Rheumatic Fever Takes More Lives Than Other Ills

Cold, Damp Weather Without Proper Food Cited as Causes

Rheumatic fever takes the lives of more Michigan school children than any other disease, and its resulting heart damage causes the crippling of multitudes, according to Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner. The illness is more common in Michigan than most parents suspect.

The disease flourishes in cold, damp weather, under crowded living conditions and among children who do not eat proper food. The disease is not contagious, like measles or mumps, but it often follows the highly contagious streptococcal throat and nose infections.

Cause of the illness is not known, but symptoms which should indicate an immediate check-up by the child's physician, especially if the child is under 14 years, are: "Low, unexplained, persistent fever, pain in muscles and joints, rapid heart beat, repeated nosebleeds without apparent cause, pallor, poor appetite, loss of weight or failure to gain, jerky nervous movements and frequent sore throat.

These signs or symptoms may be so slight that the family physician has to study the child for months and consult specialists before he is sure. But to protect the life and future health of the child, early diagnosis is of the utmost importance. More than 50,000 Michigan adults are now suffering crippling heart defects from rheumatic fever, and heart disease takes the lives of more Michigan people than any other illness.

Bed rest, perhaps for months, proper diet, prevention of recurrence of the illness, and avoidance of respiratory illness are of the utmost importance to the child ill of rheumatic fever. Parents should see that the child is properly clothed for winter or cold weather, that he keeps his feet and body dry, that he follows medical instruction, eats the foods he needs, rests as his physician advises, and avoids other children who are ill. He should be taught how to protect his health and the reasons for doing so.

Symptoms listed do not necessarily mean rheumatic fever, but the child ill of rheumatic fever will recover a maximum of health only when his case is diagnosed early and he is given proper care.

Hunters Fined

Grand Haven, Nov. 24 (Special)—Charles Teunissen, 34, Grand Rapids, and Walter McLochin, 41, of Alto, each paid $15 fine and $7 costs in Justice George Hoffer's court Tuesday on hunting charges. They were arrested by Conservation Officer Harold Bowditch with hunting deer in Robinson township with a shotgun and slug loads. Use of such ammunition is not allowed south of the dividing line at highway M-46.

Recall Yesterday? Turkey Dinners Cost Much Less

Thanksgiving Table Reaches Record High This Holiday Time

Do you remember the day that you could provide a complete Thanksgiving dinner for an average family of four, for $5.37, leaving out nothing commonly found on the Thanksgiving dinner table.

This was back in good old 1939, when we were just emerging from a recession, when salaries, as well as prices were far less than today. Now, computations indicate the dinner would cost a lot more, in fact, $8.34 more, bringing the cost of Thursday's dinner to a cool $13.71, C.O.D.

If your memory can carry you back to 1928, you might remember that things then were not so cheap, for then, figures taken from advertisements in The Sentinel indicate that dinner that year would have cost about $10.68.

Then, another look at costs after World War II began, and there was definite increase over pre-war times, but an increase considerably less than now, in the postwar era.

Figures for the dinner in 1942 averaged $9.12, or $4.50 less than today, when buyers began to feel scarcity and higher prices.

Figures for Thanksgiving about 1918 are hard to find. It seems that then Holland merchants did not advertise prices as they do today; the only Thanksgiving advertisements then were from clothing stores, with special Thanksgiving sales.

It all boils down to the fact that Thanksgiving 1948 is becoming a costly celebration.

James E. Annis Succumbs Here

James Emerson Annis, 72, died at 11:45 p.m. Tuesday at his home, 174 East Fifth St., following a lingering illness. He was born Dec. 12, 1875, in Holland, to the late Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Annis. Annis was employed by the Board of Public Works at the Fifth St. plant for 40 years and retired three years ago. He was a member of First Methodist church.

Surviving are the wife, Jane; four daughters, Mrs. Evelyn Jane Bird and Mrs. Norma Thompson of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Betty Barr of Detroit and Mrs. Erma Sarabia of Holland; one son, Albert, of Detroit and nine grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. from Dykstra Funeral chapel. The Rev. J. Kenneth Hoffmaster will officiate and burial will be in Pilgrim Home cemetery. Six Board of Public Works employees will be pallbearers.

Friends may call at the funeral chapel Thursday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

JCC Plans Yule Lighting Festival

A Christmas home lighting festival for citizens of Holland and vicinity will again be held this year, sponsored by the Holland Junior Chamber of Commerce. As in previous years, judging will be based on beauty, simplicity and effectiveness of the displays. Bob Taft is chairman of the contest.

A grand prize and eight other prizes will be awarded winners. In addition to prizes in each of the six wards, awards also will be given in the rural districts. District one will include homes north of Lake Macatawa, and district two, homes south of Lake Macatawa.

Entry blanks will be available soon, it was announced.

Install Student Council At Christian High School

Appropriate ceremonies marked installation of the Christian high school student council Tuesday in a special assembly program. The newly organized council is the first student group to represent the school in many years.

Principal Raymond Holwerda opened the assembly and gave the new council its charge. He introduced council president, Charles Aardema.

Aardema briefly outlined aims of a student council and told the proposed program for the coming year. After other members of the council were introduced, Vice President Henry Holstege announced a "nickname" contest to be sponsored by the council. He said the school had no nickname other than the "Dutch" or "Maroons." He invited all students to enter suggestions for a name for athletic teams. Winner of the contest will receive a four-year season pass to all Christian high basketball contests.

Other officers of the council are: Carol Marcusse, secretary and Martha Blystra, treasurer. Each class is represented in the council by senators. Henry J. Kuiper is faculty adviser.

Holland Nimrods Battle Elements

The epic struggles of the pioneers now mean more to four local nimrods, who returned to the city Monday night.

The quartet battled snow drifts, broken down trees over rough terrain all day Sunday to get to a main road.

In the party were John Kemper, Don Ryma, Oscar and Floyd Van Arman. The party left Holland late Friday night, Nov. 12, for their private property north of Iron Mountain in the Upper Peninsula. There they hunted for deer until each man had bagged a buck, including a 15-pointer.

They started for home last Sunday morning. First, their cabin was at the bottom of a steep hill. Thus they had to push their trailer up the steep incline which was about the equivalent of three city blocks, they said. The men then carried sleeping bags and other equipment up the snow covered hill to the car.

In true pioneer style they improvised a shovel out of scrap metal and cut a small tree for a handle. With the shovel they cleared a path up the incline to make the going easier.

Once atop the hill, they were still eight miles from the main road and the snow was at least two feet deep on the level ground. In the swamps the men were in snow up to their chests, they said. They started the long push to the road over the rough terrain which was continually blocked by sagging trees weighted down with snow. Three men pushed the car while one steered. Wary of any unforeseen trouble, they had packed the sleeping bags on top of the trailer in case the snow stalled them.

A grand prize and eight other prizes will be awarded winners. In addition to prizes in each of the six wards, awards also will be given in the rural districts. District one will include homes north of Lake Macatawa, and district two, homes south of Lake Macatawa.

Entry blanks will be available soon, it was announced.

Here is an artist's version of the first Thanksgiving in Plymouth colony in 1621 when the little band of Pilgrims, having survived their first year and having reaped the fruits of their toil, prepared a feast and invited Chief Massasoit and his tribesmen to participate. Since that time, Thanksgiving has been observed each year. In 1864 President Abraham Lincoln named the fourth Thursday in November as Thanksgiving day with the intent that it should be repeated annually.

Spirit of Thanksgiving Goes Back Many Years

Thanksgiving, oldest of our national holidays, is also one of the richest in tradition.

As America knows it, Thanksgiving, the fourth Thursday of November, is officially less than 100 years old. Unofficially, however, the holiday is perhaps as old as written history.

Thanksgiving is closely tied to the story of the Pilgrims, their landing, their first year in America and their thanks to God for a harvest of plenty. But Thanksgiving as such dates back many centuries. In the Old Testament of the Bible, Nehemiah prayed "to our father in Heaven we shall always bring the Thanksgiving at the ingathering of the harvest."

In Holland, as well as all over America, Thanksgiving will be observed in the traditional way. Virtually all churches will have morning services. Family gatherings and turkey dinners will be the order of the day.

In almost all churches, Thanksgiving offerings taken at Thursday's services will go for benevolent purposes and special funds.

At 10 a.m. in First Reformed church, the Rev. Bastian Kruthoff will preach on "Jubilant Gratitude." In Hope church, the Rev. Marion de Velder will bring a Thanksgiving message at 10 a.m. There will be a choir program.

