Board Mulls Alternate Site Routes

The Holland Board of Education Monday night spent a full 45 minutes reviewing alternatives regarding access to and egress from the new junior high school site.

The discussion followed the reading of a three-page letter from Supt. Donald L. Ihrman to Atty. William W. Coupe of Coupe, Ophoff and Dawson, who raised the questions at the October meeting on behalf of himself and several of his neighbors in the vicinity of the site.

In addition, Loren Lothschult of the Vander Meiden and Koteles architectural firm displayed site plans and the possibilities of screening, mounding and landscaping on the 24th St. side as it would affect the William De Vries property.

Site plans revealed that not more than 75 cars can be parked in a given area, and existing trees on the site are being considered as a break in planned parking for 114 cars. Lothschult also reviewed possibilities of an exit road, stating the preferred route would be to the west through the Dogger property which is not available at present.

Besides the 27th St. exit route, the board is studying possibilities of an agreement with Christ Memorial Reformed Church of a joint drive to Plasman and 24th and also a route to Ottawa Ave. If agreements can be worked out with the Texaco Co.

In addition, the Holland Planning Commission has stated that additional study is essential, particularly on improved streets and sidewalks in the area by the time the school opens in September, 1977, and has set up a meeting at noon Wednesday at Holiday Inn for the Planning Commission and representatives of the school board, City Council and citizen representatives.

In any case, the board is of the opinion that separate drives are needed for buses and cars, and that a proper exit route also can be considered as an emergency route.

Ihrman's letter called attention to a meeting Oct. 29 with neighbors of the junior high site, and reviewed the matter of relocating the pipeline which runs across school property at a cost of approximately $35,000, an arrangement preferable to condemnation and possible lengthy legal delays.

The letter also restates the board's intention of complying with all applicable zoning and building ordinances. As for altering the site plan, this was appropriate by recent acquisition of property on the north side of the site, and giving consideration to topography, drainage and further expansion potential.

As to the general question of the alteration of the plot plan subsequent to the millage vote, it was pointed out that in almost any project there are continuing alterations prior to actual construction, and it would be extremely difficult, and perhaps wasteful, to insist that detailed and final plans and specifications for this building, or any public building, be drawn up prior to any required vote.

"On the other hand, we can appreciate the attitudes of the residents concerning their feelings toward the school had they been aware at the time of the access road. We will, however, as indicated earlier, make whatever efforts we can to explore other alternatives to alleviate what we feel are legitimate concerns," the letter read.

At the close of the meeting, Ihrman commented on Coupe's question of fees for the high school athletic site sewer litigation, and said Jack Marquis, the board's attorney, has been in communication with the attorney who handled the litigation and with Coupe, and a response will be forthcoming.

Board Hires Teacher From Peru

The Holland Board of Education, besides adopting a $7.9 million budget for the current school year, processed a number of items at its monthly meeting Monday night which lasted two and a quarter hours.

The board approved the staff appointment of Mrs. Cecilia Blondin in an ESL (English second language) post at the bilingual center. Mrs. Blondin comes from Peru where she received a B.A. degree in 1971. She was a Fulbright scholar in the United States and received a master's degree in 1974 at the University of Texas. She is in her second year of teaching experience.

Linda Beintema of Harrington School was granted a leave of absence for the second semester.

The board voted to retain the services of Gordon Tapper of Employers Association of Grand Rapids to develop job descriptions and a salary analysis for school district administrators at a cost not to exceed $1,000.

Supt. Donald L. Ihrman announced officers for the Parent Advisory Committee for Bilingual Students. They are Rebecca Rivera, chairman; Augustine Torres, vice chairman, and Thelma Pollado, secretary.

Proposed personnel policies for paraprofessionals, introduced by Jack Lowe, were tabled for study.

The board approved expenditure of $688 from earned interest from the Herrick trust fund to finance two field trips to the Chicago Art Institute for students enrolled in the studio art classes at the Hazel Forney Herrick Art Center. The interest is from a $50,000 bequest to the school. The students are in advanced painting and drawing and in advanced jewelry. The first trip for 41 is scheduled Monday, Dec. 6. The second will be at a later date. Each trip will be for 38 students and three chaperones.

A resolution was adopted designating Supt. Ihrman as executive director of Holland's Headstart program, as required by HEW.

