plant His love within the hearts of men. The whole purpose of the reconciliation of a generation, and redemption of a soul is to make him like God in love.

No lesson in the series has a more important bearing on the responsibilities of Christians in today's world than this lesson
which has to do with Christian compassion. We are told that out of the 2 billion people in the world, 1,700,000,000 are usually in debt all of their lives, are in want, more or less exploited and oppressed, and increasingly unhappy and determined to be free from want. These multitudes of sorrowing peoples are dissatisfied and groping for some way up and out of the dark drudgery
and pain of empty living.

It is at this point that we fail to understand the genius of communism. However specious the claims of communism may be, one thing is patent, the zealots of this fearful ideology rush with arrow like swiftness to the side of the dissatisfied multitudes who are yearning for a new way of life. The new way of life does not come at the hands of communism,
except certain temporary materialistic aspects of it—and that under the most intolerable circumstances. It is these underprivileged, distressed people who are willing to listen to any one who promises them a better day.
It is these people who look to us for help. It is this call of a needy world for compassion—the compassion of Christlike concern for the needy that engages us as we turn to the study of this lesson.

In our New Testament references we see Christ in contact with the multitudes. We see how He felt toward them and what He did for them. This period of time in His ministry is known as the year of public favor. It was the time when His popularity with the people was at its height.

Wherever He appeared great multitudes thronged around Him.
His ministry of healing as well as the freshness and originality of His teaching carried His fame over the land. People came for help; some for bodily healing for themselves, or their friends, and some came out of curiosity, nevertheless He gave Himself to the needs of the people. He healed the sick, cast out demons, fed the hungry and preached the word of hope.

Christ saw the condition of the multitudes and it affected Him.
He was moved with compassion.
There was a going out of His emotions of love and pity. He had a deep desire to help them. And this was not a passing emotion.
It was what He always felt in the presence of need.

If one were asked to analyze the lifelong ministry of our Lord
with a view to finding the one dominant note that pervaded His every word and deed, he would doubtless come to the conclusion that it was the note of compassion. The word rendered compassion is the most powerful word that the gospel writer could have employed to describe the inward concern of Jesus. It meant that His whole inner nature was disturbed by the plight of the multitudes who were scattered as sheep not having a shepherd. In this passage one gets a glimpse of the very heart of Christ. One can almost see the tremor of His soul as, with indescribable pathos
He looks upon the suffering sea of humanity.

This concern of Jesus was ever present. It applied to all classes of people, the rich, the poor, the weak, the strong. He did not care for one's station in life or one's place of influence. He was interested in people for the people's sake.
Their sorrow was His sorrow, their concern His concern. He reveals in further measure, through His teaching, the responsibility of Christians, for the needy, the distressed, and the sorrowing multitudes of the world. The discharge of this sacred responsibility by the Christian, together with his personal relationship to Christ, is to form the criterion of judgment
in the day of the great separation.

The parable of the good Samaritan shows that physical need has a place but these are not paramount. They are sometimes the most crying but they do not effect the character of life as spiritual needs do. If we see people or nations or even individuals in physical poverty or distress in most cases it stems from spiritual poverty. If we look at the world, we see that the people who are the most prosperous are the people who are evangelized and touched with the gospel.

On the other hand, many of the peoples who have a lower scale of living have been left in heathen darkness. This is a truth that is not recognized as it ought to be.
Today we hear much about the social gospel but do not hear much about a Christlike compassion for the spiritual needs of people.

It is supposed that if we can improve the living conditions, the spiritual development will follow.
In the case of Israel, as Moses warned them, their material prosperity turned their hearts away from God. We must keep both in proper perspective and balance.

THE COAST GUARD CUTTER "SUNDEW" (above) tied up at the Holland station late Monday afternoon and departed a few hours later. The "Sundew" will probably be the last vessel to be officially reported by the station. The station goes on a "caretaker" status effective at midnight Tuesday. Also closed down will be the tower watch at the entrance to the harbor. The three men remaining out of a normal crew of eight will maintain the light at the channel entrance and the buoys in Lake Macatawa. (Sentinel photo)

Grandstanding...

Hope College Al Vanderbush
along with faculty representative Milton Hinga and student member Bob Visser are in Albion today attending a meeting of the MIAA conference board. The committee is responsible for outlining league
policy.

Also meeting today will be coaches of MIAA schools. It's at this meeting that they usually name All-Conference winners, but as Alma and Olivet still have to play one game next Saturday, this is not certain. One thing that is definitely on the agenda is clearing-up some schedule difficulties.
Since Olivet came into the conference there have been problems in scheduling dates that still are not worked out.

Also attending are coaches Ken Weller, Russ De Vette and Larry Green.

Five seniors played their last game for Hope College Saturday night, and their loss is going to be heavily felt by the local school.
Herm Nienhuis, a graduate of Zeeland High school where he played fullback, has been one of the strong men in the Hope line.
Herm has played right guard and linebacker, and had one of his biggest moments in an earlier game
this season when he intercepted a pass and returned it for a considerable distance.

Robert "Bud" Prins is a former Ottawa Hills player who has played the regular center slot for the Dutch. Bud also kicks extra points for Hope, and gained state-wide recognition last season for his accuracy.

Fullback Dave Kempker has been responsible for some of the finest open field running seen on local gridiron this season. Dave isn't particularly fast, but swivels
through opposing teams, setting up blocks for his interference. He is a graduate of Holland High school where he played quarterback.

End John Brannock is best known to Holland fans for his beautiful touchdown pass catch against Kalamazoo last week.
John practically stood on his head to catch that one. From Benion Harbor, he has been one of the standout players on the Hope squad all season.

