OIL DAM—An emergency dam was erected across the mouth of the creek at Crescent Ave. and 16th St. to stop the flow of oil into Lake Macatawa. Roger Przybysz of the Department of Natural Resources (background) helps install a wire mesh fence behind the wooden dam that traps the oil. The space between the mesh and wooden dams is filled with straw and the loose oil is skimmed from the water's surface and pumped off. Oil was said a half-inch thick on the surface of the water at the creek at one time.

OIL BOOM — A 1,000-foot flotation boom was pulled across the Central Park narrows of Lake Macatawa early Saturday to prevent spilled fuel oil in Lake Macatawa from reaching the Western end of the lake and Lake Michigan. This view looks from East End Dr. across to Gold's Point with Pine Creek Bay to the right. A similar boom was installed around the former Georgian Bay Lines boat docks at 16th St. to entrap as much of the spilled oil as possible. The oil leaked from a damaged storage tank at Bohn Aluminum and spilled into the storm sewer system, emptying into Lake Macatawa near Crescent Ave.

Stretch Booms Across Lake

Officials Work To Contain Oil

Authorities using flotation booms worked Saturday on Lake Macatawa to contain a fuel oil spill near the former Georgian Bay Lines boat docks at 16th St. and prevent it from spreading into other areas of the lake.

The light No. 2 fuel oil leaked from a tank at Bohn Aluminum and Brass Corp., 365 West 24th St., damaged in an industrial accident at 7 p.m. Friday.

Holland deputy fire chief John Du Mez estimated 15,000 gallons of the oil leaked from the tank but said it was not determined how much of the oil seeped into the storm sewer system and found its way into Lake Macatawa.

Flotation booms were stretched across Lake Macatawa at the Central Park narrows early today to prevent oil from spreading into the western end of the lake and into Lake Michigan.

A second boom was used to encircle as much of the oil as possible near the boat docks off 16th St.

Du Mez said firemen were notified at 8:12 p.m. Friday, more than one hour after the oil spill occurred. Firemen were called to the Holland Hitch Co., 430 West 18th St., where employees reported fumes in a storm sewer that runs beneath the plant.

Du Mez said it was determined the smell was from oil and a check was begun toward the south part of the city to determine the source of the oil. He said there was little chance of an explosion because of the 100 degree temperatures necessary to turn the oil into volatile vapors.

Residents of the area were notified of the situation by not told to evacuate, police said.

Du Mez said the oil spill was traced to the Bohn plant. A valve on a 25,000 gallon outdoor storage tank had been damaged in a freak industrial accident, Du Mez said, and the oil flowed unchecked from the tank for about 20 minutes.

Aluminum ingots on a hi-lo truck apparently fell and smashed the valve, Du Mez said.

The oil found its way into the city's storm sewer system. Du Mez said the DNR in Lansing was notified immediately after firemen were told of the oil spill. Department members were rushed to the scene.

The oil flowed from the storm sewers into a creek that empties into Lake Macatawa at Crescent Ave. near 16th St.

DNR crews built emergency dams in the creek to stop as much of the oil as possible, but not before much had reached the lake, Du Mez said.

Du Mez said the lightness of the oil would make it difficult to remove from the lake. Chemicals could be added to the oil which would turn the oil into a foam and make removal easier.

Du Mez said the fire department's rescue truck provided emergency lighting at the creek mouth. Other generators were provided by the Ottawa County Civil Defense and the Tulip City CBRs. The disaster service unit of the Red Cross provided coffee to the workers.

The coast guard assisted DNR personnel in installing the oil booms on the lake.

Clean up crews Monday continued to remove fuel oil from Lake Macatawa that leaked through the city's storm sewer system from a damaged outdoor storage tank at Bohn Aluminum & Brass Corp. Friday.

Representatives of an industrial cleaning firm aided by personnel from the Department of Natural Resources, the Coast Guard, Civil Defense, Holland Township fire department and Bohn Aluminum removed much of the oil from the lake during the weekend.

Chester Harvey, district engineer in Grand Rapids for the DNR, said a southwesterly wind Saturday blew much of the oil slick onto a 1,000 foot stretch of the north shore between Division Ave. and Pinecrest Dr. opposite Kollen Park.

A 1,000 foot floating boom stretched across the Lake Macatawa narrows at Central Park to prevent the oil from drifting into the western half of the lake was deployed to the north shore and corralled the oil slick.

Commercial vacuum trucks sucked up the remaining oil and straw was used to soak up the remaining oil from the shoreline. Crews worked Saturday and Sunday night with portable generators from Civil Defense and the township fire department providing necessary light.

Personnel today moved to the south side of Lake Macatawa near the creek at 16th St. and Crescent Ave. where the oil flowed into lake from the storm sewer. Some of the oil was encircled by another floating boom in the area of the former Georgian Bay Lines docks.

Harvey estimated as much as 4,500 gallons of the number 2 fuel oil may have flowed into Lake Macatawa. Earlier reports said 15,000 gallons may have leaked from the 25,000 gallon storage tank at Bohn where a valve was knocked off by falling aluminum ingots. Some of the oil was contained on the ground.

A Coast Guard helicopter was used to spot the oil slicks on the lake and direct the clean up efforts.

Harvey doubted whether there would be environmental damage to the fish and migratory birds. He said damage to the shoreline from oil saturation was not immediately determined.

He indicated the cost for the clean up might run into the thousands of dollars and that those responsible for the oil leak would have to pay the expenses.

Coal Boat Ends Busy BPW Year

The Holland Board of Public Works, with the arrival today of the coal boat Nicolet, ended its busiest shipping season with 14 cargoes of coal for the generating plant.