Starting with the regular monthly board meeting Jan. 17, regular monthly meetings will be held in the various schools of the district to include meeting with employees of each building.

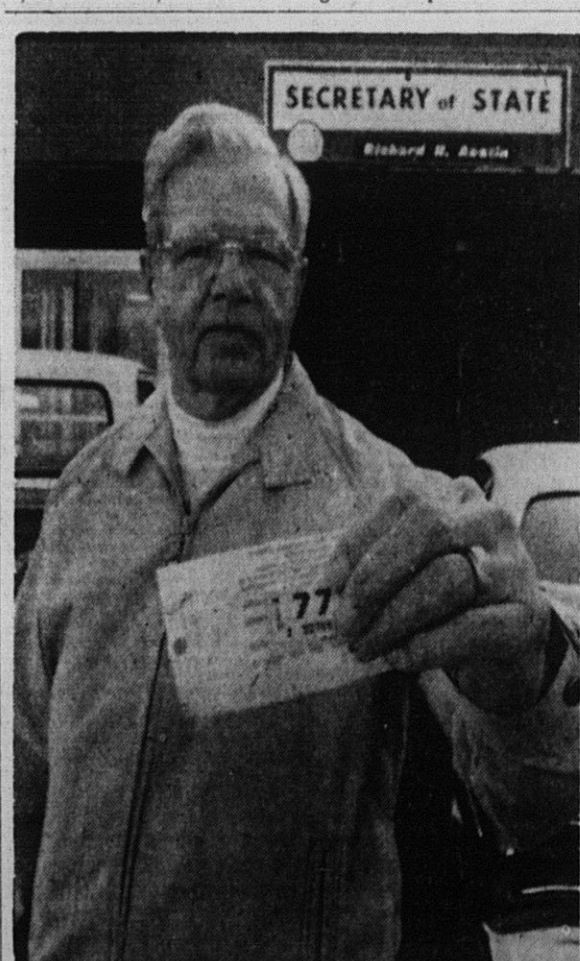

Assistant Supt. for Instruction Richard Rust gave a brief report of visiting various buildings, particularly those teachers approaching their third year of tenure. He also spoke of some advances in communications among elementary specialists, and described some exciting developments in experimental programs for two classrooms of slow learners.

President Charles Bradford presided and Member Marilyn Feininger gave the invocation.

Mental Board Accepts New Wage Plan

GRAND HAVEN — The Mental Health Board in Ottawa County Thursday accepted the classification and salary schedule worked out by the Ottawa County Board of Commissioners and the finance and personnel committee.

But committee member Clifford Crocoll of Holland said there would be individual appeals to the schedule by Mental Health staff members and that the appeals would be made to the commissioners and its committee.

County commissioners Tuesday adopted the schedule which puts the employees under county jurisdiction and eligible for county employee benefits.

Crocoll said some mental health employees would get salary cuts under the schedule ranging from $7 to $8,000 a year but added that the schedules would face review in January.

Mental Health department director Paul Vande Velde said there was a question about implementation of the classification schedule since under state codes three public hearings are required before such action can become effective. He said an opinion from the prosecutor would be sought.

A recommendation was made hiring a client at Kandu Industries for janitorial work at a Mental Health office in Holland at a salary between the minimum and $2.50 an hour.

Mental Health board member Lora Robinson suggested that person be hired on the same wage scale as the county salary schedule just adopted or about $3 an hour.

The board voted not to spend $700 for dues for membership in a mental health association and referred to committee a work study program with Grand Valley State Colleges for students to work with adults in recreation programs.

The board went into closed session following a public meeting to discuss personnel matters.

7 Area Persons Are Injured

GRAND HAVEN — A Hudsonville builder and a marriage and family consultant from Grand Rapids were killed and seven others injured in the crash of their private plane along US-31 north of here Thursday afternoon.

Killed were Gerald E. Battjes, 51, of Hudsonville, the pilot of the twin-engine plane, and a passenger, Henry Velzen Jr., 46, of Grand Rapids.

Ottawa County sheriff's deputies said the plane came down on the northeast corner of Van Wagoner Rd. and the US-31 overpass at 4:38 p.m. as the plane headed south.

Federal Aviation Agency officials in Chicago said Battjes had been cleared to land at Muskegon and made radio contact with the tower at 4:26 p.m. reporting fuel pump problems and his left engine was out.