Captain and End Jim Van Hoe-ven is a coach's dream. Jim started out at guard in his sophomore year winning MIAA honors. Next he switched to tackle and again was named a MIAA selection. Then this year he was needed at an end. He made the difficult switch with ease and throughout the year has been just plain tops. He is again a favorite to get MIAA team honors.
Jim graduated from Ottawa Hills
where he played with Prins.

The Hope team left Holland for Alma via charter bus Saturday at 10 a.m. and stopped at a hotel in St. Louis, Mich., to watch the nationally televised Michigan-Michigan State game.

Saturday night's game was one of the roughest in a long time for Hope College. And this was meant in the literal sense. A half dozen Hope players are sporting bruised faces, lost teeth and general sores. If they'd have won, so that it wouldn't sound like sour grapes, there would be a lot more said.

The win was the first over Hope for Alma coach, Lloyd Eaton.
Eaton has been at Alma for five years, but in that time Hope has notched four wins and one tie.
It's the first victory over Hope on the Alma field since the war, and Eaton was trying to make the best of it. He kept his regulars in right to the final gun trying to rack up a score.

Alma Halfback Marv Raab is undoubtedly one of the best backs
the Dutch have faced all season.
The flashy runner picked up four more touchdowns to bring his season's total to 84 for the season—
far and away the leader of the MIAA and right up in the top for state standings.

Raab is a sophomore who didn't play last year because of a leg injury before the season started.

The 33 points scored by Alma represent the highest total gained on the ground against any Vander-bush coached team. Last year Albion went above this figure, but by passing. Again it reflects the trouble the Dutch were having with the line. On one play Raab went right through the middle for 30 yards and a score without being touched.

Captain Jim Van Hoeven really got clobbered early in the contest. He was crashing in on a play and collided head on with guard Bill Heydorn. The coaching staff was really surprised when he got up after that one. But he missed playing most of the game, and the rest of the time wasn't at peak performance.

Two-Year-Old Girl
Struck by Car

Two-year-old Sallie Schaap
was admitted to Holland hospital at 1:05 a.m. Tuesday with a possible skull fracture and other injuries received when she was struck by a car on US-31 just south of Holland city limits.

Driver of the car was Donald
R. Pendergrass, 16, of route 4, Grand Haven, heading south on US-31. He told police he had pulled out to pass a truck also heading south.

As he started to pass, the truck
moved to the left, forcing Pendergrass to fall back into the southbound lane of traffic. As he slowed down to get behind the truck
he saw for the first time, a little girl standing on the shoulder of the road.

Pendergrass said he immediately slammed on his brakes.
The rear end of the skidding car swung off the road and struck the girl.

Ottawa County Deputy Nelson
Lucas and Allegan County Deputy Henry Bouwman investigated.
Sallie is the daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Ivan Schaap of 927
Washington Ave.

Salem Township Farmer
Dies of Heart Attack

ZEELAND (Special) — Walter
J. Shuck, 65, of Salem township, died unexpectedly Monday afternoon of a heart attack. He was a farmer and had lived in Salem township all his life. He was a veteran of World War I, serving in the U.S. Navy. He was a member of Maple Hills United Brethren Church of Grandville.

Surviving are three sons, Ivan
and Leland of Hudsonville and Corp. Darrell with the Marines at Newport, N.C. and three grandchildren.

Justice Dismisses Count
For Lack of Evidence

GRAND HAVEN (Special) —
A charge of leaving the scene of a personal injury accident against Robert Moser, 34, route 2, Coopersville, was dismissed by Justice Frederick J. Workman, Monday afternoon, preceding a preliminary examination. The charge was dismissed for lack of evidence upon motion of Prosecutor James W. Bussard.

Moser was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Nelson Lucas following an accident Aug. 16, 1953, when a truck allegedly operated by Moser, struck and seriously injured 70-year-old Arthur Modderman of route 2, Marne, while he was walking along the highway a mile east of Lamont. Modderman suffered severe injuries to his left arm, elbow and hip. Modderman's 15-year-old grandson, Arthur,
gave officers a good description
of the truck.

Moser, according to a statement made to officers, admits he was driving a truck on the day in question, but not in that area.
Because of this statement Moser will be charged with driving while his operator's license was revoked.

'H' Club Alumni
Banquet Scheduled
Thursday Night

One of the highlights of the Hope College athletic year is scheduled Thursday night at Dur-Hall and the public is invited for the first time in history.

It is the annual H Club alumni banquet.
Athletic Director Russ De Vette
Tuesday announced that the public is invited and reservations should be made before 10 a.m. Thursday.
He said tickets to the colorful event are available at the college
business office on campus.

Another standout program is planned for this year's affair. Len Colby, Kalamazoo radio and television announcer, will be guest speaker. Colby is well-known in the Holland area and should prove popular.

nouncement of the most valuable player during the past football season at Hope and announcement of the team captain for next year.

award to the most valuable player, and Gabby Van Dis, president of the H Club alumni, will be

school seniors from schools in the vicinity who want to go to college and have Hope in mind. Most of the coaches of these boys are Hope alumni.

The affair begins at 6:30.

Reformed Church.

Sixty-three guests were served a dinner by the Ladies Aid

bouquets of fall flowers and tall silver tapers.

Herman Postmus. The program included remarks by the Rev. H.

ties by adult males in the United States is slightly over four ties.

In Couple Weeks
Dutch Will Open
At Ottawa Hills

With football out of the way,
Holland High now turns to basketball and Coach Fred Weiss already is fretting because there remains just seven school nights
of practice before the first game against Ottawa Hills Nov. 27.