At Third Reformed church, the Rev. Harold de Roo, assistant pastor, will conduct the worship service at 10 a.m. and Dr. J. J. Sessler will bring a message on "Let Us Thank God." The Rev. Henry Van Dyke will lead services in Fourth church at 9:30 a.m., speaking on "God or Man."

Trinity Reformed church will have its Thanksgiving service from 10 to 11 a.m. with Dr. H. D. Terker speaking on "God's Bountiful Blessing." Dr. William Gouloze of Western Theological seminary will conduct the service in Sixth Reformed church at 9:30 a.m. The men's chorus of the church will provide music. The chorus will present a program at 8 p.m. that night in First Christian Reformed church in Grand Haven.

The Thanksgiving service at Bethel Reformed church at 9:30 a.m. will be conducted by the Rev. Anthony Luidens, pastor of Brighton Reformed church of Rochester, N.Y. His subject will be "Our Pilgrim Heritage." Rev. Luidens, formerly of Holland, is a graduate of Hope college and New Brunswick Theological seminary.

At 10 a.m. in Maplewood Reformed church, the Rev. James Baar will speak on "Why I Am Thankful."

In Ninth Street Christian Reformed church at 9:30 a.m., the Rev. Thomas Yff will speak on "In Everything Give Thanks." The Ladies Treble Clefs will sing two selections.

At 9:30 a.m. in Fourteenth Street church, the Rev. William Van Puseur will preach on "A Thanksgiving Prayer." The choir will sing. In Central Avenue church, the Rev. Marinus Vander Zwaag will conduct two services, one in the Holland language at 9 a.m. and another in the English language at 10:15 a.m. His subject for the latter service will be "True Thankfulness." The mixed chorus of 70 voices will sing.

Sixteenth Street church will have the Rev. Henry Keegstra, retired minister of Walker, as guest preacher at Thanksgiving services at 9:30 a.m. Maple Avenue church will hold a worship at 10 a.m. with the Rev. Gareth Kok in charge.

"True Thanksgiving" will be the subject of a message by Dr. J. T. Hoogstra at 9:30 a.m. services in Prospect Park church. The chorus will sing. The Rev. Louis Voskuil will take charge of services at 9:30 a.m. in Montello Park church. The Rev. Oliver Breen will conduct services at Bethany Reformed church at 9:30 a.m. His subject will be "True Thankfulness." The choir will sing two Thanksgiving anthems.

Regular mass at 8 a.m. will mark Thanksgiving day observance at St. Francis de Sales church with the Rev. Charles Killgoar of Grand Rapids officiating. Rev. Killgoar has been serving the local parish during the Rev. John M. Westdorp's absence because of illness.

First Methodist church will observe the holiday at a pre-Thanksgiving service tonight at 7:30 p.m. The worship will be in the form of a communion service with members around a large table in the design of a cross. The Rev. J. Kenneth Hoffmaster will lead the meditation and all will participate simultaneously in communion service.

The service at Immanuel church in the Woman's Literary club Thursday at 10 a.m. will be an informal affair with testimonies and favorite hymns. The Rev. C. M. Beertius will give a brief meditation on "Why Be Thankful." The offering will go for Moody Bible Institute.

At Grace Episcopal church, celebration of Holy Communion will be held at 10:30 a.m. with the Rev. William C. Warner in charge.

Christian Science society will hold a special Thanksgiving worship at 11 a.m. at 125 West 11th St. After the usual order of service, there will be a brief period in which members may express their gratitude for healings and other help received during the past year. The Golden Text is "Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High."

Ottawa County Had 26 New TB Cases in 1947

Allegan Shows Better Average in Studies Made in Michigan

Ottawa county had 26 new cases of tuberculosis and seven deaths during 1947, a survey by the Michigan Tuberculosis association revealed today. The death rate for the county was listed at 10.09 per 100,000 population, compared with 6.8 for the average number of deaths during the period from 1942 to 1946.

Allegan listed seven new cases and three deaths for a death rate of 6.84. Its average for the 1942-46 period was 5.6.

There are county sanatoriums in Muskegon and Kent county, as well as in 10 other counties. The state also lists four state sanatoriums, three city sanatoriums and four private sanatoriums.

That the control program in Michigan is increasingly effective is shown by death rate figures for 1945-46-48. Listing the average yearly death rate for Michigan at 30.57 per 100,000 population to 41.06 for the same period 10 years ago. The average yearly death rate for the United States was 36.58, compared with 54.76 10 years ago.

Two areas stand out as tuberculosis trouble spots in Michigan, Wayne county and 10 western counties in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. These areas have had consistently higher death rates from tuberculosis than the state as a whole.

In 1947 there were 1,643 deaths or a TB death rate of 27.07 for the entire state with a population of 6,068,000. Aside from the two trouble spots, the state listed 583 deaths or a death rate of 16.8 for an area taking in a population of 3,780,272. The Wayne county area has a death rate nearly 24 times as high as the rest of Michigan and the 10 western counties have a death rate nearly twice as high as the rest of Michigan, excluding Wayne county.

Directs Symphony

WAYNE DUNLAP

The 92 piece University of Michigan Symphony orchestra under the direction of Wayne Dunlap is scheduled to appear in Hope Memorial chapel Friday, Dec. 3, at 8:15 p.m. for a concert under auspices of Hope college, according to plans made known here.

Dunlap, who was born in Cameron, Mo., studied at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., from which he received the degree of Master of Music in 1942. He spent four years in the Army as band leader, being commanding officer of the 616th AAF band. This organization included 12 musicians from the University of Michigan school of music, some of whom are now playing in the University orchestra.

He also was instructor in the Army university center at Shrinburn, England, where he met Emil Raab, who is now concertmaster of the university's symphony orchestra. At the Army university center at Biarritz, France, Dunlap conducted the orchestra and band. Several students from those organizations are now playing under him at Ann Arbor.

Tulip Time Dates And New Officers Selected by Board

Holland's annual Tulip Time festival will be held next year on May 18, 19, 20 and 21, it was decided at a meeting of the new board of directors Thursday night.

Chamber of Commerce appointees to the new six-member rotating board, as provided in the by-laws of incorporation, are Mrs. Fred Pickel, representing the Holland Tulip Garden club; Arnold W. Hertel, Chamber Tulip Time chairman last year, and John Fenlon Donnelly, member of the Chamber board.

Common Council appointees selected Wednesday night are Ald. John H. Van Dyke representing council; C. C. Crawford, representing schools, and Park Supt. Dick Smallenburg, representing horticultural interests.

Ald. Van Dyke was elected president of the new board and Donnelly was elected vice-president. The board also elected William H. Vande Water as secretary and Henry S. Maentz as treasurer. The latter two officers will have no voting power.

The next six-member board will assume all the responsibilities covered by the old Tulip Time committee, and by-laws provide the board may appoint or hire whatever personnel or agencies to operate the nationally-famous Tulip Time festival.

New and added features are now under consideration by the new board along with types of festival activity, and further discussion is scheduled at the next meeting Dec. 6 at which time selection of a festival manager also will be considered.

Newly appointed members will serve staggered terms to get the new board on a rotating basis. Trustees Donnelly and Crawford will serve three-year terms; Hertel and Van Dyke, two-year terms, and Supt. Smallenburg and Mrs. Pickel, one-year terms.

Selection of Tulip Time dates is fully a month ahead of such action taken other years. The new board will hold regular meetings the third Monday of each month, but because certain things should get under way sooner, the next meeting is scheduled Dec. 6.

Bodies Returned For Final Burial

From our Washington Bureau

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25 — Remains of 273 Michigan men who lost their lives during World War II have been returned to the United States from Europe aboard the U. S. Army Transport Carrol Victory, the Department of the Army announced today.

The remains of three from Holland are among those being returned, upon instruction of next of kin.

The dead were originally buried in temporary military cemeteries in France, Belgium, and Holland. The Army said that each next of kin was notified in advance and would be notified again after arrival of the bodies at the regional distribution center at Chicago.

The remains of the following from Holland and their next of kin are: 2nd Lt. Laverne Wiersma, Air Force, Mrs. Marian Wiersma, 69 Cherry St.; Pvt. Leon G. Nienhuis, Army, Mrs. Leon H. Nienhuis, route 2; and Cpl. Robert F. De Ridder, Army, Mrs. Gertude E. De Ridder, route 3.

Infant Dies at Birth

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beukema died at birth this morning at Holland hospital. Surviving besides the parents are the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Steinfort of Holland. Graveside services were held this afternoon at Pilgrim Home cemetery with the Rev. William Van Puseur officiating.

