Pranksters 'Decorate' Holland Water Tower

As an after thought they splashed the words "Pat Boone's home" across the top of the tower following somewhat in the path of the person who painted the Zeeland water tower.

Two weeks ago a 21-year-old Zeeland man painted the words "Home of Elvis" on the water tower.

Ex-Holland Man Devises Garb

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — Patrick J. (Pat) Collins is one weatherman who is doing something about the weather.

Collins, 36, has designed a new-type rain outfit for women. It's a two-piece jacket - shirt affair. The skirts come in two styles - wrap around and one that converts to slacks.

Collins, a meteorologist at the U.S. Weather Bureau here, got the idea for the skirt-slack outfit last July. Six steamstresses told him it couldn't be done but he spent hours working on his wife's sewing machine until he finally worked it out.

Collins said a local manufacturer will start production on the rainwear soon.

CE Group to Give Play in Zeeland

"One Foot in Heaven" is the title of the play to be given by the Senior CE of First Reformed Church of Zeeland tonight and Thursday at 8 p.m. in the church auditorium.

"One Foot in Heaven" is a good indication of just how complicated life can be for a minister's family. Rev. Spence (Norman Vrugink) is a conscientious, optimistic father who constantly keeps his wife, Hope (Judy Schout) wondering but happy, and his family's bursting activities running a little bit smoother than it might otherwise be.

Hartzell Spence (John Wolterink) manages to prove his worth despite the broken walls, window, etc. Linda Hansen as Eileen, and Roger Wynyard as Fraser Spence by whom the story is told, complete the family.

Louise, played by Hope De Jonge contributes to Hartzell's frustrations, while Molly (Norma Knoll) and Ronny (Carl Wissink) keep things in a merry whirl.

Letty Lawton, who "simply adores men" is played by Yvonne Dams, and a Mexican friend of hers who introduces the racial prejudice problem is Maria (Mary Meuwesen). Doc Romer (Gary Looman) gives any advice such as burning the paragonage.

Mrs. Sandow and Major Cooper (Barbara Datema and Bob Walters) are two intolerant but well-learned members, while Mrs. Digby (Pat Vanden Berg) and her son George (Dave den Ouden), Mrs. Jellison (Sandy Wiersma), and Mrs. Cambridge (Arlene Cranmer) play the bickering choir members. John Zwijghuizen, playing Bishop Sherwood, seems finally to set matters straight.

This play, which was taken from the original book, "One Foot in Heaven," is a light comedy but uses this medium to present a story quite applicable to any church.

It is being directed by Mrs. Paul Van Eenennaam.

Hospital Drive Also Includes Memorial Rooms

The Memorial Gifts Committee is making good progress in the Holland Hospital $150,000 campaign, Clarence Jalving, speaking for the Campaign Executive Committee, announced today. The Memorial Gifts Committee goal is $45,000.

Co-Chairman of the Committee are Bernard Arendshorst and L.H. Marsille. Members of the Committee include William Beebe, Mrs. W. A. Butler, John Donnelly, Egbert Gold, Clarence Jalving, and Henry Maentz.

Through the memorial gifts program an individual or a family may have a memorial room in the Hospital either in memory of a loved one or in honor of a living person. The cost of memorial rooms range from $2,100 to $30,000. The cost of each memorial room is listed in the Hospital campaign brochure. This cost covers both the room itself and the equipment.

Memorial rooms may be secured by a three-year pledge. Each memorial room taken will be a permanent memorial in the Hospital.

Concerning the memorial gifts program Co-Chairman Arendshorst stated, "At this Thanksgiving Season we properly think of our many blessings. It is especially appropriate that we memorialize a life which has brought blessings to us. The Hospital memorial gifts program offers us the opportunity to do so. Such a memorial would fittingly be dedicated to humanitarian service."

Co-Chairman Marsille stated, "The memorial program offers opportunities for families in the area to have 'Living Memorial' in our Holland Hospital. Memorials of this type are most appropriate because they are permanently dedicated to humanitarian service. We are certain from the interest already expressed that many individuals and families will take the opportunity to pledge such a memorial room during this drive."

White Holiday, Jammed Highways Seen for Midwest

It'll be a cold and blustery Thanksgiving Day in Holland Thursday, and throughout Michigan and the Midwest predictions are about the same.

Of course, there'll be family reunions and friends getting together for turkey dinners. And that means a lot of traffic on the highways, so holiday travelers are urged to drive with care.

Police details throughout the state will be at full strength and officers urge motorists to "take it easy."

A cold front moving eastward from the Rocky Mountains is expected to move into Michigan late today. Snow flurries and squalls and winds from 20 to 30 miles an hour are predicted. Heavy snow warnings have been sounded in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Upper Michigan.

Extensive slippery spots have already been reported on Upper Peninsula roads and snow has caused hazardous driving conditions in some areas.

So far, Lower Michigan roads have been unhindered by the weather, but Thanksgiving traveling and the return of thousands of deer hunters is expected to be hazardous enough.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams said today all state police would be pressed into service to keep the traffic death toll down. Last Thanksgiving, traffic accidents claimed 28 lives in Michigan. Nation-wide, the National Safety Council has expressed hope the bad weather will keep many drivers home and hold the country's death toll below the 110 who die on a non-holiday Thursday late in November.

Outside the Michigan area and the plains states, which should look white Thursday, the rest of the nation can look for cold air and blue skies. New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas have already reported temperature drops and the Dakotas and Ohio Valley are chilly as well.

A tug boat, which had towed the barge through the channel worked for several hours this morning, but was unable to free the vessel. ## Palette and Masque Club To Present Melodrama

The Hope College dramatic society, Palette and Masque, will present a melodrama, "Because Their Hearts Were Pure," for the first production of the current school year. The announcement was made by Dale De Witt, director of dramatics at the college. He said the play will be presented in the Little Theatre Nov. 29, 30 and Dec. 1.

