Miss Sena Voorhorst, 180 East 9th street, died at the Butterworth hospital in Grand Rapids Sunday afternoon. Death came to her as a result of heart failure after an operation for gall stones to which Miss Voorhorst submitted Friday morning. The operation itself was satisfactory but weakness of heart complicated it and caused death.

JOHN CAPPON WRITES OF TRIP TO CALIFORNIA

The following interesting letter was received from J. Cappon and party of this city. Those in the party are:

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Cappon, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hadden and Dr. and Mrs. H. Boss. The letter follows:

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 3, 1918

To the Dear Folks at Home:—

While enroute to the coast in our automobile we sent you some post cards and giving you some news as we went along, but suppose you are more or less interested in how we made the trip; so I will call on my memory and refer to a few notes that I made and will endeavor to make this letter as interesting as the trip afforded. When we left home on the 25th of September we had an itinerary figured out more as a guide than a true schedule; yet it was a surprise to us how closely we ran to the line until we began to do some real mountain work. We arrived in Chicago at 4 o'clock, and put up at the Darlington Hotel on the north side which is located near to the home of Ray Hadden. We were all entertained for dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hadden and spent a very enjoyable evening with them. At 7:40 the next morning found us on our way to Milwaukee. The run from Holland to Chicago was made in pretty good time even though we encountered some very bad road conditions due to road work, and the road from Chicago to Milwaukee on the whole was pretty good as you will note that we arrived there at 11:30. Sue was on the lookout for us, but they had no idea that we would arrive so early. She had prepared for us a very fine dinner which we all enjoyed so much for we realized that that would likely be the last home table meal we would enjoy for some time; but as you read on you will find that we were mistaken. At 2:40 P. M. we were again on our way to Oskosh, Wis., where we arrived at 6:30 P. M. The roads thru Wisconsin were a surprise to us as we made the run of 94 miles in three hours and fifty minutes; in fact we did not have any bad roads all the way to Minneapolis. The scenery in Wisconsin was most beautiful at that particular time as the foliage of the trees was the most brilliant that we had ever seen, and with the rolling topography of the country we would get some beautiful view into the fertile valleys which were dotted with fine homes and spacious barns which indicated the great prosperity of the state. It would be worth one's time to make the trip by auto from Holland to Minneapolis at this time to see the beautiful country. The following day we left Oskosh at 8 A. M. and made the longest run of our trip, 234 miles to Eau Claire where we arrived at 6:30 P. M. After we had got located in our hotel and had our supper we went out to find Nick Whelan, who we found at home, and if you ever saw a surprised man it was Nick, and of course he had to entertain us, for you know Nick; so after we had answered and asked all manner of questions he piled up into his machine and took us all to the Club and there continued the entertainment in Nick's hospitable manner and did not return to our hotel until midnight. As the next day's run would only be one hundred miles we were in no hurry to get away so we did not get started until 9 o'clock, and arrived at Minneapolis at 2:45 P. M. where we put up for over Sunday. Sunday morning we thought that we would go and listen to Mr. Bergen, and surprise him with our presence, but we were disappointed as he was not at home, being in the service and located at Van Couver, Wash., as chaplain. We met Mrs. Bergen and when she learned that we were motor- ing through to the coast she could not contain herself on account of her desire to accompany us in her car, and wanted us to wait for her a couple of days so that she could get ready. We could not comply with her request as every day meant a lot to us as we did not want to get caught in any of the mountain passes filled with snow; she finally asked if we would wait until the hour of ten Monday, but after talking it over among ourselves we decided we would be assuming too great a responsibility, and in this particular case we made no mistake, for we certainly would have had our hands full looking after her and car, for I am sure that at times it would have been impossible for her to have negotiated some of the heavy grades, and it would have taxed her nerves to have driven over some of the narrow mountain roads with the mountain towering high up on one side and apparently bottomless abyss on the other with very few, placed provided for the passing of other cars or teams. Often times either one or the other would have to back up or down as the case might to a place where it would be wide enough to pass, and then by squeezing. On Monday the 30th of September at 7:30 we struck out for the

MASHERS ARE CAUGHT AT LAST BY HOLLAND POLICE

"ALL FUTURE OFFENDERS WILL GET SHORT SHIFTED JUSTICE," SAYS CHIEF VAN RY

This Gang Used Automobile to Entice Women from the Portals of Church

The women of Holland for a long time have been pestered by a parasite, commonly called a "masher."

The police have been receiving several complaints and that generally on Sunday evening after the services at the different churches are over, and the young ladies are going to their respective homes.

These mashers are generally near a church entrance in twos or threes, and their conversation runs something like this: "There's a pippin, I'll grab her," "Here comes a peach," says another, "Me for her," "Ah there you little chick, come with me," and the gang will sidle up to the little ladies, and walk along for a half a block or more, forcing their attentions upon the much embarrassed young ladies of Holland.

At last the strong arm of the law has grabbed two would-be mashers from Zeeland, who were doing their mashing by automobile.

They started coaxing two young ladies near the entrance of one of the churches, but getting scant notice, they made caustic remarks to these respectable girls. They drove their machine to another group, a little further down the street, tried the same tactics, but were unable to inveigle the little lasses into the inviting machine.

They rode still farther to a third group, stopped their machine dead still, opened the doors, and approached two other young ladies at close range.

These young ladies became thoroughly incensed, and between the three groups a minute description of the offenders was gained gathered in by the police.

The two men are Ben DeYoung and Leonard De Pree of Zeeland. They were rounded up by the police on the street and pleaded guilty in Justice Robinson's court and paid a fine of $3.35 each.

The only mashers do not come from Zeeland, however, but there are a large number in Holland, whom the police intend to round up. This is only the beginning of a step that has long been contemplated, and the next batch will not get off with a fine of $3.25 of that they may be sure.

This paper will give any future cases the most thorough publicity. The decent and responsible parents of this city are bound that their daughters shall be able to walk upon the streets of Holland in safety either day or at night, without being subjected to the insults of stranger whom they have never met.

HOLLAND IS BECOMING QUITE A MEDICAL TOWN

JOHN RUTGERS HAS BECOME INTERESTED IN A GOITRE REMEDY

Holland has a large list of diversified industries and medicine has become one of them. This city has its De Pree Chemical Co., its Holland Chemical Co., and may soon add another medicine factory. The matter is simply awaiting readjustment of conditions after the war.

About twelve years ago John Rutgers, of the Rutgers Clothing Co. lived for a time in Chicago. While there he became interested in a medicine that has proven to have curative qualities from the fact that it removes goitres.

Mr. Rutgers having had personal experience with members of his family, who were materially benefited and cured by the goitre remedy, became so interested that he invested with Abraham Shrimplin of Chicago in the miniature medical concern. "The fame of the remedy," says Mr. Rutgers, "has through legitimate advertising gone broadcast, until at present we are handling 249 patients to be exact."

"The remedy absolutely removes goitres and we do not have to prove this, our 200 odd patients are absolute proof."

"Altho the business grew slowly at first the medicine output is gaining in volume every day and while the headquarters are at present in Chicago, it is my hope that in the very near future the goods may be manufactured in Holland with offices in Chicago."

"I am for Holland first, last and all the time, and our citizens know that."

WANT PRESENT WAGE SCALE TO CONTINUE

FURNITURE MANUFACTURERS WOULD PLACE INDUSTRY ON PAR WITH IRON INDUSTRIES

Resolutions Are Passed At Convention In Favor of Maintaining Present Standard

Holland furniture manufacturers are deeply interested in the movement now on foot to maintain the present standard of wages for furniture workers. Three local manufacturers, C. P. Limbert, Arthur Visscher and E. P. Stephan, were present at a meeting of the Western Furniture Manufacturers in Chicago last Friday where this matter was given a great deal of attention. There were more than 300 of the most prominent furniture manufacturers of the western section present and they were unanimously in favor of doing everything possible to maintain the present standard of wages.

"What the furniture manufacturers are anxious to do," said E. P. Stephan today, "is to place the furniture industry on a par with the iron-working industries and similar industries so far as wages are concerned. We believe that work in furniture on the whole requires just as high a degree of skill as is required in other lines of industry and that the worker is entitled to as high a standard of wages with its consequent higher standard of living as workers in any other field."

But the maintenance of the present standard of wages will depend largely on the maintenance of present prices in furniture, the manufacturers declare. The two factors are interrelated and a sharp drop in price of the product manufactured would necessarily result in a drop in price of the labor that helps to create this product. Hence the manufacturers at the meeting in Chicago passed the following two resolutions:

"Resolved, that it is the sense of the furniture manufacturers of the west, assembled in meeting at Chicago on November 22, that the present cost of labor and material does not justify any change in prices."