The first shipment by boat in the spring is expected in mid-April.

ON 'LISTENING TOUR' — U.S. Rep. Guy Vander Jagt (seated) chats with Floyd Folkert, local merchant, and Gerald Van Noord, realtor at right, in a program of sampling public opinion on a 10-day tour of Michigan's ninth district. Besides meeting constituents in district offices, Vander Jagt stops at coffee places and sometimes goes door-to-door in learning what the people back home want Congress to do.

Support for Nixon High: Vander Jagt

U.S. Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, currently on a 10-day "listening tour" of Michigan's 9th Congressional district, is finding much more support for President Nixon than he ever expected, he told a group at lunch Monday in Warm Friend Motor Inn.

He said attitudes in this part of the country are much different from Washington, D.C., where "crises" appear almost daily on Watergate, the energy crisis and the Middle East, to say nothing of the delay in confirming Michigan's 5th district representative, Gerald R. Ford Jr., as vice president.

"In general, the people in Michigan are much more concerned over the energy crisis than Watergate, and almost unanimously are opposed to a gas tax. They really don't want gas rationing either, but prefer it to a high gas tax," he said.

There is virtual unanimity in wanting Ford confirmed immediately, Vander Jagt said, adding that most people resent Congress taking a 10-day recess while such things as confirmation are pending. In fact, he said, the people here are quite fed up with Watergate developments and want to see Congress get back to work on things that need to be done.

Local people also show great concern over the Middle East and are overwhelmingly opposed to having the United States get into war over there, he said.

Vander Jagt said his "listening tour" covers the entire 9th district from the Traverse City area down the western side of the state including Allegan county. He met constituents in

County School Board Studies Site for Office

GRAND HAVEN — The Ottawa Area Intermediate Board of Education gave further consideration at its monthly meeting Thursday to acquiring land for an intermediate office.

The proposed site could be used not only for the intermediate offices but for the Regional Enrichment Materials Center for which the area district is fiscal agent, but also for a skills center site, if approved at another vote.

The board was informed that the Hamilton Board of Education has gone on record favoring a skills center. This leaves two districts yet to affirm a position of support.

The board was informed that bids for the proposed addition to the Ottawa Area Center will be opened Dec. 20 at 8 p.m. in the intermediate offices. Final installment of payment of $15,000 was received for the center.

Zeeland To Limit Lights For Christmas

ZEELAND — Council Monday adopted a recommended schedule for limited use of outdoor municipal Christmas lighting in the business district in view of the energy shortage.

The lighted decorations will be turned on for fewer hours in the evening and half the regular street lights will be used while the Christmas decorations are turned on.

Council referred to the Board of Public Works a proposal to acquire an interest in the Holland municipal water treatment facilities. The city of Zeeland now purchases its water supply from Holland.

Council approved an across the board five per cent hike in water rates passing on a similar hike in the rates charged by Holland.

Kamminga and Roodvoets of Grand Rapids was awarded a contract to replace a bridge on 104th St. declared unsafe. The street has been closed to traffic and will remain closed until the bridge is completed in February. The bid of $42,230 was the lowest of the six bids received.

Council decided to seek other facilities for storage of park and cemetery maintenance equipment and to return the Lawrence Ave. park building to use by the Girl Scouts. Representatives of the Girl Scouts appealed to council for the return of the use of the building.

Mileage paid city employees for use of their personal cars on city business was increased from 10 cents a mile to 12 cents a mile.

David Bonnema was named to fill a vacancy on the local officers' compensation commission.

Council approved rezoning the north side of Main Ave. between Centennial and Maple from residential to commercial to allow expansion of a facility for the World Home Bible League.

Coaches Pick Calvin To Win MIAA; Hope Fourth

OLIVET—Calvin College was again picked as the team to beat in MIAA basketball at the winter press day here Thursday by the league coaches.

Picked to come in second was Kalamazoo College. Albion was tabbed for a third spot while Hope College, Alma College and Olivet all tied for the fourth spot in the balloting. Adrian College was again the choice to finish last.

The league wrestling and swimming coaches didn't have a pre-season poll.

Russ DeVette of Hope, the dean of MIAA coaches, faces a major rebuilding task as the Dutchmen seek to get back on the winning track after a disappointing 9-13 campaign last year.

Hope graduated three of its four leading scorers last year and the team will probably revolve around the abilities of junior forward Brian Vriesman of Kalamazoo Central.

Vriesman, who now makes his home in Holland, averaged 15 points a game as a sophomore and claimed a team high 27 caroms. He also was first in free throw accuracy.

"Brian could be the mainstay of the club," says DeVette. "All other positions are open. The competition will be tough, close and for the coach, enjoyable."

Candidates for center include 6'4" senior Rick Hakken of Sepulveda, Calif., 6'5" junior Willie Cunningham of Washington D.C., and promising 6'8" freshman Dwayne Boyce of New York City.

Seeking starting guard roles will be 6'2" senior Jack Klunder of Grand Rapids, 6'4" sophomore Dan Van Pernis of Kentwood, 6'2" sophomore Bob Klompars of Midland and 6'4" freshman Jim Hovinga of Jenison.

Bolstering the front line will be 6'3" sophomore Mike Riksen and 6'3" junior Greg Slenk, both of Holland, 6'3" Gordy Alderink of Fennville and 6'4" sophomore Dave Wiest of Jenison.

"We have the best equal overall strength squad since I have been here," stated DeVette.

Jerry Root, a 6'3" junior from Jenison is also a candidate on the Hope varsity.