Officials said at 4:31 p.m. he advised the tower the other engine was going out and radio contact was lost at 4:36 p.m. when tower officials notified State Police.

Deputies said the plane crashed into an embankment of the overpass and the nose landed in a small ravine while the tail section protruded over the overpass.

Authorities said the plane was enroute from Traverse City. The Piper Navajo was owned by Centurian Builders of Grand Rapids.

Police theorized Battjes was attempting an emergency landing when the plane crashed. "It looks like the pilot might have been thinking about landing on the expressway but saw the overpass and tried to swerve up again but couldn't," said a State Police spokesman.

Prior to the crash police said they received a call from a person who reported seeing a plane proceeding without power and "it looked like it was going to crash."

Three investigators from the Federal Aviation Agency and the National Air Traffic Safety Bureau were at the scene today in an attempt to determine the cause of the crash.

In addition to Battjes and Velzen, others on board were Battjes' wife, Evelyn, 54; Velzen's wife, Jane Edna, 55, and sons Steven John, 11 and Daniel Henry, 7; Howard Reenders, 45, of Grand Haven, his wife, Barbara Ann, 43, and daughter Lisa, 9.

Mrs. Velzen was listed in "serious" condition Friday in North Ottawa Community Hospital and Steven was in "good" condition. Daniel was treated and released.

Mrs. Battjes was transferred to Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids and was in "serious" condition. Reenders was in "fair" condition in North Ottawa Community Hospital as was his daughter, Mrs. Reenders was in "serious" condition in Hackley Hospital in Muskegon.

43 Per Cent Get Shots At Clinics

GRAND HAVEN — Fewer than half of the Ottawa County population over the age of 18 received swine flu inoculations at public clinics in the county, the Health Department said.

The department said 37,552 persons received the immunizations during the clinics held in various parts of the county.

Population statistics show 60 per cent of the county population is over 18 years and of that number 43 per cent received the inoculations.

The swine flu immunization program will continue during November in nursing homes, the Ottawa Area Center, Community Haven, hospitals upon request and home bound persons.

Limited amounts of the vaccine will be allocated to physicians.

Clinics also will be held for "high risk" children ages 3 to 13.

The Health Department reported 15,085 inoculations given at clinics in Holland; 3,319 at Zeeland; 6,627 in Grand Haven; 4,708 in Jenison; 1,480 at Grand Valley State Colleges; 3,643 at Spring Lake; 1,112 at Allendale and 1,081 at Coopersville.

Bartender Injured In Scuffle With Patron

Vocational Center Bids Awarded

GRAND HAVEN — Equipment bids totaling $427,050 were awarded to various firms for a portion of the equipment needed at the Area Vocational Center. The action was taken Thursday at the regular monthly meeting of the Ottawa Area Intermediate School District.

Bids totaling $19,557 also were awarded for drapes, hoists, seating and miscellaneous items.

The architect and construction manager were authorized to solicit new bids for roofing and metal deck for the center.

A Title I project totaling approximately $84,000 was approved for the trainable center. This includes purchase of four new buses, additional equipment for various programs and hiring an occupational therapist assistant.

The board authorized Wolf and Co. of Muskegon for the 1976-77 audit.

Construction bills totaling $266,235 were approved for the area vocational center.

Attention was called to the fact that Dick Tanis of Allendale, a member of the Ottawa school boards for 35 years, was one of four persons inducted into the newly organized Michigan Educational Hall of Fame Oct. 17 in the lobby of the Michigan Association of School Boards building at 421 West Kalamazoo St. in Lansing, near the state capitol.

Tanis is the founder of the Michigan Association of School Boards, spending 34 years on the MASB board of directors. He has served as president of an intermediate board for 24 years and has been an avid supporter of education and a volunteer lobbyist.

Other members inducted are Adolph B. Haist of Saginaw, Mrs. Caroline W. Thrun of Lansing and Dr. Ernest O. Malby of East Lansing.

Arthur Dullum, 1365 South Shore Dr., told police Saturday at 11:36 p.m. that someone entered his home while everyone was away and took a watch and ring valued at $600. Entry was made through a rear door and the bedroom was ransacked.

After Seven Years of Study

Council on TV For First Time

Mayor Lou Hallacy welcomed the television audience to City Council Wednesday night as the regular meeting was on Cablevision for the first time. Administrative Aide Jodi Syens operated the camera during the 45-minute meeting, assisted by Cablevision personnel.