"Because Their Hearts Were Pure" is the story of the trials and tribulations of a noble and handsome hero and his sweet and lovely heroine against the heartless, villain, Sebastian Hardacre, the banker villain, attempts to foreclose on an old family mortgage and thus gain possession of the family mine and win the hand of lovely Melody. His wicked attempts are foiled, and the hero, recalling once again the words of his dying father, "Your strength will be the strength of ten, if but your hearts are pure," triumphs in the end. The hero and heroine, of course, find wealth and happiness together.

Because the play is a melodrama of the 1890's, not only will the scenery depict the period, but also there will be per-curtain and between act entertainment, for which Delbert Farnsworth, a junior from Wayland, will M. C. A piano off-stage will emphasize dramatic high points with typical old-time movie theater music.

The above photograph shows the life-saving valves which will be inserted in Douglas' head with tubes leading to the brain and jugular to carry off the fluid. Doctors earlier had held out little hope for any cure for Douglas. The new valves were perfected by a Philadelphia man whose own son was dying from hydrocephalus. The valves and an operation saved his life. (Sentinel photo)

Chix Tops on Ground, But, Oh, Those Passes

ZEELAND (Special) — Boss on the ground, but, oh, those passes. That about sums up the statistical part of the Zeeland High School football story for the 1956 campaign.

Coach Jarold Groeters' Chix kept ahead of their foes on the ground, but couldn't knock down enough enemy aerials, and that was much of the reason they fell from an undefeated season in 1955 to a not-so-lustrous 3-5 mark this year.

The year-end sheet shows Zeeland rushed for 1,478 yards, 236 more than their opponents, but almost half the passes thrown by the Chix nine opponents were completed for a total of 2,115 yards. Zeeland, on the other hand, completed only slightly better than a third of their 75 pass attempts, and finished with 1,916 yards gained in the air.

Chix defenders allowed 41 of 89 passes thrown to get past them.

Zeeland Picks Beyer

ZEELAND (Special) — The selection of senior Ron Beyer as the most valuable player of the season was announced Thursday night by Zeeland High School Coach Jarold Groeters. Beyer was the captain of the 1956 team and was named to the all-Keweenaw league second team. Zeeland policy is to elect the season captain in the fall and pick a co-captain on the Monday before each game.

At the same time, Ron Beyer, who threw all but two of the 75 passes tried by the Chix, completed 28. Outside that deadly aerial game, the Chix, who specialized in last-second wins and losses, pretty much outdid their foes.

They rolled to 92 first downs and limited the opposition to 87. They booted 24 punts for 772 yards and received 19 which traveled a total of 538 yards. They fumbled 21 times and recovered 30 misplays. They were only penalized 165 yards while advancing behind the referee for 240 yards.

In total points, though, they were beaten. Zeeland scored 85 points, largely distributed between Beyer, Ron Bekins and end Ron Komejans. Beyer and Bekins had 24 apiece and Komejan had 20, eight of which came on conversions.

Bekins was the workhorse of the team, the statistics show, carrying the ball 119 times for 424 yards. Top average among the toters was compiled by John Bloemendaal, with a 4.3 yard average in 62 runs which netted 257 yards. Other busy backs included Laverne Slag with a 3.9 average resulting from 242 yards on 62 carries and Beyer, who carried 59 times for 222 yards and a 3.8 average.

Defensively, the Chix gave up 113 points. Final totals give the tackling title to Rog Yntema, with Norm Wiggers, Marvin Feenstra, Jerry Myard and Junior De Jonge bunched behind him.

The Chix will lose four regulars (Yntema, Beyer, Komejan and Bekins) to graduation. Komejan and Yntema were named to the all-Keweenaw league first team and Beyer and Wiggers were picked for the second team. Bekins was given honorable mention.

$30,000 Already Is Pledged for Local Hospital

Acceptance of individual responsibility by public spirited citizens is the basis of the successful progress being made in the Holland Hospital advance drive, Russell J. Fredericks stated Nov. 17 in announcing for the Campaign Executive Committee that $30,000 had been pledged toward a goal of $150,000.

"In this 'second mile' endeavor it is essential that everyone realize that only by the acceptance of individual responsibility in making three-year pledges to the hospital building fund will it be possible to raise the needed funds to complete construction and purchase necessary equipment," Mr. Fredericks added.

"Because it is necessary to conduct the drive on an individual basis no benefits or special money raising projects in behalf of the hospital will be sanctioned. Another reason why permission will not be given to any organization or group to conduct a benefit is that such activity would mean duplication of effort and multiplicity of solicitation. In our campaign program a person will be solicited only once. In view of this fact and the necessity of making this drive the final appeal for funds for our hospital we hope that everyone will give proportionate to his ability through a three-year pledge."

The advance drive will be completed by Nov. 30. The general public campaign will start Dec. 3 and will be completed by Dec. 20.

was given for 15 hours over a three-day period by Miss Elizabeth Ohlrogge, an art consultant. She is standing in front of the tables (back to camera) discussing the various things that can be done with common crayons, water colors and standard art equipment. (Sentinel photo).

32 Letterwinners Named; Bennink To Lead Harriers

To the surprise of few of the 200 persons at Hope College's annual fall sports banquet Thursday night, Zeeland senior Dave Kuyers was named the most valuable player on the Hope football team for the 1956 season.

Mert Vanderlind, junior half-back from Grand Rapids, was chosen as the team captain for the 1957 campaign.

For Kuyers the award climaxed a brilliant four-year career with the Dutch. In 1954 he was selected all-MIAA fullback. This year he led the league in rushing with an unofficial total of 508 yards and was the captain of the team.

About the only football laurel left for Kuyers to pick up is the Randall C. Bosch trophy given annually to the most valuable player in the MIAA. The recipient is picked from the most valuable players of the six conference schools which participate in football.

Vanderlind finished runnerup to Kuyers in the Hope rushing derby and landed high in the conference rushing statistics.

