SUBJECT APPREHENDED—A man wanted in connection with an armed robbery of a bank in Grand Rapids fled his wrecked car after it ran a Holland police roadblock along M-21 at the Macatawa River bridge was apprehended minutes later. Zeeland police began a pursuit of the car toward Holland and it reached speeds of 100 miles per hour when it ran the road block shortly after noon Friday and went out of control. Police recovered a loaded .38-caliber pistol and a plastic bag with money from the car. Police said they fired some warning shots into the air as the subject fled on foot. Police identified the subject as James Trumley, 19. (Sentinel photo)

Suspect Held Under Heavy Bond

James Trumley, 19, of Milwaukee, Chicago and Grand Rapids who was stopped Friday noon at a police roadblock along M-21 at the east limits of Holland, was held under $50,000 bond Saturday in connection with a bank robbery in Grand Rapids.

FBI and other law enforcement agents were questioning him about other armed robberies in the area.

Trumley was arrested in connection with a $2,500 holdup of a Central Bank branch in Grand Rapids and the car he was driving ran the Holland road block at speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour.

Officers chased Trumley after he fled his wrecked car on foot and he surrendered without incident. Police said they recovered a loaded .38 caliber pistol and a bag containing money in the car.

Authorities said Trumley appeared in Federal District Court in Grand Rapids Friday after he was returned to Grand Rapids police.

Zeeland police chief Lawrence Veldheer spotted a car answering the description of the get-away car and followed it along westbound M-21 toward Holland. The suspected car began speeding and eventually ran the road block near the Macatawa River bridge and went out of control.

Allegan to Bus Students in City

ALLEGAN — The Board of Education plans to begin busing students living inside the city limits to and from school. Junior and senior high students will be most affected since both schools are located outside the city limits.

The plan calls for busing students living in the city a mile and a half or more from their schools. The busing is to begin Dec. 2.

Supt. of schools Robert Peckham said students will be transported by buses coming in from rural areas and that the new policy was made possible by a change in an old state regulation which said that schools must provide transportation for students living outside the city limits a mile and a half from their schools.

Allegan Drug Raid Brings 14 Arrests

ALLEGAN — Fourteen persons, most of them from the Grand Rapids area, were arrested Thursday night in a drug raid on a farm house in Dor Township and faced court appearances Friday on a variety of charges.

Deputies said 13 officers, including four from Holland and two from Otsego conducted the raid and confiscated four pounds of suspected marijuana and other items.

Those arrested included ten males and four females and were in their late teens and early 20s. Nine were freed on bond and the others were held in the Allegan County Jail.

Charges ranged from frequenting a place of an illegal business to sale of LSD.

Deputies said the raid at about 10 p.m. Thursday followed an investigation by officers.

Officers said those arrested were from Grand Rapids, Grandville, Byron Center and Walker. None was believed from Holland.

Two Break-Ins Under Study by Local Police

Holland police today continued their investigation of two break-ins reported Friday. Entered were Electronic Sound, 740 Michigan Ave., and Tuff-Kote Rust Proofing, 741 Windcrest.

A stereo receiver valued at $350 was believed missing from Electronic Sound where entry was gained through a door while $45 in cash was missing from Tuff-Kote where entry was gained by breaking a window in an overhead door.

BPW Sees No Power Shortages

The Holland Board of Public Works has enough coal to provide full electric power to its customers through next July, BPW General Manager Ronald L. Rainson told the board at its meeting Monday.

Rainson said he had received calls from citizens who feared brownouts because of an energy shortage.

Rainson said 120,000 tons of coal were on the BPW docks, enough to provide electric power until next summer but he added that no coal supply has been secured beyond July, 1975. In addition to the coal, the BPW has 100,000 gallons of fuel oil which can be used in its boilers and an allocation for an additional two million gallons.

Coal costs this year were up $994,000 from last year, Rainson added.

The board approved a recommendation from the city's personnel committee for the salary of a proposed staff engineer-supervisor for the BPW. The committee recommended a range of $15,870 to $19,989 but added that the recommendation in salary range in no way constitutes approval of such a position.

The BPW action now goes to council for its approval.

The board heard a report on efforts to provide air pollution control equipment at the electric power plant the cost of which is projected at $1.6 million.

Central Ave. Sewer Nears Completion

All main work on the sanitary sewer in Central Ave. from 13th to 19th Sts. has been completed and intersections are now open from 13th through 16th Sts.

A bituminous base course has been placed on the section between 13th and 16th Sts. and a gravel surface will be in use for the remainder unless unusually good weather returns after the current cold spell.

Only some connections to side streets were being installed as last minute tasks before opening intersections at 17th, 18th and 19th Sts.

Depending on the weather, top soil will be replaced either now or next spring. Concrete work is expected to be completed by mid-December.

In general, the work has been completed two months ahead of schedule.

Larry Hildore Will Address Early Birds

Larry Hildore, director of the Ottawa County Department of Social Services, will address Chamber of Commerce Early Birds at breakfast Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 7:30 a.m. in Warm Friend Motor Inn.

His subject will be "Requiring Clients to Participate in Our Programs as a Condition of Their Eligibility."