"It was seven years ago when we first started exploring Cablevision in Holland, and little did we think at the time that council meetings ever would be telecast," the mayor said. "We're happy to bring city government into the homes of residents of the area and we invite you to attend council meetings in person and take part in local government."

Council adopted an ordinance amendment for the Human Relations Commission, clarifying certain sections on sex, handicaps, age, marital status, etc., and providing broader flexibility in investigations. The new amendment also limits appointment to the commission of city residents.

Approval was given a Board of Public Works request for a pay scale of A-4 for the position of a chief meter reader. The request had been tabled from last meeting.

Accepted as information was a communication from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission stating it had denied a new SDM license for Herbert and Patricia Kammeraad at 494 East 32nd St. inasmuch as the business does not qualify for the type of license under commission policy.

A petition for sanitary sewer service in Royce and Vassar Sts. in Maple Heights subdivision was referred to the city manager.

Council approved a rate increase from $2.75 to $3 a month on weekly collection of Larry's Leftovers.

An application from McGhan Movers for a permit to move a garage from 642 Michigan Ave. to 457 West 32nd St. was approved.

The Salvation Army was granted a license to solicit funds on streets and residences from Nov. 26 to Dec. 24.

A request for a 12-inch water main in Lincoln Ave. from 34th to 35th St. to be financed under the alternate procedure was approved, subject to similar approval by the BPW.

A BPW request of a budget transfer within the BPW budget for a $900 scrubber from low bidder was approved.

Also approved was an agreement between the city and local 586, the same agreement was tentatively approved by Council Oct. 20.

Council okayed a proposed amendment to the Zeeland water agreement whereby changes in operating costs will be passed through as changes occur. The agreement also allows for service outside Zeeland city limits with written permission of the city of Holland.

Two Hospital Board change orders were approved in connection with the newly developed parking lot west of Maple Ave. One is a deduct of $1,043.50 to the contract with E and K Construction Co. to install Michigan State Highway type C - 2 curb and gutter in lieu of those specified, and the other was an increase of $2,568.88 with Demmink's Nursery to increase the size of screening evergreens from 48 to 72 inches. Councilman Ken Beelen questioned what he felt were exorbitant costs, but was informed by Hospital Finance Director James Bridge that the board was only complying with requirements set forth by the Appeal Board in granting a zoning change.

Gift of a memorial book to Herrick Library was acknowledged.

Accepted as information was a Planning Commission report on drafting a new ordinance for D - 1 industrial district similar to those approved for the B - 2 district Oct. 6. A commission hearing is scheduled Nov. 24 and a recommendation will be forthcoming early in December.

Three applications for rezoning were referred to the Planning Commission for recommendation. They are: Joey B. Andrew Jr., rezoned parcel approximately 120 by 800 feet at 719 Waverly Rd. from agricultural to commercial for office facilities; from Simon Steketee to rezoned parcel 357 by 267 feet at 331 Country Club Rd. from agricultural to A - 1 residential; from Woodland Partners to rezoned parcel of 7.78 acres at approximately 700 Black Bass Ave. from A - 0 residential in connection with a proposed single family residential subdivision to be known as Old Orchard Subdivision.

Downtown Structure Said Unsafe

City Council was informed Wednesday night that a frame structure at 9 East Eighth St., has been declared an unsafe building by the city's hearing officer. Inasmuch as the owner has not razed the structure within the 30-day limit, City Attorney Gordon Cunningham recommended a public hearing on the matter which was set Dec. 2.

If the demolition order is continued following the hearing, and the owner does not comply, the city will act on demolition with costs added to the tax rolls. The structure involved is the small building just east of the Warm Friend Motor Inn.

Council acted to hold the next meeting Thursday, Dec. 2, instead of Dec. 1 because four Councilmen will be attending a national conference.

In other business, Council acted to continue underwriting interest costs in connection with an agreement with the Inter-County Drain Board, dating back to November, 1973, in which the city entered into an agreement to underwrite engineering costs and other expenses in connection with the proposed Maplewood - Lela drain project. The original agreement covered a loan of $100,000 from First Michigan Bank and Trust Co. with the city assuming the interest cost. In 1974 the loan was renewed and then in 1975 the city was notified that additional funds were needed. Council authorized an amendment to the original agreement increasing the amount underwritten by the city from $100,000 to $200,000 with the city bearing the cost of the interest. The proposed project remains the subject of litigation, and therefore necessary that the city continue underwriting the interest cost for an additional year.