Both had a lot to do with Hope's 1956 record of four wins and four losses and the Dutch's third place finish in the MIAA. Kuyers has been dubbed "Mr. Inside" for his powerful plunges over guard and off tackle. He was hurt in the first game of the year and sat out the Wabash contest. He played with part effectiveness in the Kalamazoo game and finished out the year with top performances.

In announcing Kuyers' selection, head coach Russ De Vette praised his leadership qualities and said he typified a Hope athlete. He added that he doubted "if a greater football player has even been selected to receive this award at Hope."

Vanderlind rolled up an unofficial total of 408 yards rushing in the conference and has gone by the moniker of "Mr. Outside." He swept the ends and sliced the tackles in picking up his yardage, although he more than once was called upon to dive over the middle.

Cross-country coach Larry Green announced that Carroll Bennink had been chosen captain of the 1957 Hope cross-country team and revealed the names of five letterwinners of the team that finished third in the MIAA.

The 200 persons at the banquet in Durfee Hall represented the two Hope teams, alumni and coaches and players from 22 high schools in the Holland area.

Coaches Green, Gordon Brewer and De Vette received gifts from their squads as did the managers and athletic director Al Vanderbush.

The five winners of cross-country letters were Bennink, Ron Den Uyl, John Needham, Herb Widmer and Harry Wristers. Dan Meeuwse was awarded a manager's letter.

The football coaches also revealed the list of 32 gridderos who won letters this fall. They included: Ron Beuker, Ron Bronson, Bill Brookstra, Charles Coulson, John De Fouw, Earl De Witt, Jim De Witt, Jack Faber, Ken Faber, Dick Gantos, Del Grissen, Tom Harris, Jerry Hendrickson, Jim Hilbert, Kuyers.

Don Lautenbach, Curt Menning, Jim Menzer, Don Paarburg, George Peelan, Matt Peelan, Dyke Rotschafer, Ty Rupp, Ron Siebling.

Larry Ter Molen, Vanderlind, Gene Van Dongen, Harry Voss, Pete Watt, Ron Weatherbee, Paul Wiegertink and Tom Zwerner.

Head manager Henry Doele and assistants Carl Ver Beek and Bob Hoffman were awarded letters for their work.

Senior Tom Harris was chosen to receive the coaches' award for his general attitude and high personal qualities.

Dr. Kent W. Leach, Director of the Bureau of School Services at the University of Michigan announced today that Holland High School has been accepted for accreditation.

In a letter to the administration of Holland High he stated as follows: "We are pleased to inform you that Holland High School has been placed on the list of Secondary Schools accredited by the University of Michigan for a four-year period beginning July 1, 1957 and ending June 30, 1961."

This action was taken on the basis of the recent examination of Holland High School by a group of educators from the University of Michigan headed by Dr. Donald W. Dolan.

Work now is being concentrated at the filtration plant near Tunnel Park, since the pipe at the bridge at North River Ave. is virtually completed. Cement has been poured and the pipe has been painted, although the heater which will warm the pipe inside the housing on the north bank of the Black River has not yet been installed.

Meanwhile, out at the filtration plant, it's just a matter of construction. The difficulties encountered over the roofing contract delayed the painting and plastering, but that inside work is now progressing fairly well, Bell said.

Guy E. Bell, superintendent of the Board of Public Works, said today the water pipeline from Lake Michigan to the city might be in operation by Christmas.

Work now is being concentrated at the filtration plant near Tunnel Park, since the pipe at the bridge at North River Ave. is virtually completed. Cement has been poured and the pipe has been painted, although the heater which will warm the pipe inside the housing on the north bank of the Black River has not yet been installed.

Vows Spoken at Borculo Church

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jay Bosch

Marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Katherine Mae Ham and Alfred Jay Bosch in a double ring ceremony performed Friday, Nov. 9, in Borculo Christian Reformed Church. A lighted arch trimmed with white pompons and huckle-berry branch provided the setting for the rites read by the Rev. Gerard Van Gronigen.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Ham, 525 Van Raalte Ave., chose a gown of nylon tulle and chantilly lace over white satin. Style features included a scalloped Sabrina neckline and long pointed sleeves. Matching lace formed the top tier of the tulle skirt. A small lace hat trimmed with seed pearls held in place a fingertip hand-rolled edge veil. She carried an oval colonial arrangement of sweetheart pink roses and shattered carnations with streamers touched with pink rosebuds. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Sylvia Ham attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of rose color tulle over taffeta, with white lace at the waist coming to points at the sides. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Gordon De Jonge, sister of the groom, and Miss Stephanna Veltkamp, aunt of the bride, wore aqua color gowns fashioned like the maid of honor's. They carried large nosegays of mums on lemon leaves with white streamers.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Bosch of route 1, Zeeland, selected his brother John Bosch as best man. Seating the guests were Marvin Bosch, brother of the groom and Justin Gebben. The flower girl, Yvonne Boetsema, wore a white dress with aqua nosegay. She is a niece of the groom. Tommy John Ham, cousin of the bride, as ringbearer, carried the rings on a white satin pillow. Organist Miss Betty Marcus, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Linda Kalkman who sang "I Love You Truly," "God Gave Me You" and "Wedding Prayer."

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ham wore a dusty rose suit with navy accessories and a deep rose corsage. Mrs. Bosch, the groom's mother, selected a navy blue dress with pink accessories and a light pink rose corsage.

The newlyweds greeted 115 guests at a reception held in the church basement. Miss Lucille Geurink and Douglas Wierda served punch and Mrs. Marvin Bosch, Mrs. Peter Hassevoort and Miss Helen Ham were in charge of the gift room. Mr. and Mrs. John B. Ham were master and mistress of ceremonies. Bette Ham passed the guest book. The guests were served by the Misses Von Langejans, Jan Mokma, Ruth Bareman, Shelby Beagle, Thelma Beelen and Carol Strabbing.

Coming from Manhattan, Mont., for the wedding were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. K. man, Miss Stephanna Veltkamp, Mrs. Herman Broekema and Dianne. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bosch came from Lansing.