The Dutchmen freshmen roster includes Warren Berens of Hamilton, Jeff Bremer of Grosse Pointe Farms, Bill Decker of Grand Rapids, Dave De Zwaan of Wyoming, Steve Faas of Muskegon, Bill Fobare of Harper Woods, Ed Jorae of St. Johns, Andy Neapras of Waterloo, N.Y., Jeff Schmidt of Chelsea, Dave Smazik of Berwyn, Ill., Steve Vander Hyde of Grand Rapids, Chris Van Singel of Mason and Jeff Waterstone of Livonia.

The favored Knights of Calvin have either won outright or shared titles in 10 of 20 years in the MIAA.

"We won't have the explosive-ness this year like last when we had Artie Tuls," claimed Coach Ralph Honderd. "However, freshman Mark Veenstra and veterans Greg Broene, Dick Frens, Larry Vander Veen and others should make us a pretty fair club this winter."

Others players on the Calvin varsity roster are Greg Afman, Marc Hoogewind, Phil Tuls, huis and Paul Zwier.

Frens and Tuls played their high school ball at Holland Christian.

Calvin's junior varsity is coached by Mickey Phelps, an ex-MVP in the MIAA for the Knights.

Three of Veenstra's teammates at Hudsonville Unity, Mike Kamps, Barry Capel and Jim De Groot are on the Knights' roster.

"This will definitely be a rebuilding year for us," said Gary Morrison, the successful basketball coach at Olivet College.

During the last three years, the Comets have either won outright or shared the league crown.

Some of the top Comet players are 6'9" center John Nametz, guard Steve Vander Molen, guard Ron Ives, forward Kerry Collins and 6'10" center Fred Livingston, who prepped at River Rouge.

Livingston is improving but he's inconsistent," commented Morrison. "If he comes around like we hope, we could pull off some surprises this year."

The Alma Scots have a new coach in Ed Douma, a former standout at Calvin and with 11 returning letterman, the Scots may pull off a few surprises of their own in 1973-74.

"We lack a rebounding center but we have a fine rebounding forward in 6'3" Jim Parker of Midland High," stated Douma.

"We will be young and inexperienced but the enthusiasm for basketball is greater than ever," claims Albion College's Coach Roy Millis.

Scott Clement of Gobles is expected to head the Britons to an MIAA championship this season after Albion only fell one game short of tying for the title last year.

"Clement could be the best player in the league," said Millis. "If he put it all together like we know he can, we feel that he will definitely be the best."

Millis has four outstanding freshmen on the roster, and two of them Paul Cryderman of Okemos and Bob Currier of Lake City were all-stars.

The other two include 6'7" centers Jim Saur of East Grand Rapids and Mike Kujacinski of Flint Powers.

"This is a young, enthusiastic team that should generate a lot of excitement," said Coach Sonny Means of Adrian. "I think we have an opportunity for a winning year."

Two seniors expected to carry the brunt of the attack are Ernie Del Duchetto and Bruce Martin.

Means calls junior transfer Roy Mitchell "the best" jumper in the MIAA.

Beginning his 19th year at the helm of the Kalamazoo Hornets is Coach Ray Steffen.

"We will be hard pressed to find a replacement for center Jim Van Sweden, last year's league's MVP," says Steffen. "But we have a good group of returning people and I think we will have something to say about who wins this thing."

Kalamazoo has eight returning letterwinners in Pat Cunningham, Bob Dentzman, Doug Knoblock, Dave Kennel, Mark Jackson, Jim Vanderweele, Duane Garner and Ruben Billings.

"We feel that we have the best group of guards in the MIAA and our freshmen class is just outstanding," added Steffen.

3 Overseas Churchmen Enrolled in Seminary

Western Theological Seminary has enrolled three students from overseas churches for the 1973-74 academic year.

George Karunakaran is an ordained presbyter in the Church of South India, serving as chaplain to Bishop Leslie Newbigin, famed Scottish missionary-theologian to the United Church of South India, he also has assignments in church work in Madras City in South India. He has participated for the master of theology degree, majoring in studies related to counseling. Prior to coming to the United States, Karunakaran completed a course in the Christian Counseling Center at Vellore, South India. Remaining in South India are his wife and three children, ages 7, 5, and 1.

At the inaugural service on Oct. 21 for the new president of Western Seminary, Dr. I. John Hesselink, Rev. Karunakaran read a formal communication of congratulations from Bishop Newbigin, and placed an Indian wreath about the shoulders of Dr. Hesselink, symbolizing the close ties between the seminary and the United Church of South India. Etta Fox Questers Sample Recipes Of Pioneer Days

The Etta Fox Chapter of Questers met Monday at the home of Mrs. Clarence Jalling.

Mrs. Mayo Hadden was co-hostess. Mrs. Hadden and Mrs. Jalling presented a delightful program on "Pioneer Recipes and Menus."

The dessert consisted of cakes and cookies made from recipes used in Pioneer America. Ice cream topped the Indian corn pudding.

Ice cream has been made by the Chinese for three thousand years. It is said it was introduced to China by Marco Polo. By 1833 carbonated water was used and in 1874 ice cream soda. Sundae were introduced to skirt a law forbidding beverages to be used on Sunday. In 1904 ice cream cones were sold at the St. Louis Fair.

The Indians' generosity in furnishing the colonists corn sometimes saved them from starvation. Their instruction in planting corn and fertilizing it enabled the pioneers to care for themselves. The Indians taught our forefathers in Holland, Michigan, how to plant corn and make maple syrup. They planted the squashes and the corn and beans from which the Indians taught the white man how to make succotash, an Indian dish we have borrowed. Squash grew wild in America, long before the white man came.