"Whereas, in order that labor may be assured of an adequate compensation sufficient for the American standard of living; be it

"Resolved, that this meeting of the Western Manufacturers held in the city of Chicago on November 22, 1918, unanimously recommends that the present standard of wages prevail."

TO GIVE CANTATA AND HOLD "SING"

The Patriotic cantata "Humanity's Cause" will be rendered tomorrow evening at the Third Reformed church by a chorus of 60 voices. Preceding the cantata there will be a community Liberty Sing of about thirty minutes led by J. Vandersluis and the chorus. These Liberty sings are being held all over the country at the request of our government. The meeting begins at 7:30 sharp and is free for the public. Everybody is invited to join in this sing.

The Coopersville Observer takes exception to the Gazette's item respecting the price paid by the Overton creamery for milk—$3.65 per hundred for four per cent milk. It appears that this is not the highest price paid by creameries as the Crystal creamery of Coopersville is paying $3.65 per hundred for milk that tests 3.5 per cent with three cents added for each tenth per cent above this test.—Allegan Gazette.

At 6:50 Monday morning the departments were called to a fire in the home of Wm. Oosting, 261 East Ninth St. The house was badly gutted by the flames and the loss is estimated at about a thousand dollars. The furniture was saved.

WHY SHOULD YOUR GOITRE BILL BE HIGH?

What's the use of worrying about the high cost of living? You are making your own cost, living is cheap, if you only pick your food right.

For instance, if you can buy five pounds of navy beans at 10c a pound you can feed on about the finest Boston baked beans that you ever ate.

Here is some more cheap feed, as a diversified delicacy. Three very large cans of the best quality of pink salmon for 50 cents, less than twenty cents a can. After partaking of this delicious but cheap meal of beans or fish you can wash up your dishes on cheap but the very best quality soap. Just think of it! Twenty-one bars for $1—less than a nickel a bar.

Who says that the cost of living is high, when these things can be purchased at the A. Peters 5 and 10 cent store and Bazaar?

LOCAL BOARD CALLS IN ALL QUESTIONNAIRES

PERSONS FAILING TO RETURN THEM WILL BE HELD RESPONSIBLE BY BOARD

All Documents Must Be Packed and Held Ready For Shipment By December 10

The local draft board is working against time to clean up its business before December 10, the date when the board will practically pass into history. The members of the board have not yet officially received their discharge and it is not known when they will go out of office, but they have orders to pack every document that has been used during the nineteen months that the United States was at war and to hold it ready for shipment to some central point which the war department may designate.

Secretary Boonstra of the local board announced today that if there are any persons who still hold their questionnaires to send them in without delay. The questionnaires need not be filled out but they must positively be returned to the local board. All are numbered and there is no chance of having a single one overlooked. There are still some persons in the district who seem to have jumped to the conclusion that when the armistice was signed they were absolved from all responsibility with regard to the blank questionnaires. That is not the case. They are held responsible for the documents and if by December 10 they have not yet turned them in, the holders will have to be called before the board to show why they did not comply with the regulations.

All the eighteen year olds have turned in their questionnaires with the exception of two and these are expected soon. There are no more examinations or classifications at the offices of the local board. That work has been completed, but there is still a great volume of work to be done before all the documents of the office have been properly filed and packed ready for shipment.

PAINTS PORTRAIT OF FORMER PROFESSOR

LOCAL ARTIST PUTS ON CANVAS LIKENESS OF DR. M. KOLYN

Joseph Warner, Holland's veteran painter, has just completed a portrait of the late Dr. Matthew Kolyn, former member of the faculty of the Western Theological Seminary. The work was done as a commission from the students of the Seminary who wanted a lifelike portrait of their forer loved teacher. It will probably be placed in the seminary building. The painting has the merit of being unusually lifelike. Mr. Warner was not personally acquainted with his subject and he had to work from a photograph, but the result, even under this handicap, is very satisfactory.

In doing the portrait of Dr. Kolyn Mr. Warner returned to his first love in art. He was at one time a portrait painter of considerable distinction, but the rapid development of photography caused him to forsake this branch of the art and turn to landscape painting.

WIFE OF FORMER LOCAL EDITOR DIES

The death of Mrs. I. Verwey occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. F. McAvoy, 1844 Belden Avenue, Grand Rapids early Sunday morning. The deceased, who was 62 years of age, came to Grand Rapids from The Netherlands when 12 years old. Feb. 25, 1874, she became the wife of the late Isaac Verwey, who was editor of "DeGrondwet" until his death June 22, 1899.

She is survived by three children, Simon Verwey of this city, Mrs. H. F. McAvoy of Grand Rapids, Mrs. H. Nyquist of Cadillac. Also by a brother and sister in Grand Rapids and one brother in Detroit.

The funeral was held at the home of S. A. Verwey, 262 West 12th St. at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The funeral will be private. Friends were given an opportunity to view the remains from 9 to 11 Tuesday forenoon.

The ladies of the home missionary society of the Methodist church will serve cafeteria chicken dinners and lunches all day and evening next Saturday, November 30 in the vacant Pieper building, next to Woolworth's 5 and 10 cents store. Will also have a sale of parcel post packages suitable for Xmas packages for only 25 cents. All prices very reasonable.

YANKEE GUNS IN WEST CALLED GREATEST MADE

Details of the achievements of the Navy Department in making available for use on the western front the great naval guns which press dispatches have reported to be hammering the German railway centers back of the Oise-Serre front were made public by Secretary Daniels.

The naval guns, which have been in operation since September 16, originally were intended for new battle-cruisers.

The guns are manned and operated by officers and men of the United States navy, under the command of Rear Admiral Plunkett, former director of the office of gunnery exercises and engineering performance.

The guns are said to throw a heavier projectile and have a greater muzzle velocity than any weapon ever placed on a mobile land mounting. The weight of the explosive used with each projectile is many times greater than that used in the freak German long range guns, and in point of their destructive force they are incomparable.

The organization to man one gun requires an entire train, including the gun itself, ammunition cars, crane car, ad construction, sand timber, kitchen, fuel, workshop, berthing and staff radio cars.

The training of the men to operate the big guns was of a most intensive nature. The gun crews are composed of officers from the regular naval forces and the naval reserves and of men taken for the most part from the Great Lakes Training Station.

Among the crew are five Holland boys two brothers Holwerda of Grand Rapids, W. Dobben of Fremont, J. Boersema and Raymond B. Drauker of Kalamazoo.

STATE REGENT GIVES FACTS ABOUT D. A. R. WAR ACTIVITIES

The November meeting of Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton Chapter, D. A. R. was held at the home of Mrs. C. M. McLean Thursday afternoon and was especially interesting, as the chapter entertained as their guest the State Regent, Mrs. Wm. Henry Waite. She gave to the members of the chapter and guests many interesting facts concerning the work of the Michigan Daughters, especially the work during the year just past.

They have had a large part in subscribing for liberty bonds, adopting French orphans, knitting for the navy, besides doing a great deal of Red Cross work.

The boys at Camp Custer have been made happy by having their mending done by daughters of the near-by chapters, and all the chapters in Michigan have subscribed to the chocolate fund enabling the aviators at Selfridge Field to have hot chocolate served to them after cold trips in the air.

Although work at the local camps may not continue, the daughters expect to help in reconstruction work and have already raised a large sum of money to be used for the restoration of a village in France. Mrs. Waite also told of the effort being made mostly by the children of America to "re-chickenize" France. One dime will place an egg in an incubator, and 40,000 dimes will pay the rent of a chicken farm and the salary of a man to care for it.

Music was furnished by Miss Gertrude Kramer who played in her very charming way two piano solos. The Regent, Mrs. W. S. Garrod, invited the company to remain for a social time and dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

CHICAGO SLICKERS TOUCH GR. RAPIDS MAN FOR $1,100

Louis Zetaga, 339 Bridge-st., Grand Rapids, Mich., has reported to Chief of Detectives James L. Mooney that two Chicago "slickers" had taken $1,100 from him by the "money in the box—you hold it" game.

According to Zetaga he met the two men while waiting for a train for Grand Rapids one day last week. One of them, he said, was weeping over the death of a brother who had left him a large estate. In company with two Zetaga started to find the brother's home in W. Thirty-fifth-st. The search was unsuccessful and he left the two to take his train.

But he told the police, the two insisted that he come back to Chicago—even purchasing a round trip ticket for him to insure his return. They promised, he said that if he would bring back his $1,100 from the Grand Rapids bank where it was deposited, the "heir" would give him $2 for everyone he had.