The couple are at home at 795 Lincoln Ave., following a honeymoon to Northern Michigan. For traveling the new Mrs. Bosch wore a brown and black print dress and light beige fallie duster.

The bride, a graduate of Holland Christian High School, is bookkeeper at Peoples State Bank. The groom was graduated from Holland Christian High School and attended Davenport Institute in Grand Rapids. He is employed by Suburban Motor Sales.

Hope One of 297 Schools To Receive Esso Grant

Hope College has been designated one of 297 privately supported colleges and universities in the United States who will share grants totaling $1,191,450, the Esso Education Foundation announced today. Hope's share will be $2,000, the same amount received in 1955.

The largest share of the grants will go to 256 institutions in the form of unrestricted grants for undergraduate education. Other grants are to be used for building, research, medical studies and human relations studies.

Hope was one of five Michigan colleges to be picked. The others are Albion, Calvin, Kalamazoo and the University of Detroit. The amount of each contribution was not disclosed by the Foundation.

At Hope, the funds will be used for unrestricted undergraduate education.

Lilacs and larches should be planted in the fall, since they start their growth early in the spring. This also applies to all types of ornamental trees that mature early.

Tax Forms Will Be Ready Soon

Federal income tax forms for the preparation of 1956 returns will be available about Dec. 3 in reasonable quantities to accountants, attorneys and other professional personnel who need advance copies, A. M. Menninger, District Director of the Detroit office of the Internal Revenue Service, said today. A few advance sample copies for study are available now.

Individual taxpayers on record will receive their forms and instruction booklets through the mails on the same schedule as last year, during late December or early January, Menninger said.

There are few changes in the form other than minor revisions for clarity and simplification. The instruction booklet which accompanies it has been changed, however, to provide a line-by-line series of explanations, keyed to the arrangement of the form and its sequence of entries.

New type-faces have been used in both form and booklet. Menninger said, and should, with the simplified treatment and explanations, make preparation of a return much easier than in past years.

Members of professions requiring advance copies of forms should write the District Director at Detroit (or local office), for study samples immediately available or bulk shipments after Dec. 3.

Two Cars Damaged

Two cars received minor damage Wednesday afternoon when they collided on the M-21 bypass and Fairview Rd. Involved were cars driven by Gladys Brummel, 31, route 2, Zeeland, and Gerald Meyer, 153 East 18th St. Ottawa County deputies said neither driver was injured.

Burning of coal and oil in the next 50 years will release an estimated 1,700 billion tons of new carbon dioxide.

Committee Prepares Ticket-Programs for Event

Junior Welfare League Plans Candy Cane Ball

Junior Welfare League will present its second annual Charity Candy Cane Ball at Holland Civic Center Saturday, Dec. 22, at 9 p.m. Plans for the holiday event are well underway, according to the general chairmen, Mrs. Joseph Borgman, Jr., and Mrs. L. W. Lamb, Jr.

In contrast to last year's pink and silver sophistication scene, this year's ball will feature an old-fashioned Christmas, with traditional holiday decor. Music for dancing will be provided by Frank Lockage and his band, popular dance ensemble in this area. The evening's entertainment also will include a floor show.

Ticket sales for the dance are already underway, even the tickets following the old-fashioned scene. They are designed to serve as dance programs after the "stubs" is removed upon admission.

Other chairmen of committees are Mrs. Delwyn Van Tongeren, orchestra and floor show; Mrs. David Gier and Mrs. William Lalley, decorations; Mrs. Ted Boeve, cleanup, and Miss Doris Wieskamp and Mrs. Carl C. Van Raalte; publicity.

Zeeland

Corp. Lester Lewis of Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. arrived Monday to spend a 20-day furlough with his mother, Mrs. Delia Lewis of Washington St. He will be back at his work November 29. He spent his previous furlough in Zeeland last May.

Mrs. I. Van Dyke recently spent a week visiting her brother in Detroit.

James Rookus, a former Zeeland resident, now of Long Beach, Calif., is visiting relatives in Zeeland vicinity. He, with his sister Grace, visited relatives in Bay City recently. He came to Michigan to attend the funeral of his sister, Margaret Rookus.

The Ladies Aid of First Reformed Church met on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. A. G. Pyle presiding. The program was in charge of Mrs. Philo Riemersma. The opening hymn was "What A Friend We Have in Jesus." Mrs. A. Walters gave a meditation on "Gratitude" in keeping with Thanksgiving Day. Mrs. John Bouma read the scripture from Psalm 103 and Mrs. J. Vrugink read a meditation on Psalm 103. A poem entitled, "A Woman Counts Her Blessings," was read by Mrs. John Fris. Prayer was offered by Mrs. A. Mulder. The closing hymn was "Jesus Paid It All." Hostesses were Mrs. Ben Sneller and Mrs. P. Pyle. The Lions Club held their regular meeting on Monday evening.

A. C. Vanden Bosch, program chairman for November, introduced the speaker, Robert Daverman. Mr. Daverman is an engineer, with the firm of J. and G. Daverman and Co., architects of Grand Rapids who reported that their firm is at present making a study of atomic energy preparatory to drawing up plans for an electric plant to be erected near Hersey. This plant will be for production of electricity by using atomic energy instead of the conventional fuels. Lorenzo Meengs, president of the Lions Club, announced that the project for the shelter house at the athletic field is showing excellent progress and sufficient funds are on hand to insure ultimate success of the venture.

The Zeeland Kiwanis Club held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening, with Ron Scott, representing the Michigan Insurance Information Service. He explained the cost of insurance and said that the motorists have control. He stated that automobile insurance rates are primarily the product of the number of traffic accidents multiplied by the cost per accident, and every motorist has two fields of opportunity to help hold down the rates.