By 1630 the pumpkin was raised. There were many nut trees such as walnut, beechnut and a-orn. The wild animal that provided food was the deer. Squirrels, fish, birds and pigeons were plentiful.

On America's first Thanksgiving cornmeal and hot cakes were made over the open fireplace. In New England the Indians presented the white man wild turkeys and five deer. In 1863 Thanksgiving was made a national holiday. It is said sour bread was brought over to America by Columbus. Many Dutch and German recipes were told about and caused much interest.

Tour of West Ottawa Middle School Held

The West Ottawa Middle School was the site for the Nov. 15 meeting of the American Association of University Women.

Prior to the regular business meeting Fred Meppelink, Jr., supervisor of program development, gave an informative presentation in the new planetarium. The interrelationship of the stars, the planets and our earth was studied while reclining on small forms molded to fit the back and neck. Various star formations at different times of the year were shown.

Edward Roberts, building principal, was introduced by Mrs. Robert Elder, chairman for the evening program. Mr. Roberts described the building structure and operation. A tour of the facility was led with the assistance of faculty members Bruce Pearson, Terry Vander Yagt and Lydia Wickett.

The school has two separate instructional areas for students in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, with specialized areas for physical education, music, and the unified arts being utilized by all the students. The two-schools-in-one approach creates a smaller body of students in each area allowing for closer relationships between students and faculty while the sharing of the specialized areas results in savings in construction and operational costs.

Most instructional areas are flexible in terms of size of groups and variety of activities that can be pursued due to movable bookshelves, cabinets, and folding doors rather than interior dividing walls.

The educational program is designed to allow each student to develop his capabilities to the fullest possible extent for meeting the challenges of a changing world.

Between 2 and 3 p.m., students pursue special interest activities. Volunteer people from the community with a special skill or talent assist in these three-week units. Anyone interested in assisting should contact Mr. Roberts.

Membership in AAUW is open to any college graduate. For further information contact Mrs. Donald Rohlick.

Service of Dedication Climaxes RCA Session

The four-day session of the National Board of Reformed Church Women which concluded at noon Friday reached its climax Thursday night with an impressive service of celebration and dedication in Third Reformed Church.

Geared to the theme of "To everything there is a season and a time to every purpose under the heaven," the public service put into sharp focus the aims of women's work in the church, a restructured program covering the next three years hopefully marking a new era in responsiveness to the local church.

With constant emphasis on a time for remembering, a time to be challenged and a time for commitment, the program of music, meditation and inspiration held just a slight tinge of women's liberation keyed to the theme of an idea whose time had come.

Dr. Donald De Young of New York City, president of General Synod, presented a challenge to the women, an adjustment of the equation of male and female, and a new identity for women's work in the church. He said accomplishments are unlimited so long as people don't care who gets the credit.

Dr. Donald Bosch, for many years a medical missionary in Oman in the Middle East, said the presence of women in church consistories was nothing new — women had served many years in congregations in China and Arabia. He said work done in the church today should have a relevance to today's needs, not just doing what had been done for a long time.

He gave a dramatic illustration forming three groups in the front of the auditorium, calling them churches, and demonstrating the importance of the outward look and the outreach that comes with wider vision, growth and change.

Mrs. I. John Hesselink of Holland, formerly missionary to Japan, lead the devotional period, calling for the transforming power that is the only hope for building, healing, oneness and reformation.

Mrs. Jean Blue, well known author, spoke of herself as a woman, wife, mother, and lastly a writer, regarding the latter as a privilege and honor, and a gift without benefit of formal education. She spoke of the need of involvement, the occasional need for spiritual surgery, the importance of commitment and the outreach of new strengths.

Dr. Beth Marcus, executive director of women's work, led a litany of rededication. Music was provided by Sara Sebald and her guitar and by a women's and girls' choir under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Rietberg. Mrs. Wilbur Wormuth of Schenectady, N.Y., president of Reformed Church Women, gave the welcome.

Grace Guild Learns About Mission Work

Miss Lillian Huisken, a missionary nurse, presently assigned to Oman, Arabian Gulf, was the guest speaker at the Monday evening meeting of the Grace Reformed Church Guild for Christian Service.

Mrs. Dick Vriesman, president, gave the welcome and opened with prayer. The business meeting followed. A table was decorated with the theme "Fruit of Contentment is Happiness." Special music was by Miss Sally Heerspink.

Bible study followed with lesson 9 "A Beautiful Tongue Is An Uncomplaining Tongue." Study leaders were Mrs. Jim De Visser, Mrs. Donald Huisman and Mrs. Chester Raak.

Mrs. Vriesman then introduced the speaker, Miss Huisken began her missionary career in the Sudan in 1949. After all missionaries were expelled from the Sudan in 1963, she was assigned to Ethiopia, where she worked until 1971. She was then assigned to a medical program in Oman, Arabian Gulf, for a six months period, after which she returned to the United States for furlough.

She presently is planning on returning to Oman, however there is a possibility of her return to the Sudan, now that this field is again opening. She told of the various "culture shocks" upon arriving in foreign lands and then upon her return to the United States, and of her work in the areas where she has served.

She showed slides of Ethiopia and answered questions. Miss Huisken then read a report from the Sudan, telling of many people being won to Christ, even in those difficult times.

Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Achterhof, Mrs. Neil Bjorom and Mrs. Russell Brouwer.

Large Crowd Likes "Charley's Aunt"

By Joe Lane
A near-capacity crowd in the Holland Christian High auditorium Thursday night enjoyed the optimistic comedy "Charley's Aunt" by Brandon Thomas. The presentation by the senior class, directed by Nancy Knol and her assistant Kathy Buursma, comes close to capturing the unsophisticated mood of this lively old farce.