Fifteen football players turned in their cleats, pads, etc., and most reported to Weiss Monday afternoon.

The Dutch basketball mentor has been working out with 18 boys for the last three weeks and cut the squad to 10 last week. The addition of the 15 gridders brings the squad back up to 24 and he plans further cuts, possibly this week, to get the squad down to about 12. One man of the 10-man squad last week has been confined to the hospital and is not expected back for another week or more.

Ottawa Hills will have a double advantage on the Dutch. First of all the Indians will be playing on their home court and secondly,
they finished football a week earlier and those extra days of practice mean a lot.

Lone returning regular from last year's team that went all the way up to the state quarter-finals
in tournament play, is Forward Ron Israels.

Others on the squad who are back this year include Bob Van Dyke, Mark de Velder, Paul Mack,
Paul Beukema and Dick Plagenhoef.

From the looks of things, Weiss
will have to pick his starting lineup from that bunch. However, there's always the chance of a darkhorse coming up and shoving into the picture.

With just seven school nights of practice left before the first game, Weiss is entertaining thoughts of practicing on Saturdays in an effort to get in that much more needed work.

The Dutch should be fairly tall
again this year. De Velder stands 6'4", Israels, 6'2", Plagenhoef, 6'2", Van Dyke, 6', Mack 5'10" and Beukema about 6'.

Of the 24 men on the squad at this point, 15 are seniors and the rest juniors.

Attends Preview Of 1954 Trucks

Bob De Nooyer of the Robert De Nooyer Chevrolet Inc., has just returned from Flint where he attended a private preview of the new 1954 Chevrolet trucks.

The exhibit and accompanying business session were sponsored by the company for all retail dealers and salesmen in this area and emphasized the importance Chevrolet is attaching to its soon-to-be-announced new truck lines.

"The meeting was somewhat without precedent in our experience because it was devoted exclusively to new truck models," said Mr. Brush, Flint zone manager. "The reason soon became clear. The 1954 line contains so many new features that even a review of highspots required considerable time."

Not only will Chevrolet have more to offer the truck user in 1954, but it will expand the forces behind its selling. Included is an expanded advertising program. De Nooyer said he plans to arrange a special showing of the new line in his dealership when the trucks become available for display later this month. It is one of the few times in history that Chevrolet has exhibited new truck apart from new passenger car models.

Grand Exalted Ruler of Elks Will Visit City

Grand Exalted Ruler Earl E. James will make an official visit to the Holland Elks Lodge on Monday, Nov. 23, according to Exalted Ruler Russell J. Rutgers of the Holland Lodge.

It is a distinct honor for the local lodge that is celebrating the 40th anniversary of its organization in Holland, to have such a high official visit here. There are 59 Elks Lodges in Michigan and just Holland and Flint have been singled out to have the honor of an official visit from the Exalted Ruler of the United States.

James will be honored at a banquet at the Warm Friend Tavern beginning at 6:30 p.m. the night of his visit. He will be welcomed by the lodge.

EARL E. JAMES

came into the state at the banquet by Lt. Gov. Clarence A. Reid, and to Holland by Mayor Harry Harrington.

Dignitaries from the Michigan Elks Association and Lodges throughout Western Michigan also will attend the banquet, including State President Charles T. Noble of Niles, Vice President S. Glen Converse of Lansing, Secretary Leland L. Hamilton of Niles and Treasurer James G. Shirlaw of Battle Creek as well as exalted rulers and officers of lodges throughout the state.

It is the first time in the history of the Holland lodge that the supreme leader has made an official visit and because it may never occur again, the local lodge is going all out to make it a gala success.

In honor of the occasion, Rutgers decided to have a class of 40 new members, called the Grand Exalted Rulers Class, in honor of the 40th anniversary. Rutgers has exceeded the quota.

Following the banquet, the club rooms on Central Ave. will be open for a social evening to give members and their wives a chance to meet James.

He will arrive in Holland at 4:30 p.m. on the 23rd and leave at 11:30 p.m. for Grand Rapids and then on to Flint for a meeting Nov. 24.

Rotarians Hear Chief Justice

Chief Justice John R. Dethmers of the Michigan Supreme Court addressed the Holland Rotary Club Thursday at the Warm Friend Tavern on the subject, "The Court and Its Constitution." "After two World Wars," he said, "we presumed that we had made the world safe for democracy and the American public for a large part ceased to be effective in matters of government by neglecting to keep informed. Increasingly the powers of government have been extending into areas which heretofore had been free from regulation until today we are working more and more for the government. When that is not done voluntarily, it is something less than liberty," Dethmers said. "It is our personal responsibility to squeeze government back into its former confines."

The speaker made two preliminary observations: "First, that in this country government is by the majority, but that majority is limited by the freedom and rights which the constitution guarantees to the individual. These guarantees are not self-operating; they are made meaningful by the courts. The courts stand as bastion and guardian of our rights. Second, if there is to be government by the people, it must be made effective by the people on the basis of knowledge and study so as to make an intelligent contribution to the force of public opinion."

Dethmers expressed deep concern and strong disapproval of the trend which seems to say that the freedoms and rights guaranteed in the constitution are meaningless only in so far as they are necessary to implement the will of the majority. "The courts may delay but must never defeat the majority. It appears that even the judicial branch of our government has let down the bars and has its ears to the ground. If so, let's make sure that what it hears is a clarion 'no' to a denial of our constitutional rights. As you feel the urge to discharge your duties as citizens, you will want to become better informed so that you can intelligently make your own conclusions," he said.

The Chief Justice was presented by Municipal Judge Cornelius vander Meulen, a long-time friend.