A native of Pennsylvania, Hildore was a paratrooper during World War II. He attended Hope College and joined the state department in 1958 as a caseworker. He became director of social services in 1966 and with some staff members and permission from the Board of Social Services started investigating available motivational programs. He speculated that clients could benefit from this program in the areas of self concept, self awareness and attitude.

Snow clogged the lower great Lakes area spurring caution warnings for motorists.

State Advisory Council Holds Public Hearing

The State Advisory Council for Vocational Education held, along with its regular meetings, a public hearing in Holland Thursday, attended by people involved in education from various parts of the state.

It's format was a series of presentations by some of those in the Holland area working with vocational education and discussion by the Advisory Council and members of the audience.

Members of the Holland business community participated by describing their training programs. Paul Baker, owner-manager of Family Fare Supermarket, says that his store uses the co-op program as a source of permanent personnel. Marvin Freestone of the Home Builders Association said that many groups within the housing industry would like to see a more extensive program that would bring them trainees.

The hearing tended to center on statewide efforts to establish area vocation centers, with those involved putting their heads together over common problems. Eleanor deKruif, representing the League of Women Voters of Holland, spoke of the league's investigation and conclusion that vocational training resources in the Ottawa Area Intermediate School District are inadequate.

Since it would be costly and inefficient to offer the vocational training needed at every school in the Ottawa Area Intermediate School District, the league supports an Area Vocational Center available during the day to high school students and during the evenings and on weekends to adults, Mrs. De Kruif said.

Other members of the community spoke of efforts in the school district to establish such a center. A proposal to fund one was defeated in 1971 by only 109 votes and will go before the voters again in March 1975.

Representatives from other areas were able to offer their experience and expertise. Charles Langden of the State's Department of Education presented an approach which has three times been successful in winning voter approval of Area Vocational Centers: pre-commitment of funds.

The state commits itself to a specific amount of money to establish a center on a matching basis with the community. Naturally though, funds available for this approach are limited, he said.

Two Officers Cited For Roadblock

Two Holland police officers who manned a roadblock and aided in the capture of a suspect wanted in a Grand Rapids bank robbery have been commended by Police Chief Charles L. Lindstrom.

Patrolmen Paul Heineman and David Guikema were manning a roadblock along M-21 at the east limits of Holland when a car approached at a high rate of speed Friday noon. It was pursued by a Zeeland police car.

As the suspect's car ran off the side of the road in an attempt to run the roadblock, Heineman fired a blast from his 12 gauge shotgun at the car, striking it in the left rear tire area. The car went out of control and eventually overturned.

Heineman and Guikema, working with other law enforcement officers, then assisted in the capture of the subject at the nearby Macatawa River without injury to anyone.

Heineman also fired a warning shot with his shotgun at the fleeing subject.

Authorities said the subject was wanted in connection with a $2,500 robbery of a Central Bank Branch in Grand Rapids earlier in the day Friday.