Concert at College Is Well Received

Prof. Morette Rider presented his Hope college orchestra in the first concert of the current season before an interested audience of several hundred students and townspeople in Hope Memorial chapel Tuesday night. Assisting was Miss Hazel Paalman, assistant professor of voice at the college, who was heard in several vocal selections.

The opening overture, "La Gazza Ladra," by Rossini, was enthusiastically received, and indicated the growth and development of the orchestra since its organization a little more than a year ago. Good intonation and smoothness of execution were noticeable in the opening number and the "Sargande" and "Gigue" for strings by Corelli which followed.

Miss Paalman's fine performance was highlighted by her artistic interpretation of the Schubert "Erlkoenig," and the always appealing "Impatience," or "Unge-duld." She also sang with dramatic emphasis the "Dich teure Halle" aria from Wagner's "Tannhauser."

Final program feature was the "Coppelia" ballet suite by the French composer, Delibes. Included were a Slav folk melody and variations, the famous "Waltz of the Hours," a nocturne, "Music of the Automaton and Waltz" and "Csardas."

Holland Will Welcome Santa Claus Monday

That grand old man—Santa Claus—is coming to town Monday.

A police escort will bring Santa into town at 7 Monday night. He will halt in front of the Warm Friend Tavern where Mayor Bernard De Pree will welcome the whiskered gent on behalf of the city. Santa will distribute gifts to the children after his arrival.

The downtown area will be regaled with Christmas decorations. Light poles, intersections and store fronts will be decked with wreaths and greens, according to the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Fred Pickle said wreaths and greens will be distributed to merchants Friday and Saturday. She is charged with the Tulip City Garden club committee purchasing decorations for merchants. The garden club will establish its headquarters on the second floor of the De Pree company sometime Friday afternoon.

The Retail Merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce said light poles, intersections and other downtown spots will be decorated later this week in preparation for the big event.

The merchants urge persons to shop early while selections are at their peak and also help any last minute congestion.

Local merchants today announced special Christmas shopping hours. Stores open Monday Nov. 29 at noon and remain open until 9 p.m. These hours will be observed the following Mondays including Dec. 20.

The stores will be open all day Wednesday Dec. 8 and 15, according to the Chamber of Commerce. The final week before the big day, hours will be from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Dec. 21, 22 and 23. Christmas eve, stores close at 5:30 a.m.

Hurricanes Tied; Cage Team Loses

Coach Is Pleased With First Showing Of Cane Quintet

A bad third quarter spelled defeat for the Holland Hurricanes basketball squad in its opening contest with the Grand Rapids Pastors before an overflow crowd at Burton gym Saturday night. When the final gun sounded, the newly organized 'Canes were on the short end of a 55-43 count. The final score, however, does not indicate the closeness of the tilt.

Both teams played ragged ball in their season openers, and showed streaks of brilliance on only a few occasions during the tilt. Most observers and Hurricane fans as well, believe the locals did well in their debut to play the highly touted Pastors on even terms for three quarters. The winners, composed mainly of ex-Calvin and Western Michigan stars, last year were regarded as one of the best semi-pro aggregations in Michigan. In addition, several new players have bolstered the Ford quintet this season.

The second period was a repetition of the first with the lead changing hands with almost every basket. Grand Rapids missed many "dog" shots, while they repeatedly outplayed the Holland defense down the floor. The Cane hit a fair percentage of their shots during the period, which finally ended, 25-23, with Grand Rapids leading.

Pastors really turned on the steam in the third period, outscoring the locals, 20-8, virtually clinching victory. Classy Gene Broene countered on many "close in" shots during the quarter to pace his squad. Holland's George Zuverink and Ken Van Regenmortel, however, continued to dominate the backboard play. The quarter finally ended with the score reading, 45-31.

Holland fought back valiantly in the fourth period, trying to get back into the ball game. They did out score the winners, 12-10, but the third quarter margin was too great to overcome, and Grand Rapids walked off with its first victory of the 1948-49 season.

Big Gene Broene paced all scorers with 25 points, followed by L. Lang with nine tallies. Ken Zuverink led the locals with 12 points, while Russ De Vette trailed with 11 markers. G. Zuverink was forced from the contest late in the fourth period due to five personal fouls.

Following the contest, Coach Dell Koop of the Hurricanes said, "I am satisfied with our showing against the Pastors. We showed possibility, and I am confident that with a few more games under our belt, we will be tough to beat." Koop said he believed practicing in the small Beechwood gym had handicapped the locals for the Saturday fray on the spacious Burton gym.

Long Illness Fatal For Willis Mulder

Willis Mulder, 46, died Thursday at 11:45 p.m. in his home, 90 West 11th St., following a long illness of complications.

Born Jan. 6, 1902 in Fillmore township, he was owner and operator of the Lakeshore Orange Produce Co. He was a member of Bethel Reformed church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Ruth Van Lente; four daughters, Mrs. Ted Locker of Albuquerque, N.M., Marjorie Ann, Maxine Lois and Mary Louise, at home; a son, Mark Allen; one granddaughter, Linda Ruth Locker; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Mulder of Fillmore township; six sisters, Miss Cornelia of Flint, Mrs. John Kuiper of Jenison Park, Mrs. Bernard Eckwiler of Muskegon Heights, Mrs. Cornelius Oonk and Mrs. Harold Dor. of Virginia Park, and Mrs. Henry Boeve of route 5; also a brother, Ernest of Fillmore township.

Mrs. Gerrit Lubbers, 77, Dies in Graafschap Home

Mrs. Gerrit Lubbers, Sr., 77, died Thursday evening in her home at Graafschap after a long illness.

Surviving are the husband; two daughters, Mrs. H. J. Wolters of route 6 and Mrs. H. J. Schrotenboer of East Saugatuck; two sons, Henry of East Saugatuck and Gerrit Jr., of route 6; 18 grandchildren; 14 great grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Albert Raak and a brother, John Koester.

Revived Flint Eleven Battles Local Team; Scores on Pass Plays

Both the Holland Hurricanes and Flint Falcons took to the air Saturday to score a 6-6 tie on a cold damp night which limited the crowd to some 600 spectators.

The local gridders found competition tougher than they bargained for against a vastly improved Flint team which was re-organized a month ago by its new coach, Howard Yerges, star of Michigan's backfield last year.

Yerges was not present, having followed the Wolverines to Columbus for the Ohio state game. The Falcons' line coach, George De Corvel, took charge.

Saturday's game marked the final contest for Holland in the MIFL, and the Cane ended in third place, following Jackson and Grand Rapids. Trailing the Hurricanes are Highland Park, Flint and Ann Arbor.

Of the 11 games played this season, the Hurricanes won six, tied three and lost two. Both losses were to Jackson. Games were tied with Highland Park, Grand Rapids and Flint. Wins were over Grand Rapids, Flint, Benton Harbor (not a league team), Ann Arbor (twice) and Highland Park.

Local football fans will have one more opportunity to see a home game on Thanksgiving day, the Hurricanes meet the Twin City Independents of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph. In an earlier game this year, the Hurricanes defeated the Independents 14 to 0.

The Hurricanes scored their one and only touchdown on a spectacular pass play late in the second quarter when Halfback Jack Westenhoef tossed a 25-yard pass to Ted Bos who ran another 30 yards to score. An unsuccessful line drive marked the end of the half.

The Falcons scored midway in the fourth stanza on a retrieve. Parks, a fast-running back, intercepted a Cane pass on his own 25-yard line and ran 50 yards before he was brought down on the Hurricane 25-yard stripe. A 15-yard penalty against Holland placed the ball on the 10-yard line. But the strong Hurricane line held on four plays and the ball went to Holland on its own seven-yard line. Then with Vern Vande Water kicking from deep in the end zone, the punt was partially blocked by the Falcon left end and downed on the 11-yard line. From that spot, a pass from Lemire to Simmons in the end zone tied the tally. Hamilton's kick bounced against overhead wires.

An epidemic of long passes by both teams towards the end of the game came in a desperate attempt to break the tie. Most of the passes were incomplete, but some were complete and some were intercepted. The Falcons were ready to score when Howlett's last pass from the Hurricane's 23-yard line was intercepted by Jack Westenhoef on the one-yard stripe. There the game ended.

A fight early in the fourth quarter brought some three dozen spectators into a clump at the south stands in what threatened to be a free-for-all. It appeared that four Hurricanes were sent into the sidelines in a flying tackle and in untangling the scramble, the Falcons coach was said to have taken a swing at a Holland man.