City manager Terry Hofmeyer explained that negotiations resulted in continuing the existing loans at an interest rate of 4.25 per cent to run an additional one-year period.

Council also approved plans to apply to the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation for land and Water Conservation Funds for improvements to De Graaf Nature Center. Plans call for a new shelter building with sanitary facilities, a parking area, pond improvements, trail markings and a small picnic area.

If the final application is approved on an estimated cost of $60,400, the city's share will be $30,200. Available funds list $3,500 encumbered in the 1974-75 park department budget for nature center improvements, $5,000 under the current department budget and approximately $4,350 from the Greater Holland Community Foundation for a total of $12,850.

It was stated that an attempt will be made to decrease the city's share through local contributions. The application must be submitted no later than Dec. 15. Council approval was on a 7-1 vote, Bea Westrate dissenting.

Council also ended previous action authorizing the purchase of an emergency radio network system (HERN) to be installed in Holland Hospital and used in cooperation with local ambulance services. The city's share of $1,897.50 was authorized from the 6th entitlement period of federal revenue sharing, but there is a question that it may be illegal to use revenue sharing funds to match state highway safety money supplied by the U.S. Department of Transportation. The sum will come from the general fund instead of the revenue sharing fund.

Council set Dec. 2 as a hearing on the request of Donnelly Mirrors Inc., for establishing an industrial development district at its existing facility at the southeast corner of 40th St. and Industrial Ave. The firm proposes to construct a new building of approximately 54,000 square feet to manufacture rear vision products, convex mirror processing and high rate continuous vacuum coating.

Approval also was given a document recommended by the Board of Public Works in which Park township is seeking a federal grant for a water crossing at Point West which would provide a loop for Holland's water distribution system.

Albion to Challenge

Albion came within a whisker of tying Calvin for the league crown last winter and Coach Mike Turner expects big things in 1976-77.

Spearheading the Briton attack will be Paul Cryderman, Denny Frost, and Mike Williams. Impressive freshman is Eric Harvey of Flint Northwestern. Turner is also high on Milton Barnes, a sophomore from Saginaw.

Morrison Needs 4 Wins

Gary Morrison only needs four wins to reach the 100 figure. The Olivet coach is in his 10th year as head of the Comets.

Morrison expects big things from John Sibley, Steve Bivens, Mark Larson, Tom Williams, Curtis Webb, Mike O'Mara and Al Westendorp.

Panthers Have New Swim Coach

Ted Hosner is in his first season of running the basketball program at the start of the season at West Ottawa.

Last year Hosner took over at the halfway mark. The Panthers finished 2-12 in the O-K Red Division and 2-19 overall. "I certainly expect us to improve on last year's mark," said Hosner Tuesday. "We've had fantastic practice sessions to date."

Karl Von Ins has returned to coach the reserves with Nick Weeber handling the freshmen. Dave DeWitt is in charge of the eighth grade and Jon Helder the seventh.

"I've had great cooperation with all five coaches and that's necessary in running a basketball program," Hosner offered. "Some of the essential things are falling into place."

Hosner looks for Jensen and Northview to battle it out for the league title. The former reserve mentor indicated he has installed a run and gun offense this year. Last year, the Panthers were basically a pattern offensive team.

Senior lettermen returning include 6' guard-forward Randy Vander Ploeg, 6'5" forward Marty Klein, 6'4" center Mark Haltenhoff, 6'5" center Rick Westrate, and 6' guard Jack Barrett. Vern Van Tatenhove, a 6'5" senior, who didn't letter last year also returns.

Junior Mike Davis (6'3") and Kip Brethegen (6'3"), a transfer from Minnesota are also in good position to make the squad. There are presently 24 fellows battling it out for the 12-15 roster that Hosner plans to carry.

The Panthers will open their regular season against Grand Haven on Nov. 30.

Wrestling

Two new coaches will be helping out head West Ottawa matman Karl Nadolsky this winter. John Meeryman is in charge of the reserves and Mark Whitlock of the middle school program.

"We're looking forward to the season," replied Nadolsky, a former three-way standout in football, wrestling and track at Hope College.