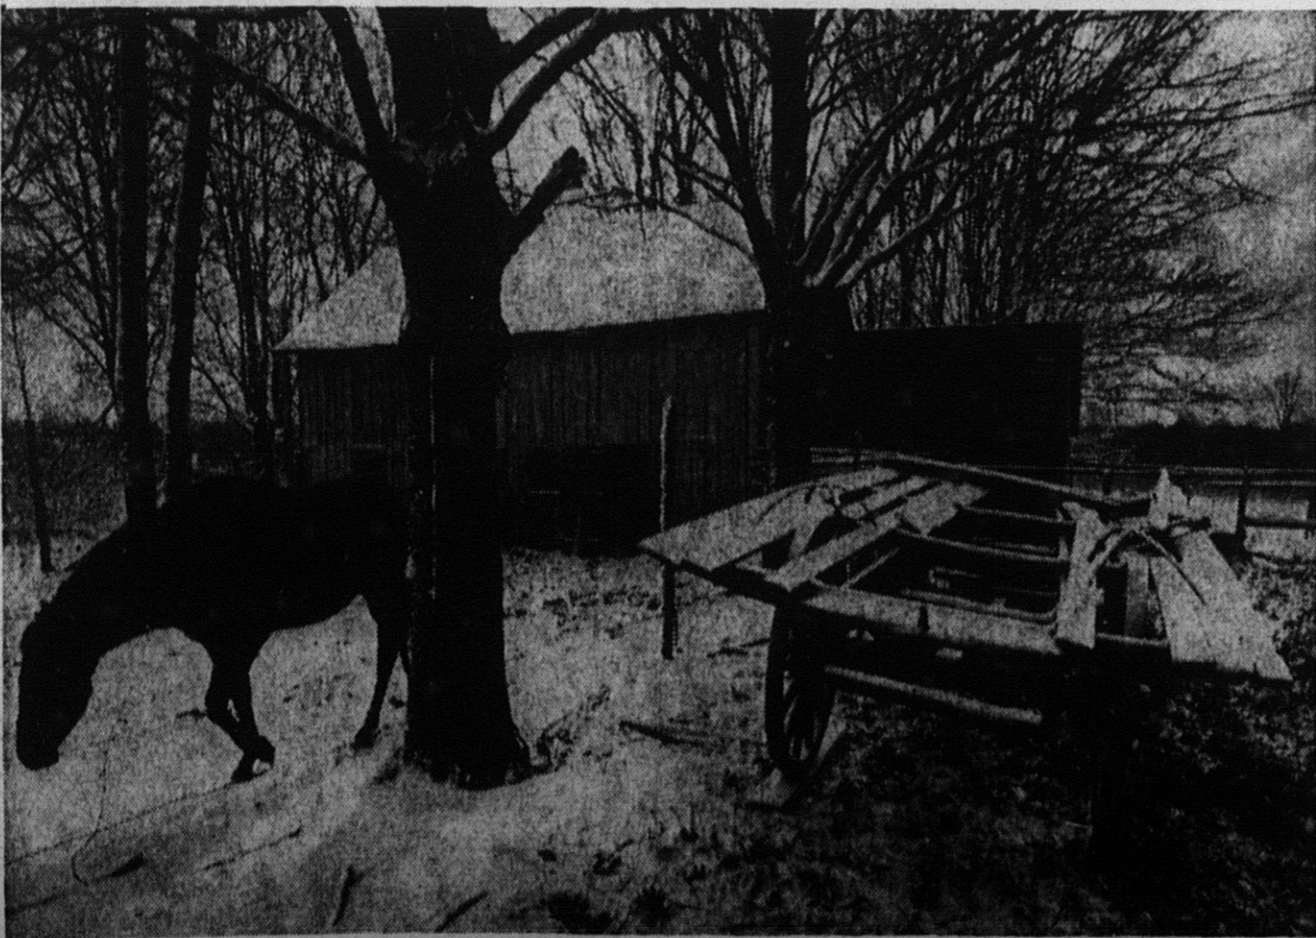

Freighter Goes Aground at Holland Harbor Entrance

The 595-foot self unloading freighter George A. Sloan apparently ran aground while entering Holland Harbor at 7:55 a.m. Saturday but managed to free herself and continue into the harbor.

The Coast Guard said winds apparently forced the vessel aground in the harbor entrance. The Sloan continued into Lake Macatawa where she was expected to dock at the Verplank Coal Co.

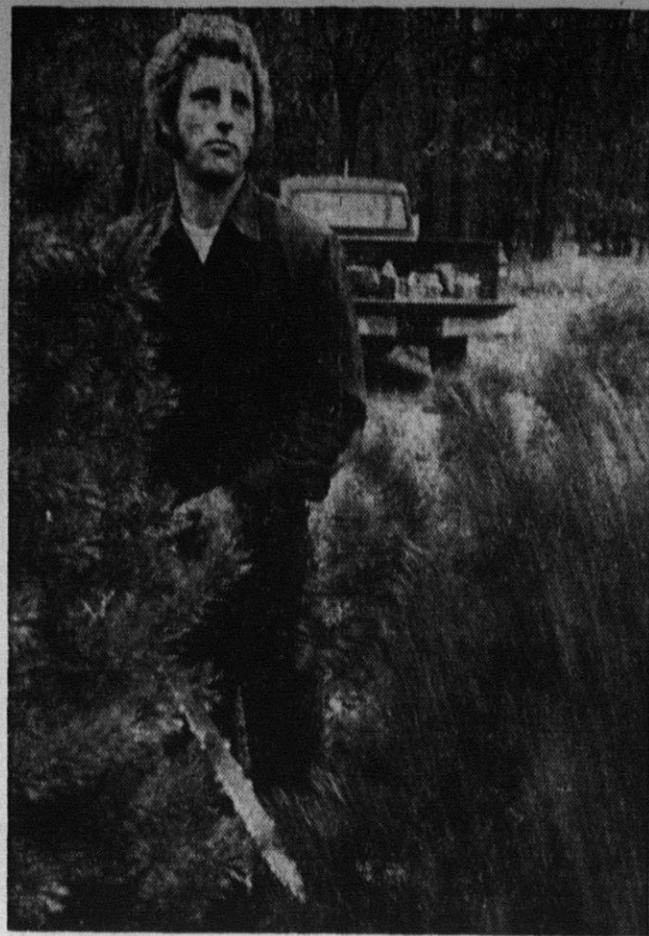

GETTING READY FOR CHRISTMAS — Holland's downtown has a Christmassy look these days with gold ornaments and white bells on light poles. There will be limited lighting this year, with type of ornamentation taking less power than the type used before. Downtown decorations are financed by downtown businessmen assessed through the Chamber of Commerce. There will be one decorated tree in Centennial Park and there will be no lighting on Windmill De Zwaan. This foreshortened photo was taken with a 400mm telephoto lens and shows about a half block. SOLITUDE ON THE FARM — Snow returned to Holland today to provide a winter setting for Thanksgiving Day Thursday. This picture of winter solitude was snapped on West 32nd St. just west of Myrtle Ave. showing an old barn, a farm wagon and a black horse which loped onto the scene just as Sentinel photographer Mark Copier was taking the picture.