Hurricane Manager Fred W. Books said the officials are investigating the causes of the disturbance and if the Falcons coach is responsible for the mixup, a league fine might be in order. The starting lineups:

H	F
Yards rushing	170 114
Yards passing	68 42
First downs	8 7
Pass attempts	17 14
Completed	2 4
Intercepted	5 2
Fumbles	4 3
Fumbles recovered	3 4
Penalties	20 15

Ag Secretary Okays Potato Regulation

A regulation on the shipment of potatoes that affects Michigan growers has recently been approved by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The North Central Potato committee's recommendation that the shipment of potatoes below U. S. Commercial grade, and all Size B potatoes, be prohibited, is now in effect. Excepted from the provisions of the regulation are potatoes which fail to meet grade requirements only because of damage from hollow heart.

Potatoes above, cull grade, which are withheld from markets under the regulation, may be sold to the U. S. Department of Agriculture by all producers in the four states which are eligible for potato price supports. States included are Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and North Dakota.

New Farm Scrap Drive

A new national industrial and farm iron and steel scrap drive is being sponsored by the U. S. Department of Commerce. Scrap collected on farms is considered particularly desirable as much of it is of heavy cast iron which is scarcer than steel scrap. Farmers play an important part in supplying raw materials for the steel mills and foundries as they furnish approximately two million tons of scrap a year.

Volleys From Ambush

AND NOW we learn hunting protocol.

It seems the question not to ask a returned deer hunter is "Did you get a buck?"

The question should be "Did you have a good time!"

Not a hunting season passes without plenty of funny stories. Here's one from over the coffee cups.

Lee Nolan, local waitress, was deer hunting two years ago when her party of four saw a scene in the pasture which rolled their eyes. Eight or 10 cows were placidly chewing their cud and minding their own business seemingly unaware that each cow had three wide green stripes painted around her midsection.

It seems the woman who owned the farm lost a cow the previous year, because of a stupid hunter.

Lee said the farm is located just off route 55 between Welston and Irons. She added the woman didn't lose any cows that year.

That Newcomers' club tea this week was a great success, and the people who moved into the city the past year were deeply appreciative.

One person who moved to Holland three years ago said she wished the club had been organized at that time.

General opinion is that Holland, in spite of the advertised Dutch hospitality, is too much of a home and family town for newcomers to break into social circles easily.

Joining churches and service clubs seems to be one of the best ways to meet the people.

The Newcomers club is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The West Michigan Tourist and Resort association included this little story in its Nov. 16 bulletin:

A well-known manufacturer of chewing gum was traveling through the west one day, and a chance acquaintance on the train said to him, "Everyone knows your gum. It's sold everywhere. Why do you continue to advertise?"

The story goes that the manufacturer turned and said, "My friend, this train is going along very smoothly right now. Do you think we ought to take off the engine?"

Did you hear the story of the man who got so disgusted with lint on his suit he devised a new fabric made entirely of lint? It collected blue serge!

Muskegon County Sanatorium, which takes in patients from this area, has opened a campaign to solicit $50 for a movie projector and screen for the sanatorium. A generous benefactor has started the ball rolling with a gift of $100, and on the strength of this gift, the machine has been ordered. Contributions cannot be too large or too small. They should be sent in care of the sanatorium's newspaper "Scan San, Muskegon County Sanatorium, Muskegon, Mich."

Ether Van Wagoner Tufty, The Sentinel's Washington correspondent, entertained members of the local Rotary club and their wives at a dinner meeting Thursday night. Mrs. Tufty apiced her talk with humorous chit-chat.

At one point she was describing a speaking engagement to a group of Germans who understood "some" English. When she entered the room the audience began to nudge one another and an under-current of chatter greeted Mrs. Tufty. Puzzled as to why the commotion, she asked a German friend "why?"

The German went down and asked a member of the audience and returned to tell Mrs. Tufty, "They think it is Emma Goring going to talk to them."

Mrs. Tufty confided to Rotarians that she didn't mind being taken for the No. 2 Nazi woman but what did bother her was being taken for a woman 10 years older.

To illustrate thinking of the German peoples, Mrs. Tufty cited the same speech before the German audience. She said when ordinarily Americans would laugh, the Germans were glum and vice-versa.

The talk was titled "People in the News" and included inside descriptions of Truman, Dewey, Vandenberg and others. When Mrs. Tufty began describing Mrs. Truman she said, matter-of-factly, that the first lady "could cook."

The German audience rolled with laughter. So, bewildered Mrs. Tufty continued the "joke" by saying Mrs. Truman can make fudge, cakes and so on. Afterwards, she asked a German friend why the people laughed so loudly when she mentioned that Mrs. Truman could cook. The German explained the audience thought it was quite a joke saying the No. 1 lady of America could cook or would ever think of doing such a thing.

Couple in 51st Year of Married Life

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Olin

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Olin, 19 East 19th St., have begun their 51st year of married life together. The couple observed their golden wedding anniversary on Oct. 27. They have two children, Clarence R. and Esther Mae Olin, a nurse in Grand Rapids; also one granddaughter.

Mr. Olin, 72, is employed at Baker Furniture Co., as a machinist. He was born in Ohio and Mrs. Olin was born in Clarksville. They came here 38 years ago, in 1910. Mr. Olin is interested in gardening. Both are in good health.

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

THE GAYEST book I have read in a good many seasons is just about a year old, but it may be that there are others who, like myself, had missed it. That's my reason for a cheer for "The Proper Bostonians," by Cleveland Amory.

Setting out to tell the social history of Boston, "The Proper Bostonians" might have turned out to be a dull book. If for instance it had been written by one of the "proper Bostonians" it would probably have bored all non-Bostonians to tears. Those non-Bostonians take themselves seriously. Oliver Wendell Holmes, the poet, suggested half-facetiously that Boston was the hub of the universe. The "proper Bostonians" took the idea seriously, so that "The Hub" is a synonym for Boston; the proper Bostonian so refers to it without a smile.

Perhaps the most famous quatrain ever written about a city originated as a toast by a western alumnus of Harvard. Again it was meant facetiously, but as Cleveland Amory describes the "proper Bostonians" it did not represent too outrageous an exaggeration. It runs of course like this:

"And this is good old Boston.
The home of the bean and the cod.
Where the Lowell's talk to the Cabots,
And the Cabots talk only to God."

As a picture of social exclusiveness this toast has done service for nearly half a century. It packs into four satirical lines a whole world of information about a city that is mainly peopled by the Irish Americans, but also a city where even the most successful or anybody else who does not "belong," would have less chance to "talk to the Cabots" than the latter of talking to God.

As portrayed by Cleveland Amory, the "proper Bostonians" are so few in number that they would not begin to fill a small village. Although most of them are wealthy, living on trust funds handed down to them from ship-owning fortune makers, it isn't money primarily that rules in their social closed corporation. It is family, but curiously it is not for the most part family that traces itself back to those who came over on the Mayflower. The dyed-in-the-wool "proper Bostonian" is inclined to turn up his nose at such people. The only genuine "proper Bostonians" trace their lineage to a relatively small group of fortune hunters who made their pile during a period from about the time of the Revolution to, roughly, the time of the Civil War.

Those who won family identity before the opening of that period may occasionally be in the social corporation, by accident. Those who made their money after the period had come to a close are never in it, no matter how wealthy they may be. They are upstart; and they can never possibly hope to "belong."

How large a part family plays in even the business thinking of the "proper Bostonians" is illustrated by an anecdote in the book that may not be factually true in every detail but that has a truth that is truer than fact.

"A Chicago banking firm once asked a Boston investment house for references on a Beacon Hill scion. Promptly the Chicago bank was informed that the applicant descended from Cabots, Lowell's, Saltentalls—in short could not be more acceptable. 'We were not,' the Chicago firm replied curtly, 'contemplating using Mr. — for breeding purposes.'"

The book is full of such bits that are meant to be illustrative of the extreme seriousness with which the "proper Bostonians" regard themselves as the only Americans worth talking about. It is a gay book, with a laugh on nearly every page. But it is not mere burlesque, it is also a wise book.

Proper Care Lengthens Life of Farm Machinery

Good care lengthens the life of farm machinery say agricultural engineers at Michigan State college.

With the end of the harvest season at hand, machines with broken parts should be repaired or tagged for future repair and the needed parts ordered.

A good job of cleaning and lubrication, plus weatherproof storage, will help to keep machinery in good shape for spring work next year.

Dairying Seen as Profitable in 1949

Farm prices of dairy products in 1949 that will average close to the 1948 levels are predicted by Michigan State college agricultural economists. Supplies will be higher, they believe, but with a strong continuing demand, net farm income from dairying should be good.