"This should be an interesting year for us. Our middle school program seems to be paying off and the future looks good," Nadolsky explained. "Grandville, East Grand Rapids and Kentwood are once again the top three clubs in our league. We hope to be in the middle of the pack."

Swimming

Ed Wirth is in his first year as head West Ottawa swimming coach.

"I think if we stay healthy, that we'll have something this winter," commented Wirth. East Grand Rapids and Grandville are two strong teams but my philosophy is we'll take each meet one at a time. Someone will have to beat us before we'll accept defeat.

"I'm just thrilled about being Panther coach and I'm very hopeful that we'll have a fine season."

Returning standouts include tri-captains juniors Jeff Reest and Kerry Wheeler and senior Pat Nelis. Wirth is also high on sophomore transfer Ken Cooper of Holland.

GOSHORN LAKE BRIDGE

Laketown township with its Dutch farmers was a famous peach growing area three miles north of old Saugatuck where the lake steamers tied up to load with the precious fruits to be transported to the Chicago markets.

The small but deep Goshorn lake stood in the way of an easy route to the piers. To cut down the transporting time, the enterprising farmers got together and constructed a floating bridge across the pear-shaped lake.

Over 8,462 trees were felled for the corduroy-type roadway. Side rails were put in to guide the horses as many a heavy load caused the bridge to submerge and the water to reach the horses' stomachs.

A tale is told by a Mrs. Joe Skinner and her daughter who had been to Holland visiting relatives and the time having gone by too fast and with night-time fast approaching the bridge trip to save time was decided upon.

Horse, buggy and the two occupants were halfway across in the late dusk when the horse suddenly stopped and no amount of urging could make the animal proceed. Feet planted firmly, old Neddy seemed to have taken on the aspects of a long-eared donkey.

After about a half hour of this, the horse turned the buggy completely around on the narrow way, nearly overturning it and spilling out the terrified women. The next day it was discovered that a ninety-foot section of the bridge was out. Old Ned had saved their lives. The bridge was constructed in the year 1903 and was in use for over 14 years. In the clear lake water even now, portions of the original bridge, water logged and below the surface still can be seen.

PIER COVE

About four or five miles south of Saugatuck is located the ruins of the tiny group of buildings and docks known as "Pier Cove" founded by a Samuel M. Thompson in 1854. It was destined to be a busy little port for exporting lumber, hides, tan bark. Later it became a port for fruits and vegetables shipped across the lake to the markets in Chicago.

As many as four or five sailing vessels could be seen loading at the docks projecting into Lake Michigan. Some of the narrow gauge railway track used to transport the goods onto the docks to the waiting ships can be found on the present site of the Marshall Simonds home.

A grist mill was built around 1871 and was in use for many years.

LAKETOWN GINSENG GARDENS

On the old Arthur Twinner farm was started a most interesting organic project. It was the first growing of Ginseng commercially.

Old Arthur, Millie his wife, sons Arthur Jr. and Peter, worked the farm. Ginseng is grown under shaded, open-air beds. The whole area was really an amazing sight from a distance or for that matter, close up.

Wild Ginseng grew in a few spots along the Kalamazoo river, and still does. Along with the wild Ginseng plants found and a small bundle of cultivated Ginseng shoots obtained from the O. E. Babbitt farm in northern Wisconsin came the stock for the first planting.

Pride was near the bursting point when a check from a Chicago import, export firm was received for over four hundred pounds of Ginseng root at $9.00 a pound. All of their hard labor from this point on was a very rewarding thing.

For years their gardens thrived. One was on the old New Richmond road near Saugatuck. The berries as well as the roots were sold. The large purple-colored berries did not bring nearly as much money as did the roots. Both dried and fresh Ginseng were sold. The main market was with the Chinese nation.

Being of a superstitious nature they were ready buyers for the medicinal plant, which when full grown shows the root to be in the shape of the human form, often the complete legs, arms, torso, and the head.

The reduction of prices and markets in later years caused the venture to fold. But there are places today in Wisconsin that are still raising Ginseng for profit.

Ex-Cello-O Makes Giant Die Caster

A 3,000 ton cold chamber die casting machine, believed the largest of its kind built in North America, is being completed in Holland by Ex-Cello-O Corp. Micromatic Division for General Motors.

The machine will be used by GM at its Bedford, Ind. plant for production of aluminum transmission housings for trucks, off-road vehicles and cars.