"Charley's Aunt" has its uneven spots in the early moments but the production improves by leaps and bounds as the play goes on. By the end of the play, the energetic acting, bright costumes, and supportive technical work had won the hearts of the large audience.

The play is a farce, which means that much is to be made of nothing, with a lot of hamming, and dependence on comic interaction to carry the interest. This production features the antics of John Klompaker in the comic lead of Lord Fancourt Babberly. His straight lines issue from his love-sick college chums, played ably by Carl Slenk and Ray Buursma; and from their sweethearts, played by Ingrid Polet and Pat Marcus. Adding to the chuckling mood are the bright, colorful costumes by Sharon Genzink and her crew. The two male "romantic" leads wear letter sweaters, saddle shoes — the works. The ladies are gaily bedecked in long, bright dresses.

But the most striking aspect of the production is the real attempt to capture the spirit and acting style of the farce, and the contrast of the relatively straight characters — Buursma, Slenk, and the girls, primarily — with the boisterous comic roles — mainly Klompaker and Stephen Spettigue, played by Larry Vander Hulst. It is attempt which comes closer and closer as we near the final curtain, but somehow falls just short.

'Holly Street' Is Theme Of League Charity Ball

Decorations for the annual charity ball given by the Junior Welfare League are always tied in with the theme of the ball. This year the League is making lanterns to line the Old English Street scenes for the gala event which will be held on Saturday, Dec. 8 in the Civic Center from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

"Holly Street," the formal theme of this year's ball, will be carried out in decorations throughout the Civic Center. Guests will enter on a red carpet which leads them to Holly Street. Old English style buildings flanked by lighted Christmas trees will greet guests in the lobby.

Inside the main ballroom, setting the mood for dancing, guests will feel the atmosphere of old England as they are surrounded by more buildings and hanging lanterns aglow for the holidays. Twinkling lights on Christmas trees lining Holly Street complete the setting.

Seating this year will be in small semi-circles with several tables inside each circle. Table decorations consist of red globe candles circled with holly. The balcony will be open for listening pleasure.

Optimistic Note For Hope Matmen

Seven returning lettermen and some outstanding freshman prospects lend an optimistic note to the Hope wrestling picture this winter.

George Kraft, who has guided the Flying Dutchmen since wrestling was instituted at Hope, begins his seventh year at the helm. Dr. Kraft is a 1962 graduate of Wheaton College and received his Ph.D. from Indiana University in 1970. He also serves as offensive line coach of the Hope football team.

Probably two of the team's best wrestlers will be vying for the same spot as juniors Paul Cornell and Kevin Boerman seek to represent the Dutchmen in the unlimited (heavyweight) division. Boerman was all MIAA as a freshman going through league competition undefeated. He missed last season due to academic problems. Cornell was his capable replacement wrestling to the heavyweight title in the Great Lakes Colleges Association (GLCA) meet.

Other returning lettermen include sophomore Jim Cannon (138), junior Ed Chavez (118), senior Dan Dykstra (167), junior Les Hill (158) and sophomore Dave Kieffer (142).

Among the freshman prospects are Mike Van Hemert (134) who posted a 35-3 his past two years at Fremont (Mich.) High School and was Class B state runnerup as a senior; Tom Barkes (126) of Mishawaka, Ind., who was 20-2 as a senior advancing to the Indiana state regional finals; and Kirby Howard (150) of Holland High who qualified for the Class A state meet as a senior.

AT HOME IN SPACE

"Glad to be home" is what Skylab 3 commander Gerald P. Carr said when he and his buddies linked up with Skylab the other day. It gives one a funny feeling to think that we can now feel comfortable and domestic in space.

In the memories of those of our citizens who are now collecting their old-age pensions the beginnings of this era of mechanical developments are still pretty clear. There were the days of the first Tin Lizzie that eventually revolutionized our way of life and made us a nation depending on the automobile for our economic welfare and our pleasure.

There were the days when the internal combustion engine was first applied to aviation making possible the exploits of the Lone Eagle and the first trans-atlantic crossing by plane. There were the days when our now senior citizens, as children, craned their necks to follow the trail of some frail biplane from horizon to horizon, watching it with absolute concentration until it was "out of sight." Today jets flare across our skies and we give them only a passing glance.

Rockets put us in touch with another part of our environment, or rather, made another part of our cosmos our environment. We made our first tentative and scary explorations, finally conquered the moon. Now we are at home in space.

What this holds for the future of mankind is still in the stage of prophecy. We hope it will be for the good of mankind, but only another generation will know.

Always of Good Courage
II Corinthians 4:16 through 5:5
By C. P. Dame

Everyone who wants to live a high-grade life needs courage. Christians who long to live a victorious life need much courage to overcome the trials and temptations which come. This lesson tells about courage which comes from a strong faith in the future.

I. Faith fosters courage. The lesson text is from II Corinthians which Paul wrote in Macedonia about 54 or 55 A.D. Some Corinthians had hurt Paul by charging that he was preaching for personal gain. Christians can hurt each other. Paul met opposition from the devil, the world and some fellow Christians but he did not lose heart. His faith made him victorious.

Paul's words about himself we can apply to ourselves. The outward man is perishing but the inward man can be renewed. Everything gets old—look around and observe. Believers know that change and renewal can go together. Retrogression and progress go hand in hand. The earthly life declines but the heavenly life increases.