Dairying prices are expected to follow the usual seasonal pattern, declining about ten per cent from December to June and rising after that. Milk output will probably be higher by about two to three per cent.

Dairy specialists advise feeding balanced rations to cattle to maintain full production in the coming year. High-producing cattle should receive enough extra feed to keep them producing well. Culling and attention to feeding of young stock are also indicated. The feeding situation will be improved they believe. Each pound of milk will buy one-third more dairy ration than a year ago.

Demand for all dairy products will continue strong, the economists say. Fluid milk sales will continue at about the same levels as in 1948. Increased milk supplies will be diverted to manufactured products such as butter and cheese.

In looking ahead to 1950 and 1951, farmers are advised to start building up milk cow numbers. Dairy prices are expected to hold up longer than hogs, poultry, or beef.

North Blendon

(From Monday's Sentinel)

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Berghorst were Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Berghorst and Mrs. Dick Berghorst of Pearlton.

Mr. Reverts from Holland conducted services at the Reformed church on Sunday, Nov. 14. The Rev. J. Vanderbeek of Ebenezer filled a classical appointment here on Nov. 21.

Several local persons are enjoying deer hunting in the north woods.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Berghorst and Marilyn visited the Howard Brothers at Munising this past week.

Mrs. Mike Marlink was honored with a get acquainted party by the neighborhood women recently. Those attending were Mesdames J. Hirdes, G. E. Gruppen, George Gruppen, G. Wedeven, B. Glas, A. Papp, Lee Vander Molen, D. Ten Broeke and Miss Janet Ten Broeke.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Elzinga are now living in Grand Rapids. The William Boersma family expects to move into the recently purchased Elzinga farm in the near future.

Mrs. John Hirdes and Mrs. H. Vander Molen accompanied friends from Hudsonville to Athens on Monday, where they attended funeral services for Donald Cheyne, 38, who was electrocuted while at work in Battle Creek on Friday, Nov. 12. Mr. Cheyne was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cheyne, former local residents. He is survived by his wife, the former Genevieve Hudson, two sons, Buster and Clifford and two daughters, Virginia and Marilyn; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cheyne of Athens and four brothers, Harold of Athens, Leon and Dennis of Pontiac and Kenneth of Hudsonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Redington are the parents of a son, born Nov. 11.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Haverman made several calls on their brother, John Dykstra, who is confined to the Allegan hospital because of injuries received in an accident while en route to work. He is suffered from a cracked vertebrae in his neck.

Jews to Extend Religious Training

Congregation Shaarey Zedek of Detroit, one of the largest Jewish congregations in the country, announces an experiment and service in religious education of Jewish children. Through this new service it is hoped to enable children of families living in places in Michigan where there is no synagogue or Jewish school to receive religious instruction.

Jewish families whose children are not now receiving training are invited to enroll. There is no fee for the service. Carefully prepared and graded lessons in Jewish religion, history and literature will be sent regularly to the children. Lessons have been prepared for every age level of school children beginning with the first grade. Specific assignments in the material sent will be made. The material is so arranged that parents can guide the children in their studies.

In mid-winter and spring, convocations of all who are enrolled in this educational program will be held in Detroit. Thus the children and their parents will meet the staff of instructors. Through this instruction by correspondence it is hoped to reach children residing in outlying sections of the state where there is no Jewish organized community.

Rabbi Morris Adler is spiritual leader of the congregation. Dr. Leonard Sidlow is chairman of the committee on education. Application for instruction can be made by writing Congregation Shaarey Zedek, 2900 W. Chicago Boulevard, Detroit, 6.

Program About Books Heard by AAUW Group

Mrs. Edward Donivan, Holland High school librarian, talked about the new books at the meeting of Holland branch, American Association of University Women, Thursday night in the home of Mrs. John K. Winter, State St. The program was in keeping with National Book Week, which is being observed locally in schools and college.

With an extensive display of attractive new books to illustrate her talk, Mrs. Donivan told about the many satisfying children's books, the improvement in books for young people, and the new novels of various types to suit every taste. She briefly reviewed several.

Mrs. Donivan said she hoped many would consider books as "Christmas suggestions."

Miss Bernice Bishop presided at the meeting. Several new members and guests were welcomed and introduced.

Mrs. Henry Steffens, chairman of the scholarship committee, introduced Miss Helen Engvold of Schenectady, N. Y., who is attending Hope college on a scholarship given by the Schenectady branch of AAUW. Mrs. Steffens announced that the committee is planning to award a scholarship to Hope college next fall. Decision to establish a scholarship fund branch.

was made last spring by the local Mrs. Kenneth Allen, program chairman, revealed plans for the next meeting on Dec. 16 in Walsh Music hall. Miss Nella Meyer of the Hope college faculty will present piano selections.

The social hour was arranged by Mrs. J. J. Brower, Mrs. Malcolm Mackay, Mrs. J. W. McKenna and the Misses Lavina Cappon, Blanche Cathart, and Maibelle Geiger.

Cy Wise Bound To Circuit Court On Murder Count

Grand Haven, Nov. 25 (Special) —Cyrus Wise, 73-year-old Grand Haven man, was bound over to Circuit Court on a murder charge Friday afternoon following an examination in Justice George V. Hoffer's court. He is confined in Ottawa county jail without bond for trial before Judge Raymond L. Smith.

Wise was arrested by city police Oct. 23 shortly after Marion Tipsword, 45, was shot to death near Wise's houseboat located in the vicinity of the Grand Haven dump. Tipsword lived in a shack nearby.

Harvey L. Scholten, court-appointed attorney for Wise, moved that the charge be reduced to manslaughter and that the murder charge be dismissed. In denying the request, Hoffer said he did not feel he was placing Wise in worse jeopardy by retaining the murder charge.

Under a murder charge, a jury has a choice of finding the defendant guilty of first degree, second degree murder or manslaughter, or can find the defendant innocent.

Friday's examination brought out heretofore undisclosed facts in the case. Among the witnesses was the victim's common-law wife, Helen Love Tipsword, 38, who said she was not married to Tipsword but had been living with him for a year and a half.

She cried as she told the court of details following the shooting, first thinking the shot was made by duck hunters. When she found Tipsword lying at the bottom of the steps leading to Wise's houseboat and Wise standing at the door, gun barrel down, she said, "My G— what did you do?" to which Wise replied, "You better get the police; I shot him."

She said she raised Tipsword's head and talked to him but he was already dead. With the assistance of Peter Wilds, in charge of the dump, she found someone to take her to police headquarters to report the shooting.

Mrs. Tipsword admitted her husband had beaten her last August when Wise called him names and that Tipsword had paid $25 fine and $4.45 costs on an assault and battery charge in connection with that offense.

Other witnesses were Coroner Joseph Kammeraad, Officer Joseph Domanski and Police Chief Lawrence De Witt.

Coroner Kammeraad stated death was due to a gun shot wound and severe hemorrhage in the left, front part of the neck.

Police Chief De Witt read a voluntary statement by Wise made at police headquarters at 11 a.m. the day of the shooting in which he said he rose at 7:15 a.m. and had a fire started when he heard a noise outside the door and found Tipsword on the top steps.

The statement quoted Tipsword as saying "You have to get your stuff out of the shack" and Wise answered "Mrs. Coe (from whom he rented the houseboat) told me I didn't have to move anything." Tipsword said, "I will move the stuff myself" and Wise said, "I don't think you will until I see Mrs. Coe."

The statement continued that Tipsword went down the steps cursing and continued 25 or 30 feet and returned. Wise said he warned Tipsword not to come on the boat and then got his shotgun which he had loaded three or four weeks before for his protection.

The statement quoted Tipsword, "I will beat you up worse than I did before" and Wise said he pointed the gun at him and said "Don't come on my boat" as Tipsword started up the rail.

Wise said he must have had his finger on the trigger or near it because when he pushed Tipsword back with the gun, it discharged and Tipsword fell down the steps and never moved. Wise said he then went into the houseboat, finished dressing and started eating. He said he did not go down to see how badly Tipsword was hurt but did notice he never moved.

Wise added he had no trouble with Tipsword since the difficulty in August and at the time of the fatal shooting Tipsword had no weapon on his person.

Officer Domanski testified when he arrived at the houseboat Wise was eating a slice of bread and Tipsword was lying on the ground. He said there was no blood on the steps. He testified Wise said he pushed Tipsword with the gun but believed the safety was on. Domanski said Wise believed someone had entered the place and taken the safety off because he always kept the safety on.

Holland Merchant Dies At Home in Chicago

Emil G. Olander, 62, owner of the Louise Dress shop, 14 East Eighth St., died Friday morning at his home in Chicago. He had been ill several weeks. He was a member of the local Chamber of Commerce. He also owned a dress shop in Cadillac, his native city.