On his return, he told the police, the two met him at the train and took him again out to Thirty-fifth-st. In a vacant barn his money and a large roll of bills belonging to the other two were put into a box and the cover was nailed on. They gave him the box to hold and made an appointment to meet him later downtown.

He waited at the rendezvous for some time, and when they did not appear he opened the box. It was filled with paper—and the paper was not money.

According to Detective Sergeant Stapleton and Boschulte of the detective bureau, the confidence men are believed to be the same two who have been operating at the railroad station for some time.—Chicago American.

BIG POULTRY MEETING AT THE CITY HALL

The following communication was sent in by the secretary of the Holland Poultry and Pet Stock Association:

A meeting of the Holland Poultry & Pet Stock Association and the Zeeland Poultry & Pet Stock Association will hold a special meeting in the City Hall Wednesday evening, November 27, 1918. Only two more meetings will be held before the big show will be on and several important matters must be disposed of. If the members are alive they surely will wake up to the fact that this year will be one that will not be forgotten and the results will be felt for many years to come. Every poultry and rabbit breeder is urgently requested to attend this meeting. It is the duty of every breeder in every line to be present to do his share for the country. The County Agricultural Agent will be with us and also a speaker from the Agricultural College at East Lansing, Edward Brouwer, secretary of the organization, has made special arrangements for the evening and the Poultry school will be explained by the two or more speakers. Tell everyone about the meeting and bring a friend with you especially for this meeting. The Poultry catalog is rapidly being brought to a close and will be ready for delivery the latter part of this week.

The program at the Beechwood P.T. meeting Friday evening was in charge of the young people who showed themselves in no way behind their elders in selecting interesting numbers. After a talk on "Democracy" by Principal C. E. Drew of the high school, and two musical numbers, the young people staged an excellent play. Refreshments consisted of popcorn and apples. The "S. R. O." sign was needed as usual.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dalman, East 19th street, a girl.

Mrs. Samuel Zwemer of this city spoke in Muskegon and Grand Rapids on the subject of Missions in Egypt.

Pleasant Memories

of a real Thanksgiving Day last the whole year through.

Home ties are made more precious by those happy, joyous reunions.

William and Susie come home to the farm or Father and Mother visit the Children in town.

Old times are discussed; old acquaintances are renewed; new friends are oftentimes made; happenings of boyhood and girlhood days are told and retold.

And soon the savory, appetizing odors from the kitchen, where the wonderfully tasty goodies baked from

Lily White

"The flour the best cooks use."

are waiting their turn to add to the pleasure of all, remind everyone that another Thanksgiving Day is at hand.

And what a feast!

Roast Turkey and Dressing with Cranberry sauce and jellies—enough for two helpings and more.

Such biscuits and rolls—flaky, tender, light and deliciously flavored—such as LILY WHITE produces.

Then the tarts and mince pies, and even our own particular kind of cake that dear old mother made just to please her grown-up children, kiddies of days gone by.

Surely it's a wonderful occasion, the memory of which will last the whole year through.

We are glad to have Lily White contribute to the day's pleasure.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD FOR PRIVATE CORNELIUS BARKEMA

The First Reformed church was packed to its capacity Thursday evening when memorial services were held for Private Cornelius Barkema, the first member from that church who gave up his life for his country in this war. Seats had been reserved for the relatives and for the members of the patriotic organizations of Holland, and the latter attended the exercises, showing thereby their respect for the Holland boy who died and their appreciation of his sacrifice. But all other available seats were occupied by an appreciative public.

Touching words were spoken by the Rev. H. J. Veldman, who presided over the meeting, by George Schilling, superintendent of the Sunday School, Rev. Benjamin Hoffman of Zeeland, a friend of the family, and by Prof. J. B. Nykerk, representing the Holland War Board. Dick Boter, teacher of the Men's Class from which organization some sixty members have entered the service, was also scheduled to speak, but he was prevented from appearing on the program.

Miss Anna Witvliet and Mr. Gerrit TerBeek sang a duet, and a solo was given by Miss Cora Van der Werf.

The speakers called attention to the great sacrifice that has been made by the boy who gave his life in Europe that the cause of justice might triumph in the world. Though he did not fall in action but was struck down by disease, he is just as much a sacrifice in the war and a hero worthy of honor as those who died by the enemy bullet.

The family Friday asked that expression be given in a public way to their appreciation of the kindness of all who took part in the services and of the thoughtfulness of those who gave their automobiles for the occasion and in other ways rendered service in connection with the memorial exercises.

ZEELAND MAN SEES MUCH SERVICE AT THE FRONT

Capt. Edward De Pree of the 51st Coast Artillery, arrived home very unexpectedly from overseas last Sunday at 3 p. m. A telegram was received from him on last Saturday announcing his arrival at New York. Speculation among his friends as to the cause of his sudden return, caused the rumors to spring up about town of his being wounded, gassed or shell-shocked.

All fears were found groundless, however, when upon his arrival, it developed that he was under orders to return to America on duty.

Captain De Pree, while in France had charge of a company of 250 men, operating a 350mm projectile, and using a charge of ninety pounds of the heaviest explosive known. The range of these guns is about five miles and the usual station is about from one and a half to two miles behind the front line trenches. Capt. De Pree's company was on the firing line continually from about the middle of May until the end of the fighting.

The company was engaged in the fighting in the Saint Mihiel sector being located just north of Pont-a-Mousson. Later the batteries were moved toward the Meuse sector, on both banks of which the stiffest fighting of the entire war took place.

The fighting on the Meuse was done entirely by the Americans and it is conceded that when the resistance of the Germans was broken here, and the lines moved forward to Sedan, the backbone of the German line was broken and complete collapse followed.

Captain De Pree received orders to leave the front on November 1st, and left French shores on November 4th arriving at New York on November 15. When still three days out from New York news came by wireless of signing of the armistice.

On arrival at New York, Capt. De Pree was given a ten days' furlough, which he is spending at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry De Pree. He expected to leave Saturday for New York, from where he will go to Fortress Monroe, Va.

Capt. De Pree is very enthusiastic as to the spirit and capability of the American soldier. During the early months of the present year, when the Hun was making his great efforts, and while the American troops were still brigaded with the French, the war-weariness of the French was very great and if Paris had been captured, the war might have had a disastrous ending for the Allies.

But when the Americans began the fighting by "their own," and held the Hun at Chateau Thierry, the drooping French spirit revived and from then on the end was in sight.

ZEELAND BOY IS ILL WITH PNEUMONIA

Private George Roosenraad of the Hope S. A. T. C., son of Cornelius Roosenraad is very seriously ill with pneumonia at his home in Zeeland. Private Roosenraad left for Zeeland last Saturday and was unable to return to his post of duty Sunday evening. He is a member of the Junior class of the college.

HUNTERS ARE DISSATISFIED WITH GAME LAWS

Several hunters are bawling the fact that the game laws are very inconsistent, and prefer a general opening of the hunting season on all kinds of game, even if the season were much shorter.

Here are several protests from one hunters in particular who unburdened himself of many incidents—that he claims has happened and several phases of the game law that he says should be eliminated.

Says Mr. Hunter, "When you go in the woods now, all you can hunt is rabbits. You run across a covey, of quail, you must pass them up. Should partridge cross your path you must bite your teeth and put down your gun. If you should spy a fox you must let it hunt its hole and allow it to stay there. A fox does not even need to be foxy, no matter how many hunters see him. Rabbits is the only thing—for the rest—Keep off the grass." Hard winters like last winter kill more quail than all the pot hunters have ever killed in their lives. If the game department took better care of the game during the severe winter months, and gave the hunters more privilege, there would be more quail than there ever was before. It is the deep snow, with no food for the birds that exterminate them faster than any number of hunters would. This holds true also of other game that forages for food.

"Still another clause that gets the hunter sore, is the restriction placed on shooting of wood duck. I'll warrant that nine out of ten hunters cannot tell a wood duck from any other duck when hunting for them. Still I know of one instance where a Holland hunter had shot a wood duck by mistake, picked the bird and placed it with his mud hens." Said the hunter, "I could throw it away, but what good would that do? The bird was no good dead, and for that reason we ate the out-of-season bird with the mud hens."

"I can tell also of a Chicago hunter who shot a wood duck by mistake in the marshes between Saugatuck and Douglas. An experienced hunter who saw what the stranger had in his bag told him that it was illegal to shoot a wood duck, and the hunter ignorant of the fact, became so scared that he buried the duck in the swamp, and it was of no use to anyone."