SAWS TREES — Gary Sloothaak, foreman of the 700 acres of Christmas trees owned by Theron Stone, of West Olive saws one of the 35,000 (or so) trees he tagged earlier in the season. For several summers the trees have been pruned and shaped by high school students. (Sentinel photos by Mark Copier)

BAILING MACHINE — Bailing machine workers hurriedly stuff trees into the funnel of the custom made bailing machine which can accommodate hundreds of trees an hour when working at full speed. A huge claw at the end of the cone claps the trunk and sucks the tree into the plastic netting. The bailer which is usually operated by four men is brought directly into the fields for greater efficiency. Theron Stone recommends placing the tree on the lawn as a bird shelter and feeder after Christmas or remove the branches for plant mulch.

HELPS IN BUSINESS — Bonnie Stone handles much of the paper work for her husband, Theron's Christmas tree business which was begun by his father in the early 30s. Stone was in partnership with his father for several years and is now sole owner of the 1,000 acre business.

Christmas Trees: A Bustling Business for Theron Stone

By Ann Hungerford

As if nurturing 750,000 Christmas trees isn't enough to keep a busy man busier, Theron Stone of West Olive also coddles thousands of blueberry plants.

But this time of year his energies are steered into tagging, cutting, bailing and shipping approximately 35,000 trees, most bound for southern states. Though orders came in more slowly than other years, sales look "very favorable" since, Stone believes, "people always have Christmas trees even in rough times."

"When money is tight, people enjoy their homes more, and enjoy decorating particularly at Christmas. When they work overtime in the factory, they don't want to come home and putter in the yard or fix up the house," he philosophically maintains.

Stone reports a sign of the uncertain times has been exhibited by numerous retailers who phoned late in the buying season and asked if he still had Christmas trees left.

"Of course I have trees left, you haven't bought them yet," he logically and typically replies.

So his work is continuing later into the season than usual this year but surprisingly the demand is way up for larger rather than smaller trees.

And Stone's stock of larger trees has dwindled in recent years due primarily to the June 1972 freeze when he lost approximately one-third of his trees.

"The freeze came at the peak of the trees' growing time when they were full of moisture and literally exploded," the 43-year-old life-long West Olive resident explains.

"If it wasn't for the blueberries we would have gone under," he says.

The loss of such a large portion of the crop at once makes it easy to understand his desire to expand his blueberry crop but curtail expansion of his Christmas tree farming.

Despite the loss from freezing, disease is still the Christmas tree farmer's biggest worry. Stone and his men spray three or four times a year to control tree killing insects and moths.

Stone's expertise and success in the field have earned him numerous honors including twice being elected president of the National Christmas Tree Association but the position has kept him on the road at speaking engagements (at least 120 in the past two years).

Currently he is an executive board member of the National Association.

In his multi-roomed, paneled office built in 1972 Stone proudly displays framed color photographs of Pat Nixon in '72 and '73 standing beside the Christmas trees donated to the White House by the National Christmas Tree Association during the years Stone was president.

The photos are inscribed personally to Stone with appreciative notes from Mrs. Nixon.

Despite his heavy schedule in recent years, "I don't wish to run for President again — at least not yet anyway," Theron has been continually buying up land and now owns scattered plots throughout central Ottawa County.

Most of his acreage is taken up with varieties of Scotch pines, which remain the most popular Christmas tree among producers and consumers. It is one of the fastest growing and keeps better than some other species which may drop needles after cutting.

From eight to ten years are required for a young seedling to become a harvestable Christmas tree (six to seven feet tall). Stone believes that this part of Michigan grows better trees than further south because of the moisture from the lake.

"It also makes the trees greener," Stone says.

He rarely spray paints the trees (occasionally a retailer will request sprayed trees) and sees the boom of the artificial tree as almost over.

"The artificial trees filled a market we couldn't touch as where fire laws prevented the use of real trees," Stone says. The high cost of petroleum which is used to make the plastic producers will become too high to manufacture trees, he believes.

But soon the hectic pace of the season will simmer down and Stone will "retire," he says.

Actually the winter is the season to prune the blueberries and maintain the extensive equipment necessary to efficient operation of such a business. Some of the equipment is custom-made such as the bailer.

Bonnie Stone, Theron's wife, explains proudly that for many years she and two women operated the bailer and when they quit, it took four men to replace them.

"The motor was speeded up," a worker clarifies somewhat beligerently.

Stone speaks of purchasing new blueberry equipment this year and casually tosses about figures: "I think I'll buy the one manufactured by (commercial name). It's $20,000 cheaper.

Cheaper than what? The idea boggles the non-farming mind and the question goes unasked.

When all the orders have been shipped out and life quiets down Stone scouts the fields for a good tree for his family. "Just an average size," he says.

One year recently he picked a tree which his family (Debe, Rick, and Pamela Sue) helped decorate.

Then, Stone says, his wife decided she didn't like it and asked if she could have another one.