At the Tuesday noon luncheon meeting of the Zeeland Rotary Club, program chairman, Dick Yerkey, introduced the speaker and narrator, Leslie Livingston of Grand Rapids. Mr. Livingston has made big game hunting trips into Canada and British Columbia and he showed colored slides and explained interesting experiences. George Allen, project chairman announced that starting next week, Junior Rotarians from the high school will begin attending the club meetings.

Several members of the Gilbert D. Karsten Post 33 Ladies' Auxiliary attended the Christmas Gift Shop at the VA Hospital in Battle Creek, last Tuesday. This is a rehabilitation project which provides free Christmas gifts to all patients sent in from auxiliary units all over Michigan.

The next project of the local unit will be a baked goods sale to be held Saturday, Nov. 17 at Haan's Drug store, starting at 10 a.m. Last Tuesday evening a farewell social was held by the congregation of North Street Christian Reformed Church for their pastor the Rev. John Guichelaar, and family who are soon leaving for Grand Rapids.

The Rev. A. De Vries, now retired and a member of the North Street congregation, and former pastor at Borelio, reviewed Rev. Guichelaar's pastorate and expressed the hopes of the congregation for continued blessings upon his labors for the church. Andrew Machiele, vice president of the consistory, represented the congregation. He, in the name of the congregation, presented an American style Colonial clock, made in Zeeland, to the pastor and family. Rev. Guichelaar responded with a short talk of appreciation.

Rev. Guichelaar preached his farewell sermon Sunday. He has accepted a call to the Oakdale Park Christian Reformed Church, Grand Rapids, after serving the local congregation for a little more than six years. The committee in charge of the Social included Gerald Michmerhuizen, Dick Timmer and Marvin Johnson.

The Senior Christian Endeavor Society of First Reformed Church will present the play, "One Foot in Heaven" in the church auditorium November 21 and 22 at 8 p.m. This play, which was taken from the original book, "One Foot in Heaven," is a light comedy but uses this medium to present a story quite applicable to any church. It is a good indication of just how complicated life can be for a minister's family. Mrs. Paul Van Eenennaam is directing the play.

Many gardeners give up weeding at this season. This is a mistake if one wants to prevent weed trouble next year. Weeds should not be allowed to form seed pods before being destroyed since the pods may ripen after the weeds are cut out or pulled out.

Couple Marks 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Knoll of the immediate family held an anniversary dinner at the Knoll home. Mr. Knoll who is 83 years old and Mrs. Knoll who is 79 have resided on route 1 for 58 years. Their children include John Knoll, Mrs. Ben (Martha) Nyland, Theodore Knoll, Lester Knoll and Mrs. Harold (Harriet) Driscoll, all of Holland.

Volleys

Remember City Manager Herb Holt's pigeon plight in this column a short time ago?

Since then there has been a lot of chit-chat, but no avalanche of letters to the editor (or to Holt) on how to solve the "dirty bird" problem downtown.

Since the article appeared in the same issue as the story on BB-shooting prize winners, it remained for Neal Houtman of the Board of Public Works to point out that maybe the crack BB marksmen should have the honor of taking potshots at the unwelcome guests.

But Holt received one reply from a Kalamazoo source which sounds more encouraging than other solutions. A local resident had thoughtfully mailed a clipping of the Volleys column to Kalamazoo.

This answer advances a new product which when applied to convenient roosts gives the offending pigeons or starlings a "mild hot-foot" and the birds do not return so long as the compound remains. Some buildings remain bird-proof for several years.

In addition to the "hot foot" treatment, the compound is strongly repellent. The chemical does not kill or injure the birds — it only stops them from roosting where they create a nuisance. It is completely odorless to humans, but not to birds. In fact they find its odor intolerable.

The "dirty bird" problem has had a long history. According to a leaflet published by the Ohio Municipal League, the common pigeon, an Asiatic bird, is not protected by federal regulation nor by any migratory bird treaty with any foreign country.

Their main character defects which make up a social problem are (1) they make too much noise; (2) their uncivilized habits deface the surroundings and imperil people walking below; and (3) their very numbers mar architectural beauty. The same criticism also applies to starlings, and some cities have found similar fault with woodpeckers and even squirrels.

Cities have tried numerous devices and gimmicks over the last 15 years. In Cincinnati, crews of expert civilian marksmen shot down 6,000 starlings from their roosts in the downtown area. The city received some protests, but expressions of commendation exceeded objections voiced. Damage by small shot was extremely slight and all damage was promptly repaired by city forces.

New York City "pigeon proofed" its city hall by replacing exterior stonework and installing an electronic, pulsating device to shock and irritate pigeons resting on sills and other projections. In terms of pain, the bird received about the same jolt as a human who touches metal after walking across a thick rug.

A rather unique approach is to gin spike some mash and place it near their favorite roosting places. It is reported that the birds get so drunk they fall from their perches and can easily be picked up for disposal.

Some cities have attempted the use of fake owls to scare off the pigeons, but often the owls simply become favorite roosts. Imitation snakes on window ledges and other roosting places have had only a temporary effect. Strips of steel with spikes also have discouraged birds temporarily only to have them build stronger and sturdier nests between and behind the spikes. Metal placed on such an angle that birds slip from the perch has been slightly more satisfactory.

In Newtown, Mass., the city forester effectively removed pigeons from City Hall by using his high pressure tree sprayer. Detroit used high pitched whistles to get rid of the starlings. In Springfield, Ill., strings of firecrackers had to be set off every evening just before the building disgorged its employees. Workmen later removed 17 tons of bird refuse from the ancient structure before spreading chemicals on favored roosting places.

All in all, municipalities throughout the country have gassed, intoxicated, electrocuted, scared, shoed, blown, shot and screamed at these pesky birds.

Holt has been revising his attitude on "public nuisance." It appears that action on the part of the property owner in applying chemicals to roosting places on buildings may be the most effective solution.

One reason pigeons flock around city halls, state houses, auditoriums and post office buildings is that people feed them. New York has undertaken to remind residents that it is against the litter law to feed pigeons.