"There is also a law prohibiting hunting of fox squirrels, notwithstanding the fact that in Ottawa and Allegan counties (these) are so thick that the farmers are losing a great deal of their corn. Farmers are up in arms because laws prohibit the hunting of fox squirrels who are constantly damaging the crops on the farm and many have expressed themselves that they would hunt this pest anyway, regardless of the law."

This substance is what this dissatisfied sportsman had to say to a representative of this paper. Not being a hunter, the representative does not know whether these facts are all correct, or whether the game laws are working a burden upon the class of people for whom the laws were really intended. Any way you can take this hunter's lamentations for what they are worth.

TEMPERANCE UNION HOLDS THANKSGIVING MEETING FRIDAY

Dr. E. J. Blekkink addressed the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at their Thanksgiving meeting at the home of Mrs. James Purdy, on the subject, "Our reasons for thankfulness with regard to the War." First, we are thankful that we entered it; second, thankful that we won it; third, thankful that it's over. He emphasized the fact that the great things are still to be decided at the Peace Conference. If no lives had been lost and the war's cost had been in money only, we could well have afforded to spend it for what we have learned there from. But three million people in Germany really desired the war but they were the ones in power. Had the U. S. been as ready for war two years ago as we are now there would perhaps have been no conflict. Germany would have been wise enough to keep the peace. The part that women have taken in winning the war cannot be estimated. Many reforms have suffered during war-time from lack of attention, but the temperance movement has gone forward by leaps and bounds till from the present outlook, we of today may hope to see the time when strong drink will be banished from the world.

The music of the afternoon was "Kipling's Recessional" by Mrs. Henry Van Ark and "When the Boys Come Home" and "Thanksgiving Song" by Miss Jeannette Albers.

Mrs. Carl Shaw also sang a solo the words and music both being original. The hostess of the afternoon were Mrs. Wilms, Mrs. Riksen and Mrs. Loveland. All ladies present contributed fruit to be sent to the Women's Home at Grand Rapids. Any who still wish to add their donation can do so by bringing it to the home of Mrs. Wilms, 258 River Ave. on Monday.

Prosecutor Brock of Muskegon was in the city Friday on legal business.

FOUR DIE IN ONE FAMILY IN THIRTY HOURS

Four members of a single family of five dying within the short space of thirty hours—this is the awful toll that pneumonia took in a Zeeland family. Friday afternoon the second double funeral was held in the family in two days and there was only one old man left who himself was still too ill with the disease to attend the services of laying to rest his four children in the cemetery at Zeeland.

The four deaths took place in the family of Thomas Russel. Two of them were reported Thursday, but Friday the news came that two more had passed away.

William Russel, aged 28, died at 7 o'clock on Wednesday morning. Anna Russel, aged 23, passed away at 11 o'clock on the same day. Exactly 24 hours later, namely at 11 o'clock on Thursday forenoon, Mary, aged 31, died of the same disease, and finally the last of the four children Lillian, aged 33, died at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The three girls of the family had been invalids for some time and the attack of pneumonia was too much for their weakened constitutions. Mr. Russel the father also contracted the disease but he is expected to recover.

A double funeral for William and Anna Russel was held on Thursday afternoon and another double funeral for Mary and Lillian was held Friday afternoon.

The four deceased are survived by the father, by Mrs. J. Slabbeekorn of Zeeland and Norman Russel of Holland.

CLOSE GAP IN CONCRETE ON MICHIGAN PIKE

Grand Haven and Agnew are now connected up with an unbroken band of concrete. This was true after three o'clock Friday afternoon when the final closing of the gap took place. The completion of the job was marked by an informal ceremony at least a little out of the ordinary, because the job is out of the usual run of jobs.

At three o'clock Friday afternoon, a party of Grand Haven people, including William Connelly, county road commissioner, drove out to the point near Agnew to witness the last scoopful of gravel being placed in the new road. There was no formal ceremony but at the same time the Grand Havenites were glad to see the work completed.

In order that there might be no miscarriage of the plans for the important event Friday, the road workers on the job were up before daybreak in the morning. There was rather a large gap in the concrete work confronting the men on the job when the activities started, but the hole was filled with concrete at a rapid rate, and in the afternoon, they were ready to put in the last of the material.

In order that there might be no delay in the work, the women of the neighborhood of Agnew furnished copious quantities of coffee and lunch to the workers, buying them up in their work. The same plan was followed Thursday, so the women of the community have played an important part in the completion of this section of the West Michigan pike.

The cut off on the West Michigan pike, extending from the southern limits of the city to Agnew, a distance of slightly over five miles. The road follows the new cut off, which eliminates railway crossing and saves about two miles in distance. The concrete road runs the entire distance and its completion is an important link in the famous West Michigan pike.

The distance covered is through a very sandy stretch of country, but this fact no longer troubles motorists or travelers by vehicle. The concrete roadway completed Saturday will stand permanently. It is the beginning of the project which will ultimately result in a concrete roadway all of the way from Holland to Grand Haven.

Saugatuck has several churches but not a regular pastor for any of them.

Edward Post, of the Chemical Warfare Service, New York City, is now home on a ten days' furlough.

HOLLAND HIGH SCHOOL TO HAVE AN ORCHESTRA

Holland high school is soon to have an orchestra, directed by Miss Ruth Keppel, graduate of the school. Under her capable supervision a better orchestra is expected than ever before. The school members are more enthusiastic over the orchestra this year than they have been for years, already 18 have signed up for it and there are more who will do so.

There will be seven violins, three cornets, two clarinets, one bass viol, traps, piano, definitely arranging for with hopes of more.

The officers are: Etta Van Dommel, en president and Geo. Damson secretary and treasurer.

Classical and some lighter music will be used at first. If all goes well, the orchestra will give a concert before many months.

MAN, WELL KNOWN IN HOLLAND IS INJURED

John Snitzler, 733 Lake drive, S. E. Grand Rapids, who was injured in a peculiar automobile accident in one of his homes, is reported improving.

Mr. Snitzler, in stepping from his auto at night, slipped to the pavement and was dazed. While getting up he was struck by another car, which threw him to the ground. A second auto following close behind ran over him, the driver being unable to see him in time to avert the accident. Although no bones were fractured, he is confined to his bed.

Mr. Snitzler is very well known and has relatives living in this city who will be interested in this item. For some years he has spent his summers at the Holland resorts.

BIRDMAN TELLS OF BAT- TLING A BUZZARD

Lieutenant Horace Moore Sherwood of Allegan, who has until lately been on duty at Kelly field, Texas, writes as follows about a recent experience with what was probably a most astonished bird:

"Yesterday, while flying 'solo' encountered a buzzard at 2,500 ft. and engaged him in combat. For five minutes I flew up, down, looped, on my back, turned and twisted—all this time right on Mr. Buzzard's tail. Many were the antics that bird went thru. He showed greater agility, but I had the advantage in speed. Finally I got twenty-five feet about him and made a dive, which caught him unawares. It was the first time I had ever had a taste of the real thrill of battle—which is not much of a comparison, but as close as I'll ever get to the real thing by the way things look now."

Worthy Matron Mrs. Carroll of Grand Rapids was the guest of the Star of Bethlehem Chapter, O. E. S. No. 40 at their initiatory meeting on Thursday evening. Mrs. Carroll spoke in the highest praise of the work being exemplified by this chapter, saying that it was being worked out in the most beautiful ritualistic way she had ever witnessed. The lodge initiated two new members.