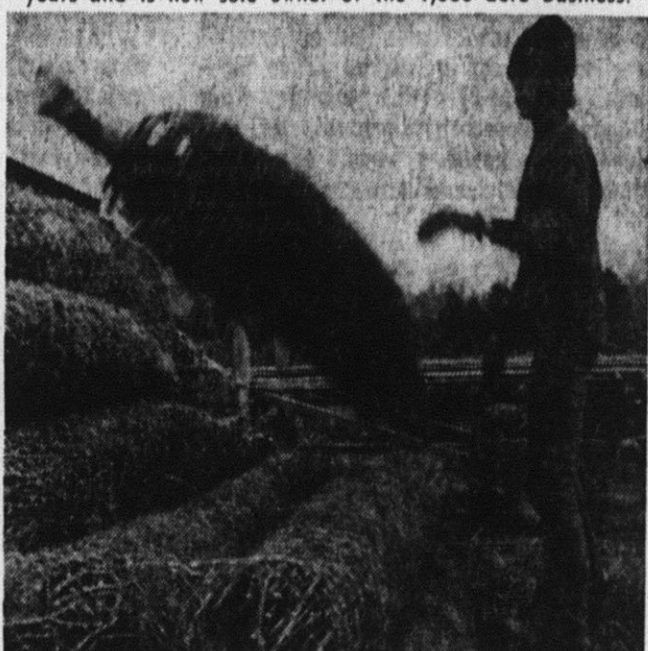

"I agreed," Stone recalls if she sold the first one.

Bonnie added it (with icicles still on) to a number purchased by a man.

She got her new tree.

So if on Christmas Eve you're in the market for a slightly used tree, check the Stone home first.

They just might have a fully reconditioned, sparsely decorated model.

SIZING AND STACKING — As each tree is bailed, it is sized accurately by footage and sorted into piles according to height. At this time of year the trees are in a dormant state and grow only during the summer months.

LOADING TREES — Rick Stone, 18-year-old son of Owner Theron Stone, assists with loading trees. The 40-foot-truck being loaded can accommodate approximately 800 trees. The trees will stay fresh for months especially if a half-inch is cut off the trunk or bark is sliced off at the base and the tree is placed in ample water, hot on the first filling. Stone also advocates the use of products designed to help prolong the life of the tree.

Civic Center Overflows For Hansi Appearance

Civic Center was crowded to overflowing Tuesday night for an address by Hansi, author of the best seller of the same name which was the story of the "Girl Who Loved the Swastika."

Hansi, a nickname given her in the Nazi training camp where in her youth she became one of Hitler's most loyal subjects, is now Mrs. Rudy (Maria Anne) Hirschmann, living in the San Bernardino mountains of California. She teaches high school students and is in wide demand as a lecturer and conference speaker.

Her appearance in Holland was sponsored by the Holland-Zeeland chapter of the World Home Bible League, and proceeds go for the current project of providing Bibles for Bolivia.

Hansi's life story was related, paralleling her book which has been widely read locally. An orphan beloved by her foster mother but only tolerated by others in the family, she strove to excel in her Czechoslovakian village and was selected for higher education in the Nazi system, rigid training which led her to believe Hitler virtually was God.

Even after Hitler's death, she believed Nazism was triumphant and it was only the privations of a Russian camp, her escape into Germany and kindness shown by American soldiers in conquering starvation and wiping out nightmares that she changed her views.

After her marriage in Germany, she and her husband came to the United States and settled first in Pontiac, Mich. Only in America did she become aware of German concentration camps.

A dynamic speaker, Mrs. Hirschmann speaks feelingly of her faith in God, and her church attendance for years before she really became a Christian. Her plea to her large audience Tuesday was two-fold. (1) Be thankful for God's gifts and don't waste food (America throws away enough food to feed an entire nation), and (2) Pray for the high school students and their problems with drugs, drop-outs, etc.

A friend of Corrie ten Boom of "The Hiding Place," Hansi met this dynamic 80-year-old in recent years, presenting a striking contrast in motivation — Hansi originally for Nazism and Corrie violently opposed to it.

Hansi heads today for Waupun, Wis., to spend the Thanksgiving weekend with two children, and will leave the first part of December on a tour of Europe and Bangladesh. She plans another appearance in Holland in March, and is currently writing another book.

Mrs. James Smith, president of the Holland-Zeeland chapter, presided and the Rev. John Van Harn, formerly of Bethel Church and currently a representative of the World Home Bible League with headquarters in South Holland, Ill., explained the work of the League.

Hope Plans Two Vienna Sessions

Plans for the 1975 Hope-College Vienna Summer School have been released by Dr. Paul G. Fried.

The 1975 sessions will mark the 20th anniversary of the Vienna program and will also inaugurate a major revision in the scheduling of courses.

Students will be able to enroll for either three weeks or six weeks of classes and will have the choice of several two-week study tours or independent travel during a mid-summer break, which divides the two sessions.

The first session, June 16 to July 4, will be held during "Vienna Festival Weeks" and will include a course: "Opera and the Viennese Musical Tradition." Also included in the courses: German and Austrian Literature in Translation; History of the Habsburg Empire; and Introduction to Social Work in Europe. As an alternative, students may elect one of two intensive German language courses. Everyone will take part in daily German conversation classes.

As in the past, students will live with Austrian families. Classes will be held in the Hope College study center in the center of the city. During school days students will have their noon meals at the Palais Kinsky. A refund for evening and weekend meals will permit students to explore restaurants in the city and purchase their own meals during weekends away from Vienna.

Weekend excursions to the Rax Mountain in the Austrian Alps and to Budapest, Hungary are included in the first session, which will end with an Independence Day celebration on July 4.