Afflictions are a part of life. People look at them differently. From the standpoint of eternity they are slight and momentary and for the believer they are purposeful for they are used of God to prepare his people for a glorious future. The things that are seen get much attention but they are transient but the unseen are real. An idea is not seen but it is real.

II. Christians know. "For we know," so wrote Paul, he knew that the body was like a tent which can easily be taken down. Death is like a tent. Believers know that a building will replace the tent.

Age brings its problems. Death implies an unclothing when the spirit leaves the body. In the future body and soul will be united and perfection shall then reign. Death leads to life.

III. God has made complete preparation for believers. God only can prepare a man for heaven. The assurance comes from God's Spirit, who is an earnest, that is a down payment—His presence in the heart is an assurance of a place in heaven. This assurance is a gift that brings much joy to believers and gives courage for living a triumphant life.

Proposed Junior Highs Topic For Harrington PTO

The November PTO meeting at Harrington School was called to order by Dick Sterkenberg, PTO president. The Rev. John Houseward from Park Christian Reformed Church gave the invocation. A short business meeting followed and the principal, Don Rohlich, introduced the program for the evening.

Phil Schoo, assistant superintendent for instruction, and Gardner Wieringa, assistant superintendent for personnel, gave a "Sight and Sound" presentation about the two proposed junior highs to be built in Holland. The presentation covered the existing program and building usage, the proposed site development and buildings, and the projected costs and deadlines.

It was emphasized that the Board needs a favorable vote on Dec. 12 in order to meet the 1975 opening of the new schools. The longer the delay in approving the bonding of the two new schools, the greater the cost will be. Already the projected cost has risen $300,000 since the rejection of the issue last June, the speaker said.

A question and answer period followed. The questions were directed to special guests John Noe, junior high principal at E. E. Fell; Jim Zeedyk and Harv Laman, assistant principals at E. E. Fell, and Katherine MacKenzie, secretary of the school board.

First place attendance award for greatest percentage of parents at the meeting went to Mrs. Bruce Krakowski's fourth grade room.

Refreshments were prepared and served by Mrs. Dean Sommers and Mrs. Terry Gentry.

Shinabarger has three lettermen returning from last year's 5-16 team. The three include 6'3" center Scott Van Dort, guard Jon Schrottenboer and guard Tom Kragt. All are seniors.

"From what I have been told, Kenowa Hills, Wyoming Park and South Christian are the teams to beat in our league," said Shinabarger. "We could pull off some surprises because some of the other coaches may be over looking us."

"I know I'm looking forward to this season," added Shinabarger. "It's hard to say what we have since I'm new and I don't know that much about the league. I do know it's going to be a challenge."

Cornie's Corner

To those concerned with gasoline consumption in the energy crisis, here is a special note of interest, courtesy of the street department.

A car that normally gets 18 miles an hour per gallon of gas can be expected to get 12 mpg if the pavement is covered with two inches of fresh snow. Driving on a highway covered with snow can increase gas consumption of passenger cars up to 50 per cent.

The street department got this information from a highway research board publication in 1972.

Average snowfall in Holland the last five years has been about 100 inches, but the last two years were light. Total for 1972-73 was only 57 inches.

Any thoughts of snow brings thoughts of Christmas, and local women concerned with getting quality gifts for $1, $2 and $3 will find a fine selection in the hospital gift shop. The annual Christmas sale in the Heritage Room will be Dec. 5-8 with hours the first three days 9:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. On the last day, hours are 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The 24th St. parking lot offers easy parking for the Heritage Room.

All profits go to the hospital.

Ed Sanders Is Named Loop's Best

Hope College's dominance of MIAA football this past season showed last Saturday, as 10 players were named to the all-league team.

Olivet College, second place finisher, followed with seven, as the two top teams in the loop placed 17 of the 22 players on the squad.

"It's very impressive," said a happy Coach Ray Smith. "We really couldn't have asked for more than that. I'm very delighted for all the fellows."

Heading the Hope list is the MIAA's top rusher Ed Sanders, who won the Randall C. Bosch, Holland industrialist, most valuable player award. Bosch presents a gold diamond-studded football. He gives a similar award to the MIAA's MVP basketball player.

Sanders becomes the second Flying Dutchman in the past three years to take the most valuable honors and the sixth since the first award was presented in 1933.

Other players named to the all-league team from Hope on offense were fullback Chuck Brooks, guard Gerrit Crandall, tackle Bob Kibbey and end Dave Teater.

Making the defensive team were back Bob Lamer, tackles Ron Posthuma and Craig Van Tuinen, end Bob Lees and middle guard Dave Yeiter.

Named from Olivet were center Bob Bacon, linemen Dave Burland and Earl Moore, running back Tom Creighton, linebacker Jim Kelley and defensive backs Jim Crocker and Rick Smith.

Completing the all-league offensive team is Alma's outstanding end Doug Fillmore, Kalamazoo's tackle Dick Nolan and Alma's quarterback Jim Cole.

Rounding out the defensive team are linebacker Jim Calcagni of Adrian and linebacker Lomora Morawski of Kalamazoo.

Earning honorable mention for the Dutchmen were backs Gary Constant and Jim Bosscher, linebacker Mark Bolthouse, center Bruce Martin, defensive end Jeff Stewart and tackle Paul Cornell.

Lamer, Nolan and Calcagni are the only repeaters from last year's all-star squad.

Bob Lamer is just one of the most outstanding players we have ever had at Hope," said Smith. "It's very unusual when you can be named all-league one year at offensive back and come back the following season to take defensive honors."

"Brooks is the best blocking fullback I ever coached," Smith offered while Yeiter has the potential to be the finest middle guard in Hope history."