Great West. The scenery was very different from what we had seen before. As Minnesota is not as hilly as Wisconsin, and the foliage of the trees was of an entirely different character, and not many variations, consequently the fall colorings were not so striking; the predominating color was yellow. The road across the State was like a boulevard, and by 6 P. M. we had traveled 222 miles and had penetrated into South Dakota fourteen miles. As we traveled west the life became less, and for many miles in South Dakota we did not see a tree. The wheat fields were tremendous, and the farm machinery that we saw was beyond our conception along such lines. The roads in South Dakota are not what they might be but considering the newness of the country they were pretty fair, as we made the following day 216 miles, and stopped over night at Mobridge, a railroad center of the C. M. & St. P. R'y. Here is where Fred Pfanzstiel is located in the plumbing business and has a financial backer, a millionaire, Mr. Brown who built one of the best hotels on our entire route, and the town only has 1500 population. Here is where we crossed the Missouri river on a ferry, after which we encountered our really first difficult grades getting out of the river bottom up on to the Standing Rock Indian Reservation, where we saw quite a number of Indians. By noon we had made 118 miles and arrived at Lemmon by noon, where they had a light local shower, and I wish you could see what a little rain will do to their roads; fortunately we got under cover before it got too bad, otherwise we would have had to stop and wait for it to dry up for even chains are of no help. We were not delayed much for the roads dry very quickly so after we had had our dinner and made a call on Mrs. John Rooks we started out again and within a mile after leaving town we were again on dry roads. Lemmon lies on the border of South Dakota and after leaving there we were dodging first into one state and then into the other until finally we took a more northerly direction; passed thru a part of the Bad Lands of North Dakota and we concluded that these lands were properly named. Will say however that the roads through this section were good. This day we made 193 miles. The following day we had our first mishap when we broke a top leaf of a front spring. We had to make a detour on account of the rebuilding of a bridge and had to go through a ditch on an angle; the ditch was not over ten or twelve feet wide, but it was at least five feet deep and the banks were very steep; the small cars did not have much trouble to make it, but a car like ours had to use much power and it is a wonder that we did not get a greater damage. The next day we traveled 183 miles and arrived at Miles City, Mont., at 5:45 P. M. Miles City is a wide awake town with wide streets and good buildings. The following day we drove to Billings which is a fine city; the city was all decorated in honor of Teddy who was to arrive the next morning as a guest of the city. Here we had our spring leaf welded and got started again at 11:20 a. m. We had not gone very far when the weld in the spring gave way, but we kept going and arrived at Bozeman at 7:45 p. m. having driven 156 miles, and the last five in rain. That night it rained all night and nearly all the morning; this being Sunday, and wanting to spend a day with the Parkers we did not mind the delay. Here we had a new leaf made for the spring but prior to arriving we wired Indianapolis to express a spring to Spokane which however we never received, and do not need it except in case of a more serious breakdown. The Parkers are very nicely located in Bozeman and I was very much surprised at the business he is interested in, for he is one of the principle stockholders, and their business last year amounted to over $350,000 and they specialize on nothing but seed peas and beans. Mr. Parker is going to send me some seed peas of the pod variety, if they should come before I come home give them to Mr. Ver Howe for planting with the understanding that he is to supply me during the time they are bearing. You can plant some for your own use if you have not gone to some for training; but, for the present outlook I do not think you will get very far from home. Bozeman is a very fine city, well paved, and the best boulevard lighted city I have ever seen. The Santa Agricultural College is located there; they have fine hotels, substantial business blocks, large hospital, library and Y. M. C. A. as well as a Y. W. C. A. They have a population of eight thousand. Its setting is especially attractive, being surrounded by the mountains, and when we were there they were snowcapped which added so much to the beauty of the landscape; the Gallatin Valley in which the city is located is exceptionally fertile, so much so that they never fertilize the soil, but instead the farmer or ranchman hauls the manure from the stables and dumps it as a waste product. The city is known as the Sweet Pea City on account of the wonderful sweet peas they grow there, and while the season was about over the flowers were not as large as usual, we never saw such beautiful flowers and such profusion, so imagine what they must look like when they were at their best. On account of the rains the roads became impassable, so we waited another day and left there on October 8 at 8 A. M. for Butte, the great copper mining city. Enroute we stopped at a small place for dinner, and here we saw some of the largest potatoes imaginable; the lady that served our dinner said that the potatoes served was a single potato and there were six people served with all we wanted. We piled up a few and took a picture of them. It did not occur to me until later to send you a sample, and the ones I sent you were scarcely half the size of some of them we had eaten the day before. We arrived at Butte Oct. 8, at 2:45; before we entered the city we had attained an altitude of 6960 feet and from this point we had to go down a grade of about 2,000 feet in a little over a mile which compelled us to go down in low gear and then had to apply the brakes occasionally. We remained in Butte one day and two night. Here is where Mrs. Hadden has two cousins whom they visited. Dr. Bos had trouble with his clutch before arrived here so had a new clutch put in.

Butte is a city built on a side hill and is entirely undermined. When any one buys a piece of property there they only buy the surface rights. The city is not in the least attractive, and is as dirty as can be; we were glad to get away from there. From there to the west state line we had very good roads. Enroute we passed by Aconda where they have the largest smelter in the world, and where they are building another large stack to carry away the fumes; the inside diameter of this stack is size is seven feet, and will be about five hundred and seven feet tall when completed. Some stack. Our next stop was as Missoula one of the finest cities in the U. S. It has a population of about 20,000, beautiful hotels fine stores and well paved streets. Up to this time we had not had many thrills as far as mountain travel was concerned crossing the Rockies. The next range of mountains would be the Bitter Roots and little did we realize what we were going to encounter when we pulled out of Missoula over a fine road for some miles and began to make the ascent on comparatively easy grades which led us on to more difficult ones until we struck what are known as the Nigger Heads and the Camel's Hump. This stretch of road was very narrow, crooked and stony, and in order to make it we had to maintain a speed which was all but comfortable, especially for the rear seat passengers. After we had gotten over this seemingly impossible piece of road we met an eight mile grade which was also very steep and winding, but was not as narrow, but it was a mighty hard pull even on low gear as you will realize when I tell you that the Michigan grades on State reward roads may not exceed 6%; part of this grade was 27% consequently we had our thrills amidst some very beautiful scenery. After we had gone over the summit we had almost as stiff a grade to go down and just before we entered the city of Wallace where there was a switchback in the road, we were held up by the sheriff, who questioned us as to whether we had any liquor in our possession; we had a pleasant visit with him and when he was satisfied that we were bonifide travelers in a strange country he let us pass without the inconvenience of a search. To explain what a switchback is, it is a very sharp turn in the road which cannot be made without backing and going ahead in order to get around. The next morning we met the sheriff again and he said that they caught a party having $700.00 worth of liquor in their car, and the penalty is the confiscation of the machine besides a jail sentence. Wallace, Idaho, is a very nice mountain city and is the center of the largest silver mining district in the world. Before leaving we got a report on the road through the Fourth of July Canyon and while the report on the whole was pretty good there was one stretch of about six miles which we were told was very bad, so we did not tell the ladies about it as we did not want them to worry until we got to it. The first ten or fifteen miles was over fine roads, and while rolling along Minnie said "What's the matter of these roads?" I replied that they were like temptation that leads one on to destruction, knowing what we were about to encounter. We finally came to the place, and talk about holes and rocks this was the limit; we had to slow down to a snail's pace, and even then we were jostled about pretty bad; after we had gotten over this we ran into a section which at one time had been an improved road but the lumbermen had been hauling logs over it and had cut it all up into deep ruts, and on account of recent rains it became a mire of mud and Dr. Bos who was ahead of us had put on his chains, which he was advised to do by the road men who were supposed to help motorists through; but, when we came along they did not intercept us early enough, so we ran right into the worst of it without any warning, and would have gotten through all right but for the fresh load of gravel they had just dumped; and to put on chains was a physical impossibility with the wheels in the mud up to the hubs, so we got out our tow line and had a team help us over a distance of about an eighth of a mile; no charge. After we got away again we had beautiful wheeling over some of the finest mountain roads that we had driven over, and the scenery was superb. It is simply wonderful how they have hewn such roads out of the side of the mountains and made them of comparatively easy grades, very few of which would exceed five or six per cent. At Wallace the altitude was about 2300 feet and during the 50 miles travel to Coeur d'Alene which is about 1200 feet we had gone over an altitude of over 4000 feet and had crossed the Bitter Root mountains and were on our way to Spokane which was thirty-five miles away and over a beautiful road thru practically level country which was like one great apple orchard, and it was a wonderful sight to see how the trees were burdened with their luscious fruit; we never have seen such fruit in Michigan for color or abundance. You have heard it said that the Washington fruit did not have the aroma that the Michigan fruit has. Well we have driven thru the Michigan fruit districts, but we never have smelled such fragrance as we did in passing these orchards. We arrived at Spokane October 12 at three P. M. and put up at the Davenport hotel which is one of the finest in the U. S. Spokane is a beautiful city located on the Spokane river and has three falls right in the city from which a large amount of power is developed, besides being a great scenic attraction. We tried to locate Henry Kleyn and Mr. Gunst but could not get any line on them as their names were not in the city directory. Mrs. Hadden has relatives there so they spent all their time with them.