The second session will be July 21 to Aug. 8. Courses scheduled for this period are: Art History, with emphasis on baroque art and intensive field trips; Austrian and European Economic Institutions; History of Eastern Europe Since 1945; and either a course in psychology or 20th Century Austrian Literature.

Weekend excursions in the second session are: Maria Zell, in the Austrian Alps, and the Salzburg Music Festival.

Mid-summer study tours have tentatively been planned to Greece, Eastern Europe, and West Germany, but final arrangements will depend on student interest and detailed cost estimates not available now. Alternately, students may travel independently, vacation, or study in Vienna, or Dr. Fried indicated, students may use this break for private music lessons or work on approved independent study. Students who register for the full program will have the use of their rooms in Vienna during the break at no additional cost.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kobes, 122 West 20th St., will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary with an open house Saturday, Nov. 30, from 2 to 4 p.m. in Fourth Reformed Church.

They were married on Nov. 29, 1934, by the late Rev. John Bruggers in Coopersville. Mrs. Kobes is the former Irene Elzinga.

Their children are Dr. and Mrs. Albert (Darlene) Oosterhof of Tallahassee, Fla., and Dr. Rodger Kobes of Grand Rapids.

Theatre Archives Exhibit Planned By West Ottawa

The West Ottawa Theatre Alumni Archives Committee will be having their first showing Wednesday, Friday and Saturday at the musical "Li'l Abner."

The presentation will include slides, pictures, costumes and other articles of the 1971 play, "The Miser."

The committee will also have a concession stand to support the archives. The showing and the coffee stand will be held during the intermission in the hallway behind the cafeteria.

The Archives Committee of the West Ottawa Theatre was formed in the spring of 1974 for the purpose of preserving the 12-year history of the West Ottawa Theatre. The committee was not only formed for historical purposes, but also to give the students a pride in their theatre.

There are four people on the board, Dennis Nienhuis, chairman; John Beem, vice chairman; Diane Kooman, secretary, Dave Macqueen, historian, besides many members and helpers. Sandy Bronkema is the current high school representative.

Their work included not only other things from personal collections of people who were in the play, but also contacting the director and advisers of that play.

While working on the plans for the showing, the committee also decided to display the costumes used in this play, which involved looking through costumes from 12 years back. Not only were costumes found in poor condition, but some articles of clothing were totally destroyed. Most of the costumes found were in need of washing, ironing or mending. However, some costumes were beyond repair.

The new director, Rich Hoehler, has agreed to extend the intermission to 15 minutes instead of the previous ten, to allow the audience time to view the display.

Several Holland Merchants loaned mannequins and other articles for use in the showing and many students and alumni of the theatre helped with arrangements.

The future of the showings and coffee stand will depend upon the public support they receive.

Joni Dekker, secretary; Doug Van Der Meulen, vice president, and Faye Brouwer, president. In addition to group projects, each member pledged $50. The excess will be used for other benevolent causes. (Sentinel photo)

Surpass Goal of $4,400 For Hospital Sterilizer

It took almost a year, but the young people of Grace Reformed Church have exceeded their goal of $4,400 for a sterilizer for the Mary Lott Lyles Hospital in India. The theme was "44 in '74."

It was a "rockathon" last week which put them over the goal.

In fact, the "rockathon" was so successful that they raised almost $700 over the goal. This excess will go to various other benevolent causes.

Last January, the senior RCYF (10th, 11th and 12th graders) and a few post-high young folk adopted the hospital project and each person pledged to raise $50 as a personal donation. This covered yard work, cleaning turkey nests, painting, paper drives and the sale of pink ball point pens that sold for 25 cents or more.

In addition, the young people are sponsoring their annual "penny drive" for the American Mission School in Bahrain, Arabia, sparked by a recent talk by Mrs. Rose Nykerk, former missionary there. The goal is 55,000 pennies.

The Rev. Dick Vriesman, pastor of Grace Reformed Church, formerly was a short-term missionary in India.

To some a "rockathon" may appear to be a waste of energy, but in the case of the Grace Church young people, it raised a lot of money, kept the young people occupied and they all had a lot of fun.

DON'T EXPECT TOO MUCH

If there ever was a body of lawmakers that had a job to do, it is this Congress. But experience has taught us not to expect too much, if anything. The Senate has been spending its time with the nomination of Mr. Rockefeller, and after that drawdown affair the House will do the same thing all over, asking the same questions. No one of course thought about sending a committee to sit in and save some time. But then that would be out of character to men who never hurry, even if the country is burning.

Inflation, unemployment, a possible energy problem, these are a few of the issues with which congress will have to concern itself. And all this will have to be done by men used to a Tuesday to Thursday week, which isn't exactly efficiency.

What can the citizen do? He will be upset, frustrated, and most likely angry. He might at least try writing his congressmen and senators a quick note. This might not do him much good, but getting some of his frustrations down on paper will. At least it is worth a try. And it might get our Washington people to know we expect them to get on with the work.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, Dec. 1
Anticipating a New Beginning
Isaiah 40:1, 27-31;
Galatians 4:1-6
By C. P. Dame

This is the first lesson of the second quarter, during which we will take a survey of the New Testament and continue the study of the general topic: "The Living God Seeks Man." Our text is a passage from the Old Testament and one from the New Testament. It makes a good introductory lesson and teaches the truth that God has a plan for His people and is carrying it out.