Mr. Olander was a brother of Oscar G. Olander of the Michigan State Police.

Surviving are the wife, Rosa, and a daughter, Mrs. Louise Childs of Chicago.

Set Examination Date

Grand Haven, Nov. 25 (UP) —The examination of Ervil Mason, 19, Grand Haven, charged with negligent homicide in connection with the death of Mrs. Lesetta Mayland and Thomas Scheer on Oct. 10, has been set for Wednesday, Dec. 4 at 2 p.m.

Members of the 1948 Holland high school football team met Tuesday afternoon and selected Dick Malchow as most valuable player for the season and elected Frank Wlodarczyk honorary captain. Malchow alternated at tackle and fullback until Bob Tasma received a broken ankle in the Muskegon game. After that, Malchow confined his playing to fullback. Wlodarczyk played the right half position for the Dutch and in the earlier part of the season went up to guard on defense. Both are seniors. From left to right: Malchow, Wlodarczyk and Coach Stupka.

Large Group Attracted To Fall Council Fire

Approximately 450 Camp Fire girls gathered in Holland high school gym Friday night for the first Thanksgiving council fire. The significance of Thanksgiving was expressed by Pat Houtman, Sally Copeland, Connie Tuinima and Delphine Schaeffer.

The large candle flanked with greens and five smaller candles in the center of the gym represented America and from it candles of selfishness, work, conservation, friendship and faith were lighted by Laurie Hohl, Jayne Scully, Carol Plakke, Helen Louise Wade and Arlene De Cook.

The law of the Camp Fire girls and "Oh, Wobelo" were sung by girls accompanied by Mrs. Robert Wildman and led by Miss Virginia Kookier.

Marching, membership, swimming and birthday honor beads were awarded and service awards presented. Mrs. Albert Timmer awarded rank to the following girls:

Trailseekers — Mickey Vandenberg, Sally Van Dyke, Sandra Boersma, Rebecca Arenas, Norma Jean Gootee, Mary Heuvelhorst, Mari Lou Hindert, Alice Kaiman, and Shirley Miller.

Woodgatherers — Betty Carol Cowan, Norma Jean Gootee, Marie Lou Hindert, Mary Heuvelhorst, Shirley Miller, Mary Lou Bagladi, Marion Doherty, Thomas Gonzales, Anne Hohmann, Patty Lejeune, Patricia Mc Carthy, DeJores Oonk, Mary Sanger, Jayne Scully, Nancy Jean Van Damme, Clare Lee Berkey and Sally Ann Range.

Firemakers — Jeanie Nies, Janice Boersma, Barbara Klomprens, Verna Bontekoe and Mary Ann Tibma.

Groups with perfect attendance were those of Mrs. Joe Moran, Mrs. John Bagladi, Mrs. I. H. Marsilje, Mrs. John Knoll, Miss Joan Geerds and Miss Kay MacQueen.

Mrs. Peter Van Domelen, Jr. was in charge of arrangements; Mrs. Ray Fehring, line-up; Mrs. Moran, lighting; Mrs. Ralph Eash, center-piece. Hostesses were members of the Camp Fire board.

The closing song with the impressive "Sheltering flame" and "Taps" closed the program and the girls marched out to the tune "Oh, Step Along."

Committees Announced For Play, 'Our Children'

Committees have been announced for the production of the comedy-drama, "Our Children," by Dr. Louis K. Anspacher, to be presented Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25, and Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. in Holland high school auditorium. The play is under the direction of Mrs. John L. Bouman, and is being presented by the Holland Christian high school Alumni Dramatics club.

Justin Vander Zwaag and James Zwier are business managers of the play. Alfred Hietbrink is stage manager and Sid Woodstra is stage technician. Properties are in charge of Walter L. De Vries, and Julia Keen and Bea Unema are prompters. Joan Kool is serving as chairman of usher.

Costumes like those worn in 1906, during which time the play takes place, have been made and designed by a group of local women. Mrs. Gerrit Van Dyke is chairman of the group and is being assisted by Mrs. Henry Bareman and Mrs. Henry Piers. Miss Unema is in charge of men's costumes.

A stage setting for the play was made by the dramatics group directed by Harris Ver Schure and Alfred Hietbrink.

Hair stylist is Sadie Van Langvelde and make-up will be applied by Peter Verburg of Grand Rapids.

Floyd H. Taylor Dies at Hospital

Floyd H. Taylor, 50, died in Holland hospital Thursday morning where he had been taken Tuesday with complications following a year's illness.

He was born Nov. 4, 1898 in Hamilton, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William O. Taylor. Taylor was employed for 11 years until 1947 at the Globe Oil Co. and later as a carpenter. He was a member of the First Methodist church. Surviving are the wife, Nellie, and three daughters, Marjorie, Norma and Rosalie.

Michigan in Washington

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

THE EYES of the world are focused on Michigan's child welfare program.

It has been selected as one of the "training" spots for child welfare experts from other lands who are studying under 6-month fellowships from the United Nations organization.

A steady stream of these "students" are being directed through Lansing.

Some of the "graduates" who have already returned to the Philippines write the U. S. Children's bureau here:

"We are having great success in putting into practice the program used in Michigan."

REP. MARY T. Norton of New Jersey, dean of congresswomen, will take a rest-cure at Mt. Clemens sanitarium during December.

For 10 years chairman of the House Labor committee, Mrs. Norton resigned when Republican Fred Hartley took over her job in 1946, with the Republican's victory.

Some overtures have been made suggesting she try to regain the chairmanship now that the Democrats are back in power. But that job is Rep. John Lesinski's of Michigan, and Mrs. Norton says, "I wouldn't try to usurp any man's job."

CAN YOU imagine all the research projects of the Michigan state highway department moved from Lansing to the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor?

That's exactly what's happened in Virginia.

Merger of the highway department with the engineering school at the University of Virginia has been approved. The new set-up will be known as the Virginia council of highways investigation and research.

Employees of the highway department and faculty members will staff the council. And importantly, graduates and undergraduates will be given part-time jobs on research projects.

A former Michigan state highway commissioner, G. Donald Kennedy, sees some benefits from such university-government teamwork.

Certain laboratory facilities and experts would aid the development of better highways, said Kennedy, now executive vice president of Automotive Safety foundation, with headquarters in Washington.

Such a forward-looking program might also, he predicts, make more and more engineering students select highway engineering as a profession in these days when the glamour of other engineering pursuits has lured away some of the best men from jobs in the state highway departments.

MICHIGAN SUGAR beet producers, worried about possible business effects of the Supreme Court's basing point pricing system ban, watched with interest this week the hearings of the Senate subcommittee on Trade Policies.

Sugar beet interests testified Wednesday before the subcommittee, which has been investigating business reaction to the Supreme Court ruling.

Earlier in the week, a representative of California cane sugar producers asked the committee to recommend legislation permitting absorption of freight rates and the realization of varying mill net prices (not possible under an f. o. b. pricing system received by the Supreme Court decision) when not the result of conspiracy. Western sugar producers claim that unless such procedure is allowed, they will be unable to compete with Southern cane sugar producers.

Favored by being near great population centers Michigan cane producers are not as badly hit by the decision as some of the other industries.

Lions Club Speaker

Dr. "Red" Egan of Grand Rapids will speak at the local Lions club meeting Tuesday noon at the Warm Friend Tavern. Besides being a dental surgeon, Dr. Egan also is an expert in certain phases of income tax work, on which subject he will speak. Arrangements for the speaker were made by Adrian Klassen.

North Dakota and Montana have had population decreases of more than 5 per cent since 1940.

Esther Van Wagoner Tufty, Washington correspondent for The Sentinel, and the Rev. William C. Warner exchange smiles just before being seated for the annual ladies night banquet of the Holland Rotary club. Mrs. Tufty, recently returned from an extensive tour of Germany and the low countries, said the outlook for world peace depended on how hard Americans were willing to work for it.

Washington Writer Offers Peace Hopes

Esther Van Wagoner Tufty did it again!

The Washington correspondent of The Sentinel gave an overflow audience at the annual ladies night banquet of the Holland Rotary club an intimate glimpse into problems besetting postwar Europe.

Mrs. Tufty, in a warm, human speech, told her audience Thursday night, that the hope for world peace rested in the main streets of the cities and towns of America.

"Civilization must find a way to destroy war, or the next war will destroy civilization," she said. American and British pilots are demonstrating to the world the vigor and determination of democratic nations, by operating the airlift under handicaps of immense proportions. The propaganda value of such an operation far outweighs its cost, she said, in describing how she was flown into Berlin with a load of 10 tons of coal.