We left Spokane the 14th at about 8:30. Dr. Bos always managed to get an earlier start than we did, and when we had much mountain work to do he could get over the roads much faster than we could on account of his shorter wheelbase and he could make the turns easier, as we would have to take them very cautiously. The small cars have the advantage over the large ones in the mountains, and it was noticeable that there were no large cars on the road; in fact our's was the only one we saw. It is a wonderful sight to see how people equip their cars to cross the country, especially the Ford. From Spokane to Colfax, Wash., there was a fine road, and by 11 o'clock we had made the run of 63 miles, and just as we were passing out of the city our rear right axle broke; so we had to lay up and have a new one made, which we were fortunately able to have done there, which held us up for 24 hours. Colfax claims to have the distinction of being the richest city in the world according to its population, as they are only three thousand souls and their bank balances are over four millions. It is located in between two mountains and do not think it is over sixteen hundred feet wide at the base of the mountains, consequently the town had to grow up the side of the mountain and in length. We called up Dr. Bos at Walla Walla and told him of our mishap so he waited for us; in fact he could not have gone on anyway as it rained there the following day. We left Colfax in a rain which lasted for about an hour when we ran out of it into dusty roads. We fortunately had put our chains on at Colfax for we encountered some very slippery places and heavy grades. At Penawawa we crossed the ferry over the Snake river—a muddy stream; this ferry was attached to a heavy cable stretched across the stream with large wheels, and the swift current would force it over. After leaving the ferry we again had a tussle with some mighty grades of unimproved roads, but, our car was always ready for any task we imposed upon it. We arrived at Walla at 7 P. M. having made one hundred and two miles in about six hours. The following day it sprinkled more or less all day, and while we had set out to drive to Goldendale the roads became so slippery by 5 o'clock, and within a little over an hour's run to our proposed destination, we concluded to put up for the night at Bickleton and we were fortunate to get accommodations with a Mrs. Baker who is also the editor of their local paper; she was very much interested in our party and said she would give us a mention in the issue that was to be printed the day we left. Since leaving Walla Walla we crossed what is known as Horse Heaven Country and the Battle Snake Mountains, the roads were good but the grades were stiff. When we started the following morning we soon discovered how fortunate we were were not to have gone on the night before, as the climb over the mountain was over a narrow winding and steep grade and was still very slippery of the rain of the day before; the weather however was clear and crisp. After getting over this mountain range the Cascade Range hove in sight, and after some hours' travel Mount Adams and St. Helens was at our right covered with eternal snow, and shortly Mount Hood showed up at the left with its snow-capped summit. These peaks are wonderful in their beauty as they tower over the surrounding country. The weather being so very clear we saw them at their best, and I tell you that it is a sight never to be forgotten as long as memory lasts.

The drive from Goldendale to Hood River, Ore., was a succession of climbing and descending combining hand pulls, thrills and scenery of the grandest we had thus far seen. At Kennewick some miles back we ferried over the Columbia and the Snake rivers in one stream; the water of the Columbia being clear and the Snake muddy, and the line was as distinct as though they ran in different channels. At White Salmon we again crossed the Columbia river to Hood River a fine city laying practically at the foot of Mount Hood, and the mouth of Hood river which finds its source in the melting snows of the mountain and the valley through which it flows is famous for its apples and strawberries. Here is located the largest apple packing plant in the world. The apples are all packed in boxes and then stored in cold storage rooms at a temperature of 32° and all shipped in cold storage cars. We were shown all through the plant which was very interesting and instructive. We remained at Hood River a half day and one night, and while there we were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Larkin to whom the Haddens had a letter of introduction from Mr. Blackman. Mr. Larkin is in the fruit canning business, and when we left they presented us with a few small jars of canned jams for our luncheons. Saturday morning we started out on our last lap of our trip across the Continent over the famous Columbia River highway which is a marvel of engineering and we were ready to believe it is the most beautiful highway in America if not in the world. The scenic effects are varied and grand. There were numerous waterfalls and gorges which added much to the pleasure of the trip, which was void of any thrills as the highway is very wide, and what would be dangerous places have been well protected with masonry. To attempt to describe the beauty of the highway and the beautiful scenery would be futile. We arrived in Portland about 2:30 and remained there until the following Tuesday morning. If it had not been for the markings of the Yellowstone Trail I think it would have been impossible for any one not familiar with the country to find their way; at times we were out in the wilds of the prairie where the roads ran in every direction, and forks innumerable leading off from the main roads, and not a house for miles where one might make inquiry. Where there were no fences or telephone poles there would be stones planted with the ever wele color of yellow on it which would indicate either a right or left turn or to go on straight ahead. At Prosser, Wash., we left the trail for Portland and found the road well marked from one town to the other, so we did not experience any trouble in finding our way. Up to the time that we arrived at Missoula, Mont. we did not consider the trip as an adventure, but as a pleasure trip for the weather all along the entire route with the few exceptions referred to was perfectly beautiful, and believe that we have established a record for such a long trip in the fall. I noticed that I did not mention that Mr. Parker was the husband of Mina De Young, and that they have a very interesting little family; Kate Corneliase Mina's mother was also there. Minnie and I were entertained by them for Sunday, dinner, and in the evening our whole party was entertained for a luncheon, so you will note our stay in Bozeman was very pleasant. Long before we had arrived at Portland the doctor's battery had given him a great deal of trouble so that he could not start his motor except through the strong arm method, so while at Portland he had a new battery installed. Up to this time we had had only one puncture but two of our inner tubes gave out through deterioration. The retreaded casing did not prove to be a success as by the time we arrived at Portland the tread was nearly all gone, so I went to the Goodyear people for an adjustment, and they certainly were very fair with me, as they gave me a new tire for the difference of $27.50. The Pacific Highway from Portland to San Francisco is fine with the exception of a few miles, and these few miles were every bit as bad as any we had been over, and really must admit that they were worse in every particular. The first day's drive brot us to Cottage Grove, Ore. Here we met a gentleman also motoring through to San Francisco and Los Angeles with his family who proved to have been James Alling's most intimate friend, and boon companion; so we became quite attached to him, and he to us. We have since met him here. The mountain scenery along the coast range was much finer than what we had seen in the other ranges, especially from Mount Shasta down where we followed the north branch of the Sacramento river practically all the way to the city of Sacramento. We stopped over night at Medford, Ore., and Dunsuir, Calif. At the latter place the doctor was laid up with a broken spring which delayed him 24 hours. In the meantime we went on and agreed to wait for him at Red Bluff. During the day's drive we encountered the very worst roads, and must have strained the rear axle shaft; for after we had stopped along the McCloud river after having crossed a very fine concrete bridge, to take a picture and enjoy the scenery, we started up, and the shaft gave way, and 14 miles from Redding, so there were four long faces for a minute or two, and it was time to eat and nothing to eat. But, undaunted Frank and I started to walk back about two miles where there was a little store and a mountain inn from where we telephoned in for a car to come out and haul us in; but we had to wait two hours as they could not come out immediately on account of the numerous funerals due to the "flu". So we carried a little lunch back to the ladies and patiently waited. We finally arrived at Redding, and there had a new shaft made. In the meantime we called up Dr. Bos at Dunsuir and told him of our plight. He came down the next day staid with us until we were ready to go on. We remained in Redding Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The influenza was raging badly there, and at one time while we were there there were nineteen bodies at the morgues. In our hotel there was a young man ill with it, and in a fit of despondency he hung himself while his wife had momentarily left him to go to a drug store. Tuesday the day we left they were going to enforce the wearing of the mask. From here the roads became better, and at Red Bluff we picked up the State Highway which is a concrete road covered with asphalt, so we hummed along at a good pace. As we did not want to enter San Francisco at night we put up at "Sacramento. Here the "flu" had taken hold of the people pretty strong, and every one was ordered to wear a mask the next morning or they would be arrested; so we proceeded to provide ourselves with masks as we knew that when we arrived in the city we would have to wear them or stand a chance of being fined ten dollars, and possibly get a jail sentence. It is a strang sight to see every body wearing a mask, and I assure you that it is a nuisance. I hope that the mask will soon be discontinued, and the quarantine raised, for it is mighty dull with every place of amusement closed, as well as all the schools and churches. We have just learned that the mask is going to be enforced in Los Angeles; so it makes little difference where we are. We are glad to note that the disease is being stamped out here, and the are already talking of opening the places of amusement as well as the schools. They have had some very heavy rains since we have been here. It has otherwise been bright and cool. Today is election here as well as in many other states, and we are anxious to know how the election went in Michigan. We have all kept well except Mrs. Bos who has been under the weather some, but is again quite herself. We were pleased to hear that you were all well, and hope that the "flu" does not get you. We are stopping at the Clark hotel, a very nice place and centrally located. We expect to remain here until after Thanksgiving Day when we will start start for Los Angeles. If I have tired you with this long letter, I beg your pardon. I have at least tired myself in an effort to entertain. With our kindest regards to you all, I will draw to a close. Abe mail to Roger, Roger mail to Harry. If you think Lawrence would be interested, you may forward to him, and he to again return to Abe, who will keep it for me. Nov. 5th John and Minnie.