I. God's people at times need comfort. Isaiah is called the "evangelical prophet" of the Old Testament for he says much about the suffering of Jesus. He ministered during the reigns of Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, had great faith in God and exerted great influence among the leaders of the nation. Jewish tradition says that after a long ministry he was seen asunder in the reign of Manasseh. Since our text is taken from Isaiah 40, which some say is the beginning of the section which was written by another writer, let me state that it is my view, which is in accord with Jewish tradition and the writers of the New Testament, that Isaiah wrote the whole book.

The main theme of chapters 40-48 is that God will bring the exiled Jews back to their own land. The good news is that Jerusalem's term of service has come to an end and that her iniquity has been pardoned and God's severity has ended.

II. The knowledge of God is a blessing. The names Jacob and Israel speak of God's covenant. God has not forgotten His people. God who is Creator and Sovereign of this universe, will not forget His people and will give power to those who need it and renew the strength of all who wait upon Him — give strength for special occasions and for the daily routine — walking daily. Knowing and trusting God leads to real living.

III. God has a time schedule. In Galatians Paul describes the difference between the church of the Old Testament and that of the New Testament. God has but one church. Paul takes an illustration from life. A son, when a boy, is an heir to his father's estate but is in no respect like a slave for he is "under tutors and governors until the time appointed by the father." Believers in the Old Testament Church were religious minors and were under rules and regulations. At the planned time of God He sent Jesus into the world to redeem His people who were under the dominion of the law and give them the full privilege of sonship. Old Testament as well as New Testament believers were sons, but the latter were made sure of it by the indwelling Spirit who teaches them to say, "Abba Father."

Harrison, 35, of Rome, Ind., was sentenced Monday in Circuit Court to three to five years in prison for auto theft in connection with an unarmed robbery Nov. 16 of Neuman's Car Wash, 975 South Washington Ave. Police said $125 was taken from an attendant at the car wash but some of the money was recovered with Harrison's arrest later in the South Haven area.

Vic Amaya Is Drafted By Indiana

NEW YORK (UPI) — Detroit no longer has a team it can call its own in the World Team Tennis league, but several Michigan netters may be competing around the circuit next season.

The WTT held its annual player draft Tuesday and four players with Michigan ties were selected.

Chicago claimed Trish Faulkner in the seventh round. Miss Faulkner was the No. 3 women's player last season for the Detroit Loves before the club was sold to Indianapolis interests.

The Indiana club grabbed University of Michigan No. 1 singles player Victor Amaya in the fifth round and the Pittsburgh Triangles claimed Amaya's team mate, Fred DeJesus, in their final pick.

Former Wolverine Dick Dell was chosen in the 10th round by defending league champion Denver.

DeVette Says Dutchmen Are Ahead of Last Year

"Without a doubt we're ahead of last year at this time," stated Hope College basketball mentor Russ DeVette at a press luncheon at Point West Tuesday.

DeVette said that the following will be starting the season opener Saturday at Concordia. At post will be 6'8" sophomore Dwayne Boyce while 6'5" senior captain Wayne Vriesman and 6'3" senior Jerry Root will be at wings. Six-foot-five senior Willie Cunningham will be low man in Hope's 1-3-1 offense with 5'8" sophomore Jeff Waterstone at point.

Hope had much success with this offense at the late stages of the 1973-74 season.

"Vriesman might not score as much in this offense but we feel the others will be able to pick up the slack," stated DeVette.

DeVette indicated that the first four subs will be freshmen guards Kevin Clark and Ed Ryan, wing-post Jim Holwerda and center John Savage, a 6'7" product.

DeVette was pleased with his team's performance in their scrimmage last week against Grand Valley State Colleges.

"The rest of our bench will contain a good blend of players that will help us out when the situation calls for," added DeVette.

Expected to start at this time for Coach Bill Vanderbilt's junior varsity are Chris Peterson and Paul Van Oostenburg at guards, Wes Vande Streek a center and Wayne Van Dyke and George Mojer at forwards.

Wrestling Coach George Kraft looks for much improvement this winter.

Heading the Dutchmen returnees is sophomore captain Tom Bakes of Mishawaka, Ind. Other lettermen include Perry Beachum, Jim Cannon, Ed Chavez, Kirby Howard, Dave Kieffer and Todd Knecht.

"This could be one of our better seasons," said Kraft. "Olivet is the top team in our league and the race for second will be up for grabs."

Tom Renner, sports information director for the Dutchmen and in charge of MIAA publicity said that the governing board of the league will meet in late January to discuss the possibility of participating in Division III playoffs next year.

If the recommendation goes through at the January meeting, it will be voted on at the spring meeting, according to Renner.

Work Progressing For Premiere of 'Bull Moose'

Authenticity has become the key word in preparing the staging for the original musical "Bull Moose" which will be presented by the Hope College theatre department Dec. 5-7 and 11-14.