The B & T machine is 48 feet long, 19 feet high and 12 feet wide with the heights adjustable from 50 to 80 inches. The completed machine will weigh 440,000 pounds.

The bars for the unit are 14 inches in diameter and 47 feet long and the platen and end plates are more than eight-feet square and 22 inches thick.

The machine is divided into three basic sub-assemblies: base, die-close reservoir and the short-end reservoir. Both reservoir sections include complete hydraulic circuits, pumps, accumulators and motor units.

Included in the machine's electrical system are complete safety interlocks and the control circuit incorporates provisions for automatic lading and uses silicone insulated wiring exclusively outside the control panel.

The machine will be shipped in three units and will be installed at the Indiana GM plant with production scheduled to begin in February.

Four other machines are part of the overall program and when all are in operation the GM plant will be the biggest die casting operation for the auto maker.

Kraai-Volkers Rites Performed In Zeeland

Second Reformed Church in Zeeland was the setting for evening rites Nov. 4 which joined in marriage Miss Debra Lynn Volkens and Dan Jay Kraai. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Kenneth Eriks. Music was provided by organist, Mrs. Harriet Vanderby, and Dan Ritsema, soloist.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Volkens, 105 West Central Ave., Zeeland. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Kraai, 3414 96th Ave., Zeeland.

The bride chose a princess style gown of white giana knit featuring an empire waist, long fitted sleeves and chapel train. The bodice and sleeves were accented with Venice lace and crocheted pearl beading. A Juliet headpiece trimmed with pearls secured her lace-edged fingertip veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of apricot roses, baby's breath and white miniature carnations. Pearl earrings belonging to her great grandmother completed the bride's ensemble.

Bridal attendants were Miss Lynn Dionise, maid of honor, and Diane Kraai, Terri Cooke, Mary Volkens, and Kristi Volkens, bridesmaids. They wore matching gowns of apricot polyester with lighter colored capelets, and long fitted sleeves trimmed with white lace. They wore matching camelot headpieces and carried straw baskets of apricot roses, pompons and baby's breath.

The groom was attended by Dave Kraai, best man; and Keith and Steve Kraai and Barry and Mike Volkens as groomsmen. Guests were seated by Gene and Chuck Kraai.

A reception was held at Van Raalte's Restaurant with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Boersen as master and mistress of ceremonies. Other reception attendants were Mrs. Pat Hop, Mrs. Linda Stephensen, Sandy Broekhuis, Scott Brink, Sandy Boersen, and Mr. and Mrs. John Cook.

SMALL EMPLOYMENT
PROBLEM

Presidents out of office have generally found themselves in rather an odd situation. They can't just go out and get a job to top up their energies and supplement retirement pay.
Once they've emerged from the post-White House decompression chamber, the usual pattern is to write memoirs, brood over the record of one's administration, and give advice on request — that sort of thing.

The situation of Cabinet members is different. They generally wind up with lucrative positions in private industry, foundations and the like. Most of them are experts in some field, or in any case expert administrators.
There is a brisk demand for their expertise — enhanced, one suspects, by the attraction of having a former presidential confidant on the payroll.

We are about to witness another demonstration of this as the Ford administration nears its end. It looks as though finding a prestigious job at high pay will not be much of a problem for the Cabinet members.
For some of them, the biggest problem may be choosing among offers.

The most conspicuous exam-plar of this phenomenon is Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. It is expected that upon his return to private life he will first tackle a book, which should bring handsome rewards. His unmatched record of direct involvement in his academic field, international affairs, assures him a wide choice of interesting possibilities.

The same is true, though in lesser and varying degree, of Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi, a former president of the University of Chicago; of Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery Jr., who already has been offered top labor relations posts in private industry; of Secretary of Commerce Elliot L. Richardson, the most politics-minded Cabinet member, who may run for public office.

Of others, too; not one is without lively high-level prospects. Come January 20, President Ford may be the only one of the Cabinet Room insiders who is not sure what he's going to do.

Charity Ball Set Dec. 4...

"Reflections of Winter" promises to capture and set the mood of a delightful and enchanted winter evening for members of the Junior Welfare League when they hold their annual charity ball on Saturday, Dec. 4, in Civic Center.