JURY GIVES WIDOW $10,243 JUDGMENT

Mrs. Fannie Stuefer, widow of Wm. Stuefer, the aged Nebraska banker, who was killed at Macatawa Park last year by the collapse of a concrete walk was granted a judgment of $10,243 by a jury in United States District court Saturday. She was suing Swan A. Miller and the company by whom he was employed for $50,000. The jury found no cause for action against Mr. Miller personally.

Judge C. W. Sessions granted a 60-day stay of proceedings to allow the defense to move for a new trial or appeal the case as attorneys for the company indicated was their intention. The jury disregarded ownership of the walk and found the company responsible because it allowed its patrons to use the walk. The amount of damages was based on the expectancy of life at the time of the death of Mr. Stuefer and the amount of his annual earnings.

C. died Saturday afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Roosenraad of Zeeland at the age of twenty years and nine days. His death which is the first one to occur in the local S. LOCAL RUSK COMPANY ADDS A NEW LINE

The Holland Rusk Co. have just placed on the market a powder similar to the Old English custard powders which command a very large sale in Canada and England as well as other European countries. The powder is called "O-Joy".

The manager of the Holland Rusk Co., J. H. Rowan, traveled throughout Canada and there became familiar with the manufacture and sale of custard powders. He was at once convinced that this dessert would command a big sale on the American market, as the old style custard requires eggs, while a very delicious dessert, pie filling or cake filling can be made from this dessert powder without the use of eggs. Altho "O-Joy" has just been introduced in the Eastern states, already a large business has been secured and the capacity of the Holland Rusk Co. has been sold for sixty days ahead. "O-Joy" has just been placed in all the stores of Holland.

THANKSGIVING

WITH the ending of the terrible struggle and the days of strife that have darkened the world for four long years, every heart overflows with sincere thankfulness.

Humanity's greatest crusade has been successfully waged and gloriously won. The world has been delivered from the menace of the forces of evil and darkness will engage in giving thanks with the same fervor as did the Pilgrims who dedicated this day to their deliverance and birth of Freedom.

And what a feeling of pride comes to Americans here at home when we review the daring deeds of sacrifice and service of our brave boys who offered their all that justice and peace might be restored to all the world.

Let us give thanks that victory is our—that our sacrifices have not been in vain—that our nation has been blessed with valorous sons—and for the boys over there, let us offer a prayer that ere another Thanksgiving dawns they will be safely home

GRAND HAVEN BOY GIVES UP HIS LIFE

Grand Haven, Nov. 22—Sergeant Alvin Jonker, Co. L, 120th infantry, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jonker was killed in the battle of the Meuse, October 10 when the now famous 32nd division pushed forward in the face of the most terrific resistance encountered by an American unit in the war. Sergeant Jonker was 24 years of age and had lived in Grand Haven all of his life. In civil life he was a Mason and a member of the firm of H. Jonker & Co.

He joined Company F, 32nd Michigan infantry, at Grayling and from there went to Waco, Tex., where he became a mechanic of the company. After arriving overseas he was promoted to the rank of supply sergeant.

During the first battle in which Co. L, old Company F, participated Sergeant displayed conspicuous bravery bearing litters with wounded under heavy shellfire. At another time he rendered first aid to Sergeant Wm. Van Horssen of this city, who was wounded in battle. He took care of his comrade until Sergeant Van Horssen was taken to the dressing station where he died of his wounds.

In a recent letter Sergeant Jonker's brother, Sergeant Major Hartger Jonker, wrote that he had just returned from visiting his brother's grave which is on the crest of a little hill about 50 feet from the spot where he fell. Next to him lies a comrade, Corporal Rankin of Coopersville.

Sergeant Jonker is survived by his parents, two sisters, Miss Marie and Miss Elizabeth; his fiancée, Miss Alice Diephouse, and one brother, Sergeant Major Hartger Jonker of the Third battalion headquarters, 126th infantry. The two brothers were together after their enlistment until the one was killed.

NEW PASTOR BEGINS WORK IN HOLLAND

Since the death of their pastor last spring the Seventh-day Adventists in Holland have been without a minister. Consequently many of the usual meetings were dropped. However, the recent arrival of the new pastor, Walter P. Elliott, will make it possible to resume the regular program, including the Sunday evening service.

President Wilson, it seems, can't resist the temptation to see Paris at its gayest.

SEVEN GAME LAW VIOLATORS CAUGHT THURSDAY

The hunting season is open but not for all kinds of game. The season for the hunting fever however is upon us, and this disease seems to have no regard for man-made game laws. Nature is too strong and the call of the woods makes the nimrods cast all caution aside.

Seven hunters and trappers were rounded up in Jamestown by Deputy Game Wardens, Dick Homkes of Holland, and Frank Salisbury of Grand Haven.

John Maynard paid $17.40 for having in his possession skunk hides out of season.

John De Kok also paid $17.40 for the same offense.

Cornelius Van Koeveering and Nick Mulder, each paid $12.40 for shooting coon out of season. These were caught in the act and when surprised by the officer ran for it but were finally overtaken by the two deputies and their game containing coon and their guns were confiscated.

Henry Brouwer also paid $17.40 for having skunk and coon skins in his possession. The deputies took the pelts and 15 traps from this violator.

Nick Meyer and Henry Roelofs each paid $12.40 for having a consignment of muskrat skins in their possession.

It seems that Ottawa county hunters are very forgetful of dates and many trap and hunt before the season opens, and save the pelts until after the opening of the season when they can sell the skins without being detected. This bunch of violators however were given heavy fines by Justice Robinson, with a promise of a still heavier dose, should they appear before him again.

Van Vessum as pastor of the Third Christian Reformed church of Zeeland Sunday. A reception was given at the parsonage Thursday evening by the consistory of that church. Friday night a reception will be given in the church building for the congregation. Rev. Drukker came from Kalamazoo where he was pastor of the 3rd Christian Reformed church.

LIFESAVER IS HIMSELF SAVED FROM DROWNING

A sensational rescue from drowning took place Wednesday in the big bayou when Herbert Van Oort, one of the members of the United States Coast Guard crew, had the compliments in life saving returned on him by being the subject of a water accident instead of the rescuer, as is usually the case. Van Oort, better known among the other members of the crew as "Musk-rat Hipe," was recently given a ten days' furlough. Being very fond of the sport of muskrat trapping, he has been putting in much of his time in the mudflats of the big bayou. Wednesday he got in too deep and the mud was fast getting the better of him when a young farmer came to the rescue. By the aid of a long plank and a rope the life saver was finally brought to shore, carrying most of the mud of the bayou in his rubber boots.

An automobile party of Holland Zeeland people started this morning on the first lap of their trip to Florida where they will spend the winter. The party consisted of the following: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oosting, Mr. and Mrs. N. Hofsteen and children, Dorothy and Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Plaggenmiers, Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Boer, and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony De Kruijff.

HOLLAND, MICHIGAN

ALLEGAN ALSO MAY HAVE FREE POULTRY SHOW

Like Holland, Allegan is likely to have a three days' poultry exhibit and school this year put on by M. A. C. free of charge. The state school has offered this to the Allegan farm bureau. One such school will be held in Holland and others will be perhaps held at such points as Grand Rapids, Battle Creek and Hartford. This school will be both a gathering for instructions in poultry breeding, housing selection and feeding, taught by the best specialists available and also a gathering for the purpose of a winter poultry show. Outside breeders will be invited to come in and ribbons will be given in the place of cash prizes and all expense will be borne largely by entry fees of those exhibiting.

To bring the matter before the people of Allegan county, Agricultural Agent Bentall has issued the following statement: "If the Allegan poultry breeders want this kind of a gathering during the winter it will be necessary to have an expression of their desire as soon as possible. In order to save time we are giving this publicity in this way and would ask anyone interested in having such gathering during the winter to drop us a line at once so that we may determine the wishes of our poultry men. Only one of these schools can be obtained for the county and inasmuch as there will be one at Holland which is easily available to those of the west side of the county we have thought it best to have it located at Allegan."

LOCAL CHURCH SOON PLANS TO FLY A "CHRISTIAN FLAG"

Did you know that there is such a thing as a "Christian flag"? Ask any ten men you meet down the street or in the office, and the chances are that about nine and a half will answer they never heard of such a banner. The experiment was tried Thursday morning by former Mayor John Vanderstuij and in the course of a long-continued verbal questionnaire he found only one person, and that a woman, who could tell him anything about the "Christian flag."

But Holland is soon to have such a banner. It is to be purchased by the members of the Intermediate C. E. society of the Third Reformed church and will be presented to the church on next Wednesday evening at the time when a chorus of sixty voices of that church will give a patriotic cantata for the public. The American flag has for a long time held a place of honor near the pulpit and after this the "Christian flag" will occupy a similar place of honor on the opposite side of the platform. An appropriate talk giving the history of the banner will be given at that time.