"You couldn't buy at any cost the kind of propaganda the airlift is giving the Allies," she said. "Actually, I believe the Russians are sorry they started the blockade, because of the loss of prestige they have suffered."

Mrs. Tufty described her visit to the Netherlands for the investiture of Juliana as queen. She described the pageantry of the 16th century ceremonial and told what the event meant to modern Holland. Juliana has thus far given evidence that she will be a genuine monarch, Mrs. Tufty said.

Mrs. Tufty said the Netherlands was interested in Holland, Michigan, and that she had told all she could about this Dutch-American community.

Mrs. Tufty was introduced by W. A. Butler. The Rev. William C. Warner gave the address of welcome.

Wedding Performed at Bride's Parents Home

In a candlelight ceremony Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Rena Bredeway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Bredeway, 88 West Seventh St., was married to Stanley Breuker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Breuker, route 6, Holland.

Vows were exchanged before an improvised altar of palms, baskets of white and russet mums, and candelabra. The Rev. M. Vander Zwaag performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of 50 guests.

Preceding the ceremony Gerald Vande Vusse sang "I Love You Truly." He sang "Bless This House" following the exchange of vows. Accompanying the soloist was Miss Arlene Schlierbeek who also played traditional wedding music.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a lace yoke edged with a wide ruffle, fitted bodice, long sleeves pointed at the wrists and a full skirt, draped in front, and extending into a circular train. Her fingertip veil, edged with lace, was held in place by a seed pearl tatra. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and carnations. A string of pearls, gift of the groom, completed her ensemble. The bride's gown was fashioned by her sisters.

Attending the bride was Miss Dorothy Breuker, sister of the groom, who wore a soft pink satin gown with net yoke and full chiffon skirt. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white baby mums.

Evert Bredeway, the bride's brother, was best man.

A reception followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Breuker, brother and sister-in-law of the groom, were master and mistress of ceremonies. Miss Mildred Timmer and Harold Geurink were in charge of the gift room. Serving the guests were Mrs. Harvey Scholten and the Misses Annagene Koetsier and Joyce Bouwman.

Mrs. A. Naber and Mrs. H. Scherbeck were in charge.

During the reception Mr. Vande Vusse sang "Always" and a come, invocation was given by the Rev. Marion de Velder, singing was led by Willis A. Diekema. Paul Kranendonk sang three solos, accompanied by Frances Rose. Mrs. Tufty's appearance was arranged by Kenneth De Pree, program chairman.

While here, Mrs. Tufty was interviewed for station WHTC and the interview will be released Saturday at 9:05 p.m., station officials said this afternoon.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day
again. So let us be thankful for the things that we have, but let us not forget that it is more important to help, if we have a chance, some of the distressed peoples around the world, as well as at home, and thereby to enjoy the blessings of useful work, to give a friendly word to our neighbors,
and all people we meet.
Let us remember that life is a journey that we are all traveling and not just a goal—giving thanks from the depths of our hearts,
the canvass of the united churches estimate that there will be more than thirty million Americans who will attend church. Each in his own way will be showing his faith in God, this is the same faith in which our forefathers founded our great nation.
All of us in the world need the faith of our fathers. It should give a strength and purpose necessary for these times.
So let us give thanks and if possible attend church. Because without this faith we may be lost.
Also remember when you're enjoying your Thanksgiving dinner that it is still our Thanksgiving, made in America for Americans.

Final Rehearsals Being Held for 'Our Children'

Final rehearsals are being held for the comedy-drama, "Our Children," which is to be given Thanksgiving night and Friday night at 8 p.m. in Holland high school auditorium. The play is being presented by the Holland
Christian high school Alumni Dramatics club and is being directed by Mrs. John L. Bouman.

The theme of the play is one of a father's lavish love for his son with the contrasting condition of a neglected elder sister who is turned out of the house because she loves the young foreman of her father's factory. The foreman returns the old man's hardness to him in adversity by bringing the wardson back to him.

The play takes place in Lynn,
Mass., in October, 1906. Period costumes will be worn by the cast.
Taking part will be Harris Ver-
Schure, who has the leading role,
Garry Kaasboek, Ervina Van
Dyke, Paul Cook, Norma Piers,
George Knoll, Eleanor Bareman,
Walt De Vries, Alfred Hietbrink,
Andrew Jonker and Mrs. Claus Bushhouse who will provide much of the comedy.

Sunday School Lesson

November 28, 1948
Parables in the Bible
Isaiah 5:1-7
Matthew 13:31-33, 44-46
By Henry Geerlings

If our Lord had not based His teachings on what the people already knew He would have attained very little success. However, He came down to their level that He might lift them to His level. He began with the knowledge they already had. He was careful to find that out. He walked with them, talked with them,
asked them questions, fellowshiped with them; and so He was able to gain a knowledge of them and their habits and ways very quickly. He was a student of human nature. He observed them closely. He had to join what He desired to teach them to the learning they had already acquired. Otherwise He would have overwhelmed them with the wealth of what He knew. There were times when He had to deal with them as though they were little children. They were so immature in spiritual things. What a lesson there is to be found here for all of us!

Jesus found it desirable to get beneath the illustration. Some of His disciples would have stopped with the outward form of the parable, but to Him it was only a vehicle. It was a window through which the light fell upon the truth. Here was revealed the difference between His disciples and His enemies. The latter became angered at him because they were either not able to see the deeper meaning or because they willfully misinterpreted Him. Little wonder then that they were ready to throw stones at Him. They were too impatient to take the trouble to follow His method of reasoning.
More than that, they seemed to take delight in placing the wrong construction on what He was saying. To them, then, His parables were more than meaningless. They were offensive. His parables have enriched the world, but to those who take pleasure in disliking
Him they were meaningless.

This is made more of in the Old Testament than in the New. Nevertheless it is to be found in the New also. Our Lord was especially rich in His teaching through parables. The dictionary gives this definition of a parable—"a brief narrative or descriptive allegory founded on real scenes or events such as occur in nature and human life, and usually with a moral or religious application." Jesus did not introduce the objects about Him for the purpose of enlightening His disciples on the wonders of the natural world. He introduced them for no other reason than that of making God's deeper revelation more intelligible. Our study of the world about us has been carried much farther than Jesus led His disciples. The chief thing in the use of this method was to acquaint them with the variety, the depth and the power of divine truth. It is easy to spend too much time on the externalities of the parables. That is like holding fast to the shell while we lose the kernel. The quest for religion in nature has its dangers.

The ear does not exhaust the power of man to hear. One may be deaf to the voices of friends and loved ones because of a single infirmity. But he is not deaf thereby to the voice of God. God does not limit His speaking to us to the method we employ in communicating with one another.
It is possible for us to read very good literature and hear only the voice of man. Then again through the printed page we hear the voice of Him who speaks as man has never spoken. Luke tells us of the time when Jesus was saying some very important things to His disciples and, seeing that they did not grasp what He was telling them, He opened their minds that they might understand the Scriptures.

Now there are many kinds of heaters, just as there are many kinds of soil. There is a kind of soil that will not let anything get into it, and there is a kind of soil that is hospitable to everything that is good and pure and true. It is not enough that we tend the church services. What do we get from it? What is the condition of the heart? We must take heed how we hear.

It is interesting to note what various writers have to say about the interpretation of the parables.
These vivid glimpses of contemporary life have often been made into elaborate allegories. The attempt to find significance in every detail has been carried to absurd lengths. It seems fairly clear that Jesus told His stories, like any preacher, to illustrate His point.
The details are usually for background and local color. We will do well to take the obvious point of the story and refrain from imaginative speculation as to the supposed theological message of every phrase and line.

Our Lord availed Himself of every opportunity to teach the people. His teaching method was characterized by the use of incidents and customs with which they were already very familiar.
We are told that about one third of our Lord's teaching consisted of parables. He found them the quickest and best way of getting His message across. Indeed they were so local and personal that they could scarcely be misunderstood. But even though His parables were abundant His hearers often seemed to be confused when He addressed them.