Music for the evening was provided by Mrs. Ramona Swank and Mrs. Bertha Mattison. Refreshments followed the meeting. Table decorations were in charge of Gertrude Van Syper, featuring a harvest theme with a horn of plenty as the centerpiece. At each place was a tiny replica of the centerpiece. The favors were made by Mrs. Adrian Bort. Refreshments were in charge of the Bible staff headed by Mrs. Mae Pierson.

THE BIG EAR — A recent highly critical listening device erected at the air spotting tower near Washington Ave. and 29th St. makes it possible to pick up sounds of planes 15 to 20 miles away before they are spotted. Mary McLean (left) and Mrs. Win Roser (top) stand near the speaker that was installed inside the tower. High atop the tower is the device which picks up the sounds. T/Sgt. Jack Jones and S/Sgt. Clarence Kitchen (bottom) hold it before attaching it to the top of the tower. When sounds of aircraft are heard a bell rings inside the shack alerting the observer who then spots it with field glasses. The sensitive device also picks up voices and nearby traffic. These sounds are used as the basis for tuning the set. Then when louder noises or unusual sounds are heard the bell rings. Similar sets have been installed in Grand Haven and Muskegon and at other communities around the perimeter of the state.

Viennese Waltzes Thrill Large Audience Here

A thoroughly delightful program highlighting familiar Viennese waltzes was presented before a large audience in Civic Center Monday night by the Vienna String Symphony which is making its second United States tour under its talented conductor, Kurt Rapf.

Favorites with the audience naturally were the well-known Strauss waltzes in which Conductor Rapf, pianist and harpsichordist as well as a conductor, directed from the piano.

In addition to the scheduled Strauss waltzes and "Tales of the Vienna Woods" and "Perpetual Motion," the string symphony played as encore Strauss' "Pizzicato Polka" and to the great delight of the audience, "Blue Danube Waltz."

For the student of the strings, perhaps the most enjoyable was Handel's fifth concerto in which the mellow muted tones of strings at their best were brought out under Conductor Rapf, a musician's musician who organized the Vienna String Symphony back in 1945.

Although she was indisposed, Rosl Schraiger, coloratura soprano, made her two scheduled appearances, singing an aria from Haydn's "Orpheus and Eurydice," and the Strauss "Delihen - Waltz."

Had there been no mention of her illness, few if any would have noticed any deviation from a great talent which has been displayed in such leading operatic roles as Gilda in Rigoletto, Sophie in Rosenkavalier and Rosina in The Barber of Seville.

Her illness was described by other symphony musicians at a coffee after the concert downstairs in Civic Center as a throat condition brought on mainly by the dry heated interiors in this country — a sharp contrast to condition of European violinists. His group arrived in this country only Nov. 5, and since then have traveled in heated buses, stayed in heated hotels and appeared in heated auditoriums.

Displaying a talent usually found in only the most experienced of older musicians was the young concertmaster of the symphony, Edward Melkus, who made his American debut as soloist on the current American tour. At 28, he is judged to be one of the foremost talents among the younger generation of European violinists. His selections with symphony accompaniment were a Mozart rondo and a Vieuxtemps Polonaise.

The company left Holland at 10 a.m. today for an appearance to night in Kankakee, Ill., and then to Keokuk, Ia. The string symphony will make several nightly appearances in midwestern states and fill three engagements in the New York area before returning home for Christmas. Thereafter, the musicians, each a soloist in his own right, will return to their various spots in large Vienna orchestras, pursue individual concert tours or teach in music academies.

At the beginning of the concert Arthur C. Hills, president of the Holland Civic Music Association, announced again that the Goldovsky Opera Theater will appear in Holland Monday, Nov. 26, instead of its scheduled date on season tickets of Nov. 29.

Many concert goers noted considerable improvement in crowd conduct. There was a minimum of movement in the audience during selections and a general attentiveness not always evident in Holland audiences. Only possible mar was the rather large number which left their seats before house lights were turned on after the last encore.

Free Competition Is Best at Home, Den Uyl Believes

"The strong winds of free competition, of free enterprise, blow nowhere as freely as here at home."

That was one of the conclusions reached by S. D. Den Uyl of Detroit and Holland, president of Bohn Aluminum and Brass Corp. and chairman of the Seventh International Trade Tour which took 35 Detroit business executives on an around-the-world tour sponsored by the Detroit Board of Commerce.

Another conclusion reached by the group was that the basic aspirations of businessmen in all countries visited were much the same as those of American businessmen — to exercise the best business judgment without excessive government interference; to provide more and better goods for more people and, by and large, to exchange goods and services more freely between countries so that the standards of living may rise everywhere.

The group visited Brussels, Belgium; the Belgian Congo in Africa; the Union of South Africa, Australia and New Zealand. Nearly all travel was by airlines of many nations.

Den Uyl said it was significant that all countries on the tour import more from the United States than this country buys from them. "As exponents of free trade, we were asked frequently why the United States maintained certain restriction on imported goods and what could be done to export more to the United States in order to narrow or eliminate the imbalance in their trade position."

"In Australia and New Zealand, particularly, there was a strong feeling that the United States was trading dangerously close to dumping surplus agricultural commodities on world markets to the detriment of the historical suppliers of these commodities. It must be admitted, however, that these countries are quite aware of the fact that the United States government is endeavoring to avoid charges of dumping by being extremely cautious in the sale of its surplus agricultural commodities."

"There was tremendous interest in the views on foreign trade as promulgated by the Detroit Board of Commerce. In most countries, businessmen were well aware of the difficulties inherent in increasing exports to the United States. We found them uniformly interested in the creation of a business climate in which American direct foreign investments might contribute to the increase of productivity and the standard of living."

"Perhaps more important, we learned that there is transcendent depth of good will and understanding for the position of the United States today in world trade and world affairs. I am sure that every participant in the Seventh International Trade Tour will agree with me that private visits by private businessmen are most constructive to better international business relations and to a better understanding of the American viewpoint of the world around," Den Uyl concluded.