"Crandall adjusted very well when we moved him from line-backer to guard," continued Smith. "Kibbey was one of our most consistent players. He always did the job."

"Teater has the potential to be the best blocking end we have had and anytime a freshman can make all-MIAA you know he must be doing something right out there."

"Lees and Posthuma are very much alike," Smith added. "They are both very quick and like to hit. Van Tuinen hasn't reached his full potential yet and when he does, he's going to be that much better than he already is."

Sanders, Kibbey, Brooks, Crandall, Posthuma and Lamer are seniors while Lees, Van Tuinen and Yeiter are sophomores and Teater a freshman.

NOSE Tips

by Leo Martonosi

From Center To Tailback
Ed Sanders, Hope College's brilliant running back, who was named the MIAA's most valuable player last Saturday started his career as a center.

While attending Southern Normal High School in Brewton, Ala., Sanders played three years at center and one year at linebacker.

In his freshman year at Hope, he was a reserve center and was switched to tailback his sophomore season. Last year he played fullback.

The Flying Dutchmen offensive attack the past four years has featured a nationally rated running back with the likeable Sanders the last of the three.

No Hope player had rushed for more than 900 yards in a season until Coach Ray Smith introduced his now famous tailback offense.

Since that time, a Hope player has led the MIAA in rushing every season and has been among the nation's top small college rushers as well.

Greg Voss was the first tailback to surpass a 1,000 yards gaining 1,074 in 1970, the eighth best mark in the nation that year. Voss upped his total the following season with 1,284 total yards — sixth best in the nation, including a school record 257 yards against Olivet.

Bob Lamer picked up where Voss left off in 1972 after Greg was sidelined for the season by a knee injury during the opening quarter of the first tilt.

Lamer was moved from his customary defensive secondary spot to the offensive backfield and by season's end had gained a school record 1,310 yards — third best in the land.

The aggressive Lamer, who would rather hit than be hit, asked Coach Smith if he could return to a defensive back position this year. With Chuck Brooks returning at fullback, Smith moved Sanders to tailback.

The move proved out handsomely for the Dutchmen, as Sanders led the MIAA in rushing with 689 yards and finished with a four of a kind total for the season at 1,111.

Born in Castleberry, Ala., in 1952, Sanders credits his Reformed Church minister, the Rev. Chester Meengs and counselor Mrs. Harvey for attending Hope College.

"Without them, I'm sure I wouldn't have attended Hope," Sanders said last Friday.

By winning the Randall C. Bosch award, Sanders becomes the seventh Flying Dutchman to take MVP honors.

The others were Ted Rycenga in 1971, Serwood Vander Woude in 1961, Larry Ter Molen in 1958, Tom Van Wingen in 1950, Nick Yonker in 1949 and Bob Powers in 1939.

"This is the greatest thing that has ever happened to me," said a happy Sanders. "But let me tell you, it wasn't just me out there, it was the whole team. I surely couldn't have done it without my teammates."

"I wouldn't have rather gone anywhere than here," said the modest Sanders. "The people here made me what I am and I will never forget that."

"I'm not even thinking of pro ball," continued Sanders. "I don't want to push my luck." Coach Smith wouldn't say if Sanders was the best of the three star tailbacks.

However, he did say that Sanders had the potential to break a game open with his speed that the others didn't.

"Ed is just a great kid," stated Smith. "He's got a great attitude and is very coachable. I really can't say enough good things about him."

Sanders' Hope College teammates showed Ed what he meant to them, as they all chipped in to have his sister flown in for the Chicago-Circle contest.

"That's something I'll never forget," Sanders offered. Neither will Hope College fans forget what you and your teammates did for our community this season. It was a great season for Hope, Ed, and you were one of the reasons it was just that.

Saugatuck Open To Ideas For Pumphouse

SAUGATUCK — The village council is open to suggestions on what to do with its brick pumphouse built in 1905 at Mt. Baldhead Park and now used for storage. Trustee Roscoe Funk said it had sentimental and historical values.

A Chicago couple has offered to lease the building and some land to restore the building into a residence. Village president Julius Van Oss estimated it would cost $30,000 to convert the structure. Council has delayed action on the offer.

Holland Finally Has Some Height on Team

Veteran Holland basketball Coach Don Piersma has finally some height on his squad this winter.

Seven of his 12 players are over six-foot and four of them are 6'4" or better.

"We haven't had this much height since we had Dave Gosseler back in 1969 and Mike Lawson a few years before that," stated Piersma.

The tallest Dutch cager this season is 6'6" sophomore Dennis Lawson.

Others standing 6'4" are Jud Hesselink, Chuck Modders and Greg Holcombe.

"We're very optimistic about this year's team but its cautious optimism," continued Piersma. "We're very young, untested and will be running out of a new system."

To make good use of their height, the Dutch will be using a 1-4 offense this season.

"We'll have two pivot men, two wing men and a point man," said Piersma.

The Dutch have three returning letterman from last year's 3-18 club which was the worst record ever recorded by a Piersma squad.

The three include wingman Tim Boeve, who stands 6'3", pointman wingman Tim Van Tongeren and pointman Paul Van Oostenburg. All three are seniors and the only graduates to be on the squad.

Other players on the team are juniors Ken Bauman, a 6'2" wingman, 6'1" wingman Ron Noyd, 5'11" pointman Doug Bazan and Joe Serrano and 5'9" point and wingman Carlos Nava.

All of the juniors played reserve ball last year for Coach Don Johnson. Lawson was on our schedule," insisted Piersma. "It looks like we will have a good bench this year and I won't be afraid to use any of these fellows."