The flag is a field of white with a blue cross upon it. It is said to be well known in the United States navy and is flown above the American flag at all religious services in the navy.

HORSE KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

The car of Mr. Van Slooten collided with the rig of Mr. Berhorst on the corner of 11th street and Columbia avenue. The impact broke the legs of the horse and smashed the buggy to kindling wood.

An officer was called and the animal was quickly shot and Van Slooten agreed to give Berhorst a new horse and buggy.

JERUSALEM RECREATED IN THE THEDA BARA'S FILM

Never has Theda Bara worn so much rich apparel as in "Salome," the dramatic spectacle to be seen at Powers theater on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 25, 26, and 27, with daily matinees. Her costumes cost more $50,000. More than 100,000 pearl beads were used for the various trimmings.

One of her exquisite gowns was adorned with 500 pieces of ancient gold money. Over 400 yards of gold cloth and 200 yards of heavy silver cloth were made up into costumes for Salome's wardrobe.

During various scenes of the play, Miss Bara wore 20 different head-pieces and five pairs of beautiful hand-made sandals. The "Dance of the Seven Veils" required 35 yards of varicolored crepe.

In addition to her gowns, the scriptural siren wore a fortune in jewels, lace and fine embroidery. So costly was the costuming for this gigantic production that it is doubtful if the real "Salome" living in the lavish court of Herod Antipas, ever wore array more costly or more sumptuous.

The grandeur and glory of regal Jerusalem were recreated in the William Fox studios at Hollywood, Cal., when J. Gordon Edwards filmed Salome, the new spectacular Fox offering with Theda Bara. An exact duplicate of the Holy City from the famous Jaffa gate to the streets and buildings leading to the king's palace, was built especially for this production. The central tower of the palace rises more than 150 feet and on either side are massive wings, each over 200 feet in length. Stretching into the distance are the houses of the ancient capitol.

Lightless nights are to be continued as heretofore according to an order received Thursday by the local fuel administrator.

A FARM AGENT IS A VERY BUSY GENTLEMAN

Allegan county's agricultural agent Bentall apparently is a very busy man as are all farm agents including our own. In a report just issued he gives some interesting details. Before the Allegan county supervisors he exhibited a map of Michigan showing that farm bureaus were maintained in 71 counties of the eighty-three counties of the state. He spoke of the wonderful growth of the department in the last five years, and offered a budget which called for an appropriation of $2,750 as the county's share of expense of carrying on the work, $4,250 being supplied by the federal government and the state. A summary of his report showed that 1,570 persons have called at the Farm Bureau office, 1028 personal letters were written; 1,143 telephone calls were received and answered; 21 circular letters were written of which 7,000 copies were mailed; 110 public meetings have been addressed with an attendance of 6,500. The attendance at meetings during the year was considerably smaller than last year, as was also the number of meetings held, on account of the fact that the unusually severe weather conditions prevailing last winter prevented the holding of a good many meetings that were planned, and made the attendance very small. Three hundred and ninety farms were visited by the agent and 320 by the assistant. The number of individual farms visited is necessarily smaller than in previous years. The emphasis is now being put on community work, and the calls have been made in connection with our demonstration work. In many cases a half day or more was spent at farms where demonstrations were being carried on and where the farmers in the neighborhood met the agents and studied the demonstrations with them. Thus in place of ten to twenty individual calls, there would be one call where from ten to twenty men met the agents. Ninety-two newspaper articles have been written which have been published regularly in the weekly papers of the county and in the Farm Bureau Bulletin; 8556 miles were traveled by the agent and 5,293 by his assistant. Thirty-nine field demonstration meetings were held with attendance of 875 persons. These included demonstrations for tractor work, insect control, spraying methods, poultry culling potato and fertilizer demonstrations.

John J. Kroll, jr., son of John J. Kroll sr., 600 Van Raalte Avenue is dead.

Kroll was a side ball of Joe Brieve, who also died in Russia.

Mr. Kroll has still one son, Samuel, a soldier in France, and Gerrit, in the S. A. T. C. mining school at Houghton, Michigan.

A letter from the chaplain giving full detail of the boys death follows below:

Headquarters of the Chaplain,

Oct. 2, 1918, A. N. R. E. F.

600 Van Raalte Avenue, Holland.

My dear Mr. Kroll:—

You have received no doubt the cablegram reporting the death of your son John J. Kroll, Jr., who died of pneumonia in Archangel, Russia, Sept.

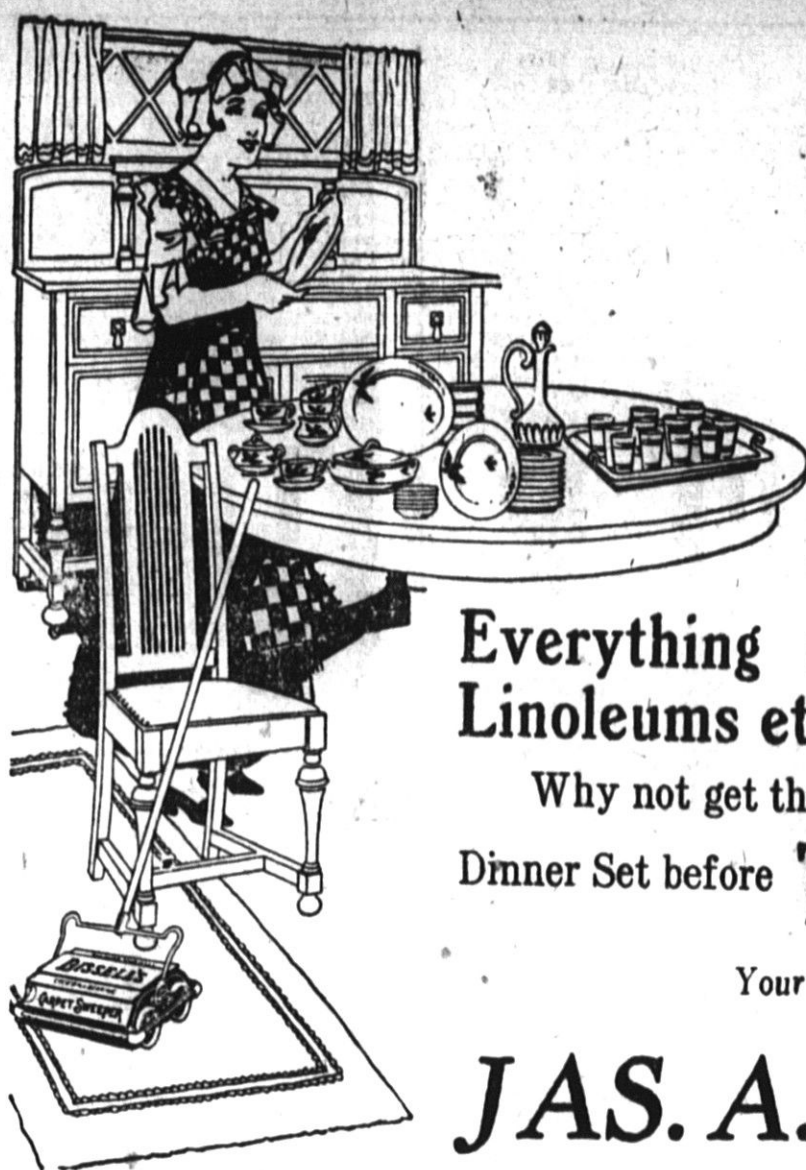

10th, 1918. He was buried in the Allied Cemetery Archangel, Russia. This is a permanent cemetery and the graves will be properly taken care of by our authorities.

In behalf of the regiment I express my deepest sympathy and condolence in your loss and bereavement. In entering military service he willingly answered the call of his country. His life in the army was spent in diligent preparation for the arduous task before him, and at all time he was a model soldier and a perfect gentleman. I have spent my time with him since his entry into the 339th regiment. I am proud of this organization, because they are all of the highest standard, and their conduct is highly commendable. Your son remained faithful and true to the end and faced all of the hardships and difficulties with courage and perseverance.

John J. Kroll, Jr., is among the first American soldiers who gave up their lives for their country in Northern Russia. He is a hero and a martyr to the cause of Humanity. No greater sacrifice could any man make than to lay down his life for his brethren. His life and the service he rendered to his country will be amply rewarded by his Maker. He died with perfect resignation to the will of God. In attending to his religious duties, he was most assiduous and conscientious.

Expressing my deepest sympathy and condolence in your bereavement,

Sincerely yours,
John S. Landowski,
Chaplain 339th Infantry.