Playwright Frederick Gaines and composer Roberta Carlson, both of Minneapolis, are serving as artists-in-residence on the Hope campus preparing the cast for the premiere performance of the ragtime musical.

The production will be set in 1907 New York at the Black Rabbit Saloon. To achieve the exact body contours of the period, costume designer Dick Smith has developed corsets for the women who inhabit the saloon. This undergarment cinches in the waist and torso, giving the same defined shape in vogue in the early 1900's.

Musical underscoring of scenes with popular songs of over three decades ago is being worked on in an attempt to recreate the mood of the times.

Extensive research has gone into the set design to determine the exact architectural styles of saloons of the period. Dark wood with highlights of warmer, redder tones will dominate the stage.

Until the Dec. 5 world premiere, "Bull Moose" could be classified as a work in progress with rewritings of story lines and dialogue going on continuously. Gaines is working directly with the student performers in an effort to give the production a greater sense of continuity and style.

Tickets may be reserved by calling weekday afternoons.

Japanese Couple Enroll In Seminary Program

The Rev. and Mrs. Takeshi Takasaki from Japan have joined the student body of Western Theological Seminary for a two-year program, leading to the degree of master of theology.

The Takasakis continue a tradition at Western Seminary in which ministers from overseas churches come to do advanced theological work. They are living at 73½ East 14th St.

The relationship between the Takasakis and Dr. I. John Hesselink, president of Western Seminary, goes back to the time when Hesselink served as professor of theology at the Tokyo Union Theological Seminary in Japan. At that time Takasaki attended classes taught by Dr. Hesselink. Now some 20 years later he is again attending classes taught by Dr. Hesselink.

A graduate of Tokyo Union Theological Seminary with the B. D. degree in 1964, Takasaki was ordained in 1968. He served as pastor of the United Church of Christ in Japan from 1964 to 1969, after which he undertook work toward the doctor of theology degree at Tokyo Union. Since 1970 he has served as pastor of the Church of Christ in Japan (Reformed and Presbyterian Church in Japan).

Mrs. Wakako Takasaki attended Hokusei Women's Junior College at Sapporo, Japan, and later the Aoyama Gakuin University in Tokyo. From 1952 to 1960 she served as a kindergarten teacher in various Christian schools.

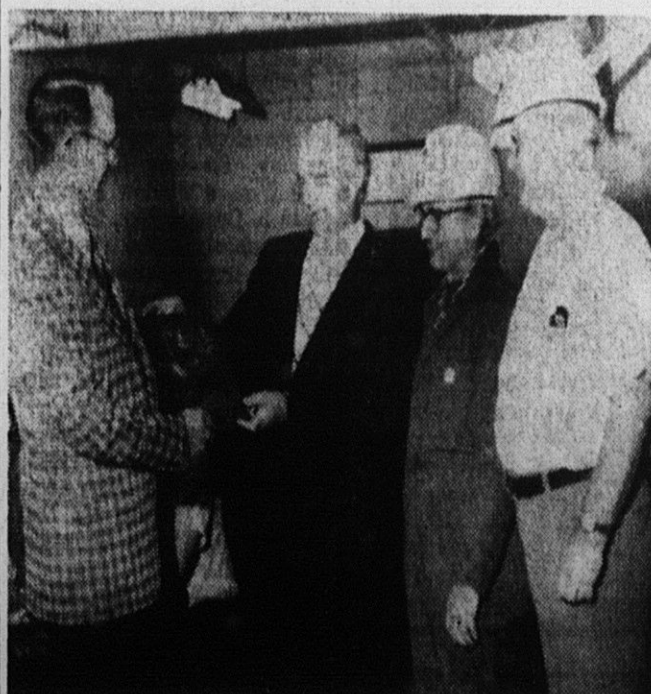

The two-year program of study at Western Seminary is underwritten by a gift from the Nellis and Pearl Wagner Foreign Graduate Student Scholarship Fund, with a grant from the First Reformed Church of Grandville's Foreign Student Scholarship Fund.

ABWA Hears Tupperware Manager Speak

Mrs. Emmett Miller, who has been associated with Tupperware for 14 years, spoke at the Tuesday evening dinner meeting of the American Business Women's Association at the Woman's Literary Club.

Having been a dealer for ten years and manager for four years, Mrs. Miller believes enthusiasm is most important for selling. One must be sold on the product before one can sell it. A salesman must have a desire to do more than earn money; he must also desire to help people. She used Henry Ford's desire to put a car in every garage as an example.

The secret for successful fund raising is to contact every member and getting all involved, she said. One should remember STP—Show the People, Sell the Product.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Miller gave a Tupperware demonstration with 15 per cent of the sales going to the ABWA Scholarship Fund.

The vocational speaker was Thelma Dalman who gave a report on her position as financial secretary of the Holland Public Schools until her recent transfer to service department manager.

Pat Crawford, president, conducted the business meeting. Lenore Gzvelink was named membership chairman to replace Nell Price. Reports were heard from various committee chairmen.

Mildred Beyer, Gertrude Versendaal, Marie Paris and Myra Arnold were introduced as guests.

The December meeting is scheduled at Carousel Ski Resort with each member to bring a $1 gift for exchange.