Attending as Junior Rotarian with Dick Den Uyl was Tom Klomprens also of the sophomore class and a varsity football player at Holland High school. Klomprens is a member of Hope Church and is taking a pre-college course.

Senator Clyde Geerlings was presented for membership in Rotary by Ken De Pree. The plaque on which is inscribed the objects of Rotary was given the Senator by Rotarian Dick Miles.

Thomas E. McKeefer Succumbs at Age 77

Grandstanding...

The jubilant Grand Haven players, true to tradition, carried Coach Gene Rothi and Assistant Don Constant off on their shoulders after chalking up the first undefeated season in that school's history Friday night.

Rothi is a likeable sort of a fellow and folks up Grand Haven way all agree: "We like him very much."

By the way, Gene is a native of Grand Haven and was graduated from high school there in 1940. He attended Hope College here in Holland for two years before being called into service for three years. He was graduated from Hope in 1947 and went to Grandville for three years. From there he went to Grand Haven where he coached the reserves for two years until he moved up to the head job this fall.

By the way, when Gene was at Hope he was out for football, but didn't play regular.

His outstanding team this season was pretty much the same one he coached when all the boys were freshmen and sophomores. And in their second year they won the old Southwestern Conference reserve team championship.

Grand Haven Athletic Director Steve Sluka had a lot of praise for Holland's team and "thought they looked awful good." What puzzled Steve was, "How did they lose all those games?"

Bob Van Dyke ended up the evening with an average of 32.4 yards per punt which is excellent considering his first boot in the first quarter went way up in the air, bounded back toward him and was downed on the line of scrimmage for no yardage. His other punts went 45, 41, 46 and 30 yards to boost the average.

There's quite a change at Green Hill Field from two years ago with the ultra-modern new high school in the background on the west side. That side formerly was one big hill and fans sat on the slopes to watch the games. However, that's gone now and in its place is the sprawling high school building, just completed this fall.

The Grand Haven band saluted the individual players on the team during halftime ceremonies and even found it in their hearts to include the hard-working, but rarely mentioned, managers.

Holland's band did not make the trip.

During halftime, all state police officers from the Grand Haven post in the crowd were called out to answer a report that three youths escaped from Ionia Reformatory and were reported headed this way in a stolen truck.

Eleven touchdowns and nine extra points give Central Michigan Halfback Chuck Miller the lead in state college grid scoring statistics. The 75 points brings him well out ahead of the trio of MIAA scoring leaders, John Adams, Frank Talario and Marv Raab. The three have 60 points each on 10 touchdowns.

They included Laverne Schaap, route 5, selling nursery stock without a license, Holland township, $54.30; Walter E. Spauling, Berrien Springs, passing in no passing zone, M-21, Holland township, $12; Donald Hoogevel, Grand Rapids, reckless driving, M-21 in Georgetown township, $37.

Gelmer J. Nyhof, route 5 speeding 55 miles in 35-mile zone, $17; Gradius Knoll, route 6, no operator's license, M-21 in Georgetown township, $8.90; Robert J. Krone-meyer, 205 West 26th St., driving without due caution, Ottawa Beach road, Park township, $27; Victor C. Culver, Douglas, speeding 55 miles in 40-mile zone, M-21 in Zeeland township, $12.

Have you seen the new Holland's Heritage portfolio?

It consists of handsome reprints of a series of 15 historical chapters in Holland's founding as related in ads in the Holland Evening Sentinel by First National Bank.

The portfolios are available at the bank through requests at the information desk. They can well become a treasured and valuable memento of the past.

The 15 "chapters" portray such events as Van Raalte's selection of a site for Holland in 1846; the departure from Rotterdam in 1846, building Holland's first home in 1847, welcoming new settlers, Van Raalte visiting the sick, the orphanage that was never used, Holland's first wedding, baptism of Holland's first baby; Holland's community ship, the channel, first industry, market square, Hope college's first chapel, and the big fire.

On the cover are the words, "This is our city, but let us not forget that we did not create it. We inherited it,—and to appreciate our trust we need to refresh ourselves occasionally on what our founders put into it. That is the purpose of this series of heritage highlights."

An attractive display of portfolio material appears on mounts in the west window of the Chamber of Commerce. The display has brought considerable favorable comment.

Do you watch birds? Armchair bird-watchers have a much easier time in winter than in summer. Many varieties of birds which scatter widely through forests in summer can, during winter food shortages, be lured into backyards with properly arranged feeding stations.

Unlike humans, birds do not migrate south to escape cold. Those species that leave their summer haunts do so because winter kills or covers most of the insects, berries and seed plants which are staples of bird diet. If regular supplies of the right food are provided, beginning in October and November, many birds can be persuaded to remain throughout the winter.

Once started, a feeding station should be kept stocked until spring because birds grow to depend on it and may suffer or perish at an empty feeder during periods of heavy snow or when wild food is covered with ice.

So get those feeding stations going now if you want to entertain wildlife during the winter.

Orchestra Gives First Concert

The Hope College orchestra, in its first concert of the season Thursday night in Hope Memorial Chapel, pleased an interested if not large audience with a diversified program combining the classics and moderns. Prof. Morrette Rider's group has grown in stature as well as size, and tackled several imposing selections with a certain amount of success.

Although not quite hitting their stride in the opening "Egmont overture," by Beethoven, Director Rider and his group did an excellent job with an interesting and modern Gillis overture, "Two Sketches and Beguine" by Grundman and the impressive "Prelude to Die Meistersinger," by Wagner.

Highlighting the program was the appearance of several talented senior music students who performed with the orchestra. Prof. Rider excels in this type of work and kept his orchestra at the proper level of sympathetic and effective accompaniment.