Veteran, 'Upstart' Leaving Hope's Harrier Squad

Two of Hope College's best hill and dale lopers — a veteran and an "upstart" — will be graduating in June after exchanging a pile of records over the past two years.

The veteran is Ron Den Uyl of Holland, who has been a cross-country star for six years, both at Holland High School and at Hope.

The "upstart" is Herb Widmer, a mathematics major from Edgewater, N. J., who never ran a competitive step until his junior year at Hope — and then went on to eclipse most of the marks Den Uyl set in his first two years.

Widmer never did an athletic thing at Englewood High School. He lived about 10 miles away and dependence upon a school bus cut cold any sports desires he had.

Den Uyl had it just the opposite. He was the mainstay of his high school team for two years and still holds the school record of 9:43 for the two-mile course at the American Legion Country Club. He also did a lot of distance running for the track team in the spring.

The boys are somewhat opposite in appearance, too. Widmer is five feet, eleven inches tall and has a light complexion, while Den Uyl stands five-foot-seven and is dark. Den Uyl is married and Widmer is single. Besides their like for cross-country, they are both interested in engineering.

With no high school background, Widmer, 20, didn't try out for athletics when he got to Hope in the fall of 1953. But Coach Larry Green spotted him in a physical

HURRYING HARRIERS — Veteran Ron Den Uyl, left, congratulates "upstart" Herb Widmer as the pair of seniors finish careers with the Hope College cross-country team. education class and asked him to give the harrier team a try.

Herb explains that he always liked to run, so went out and soon was chasing Den Uyl's records.

In his first meet he broke the 21:21 school mark Den Uyl had set as a freshman. That record was about as permanent as paper stove-top and Widmer went on to smash it week after week. He finally reached his peak against Alma with a 20:57 jaunt around the four-mile course.

For Den Uyl, it was a case of he and 1957 captain-elect Carroll Bennink chasing Herb over the finish line. Widmer, the 1956 captain, finished first in four of Hope's six MIAA dual meets and it was usually a toss-up between Ron and Bennink for the second Hope scorer.

Den Uyl feels his freshman year was his best. He worked during his sophomore and junior years and, as he put it, "the only practice I had was in the meets."

Both the veteran and the "upstart" are now looking forward to track next spring. Widmer last year was second in the MIAA mile and fifth in the two-mile chase. Den Uyl spread his appearances, taking part in both the one and two-mile contests and adding the half-mile, the quarter and the mile relay.

Widmer is going to concentrate on the mile and the half this spring although he has never run in competition in the latter. Den Uyl will stick with the distances, possibly the quarter and the mile relay.

Following graduation, Widmer is looking forward to the service as a possible chance to do more running and Den Uyl will probably try to get a coaching job.

"I wish now I had started running earlier," Widmer said, "I still have a lot to learn." Although he plans to become an engineer, he "wouldn't mind hooking up with some kind of athletic club until I'm 27 or 28. That's when a runner supposedly reaches his peak."

Should Den Uyl become a coach, he plans to keep in shape by running with his squad. "Since I like to run, there's no reason to stand and watch the team," he explained.

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

Is H. L. Mencken in the act of staging a "comeback"? Will the Sage of Baltimore recapture his position on the top rung of the ladder of American literary popularity?

Those questions are suggested by the publication of a new Mencken book under the title "A Carnival of Buncombe." No, Mencken himself is not publishing the book. As you know, he died some months ago. And even before his actual physical death, he suffered what may be called a psychological death about five years ago. He himself said grimly that he had died when he suffered the stroke that first deprived him of his power of thought and action.

But even before that earlier "death" H. L. Mencken had died, in the opinion of many of his former followers as a living power in contemporary literature. Up until about the middle thirties Mencken was a destructive force in both literature and politics that was very good indeed. Regardless of whether you agreed with his ideas or reacted unfavorably toward them, he could not be ignored.

He "made" many writers, among them such famous figures as Sinclair Lewis. He was a powerful force in the ascendancy of the late Theodore Dreiser. And there were many others who owed a great deal to the championship of Mencken.

At the same time he destroyed more reputations than he made. He was death on sentimentalism, on literary or social or political cant. If a writer, no matter how famous and no matter how popular merely voiced the well worn sentimentalisms Mencken went after him with a battery of machine guns. When he got through with such a person, there usually was little or nothing left of him.

And he was equally ruthless toward politicians. In his column in the Baltimore Sun he was constantly making mincemeat of the most exalted figures in contemporary American politics. The new book, "A Carnival of Buncombe," is made up of excerpts from those famous columns that were often syndicated and had a wide readership throughout the nation.

Mencken as a political writer was equally devastating for the members of all parties. He was after what he considered buncombe, and he found plenty of it. He declared a war on Harding at a time when that President was still the darling of the Republicans. Later he attacked Franklin Roosevelt with even greater virulence, declaring that FDR's conception of the United States was that of "a milch cow with 125,000 teats."

To Mencken Harding's mind was a "benign blank." Coolidge was a specialist in snoring and his country's life away, Landon was a nonentity, and Hoover was politically lowdown.

It was about the time when Hoover left the political stage that Mencken himself, as a force in literature and politics, began to go into decline. Through the last half of the thirties and during the second World War and the postwar years he increasingly lost effectiveness. When he suffered a stroke in the late forties he was being set down by the new generation as a has-been.

But now he is said to be staging a comeback. It may be that the alleged comeback will presently fade out. Certain it seems to be that the generation of readers that is now coming up will be more restrained about him than those who "made" his great reputation.

St. Lawrence Seaway Discussed at Meeting

Members of the Holland Branch of the American Association of University Women and their guests met at the Hope College Music Building Thursday evening to hear Ralph S. McCrea of the Muskegon Dock and Market Corporation, speak on "The Impact of the St. Lawrence Seaway in Western Michigan."

He said the justification for the Seaway is not only foreign trade, though 95 percent of the world's shipping will then be able to enter it, but the fact that Canada's need for hydro-electric power and as a means of transporting their grain abroad, and also for U. S. flood control and river improvement.