The Dutch will scrimmage probably the best team in Western Michigan Tuesday when they travel to Grand Rapids Christian.

"Christian will be a good test for us," offered Piersma. "They just have an outstanding team that could go pretty far in this year's state tournament."

Five of the Dutch cagers played football this fall and Piersma feels that will help them more than hinder them.

"I'm sure that our big guys who played will be that much more aggressive this year and that should help on the backboards," Piersma said.

The five that played on the gridiron are Modders, Holcombe, Bazan, Hesselink and Lawson. Hesselink played basketball in Japan last year.

Speed, strength, quickness, football sense and desire.

These are the ingredients which make up this year's Sentinel's all-area football team.

Class A Holland and Class D Allendale dominate the dream team. The Dutch put six on the squad while the Falcons had four.

Zeeland, Hamilton and Hudsonville followed with three while West Ottawa, Fennville and Saugatuck placed two apiece on the unit.

Holland selections were running backs John Bonnette and Clark Kuipers, defensive tackle Phil Stassen, offensive end Tom Barkel and linebackers Paul Shashaguy and Tom Ter Haar.

One of the big reasons Allendale was the lone area team rated in the state was these four all-area players — linebacker Mark De Jonge, end Wayne Van Dyke, halfback Tim Baker and tackle — punter Dave Sall.

Picked from Zeeland were quarterback Jon Schrotenboer, center Doug Dekker and guard Randy Peasley. West Ottawa had tackle Tom Hill and cornerback Mark Goodrow.

Named from Saugatuck were guard Don Berry and linebacker Chip Snowden. Fennville put on defensive backs Jeff Atkins and Rich Van Pelt.

Selected from Hamilton were defensive tackle Rick Klingenberg, defensive end Mark Naber and linebacker Mark Kleinheksel.

Hudsonville had middle guard Dan Paulucci, offensive guard Kent Miller and record pass catcher Al Yoak, an ex-Hamilton flash.

Shashaguy and Ter Haar ranked one-two in tackles with 111 and 106 respectively while Stassen was third with a 64 total.

Barkel led in pass receiving with 11 for 209 yards while Bonnette and Kuipers finished as two of the best Dutch rushers in history for one season with respective 789 and 483 totals.

Kuipers was not only a powerful runner but a crunching blocker as well.

"I can't say enough about all these guys," commented Coach Dan Porretta. They had just a tremendous year.

"De Jonge blocked three punts for us and as far as I'm concerned, is a sure bet all-state choice," stated Falcon Coach Bill Friberg.

Sall was not only a standout in blocking was a fearsome defensive end too. Called "toughest" end in the league by Friberg. Averaged over 38 yards a kick.

Van Dyke was one of the leading pass catchers in the Allegan-Ottawa Conference while Baker was a standout running back for the Falcons.

Berry is called "the best" blocking guard in Class D by Coach Jack Lampen. Lampen also said there's no finer center on snaps in high school than Snowden, who also led the team in tackles with a per game 14 mark.

Hill and Goodrow were two of the sparkplugs for the Panthers all season. Hill not only starred on defense, he opened the holes for running backs Matt Johnson and Scott Tubergan to run through.

Dekker was a defensive end and center standout for the Chix this past season while Schrotenboer, who is called "the best" player on the team by Coach Bob Larsen, was moved from quarterback to tailback for the last three games of the season.

"We were more effective with Jon at tailback," stated Larsen. "Jon did a good job at quarterback but we needed his running so we switched him to tailback."

"Atkins was never beaten deep all season," insisted Fennville mentor Gary Frens. "He's just a fine player. Van Pelt was a good hitter for us."

Yoak enjoyed just an unreal season for Hudsonville, as he set school pass receiving marks with 38, including nine in one game. He also beat his old teammates with a TD reception.

"He's got just great hands," claimed Coach Bruce Zylstra while ex-Eagle coach Mike Jones added, "I have never seen any high school player with better hands than Al."

Naber led Hamilton in tackles and also was a fine pass receiving end. Klingenberg and Kleinheksel were co-captains of the Hawkeyes and like Naber were tough on defense.

Sall and Baker are the only repeaters from last year's all-area team.

Falcons' Friberg Wins In Breeze as Top Coach

It was no contest in naming The Sentinel's 1973 area high school coach of the year, as Bill Friberg of Allendale won in a breeze.

Friberg's Falcons finished the season as the only area team above the .500 mark, as they won eight of nine outings.

The 35-year-old Friberg started the football program from scratch at Allendale. Like all new football programs, it took Friberg a few years to build up as one of the finest Class D schools in the state.

Bill Friberg
... Sentinel's coach of year

In his first year at Allendale, the Falcons won one game and dropped seven. In 1970 they were 0-8 compared to 1-7-1 mark in 1971.

Last year the Falcons started to jell under Friberg, as they won four of eight contests.

This past season the Falcons put it all together by outscoring their opponents, 263-65. Allendale finished the season rated as the 12th best Class D team in the state.

Friberg is a 1956 graduate of Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills and a 1960 graduate of Albion College. He played football, basketball and baseball in high school and played football and baseball in college. He also participated in those two sports at Grand Rapids JC. His brothers Dick and Bob coach at Kentwood.

His third stop was at Coopersville where he remained on the coaching staff for three more years. In 1969 he accepted the challenge of building a new program at Allendale where he stayed for three years before moving to Northview for three more seasons.

"Of all the schools I worked for, I like Allendale the best," said Friberg.

We would have had a hard time in picking an area college coach of the year as both Ray Smith of Hope College and Jim Harkema of Grand Valley State Colleges had outstanding seasons.