Miss Jane Vander Velde and John Scholten, organists, played with the orchestra the Mozart Sonatas No. 9 and F and No. 14 in C, respectively. David De Jong, pianist, played the Vivace movement of the Haydn "Concerto in D Major." Miss Mari Howard and David Martin played the Vivace from the Bach "Concerto in D minor" for two violins and orchestra.

Woman's Club Speaker 'Views Role' of Germany

"A possible bridge between the East and West—or the first battleground between the two" was described as Germany's future by Dr. Paul Fried of Hope College as he spoke before members of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon at the club house.

Dr. Fried, a native of Germany who although now an American citizen has spent five years in his native land since World War II, warned that "Germany tomorrow may be what Korea is today."

He unfolded for his audience an intimate insight into Germany's development and problems from the period before Hitler to the present divided state which puts half the land behind the Iron Curtain. He described Berlin as the "tiny peephole" through which people on the "other side" can most easily be influenced.

Ten million of the 48 million people in West Germany once lived on the other side. Of these "displaced persons," eight million are in that group which was expelled from territories which became part of Russia and Poland after the war. The other two million are refugees, fleeing from East Germany at the rate of 40-50,000 per month, Dr. Fried said.

In order to assess what may happen in the future, it is necessary to remember what happened in Germany from 1933 to 1945, Dr. Fried said. He pointed out that the nation's 14 years of democracy before 1933 was not long enough to instill democratic traditions, as people in that time looked back to the "good old days" under the Kaiser, they were ripe to fall for national socialism.

Germany under Hitler showed every intention of completely destroying Western civilization and Christian culture, and when its theory of strength and dream of world power collapsed in 1945, the collapse was startling. Dr. Fried said. He himself has witnessed the necessary rebuilding—which is still going on—the millions killed or permanently injured and the millions left homeless.

But Germany today, under U.S. leadership, has become a practically sovereign country. Dr. Fried traced the careful transition from military government under the U.S., with increasing self-government along the way to the present form of democratic rule. One reason for helping were not entirely unselfish, the speaker pointed out, as the U.S. wants badly for Germany to become part of the European defense community to help preserve and maintain peace. And, he said, we need the help of German manpower.

What part Germany will take in future world affairs and to what extent it will become the democratic, Christian nation we want it to be may be considered from two viewpoints. Judging from the past records, it doesn't look good. Dr. Fried admitted, but on the other side, we see that many things have changed since 1945, perhaps mostly through our efforts. He cited some of the biggest aids as the exchange of students, teachers, newspapermen and others. These aids are the U.S. answer to the "challenge" to assert its leadership as the strongest force for good in Christian civilization.

Mrs. Bruce van Leuven presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker.

Next week's meeting will feature Mildred Othmer Peterson in "Adventures in Collecting Foreign Jewelry." The public affairs group will meet next Tuesday for a 1 p.m. dessert to hear Ernest C. Brooks of Holland discuss the new youth division in Michigan's penal system.

Former Federal Housing Officials Fined $2,500 Each

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — Two former Federal Housing Administration officials from the Grand Rapids district office were fined $2,500 each by Federal Judge Raymond W. Starr Tuesday for accepting architectural fees on projects involving FHA loans.

The defendants, who claimed they had approval from FHA officials in Washington, were Harry L. Colton, 65, chief underwriter, and Frederick W. Knecht, 55, chief cost examiner. They previously pleaded "no contest" on six of 20 counts returned by a grand jury last December, charging they accepted $30,000 in illegal architectural fees from firms which dealt with the FHA. It is illegal for a government employee to do business with a firm which is involved in a government project.

They were fined on one count involving a Niles housing project, and all other counts were suspended.

Colton and Knecht were indicted by the jury charging they accepted the fees involving property for which FHA loans were pending. They involved projects in Grand Rapids, Greenville, Niles, and Big Rapids.

Starr said in imposing the fine that the government suffered no pecuniary loss. He said the defendants cooperated with the grand jury and Knecht had obtained "clearance" from the national FHA office to continue his architectural work before he went to work for the FHA.

Knecht and Colton said in a joint statement that they were permitted to engage in outside activities beyond the jurisdiction of the normal FHA working hours. In 1948, he said, Knecht had a number of architectural jobs in progress, in Grand Rapids, Greenville, Niles and Big Rapids when he was requested to work for the FHA. "I agreed to do so under the condition that I be allowed to complete the projects."

"On April 11, 1949, J. A. Schnackenberg, sent a letter to George H. Bailey Jr., assistant zone commissioner from Washington, in connection with the project upon which I had been working. I was given permission to complete the work. Since I had been given permission to complete this work, I had not the slightest idea that I was violating either a ruling of the FHA or any statute," he said.

In an affidavit to the grand jury, Schnackenberg, former FHA director who also was indicted and paid a fine of $5,000 for technical irregularities in office, said he had received a letter from James E. Hicks, director of personnel at Washington, authorizing Knecht to complete the projects, including the one in Niles.

College Symphonette to Make Debut on Sunday

A new concert group on the Hope campus, the Hope College Symphonette, will make its debut in concert Sunday at 4 p.m. in Memorial Chapel.

Members of this orchestra, numbering less than 20, have been selected by audition from the rolls of the larger college orchestra. Morrette Rider is conductor.

Featured soloist for the concert will be Arthur C. Hills, director of instrumental music for the Holland public schools. He will be featured in the Perry "Concertino" for clarinet and orchestra.