Because of the fine reception last year, the Fenby-Carr Quintette and Holland's Tom Page Band will again provide continuous dancing music for this year's party-goers. This combination is a musical treat to please all ages.

Co-chairmen for the ball are Mrs. Dennis Van Wieren and Mrs. Darrel Schuurman. Busy making tiny hanging mirrors and crocheted and macramé snow flakes to enhance the Christmas trees are decorations chairmen, Mrs. Menno Fairbanks, Mrs. Charles Halbeisen, Mrs. Phil Maatman and Mrs.
Michael Zeedyk.

Other ball chairmen are Mrs.
John Schmidt, publicity and Mrs. John Hutchinson, tickets.
Tickets may be obtained from any League member or at the door.

Proceeds from this year's ball will go to benefit the children of the Ottawa Area Center and to the children's section of the Herrick Public Library.

Junior League Members are currently conducting another annual holiday project, the sale of Benson fruitcakes. Available in three sizes, the fruitcakes may be purchased by contacting any League member.

Questers Hear About America's Foremost Artists

A scholarly paper on 26 of America's foremost artists was presented by Mrs. Henry Pas Monday evening at a meeting of Etta Fox chapter of Quest-ers. Mrs. Wilbur Saeger was co-hostess for the meeting, held in the Pas home.

Displaying works of each artist, Mrs. Pas showed how each reflected the spirit of an era. Instead of imitating European themes, the Americans formed the world's most enthusiastically secular school of painting. The early painters were mostly commercial artists, but occasionally had the pleasure of doing a portrait.

One of the earliest painters of note, she said, was Benjamin West, who was commissioned to do portraits as early as age 13. He believed in not only pleasing the eye but elevating the mind. At 24, he led in the founding of the Royal Academy of Art in London and was its first president.

John Singleton Copely also began at age 13 and within 10 years accomplished better paintings than any American before him. Charles Wilson Peale, a saddle maker who fought in the Revolution and painted Washington at Yorktown, added a museum of natural history to his art gallery and combined the two interests in a display of 100,000 animals, backed with his paintings.

Mrs. Pas told of Gilbert Stuart, whose third portrait of Washington is still on the dollar bill, and of John Audobon, first great American painter of American wild life. His "Birds of America" includes 435 still-famous paintings.

Samuel F. B. Morse, inventor of the telegraph and Morse Code, was one of the nation's best portrait painters. His "Old House of Representatives," painted in 1822, seemed to say
"History is made here." Archibald Willard's "The Spirit of 76," presented for the Philadelphia Centennial of 1876, captured the heart of the nation.

Mrs. Pas concluded that in the 20th century, American art has reached a "delta," following many channels in a spirit of experiment and search.

Advisory Council Speaker Hits Cut in Budget

Citizens Advisory Council to the Ottawa County Juvenile Court met Monday, in the District Court building in Holland. Don Meindersma, director of Court Services, appeared before the Council and indicated that he had written to Ray Vander Laan, chairman of the County Commission Human Services Committee, stating his dismay at a further cut of $3,300 from the Juvenile Court program budget.

He said items reduced will affect the amount and quality of services the Court can provide to the public. Reducing the Special Project budget will impair, if not cripple the First Offender Program, Alcohol Information Program, the Group Home and Group Counseling, he said. These programs involve about 70 volunteers who have done a remarkable job in keeping case loads at a manageable level. Secondly, Meindersma said that a reduction in requested funds for "temporary help" will result in a lack of service to foster parents and neglected children.

Judge Miles and the court director have requested that the monies be returned to the Juvenile Court budget so that the court can effectively serve its clients. The County Commission is required by the Supreme Court to provide adequate funds for the operation of the Juvenile Court, Meindersma said.

Eric Elliott introduced the speakers, Henry Wick and Kathy Poest of the Mental Health Department. Wick outlined the program of emergency services being planned for the county. Emergency care is mandated by the new Mental Health Code. He stated that preliminary surveys have been completed and are waiting for funding to implement the program.

There are several vacancies on the Advisory Council and interested citizens of Ottawa County are urged to apply for membership by contacting Sharon Rocker, 1371 Linwood, Holland.

Council members present were Rick Van Til, chairman, Elliott, Sharon Yonker, Hugh Veltman, Carol Gavasso, Sharon Rocker, Abby Price and Sue Hekman. Betsy Wackernagel of the Holland Police Department was welcomed as a new member.