At the time of the Seaway's opening in 1953, there may be but one Michigan port and that one is likely to be Muskegon because of their dock facilities which will be able to take care of the loading and unloading of large ocean vessels, he said. It will bring its problems to Muskegon too in that there will be an unemployment problem for five months of every year for the dock workers, he said.

Passenger travel will undoubtedly increase and it is hoped that much foreign trade will also develop for Michigan products, he said. There are 15 lines operating now on the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes, none of which are U. S. lines.

The audience had many questions in the discussion period which followed.

Don Zoll Speaks To Rotary Club

Don Zoll, representing the Ottawa County Humane Society, was speaker at the Rotary Club Thursday noon luncheon meeting in the Warm Friend Tavern.

Speaking on the basic philosophy of the Humane Society, all said social progress as a whole has made rapid strides in the United States in recent years. These higher standards of social and humane living involves secondary problems of humane treatment for dumb animals, he said.

Objectives of the Ottawa County Humane Society are to solve the problem of the collection of stray animals and, if possible, to find new homes for them, Zoll said. Another major objective is to educate the public in the proper humane care of animals, he added.

The Society is not intended to be a police force but is more a service organization to offer help, advice and counsel in cases of complaint, he said, and Ottawa County is fortunate to have had a shelter already built with a capacity for 75 animals.

He concluded with the statement that the success of the Ottawa County Humane Society will depend not only on the money secured or the people involved but on the attitude of the public in general to the basic philosophy and ideals of the Humane Society.

Included in the program was a colored sound film showing how the services are performed by the Humane Society in the state or Oregon.

TREE DEMOLISHES AUTO — Strong winds toppled a huge tree shortly before 8 a.m. Friday sending it crashing through a car driven by Fred Smith, 32, of 577 Grove Ave., as he headed west on South Shore Dr. at Jenison Park. Smith was on his way to pick up a co-worker when the tree snapped off near the base and knocked down power and electric lines before striking the car. One branch crashed through the windshield showering Smith with glass. He was not injured. Power was restored at 1 p.m. The size of the tree can be determined by the large branches in the foreground and on top of the vehicle. Ottawa County deputy Ed Kampen (right) and George Schipper, waiting to haul the car away, look at the 1953 model car which received damage estimated at $800. South Shore Dr. in Jenison Park, was blocked for some time until the debris could be cleared away. (Sentinel photo)

Dog Notes

You Can't Get Distemper

Distemper is a disease that all dogs are apt to contract at any age unless proper precautions are taken. It occurs more frequently in pups, however. In some of its aspects there is a marked similarity between canine distemper and influenza in humans.

Therefore, some people believe that a dog can transmit the germ to a human. But scientific experiments have proved that man acquired immunity to canine distemper at some time long since forgotten. Consequently, do not neglect a dog suffering from distemper because you are afraid it is contagious to you. It isn't.

Heated or Unheated

It is now the time of the year when you have to make up your mind to keep your dog in either heated or unheated quarters during the cold months ahead. You must never mix the two. This doesn't mean that a dog kept in the house shouldn't be allowed to run out of doors or that a dog kept in an unheated kennel shouldn't be allowed in the house occasionally. The danger lies in keeping the animal in a warm room one night and then in an unheated one the next. Serious and often fatal colds may result if this is practiced.

Provided a dog is protected from dampness and drafts, he can withstand almost any amount of cold weather. It doesn't make much difference whether the animal is kept in warm or cold quarters, but remember, don't keep changing him from one to the other.

A Platform Is Really Necessary

If you are going to keep your dog out of doors in a pen be sure to see that he has some sort of platform or bench on which he can climb. While a dog often will suffer no harm from lying in the snow, he would rather have a bench or board on which to sun himself. Snow-covered or frozen ground becomes wet and muddy when it begins to thaw. A dog forced to lie unprotected on such ground may develop a serious cold from the dampness. As I have stated before, a dog can stand any amount of cold weather providing he isn't exposed to drafts or dampness.

The Runt Of The Litter

For almost all time it seems that expert dog men have believed in getting rid of the "runt of a litter." The runt is the smallest, weakest and least promising of all the pups. Maybe they have been right in thinking it best to destroy these pups, but personally I disagree.

I have known many runts to grow into magnificent dogs mentally and physically. Not once, but many times, I have seen some grow to win dog show championships or field trial honors. I write about this for the benefit of those of you who want to pay a puppy and yet don't care to pay a stiff price for it.

Breeders often will sell the runt of a fine litter for a mere song; or even give it away to save the trouble of destroying it. And, believe me, most runts turn out to be good dogs.

Couple Escapes Serious Injury

A Hamilton couple escaped serious injury and near drowning Friday evening after their car was struck by a semi on the M-21 bypass at State St., and then knocked into a drainage ditch.

Mrs. Betty Jean Armstrong, 22, received multiple cuts and bruises and a possible skull fracture. She is in fair condition at Zeeland Hospital. Her husband, Reboe, 25, was treated for multiple lacerations and released.

Zeeland police said Armstrong was heading south on State St. He stopped for the first stop sign but failed to halt for the second in the middle of the divided highway and pulled out in front of the semi, police said.

The trucker, James Plaggemeier, 37, of 135 Main St., Hudsonville, said he saw the car pulling out in front of him and slammed on his brakes. The semi, loaded with 17 tons of merchandise, slammed into the side of the car.

The impact knocked it into another car, waiting to cross the highway, driven by Eugene Compagner, 30, route 2, Zeeland. Armstrong's car bounced off, flipped over on its top, and landed upside down in a water filled ditch.

Passing motorists along with Compagner and Plaggemeier pulled the couple from their demolished vehicle. Parts of the car were scattered for dozens of feet around the ditch.

Zeeland police said several witnesses bore out the trucker's statement that the Armstrong car failed to stop for the eastbound traffic on M-21.