The program also includes a wide variety of music in many styles including group of Roumanian folk songs by Bartok; two colorful excerpts from Kachaturian's "Gayne Suite"; the "Symphony in D" by Thomas Arne; "Valse Triste" by Sibelius; a Revolutionary War composition, "Chester," written by William Billings, America's first composer, and a number of other selections. With the formation of the Symphonette, the college music department hopes to make full-length instrumental programs available to other Michigan communities where it is impracticable to use the larger college orchestra. During the last year, smaller instrumental ensembles made 61 appearances in western Michigan, mostly as portions of some other program. The Symphonette will be able to extend this service to Holland and other portions of the state by offering full-length concert programs to any interested groups.

Dutch Start Off Against Wabash Here on Nov. 28

Nine lettermen from last year's MIAA champion Hope College basketball squad are back this year drilling daily in preparation for the Dutch opener against Wabash Nov. 28 at the Holland Armory.

Coach John Visser has been working with the squad for the last couple of weeks and Monday the football players joined the team to boost the total to 22 candidates.

There are three seniors among the returning letter winners. They are Bob Visser, John Brannock and Bob "Stretch" Wagner. Wagner has returned to the local campus this year after a three-year layoff during which time he worked and served a hitch in the Army. He stands 6'7".

Visser has been bothered by a sore back and now is undergoing treatment under a specialist in Grand Rapids. His effectiveness still remains a question mark. He stands 6'6".

Junior letter winners back this year are big Bob Hendrickson from Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills who has been a mainstay on Hope championship squads for the last two seasons.

Henry goes 6'5". Brannock stands 6'4" tall.

Another junior who has "shown the most improvement so far" is Willie Rink who stands 6'1". Sophomores on the squad are John Adams, from Saginaw; Whitey Riemersma from Benton Harbor; Alden Klompars from Holland, and Harold Molenaar from Kalamazoo. All were on the squad last year. Another sophomore is Bob DeJonge from Grand Rapids Lee.

All in all, Visser will have over-all height and speed equal to that of last year's team.

Freshmen, many of whom show lots of promise, include Jack Kemper and Ken Armstrong, who played on Holland High's team last year; Gordon Hondorp and Ken Phillips from Grand Rapids South; Norm Kramer, a 6'4" center from Portage; Bruce Springsteen and Dave St. Aubin from Dowagiac; Harry Voss from Muskegon; Bill Zomer from Kalamazoo; Harold Ritzema from St. Anne Community, Ill.; George Kroeze from Eastern Academy, Patterson, N.J., and Ted Redding from Newaygo.

The Dutch, who had an 11-2 MIAA record last season and a 14-8 overall record, will jump right into the thick of things before Christmas. Wabash, the first foe, is a strong basketball school and defeated Hope 91-87 in a good game at Wabash last season. The Indiana team plays such topnotchers as Purdue and Butler.

After Wabash comes always-tough Kalamazoo at the Armory Dec. 4. Next is Michigan Normal, a vastly improved basketball school and member of the IAC loop at Ypsilanti, Dec. 9. Hope travels to Adrian on Dec. 12 and to Hillsdale on Dec. 15. So it's going to be a tough grind for the Dutch before the holidays.

Hope plays a 19-game schedule this season, including 14 conference games. Calvin College is in the race this year and should add a lot of spark to the basketball race.

Local Team Puts Up Good Scrap Throughout Game

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Grand Haven High School's 1953 football team defeated Holland 20-12 Friday night to complete an undefeated nine-game season and remain one of just two unbeaten class "A" teams in Michigan.

It was a thrilling end to a record-breaking chapter in Grand Haven football history and one that should stand for many years to come. The 1953 season will go down as the best in Grand Haven history.

A crowd estimated close to 5,000 sat in penetrating cold to watch the Bucs pound out a hard-earned victory over a determined and scrappy Holland team. Thus, the Bucs retain possession of the wooden shoes, symbol of the Ottawa county football champion.

Except for a couple of perfectly executed touchdown plays by the winners, there wasn't too much difference between the teams. Holland played inspired ball and time and again stopped the vaunted Grand Haven touchdown twins — Don Zysk and Ernie Rouwhorst — dead in their tracks. But in the end, it was these two great halfbacks, combining with Fullback Ed Suckeck, that spelled the difference. They had too much savvy.

Zysk is perhaps one of the better backs Holland has faced all season. He gets blocking and knows how to run, but fast. And by the same token it's easy to see why his nickname Rouwhorst "The Horse." He's big and runs hard and always keeps driving for that extra yard, even when seemingly stopped.

Holland had a bad break right off the bat. On the first play from scrimmage, Halfback Ron Van Dyke took a handoff from his brother, Quarterback Bob Van Dyke, cut through the left guard and went 10 yards to the Buc 45 where he fumbled when tackled by Rouwhorst, and Rouwhorst recovered.

Four plays later the ball was on Holland's 34 with third down and two to go. Zysk took a handoff after Quarterback Ted Murdick faked to two other men, and cut through a wide hole at left tackle. He outraced the Holland secondary to score standing up on a perfectly executed play. Suckeck added the point and it was 7-0 with the game just three and a half minutes old.

It was that weak side reverse that culminated a 55-yard march in five plays.

The Bucs negotiated their second touchdown on a 61-yard march in seven plays from their own 39 midway through the second quarter. Again Zysk capped the drive with the same play as earlier from 25 yards out. Suckeck again added the point and it was 14-0 with six minutes to go in the second half.

End Ron Israels took the ensuing short kickoff on the Holland 30 and was spilled in his tracks on the Dutch 31. After a five yard gain and a five yard penalty, Holland was right back on its own 31 with second down and 10 to go. On the next play Bob Van Dyke faded and heaved a perfect bullet to Israels who was open down the middle. "Izzy" caught it on the Buc 27 and was spilled on the 25. The play covered 44 yards. Two line plays and another five-yard penalty put it back to the Grand Haven 26. From there Halfback Paul Mack ran to the right and hit Bob Van Dyke with a beautiful pass on the three and he was over for a touchdown. Bob Van Dyke's kick was wide and the count stood at 14-6 when the half ended three minutes later.

Grand Haven put on a sustained drive of 65 yards to score a touchdown in nine plays in the third quarter. This time it was Suckeck who was biting off the big chunks of yardage. He carried on six of the nine plays and went the final yard through right tackle for the TD. End Carl Fehring rushed in and blocked Suckeck's attempt at extra point and it was 20-6 with four and a half minutes to go in the third quarter.

Holland was plugging away all the time and started a sustained drive from its own 28 after the kickoff, that carried all the way down to the Buc 11 yard line, where a fourth down pass fell incomplete at the goal line.

The Dutch went to work for another TD late in the fourth quarter with Mack, Irwin Ter Haar and Bob Van Dyke carrying the brunt. A 15-yard penalty against Grand Haven and a pass interference penalty that moved the ball from the 14 to the one-yard line helped considerably. From there Mack went into the left guard hole to score. Bob Van Dyke's kick was blocked and the game ended after a few plays in which Murdick simply fell on the ball to stall out the clock.

Except for those two weak side reverse runs by Zysk, the game was fairly even-seven all the way. Each team had 12 first downs. Grand Haven had a 224 to 117 bulge in yards rushing while Holland had a 140-68 yards passing total. And each team punted five times.

The entire Dutch forward wall of Blaine Timmer, Dick Yakes, Laverne Hoeksema, Dick Plagenhoef, Fehring, Duane Grissen, Charles Gouloze, Carl Ver Beek, Norm Scheerhoorn, Bill Buis, Dave Rogers and Ken Russell, played good ball.

It was the swan song for 20 Holland seniors who put up a whale of a battle, but couldn't quite turn the trick against the equally determined Bucs.

The Holland reserves also lost to the Buc reserves in an afternoon game by a 40-0 score.

That ends the season for Coach Dale Shearer's team and the score

Grandstanding...

An overflow crowd of some 480 newsmen, announcers, technicians, Western Union and telephone personnel, statisticians, etc., taxed the Michigan State College press box facilities to the limit last Saturday for the nationally televised game against the University of Michigan at Macklin Stadium in East Lansing.

And just about everyone came away with raves about the fine treatment and facilities that are considered just about the best in the Midwest and possibly the nation.

It was one big headache getting everyone taken care of for Fred Stahley, MSC director of sports information, but the many "thank yous" after the game compensated for much of the work. Ted Emery, who used to handle publicity chores for Alma College, is Fred's assistant.

There are six levels of operation in the stadium press-radio-TV complex. On the ground floor is the entrance and where correspondents get their credentials.

Next flight up is the wirephoto transmission and darkrooms for the cameramen. There are six dark rooms and the large daily papers take pictures on the field, run them to the dark room where they are developed in quick order and sent out via wirephoto to newspapers throughout the nation in a matter of minutes.

First quarter action usually makes the late Saturday editions of many metropolitan newspapers.

On the next level is the lounge where all the newsmen, etc., gather for lunch before game time. Saturday's crowd included Mel Allen, Harry Stuhldrehr and many other nationally-known figures from the sports world.

Another flight up is the working press deck. This is the first level from which the field is visible. A booth in the center for the press box public address system which airs a running account of the game to newsmen.

Each space at the press deck has comfortable, adjustable chairs, intercom telephone with press gate, typewriter wells in desks, storage spaces back of the front row for typewriters, brief cases, etc.

On the next level is the radio deck which contains 15 booths. There is the scouts' booth, visiting team spotters' booth, permanent radio booths, field public address booth, movie room, MSC spotters' booth and special guests booth.

Atop the structure is the roof area which is used by the "big Bertha" newspaper cameras, newsreel cameras, radio sound reflectors and television cameras.

There is a pipe superstructure over the central area and fitted canvas is placed over the piping for protection from the weather.

At each place before the game is an information sheet giving probable lineups, game history, coaches, players and their numbers, programs and other information.

At halftime, mimeographed play-by-play sheets are quickly handed to each newsmen along with statistics. After the game each reporter is given another play-by-play account of the game by quarters, individual statistics, is three wins and six defeats.

Famous Trapp Family To Appear in Holland

Hope College will present the internationally famous Trapp Family Singers, the second feature of its concert series, in Hope Memorial Chapel next Tuesday, Nov. 24, at 8:15 p.m.

The singing Trapps have earned the distinction of being one of the most heavily booked single attractions in the concert history of the United States in the 15 years they have lived in this country. They have been heard by an audience estimated at more than 3 million, many of whom return to hear them again and again. They average 100 concerts a season in leading cities from coast to coast.

Last season the Trapps made their first appearance outside North America in more than a decade. They gave 61 concerts during their three-month tour of Central and South America and returned to their native Salzburg for three triumphal appearances at the famed Salzburg Music Festival as the high spot of a four-month tour of 10 European countries.

They fled from Salzburg as voluntary exiles directly after the Nazi Anschluss and arrived in this country in 1938 to take up residence in Vermont because it reminded them of Salzburg.

The story of how this aristocratic family turned a hobby into a profession when they renounced their ancestral estates and fortune in defiance of Hitler and came to this country to build themselves a new life, has been told in book form by Maria Augusta Trapp, mother of the family. "The Story of The Trapp Family Singers" has steadily held its place among the top non-fiction best sellers. This book was published in 1949 and in 1952 Mrs. Trapp's second book, "Today, Tomorrow and Forever," dealing with the family's inner religious life, was published.

Appearing at all times, both on and off stage, in the picturesque folk costumes of the Austrian Tyrol, the Trapps intersperse their a cappella singing of music ranging from pre-classical church airs and early motets and madrigals to lusty mountain yodels and rollicking folk songs, with groups of music played on the ancient spinet, viol da gamba and recorder—the latter an instrument which they restored to modern concert use.

The Baroness Trapp and her seven gifted children are all American citizens now. They make their home on a 1,700-acre farm near Stowe, Vermont. Here, in a farmhouse they have built with their own hands, they perform all the household chores themselves. Formerly accustomed to a staff of servants, they not only mend their socks, prepare their meals, but each member of the family has a handicraft hobby, and fingers as gifted as the beautiful voices turn out exquisite household furnishings and objects of hand-painted wood, hammered silver and hand-sewn leather.

They also play hosts to persons from all parts of the United States and Canada who participate in the summer "Sing Weeks" at the Trapp Family Music Camp, established as a national center for a revival of family music-making in the American home. More than 3,000 persons have already participated in this program.

In addition to their numerous other activities, the former Baroness and her children operate

Two Men Jailed On Drunk Charge

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Two Grand Haven men were taken into custody about 9:30 p.m. Saturday and taken to the state police post by a Fruitport village officer after complaint had been made that their car was parked on the highway on the west Spring Lake road near the Ottawa county line.

One bottle of whisky, nearly empty, and a full bottle was found in the car. Both were charged with being drunk and disorderly. Fred Ennenga, 51, Grand Haven, was taken to the county jail to serve eight days if he is unable to pay $20 fine and $6 costs imposed by Justice Frederick J. Workman Monday.

Paul A. Bloomquist, 41, Grand Haven, pleaded guilty and was lodged in the county jail to await appearing in Circuit Court next Monday as he now is on probation on a charge of taking indecent liberties with a nine-year-old girl. Avery Knowles, 46, route 2, Spring Lake, charged by city police Saturday night with being drunk at the corner of Seventh and Fultons Sts., paid $15 fine and $6:35 costs Monday in Justice T. A. Husted's court.

Local Schools Continue Survey of Curriculum

Local public school teachers, board members and administrators continued their study of school curriculum Monday afternoon and evening in a special coordinating meeting of various committee heads.

The curriculum study presently being done in local schools comes as a result of increasing enrollments and subsequent building shortages. The consideration given in this case is that if buildings must be built to accommodate more students, then these buildings should fit the ever changing educational pattern needed in the community. The present study is aimed at revision of courses and examining trends in education over the nation and evaluating local education needs so that the school programs and school buildings provide the best education possible for local youngsters.

Guests and consultants at the meetings were Dr. Clyde Campbell of the education department of Michigan State College; Dr. Tom Herrick, curriculum consultant of the Kalamazoo Public Schools; Dr. Otto Yntema, director of extension and adult education at Western Michigan College, and Prof. Garrett VanderBorgh and Prof. John Ver Beek of the education department at Hope College.

Teachers representing schools in the Holland system determined the procedures necessary for the advancement of the study. Reports from committees were heard and considered.

Dr. Campbell challenged the group with the idea that this sort of work is not often attempted by teachers and that schools all over the state would be watching the progress of the local study. He said that much of America's advance has been due to our educational system, and added that today's program in social science, morality, and human relations are just as great a duty of education as were the inventions and the explorations of earlier days.

Monday's meeting was held in the junior high school building and supper was served the group by Miss Lavina Cappon and her cafeteria staff. William Hornbaker, chairman of the curriculum coordinating committee, made arrangements for the meeting and presided.

Four Holland Area Hunters Get Deer

At least four Holland area residents reported early successes as the deer season moved into its second day.

Dale Boeve of Washington St., shot a 150-pound, spikehorn at 8:30 a.m. Sunday and George Lowry of Zeeland, in the same party, got an eight-point 150-pound buck at about the same time. Both were hunting in Allegan county.

Rance Overbeek got a four-point, 115-pound buck at 9 a.m. Sunday at White River Club near Whitecloud.

Joel Spykerman of 1407 Lakewood Blvd., got an eight-point buck in Allegan County Monday at daybreak. He was hunting with his wife Joan, and father, Albert of 1428 Lakewood Blvd.

"Hey! You see what I see?"

When a lion appeared on a street in Memphis people fled for the doorways, and from behind windows they asked each other "How come?"

Even though they could watch the lion with their own eyes, they still didn't know the story.

It was from their newspapers that they first discovered that Goldie the lioness had slipped away from a downtown circus. She was so bewildered by the fuss she caused, she turned around and went back.

It's exciting to be an eye-witness to any unusual event. But being on the spot is not much better than seeing one or two photographs of the action, or seeing a headline about it, or hearing a brief announcement.

All of these can whet your appetite for news, but they cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story.

You need the newspaper for that.

• That goes for advertising, too. The brief message that hangs in the air . . . or brief headlines here or there . . . may indeed have a momentary interest.

But the newspaper ad carries the brass-tacks quality, the urgency of the newspaper itself.

Like a news item, the ad can be examined and re-examined. Can be read any time. Anywhere. Can be clipped and carried in a pocket-book.

And just as the newspaper speaks the special language of the town it mirrors, the ads themselves have the same important local quality.

Add to this the fact that the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town, and you know why the newspaper is the nation's most effective advertising medium.

No wonder advertisers—both retail and national—invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

The newspaper is always "first with the most"