Holland In 1915

Quietly and secretly and without the knowledge of even the school authorities, Fire Chief Blom and Building Inspector Ed
Van Drezer made the rounds of the different schools to find out whether the pupils were being kept "up to snuff" on their fire drills. Maple Grove school which has 315 pupils were dismissed and out of the building in 50 seconds.
The Van Raalte Ave. school with 260 pupils consumed 53 seconds.
Maple St. school with 300 pupils took 54 seconds. Junior High with 328 pupils, 46 seconds. Central Ave. school with 350 pupils took 57 seconds. Columbia Ave.
school with 300 pupils 71 seconds, the new Holland high with 345 pupils took 69 seconds. On the face of the returns it shows that Columbia Ave. school with 300 pupils consumed 71 seconds. This does not compare favorably with the other schools. But the building inspectors state that this is not the fault of the teaching staff or children but the arrangement of the building is such that it is more difficult to get out of this school as quickly as the others.

Local Auxiliary Reports On Membership Drive

"Members enrolling in the Willard G. Leenhouts Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary may be surprised to learn that they are joining the largest organization of its kind in the world," Mrs.
William Barense, the local Auxiliary's membership chairman, said, when reporting progress of the current membership campaign here.

"No other organization of women has anywhere near as many dues-paying members as the Auxiliary. Enrollment for 1948 has reached approximately 950,000 and we are expecting to pass the one million mark in 1949.
Units of the Auxiliary are active in practically every city and town in the United States and its territories as well as in some foreign countries. The local unit of the Auxiliary is asking all eligible women to join now to help with our extensive program."

Mrs. L. B. Dalman presided at the regular meeting of the Auxiliary held Monday night in the memorial club rooms. Announcements were made regarding purchase of a wheel chair by the unit for patients at the Michigan Veterans' Facility at Grand Rapids, and the sponsoring of Americanism, essay and poppy poster contests.

Miss Edna Dalman, program
chairman, introduced Niles Han-

Tourist Council Releases Report On Questionnaire

Local Persons Overlook Value of Tourist Dollar; Would Stretch Season

Results of a questionnaire, sent to all members, were revealed at the recent annual meeting of the Holland tourist council.

According to results, persons in this area underestimate the value of the tourist dollar to the City of Holland and that Holland does not push enough tourist attractions to stretch the resort season.

Automobile dealers reported that from 30 to 40 per cent. of their July and August business, exclusive of new car sales, is tourist trade. Retail merchants said it was difficult to give a figure on their tourist business but said they can tell when the tourists come and go. Two reports of milkmen reflected the tourist influx on business. One dealer said his daily sales drop 35 cases and the other 42 cases immediately after Labor Day.

Proof that this area is in competition with other Michigan cities was demonstrated by an envelope left by a tourist at a local resort. In June, this party started to look for a vacation spot for two weeks in September.

The envelope contained 15 replies. They were from the following: Newaygo, Grand Haven, White Cloud, Harbor Springs, Fremont, Three Rivers, Frankfort, Saugatuck, Baldwin, Ludington, Ferryburg, Paw Paw, Grand Rapids, Bellaire, and Holland. This was cited to demonstrate the keen competition for the tourist business in Michigan.

Some areas reported a decline of five per cent while others a decline as high as 20 per cent in resort business. The faltering localities blamed lack of advertising for the drop in tourist business.

At the meeting the following governing committee was elected for the tourist council. One year terms. H. Frans, K. A. Dean and

Two Are Charged in Grand Haven Court

Grand Haven, Nov. 25 (Special)—Russell Brice, 47, Allendale, charged by the conservation department with possession of a shotgun and buckshot in deer territory, in Robinson township Sunday, paid $25 fine and $7 costs when arraigned in Justice George V. Hoffers' court Monday.

Casimier Tokarszyk, 18, route 1, Grand Haven, charged in the same court with failure to yield the right of way after an accident in Grand Haven city Friday, with a car driven by John Murphy of Muskegon, paid $10 fine and $4.05 costs. On a charge of no operator's license, he paid $5 fine and $4.05 costs.

Robert Horner, two year terms; Mrs. Taft, A. Joldersma and H. A. Vanderploeg; three year terms. Robert Kouw, Hollis Northuis and Chester Van Tongeren.

H. A. Vanderploeg was elected president of the group; A. Joldersma vice president and R. Horner, secretary-treasurer.

The council will co-operate with the local Chamber of Commerce in getting tourist literature for distribution in this area.

The directory published by the Council this year will be revised for the next resort season, it was announced.

Plans are underway to boost resorts by exhibits at Detroit, Cleveland and other winter travel shows.

A sportsman show for Holland is being planned in co-operation with the retail merchants. Tentative dates were set at Jan. 27, 28 and 29. Manufacturers and distributors of sporting goods are being contacted to exhibit items which would be of interest locally. This show would be free to the public and the entire project hinges on all space being sold.

Buick Introducing Eleven New Models

Flint—Buick today introduced 11 new models for 1949 in its super and roadmaster automobiles, featuring lower and wider lines and roomier interiors.

The General Motors division said the new cars will go on public display Nov. 26 in dealer showrooms. Buick announced that the new dynaflo torque converter transmission will be available on the super.

Ivan L. Wiles, Buick general manager, said the new cars were re-styled throughout including full length fenders, new grille, and full-vision curved windshield and rear window.

Prices for the 1949 models have not been announced.

He said the present special series cars will continue in production without change and that new models will be introduced late next spring.

The roadmaster line will include an addition—the two-door, six-passenger Riviera, a solid top custom coupe, to be put into production late in the spring.

Nykerk Cup Awarded To Hope Sophomores

Hope college sophomores won the coveted Nykerk cup Monday night in the annual contest between freshman and sophomore college women. The event was held in Holland high school auditorium. Judges based their decisions on points awarded for three presentations, oratory, drama and music. Sophomores won by less than 10 points it was reported.

Barbara Vornastie presented the sophomore oration, "One Out of Twenty." Taking part in the play, "The Bird on Nellie's Hat," were Sandra Lanning, Phyllis Heunink, Ruth Marie Johnson, Barbara Van Nethem, Wilma Ford, Jeanine De Boer and Marilyn Ferris. Jeane Ter Beek was pianist and Gladys Kuizer, harpist. The chorus included Edna Piers, Mary Koffey, Kathy Veltman, Ellie Short, Luella Rozeboom, Martha Debbink, Alicia Van Zoeren, Catherine Sharp and Nancy Smith.

Marie Buttlar was senior coach for the sophomores and Marilyn Van Wielden was sophomore coach.

The freshman oration, "The Choice Is Yours," was given by Mary Houtman. Taking part in the play, "Be A Little Cuckoo," were Ruth Koeppe, Doris Adams, Barbara Wierenga, Jane Wright and Rae Eustace. Dorothy Ten Brink sang the solo part in "Gypsy Love Call," while background music was provided by a group of 10 girls. The song was sung around a camp fire.

Ruth De Graaf was junior coach for the freshman and Marilyn Veldman was freshman coach.

Betty Boelkins was general chairman of the contest and Student Council President Tim Harrison, presided as master of ceremonies. Judges were Henry Ten Hoer, Jantina Holleman and Mrs. Harry Harter, all of the college faculty.

Optimists Stage Broadway Plays

Three outstanding Broadway plays, "But Not Goodbye," "John Loves Mary," and "All My Sons," will be presented in Holland this winter by the Civic Drama guild of New York under auspices of the local Optimist club. First of the three, "But Not Goodbye," will be staged here on Tuesday, Nov. 30 in the Holland high school auditorium.

All the plays will be presented by distinguished professional casts which include all the original players except the leads.

John Vander Broek is chairman of the Optimist committee in charge of arrangements. His aides are Vaughn Harmon and Dale Fris.

It was announced today that tickets for the individual plays are available from members of the Optimist club or at Fris Book store. Also, season tickets can be purchased.

"All My Sons" will be staged at the high school auditorium March 1 and "John Loves Mary" will play May 9.

Two Hurt in Robinson Township Accident

Grand Haven, Nov. 23 (Special)—Joseph Masar, 36, and his wife, Opal, 33, both of Muskegon, were taken to Municipal hospital and released after treatment for injuries received in a four car pile-up in Robinson township near Jac Jungle at 2:25 a.m. Monday. Masar suffered severe facial lacerations and his wife, head lacerations, when their car went into a ditch.

Other cars involved were driven by John Harmon, 35, of Muskegon Heights, Arden Kelly, 30, of Marne, and Delbert Salter, 45, of Muskegon. The latter two were issued tickets by state police, who investigated, for excessive speed, and Harmon, for having an expired driver's license. All cars were traveling west.

Egg Production Of Hen Doubled By Iowa Couple

Eleven Years Spent Developing Profitable Management Program

A Greene county, Iowa, couple has made one hen lay as many eggs as two ordinary chickens to set the top Iowa egg production record for 1947.

Their flock of 191 birds averaged 263 eggs per hen. The long-standing record was 244. The record-breaking flock had a mortality of only 6.4 per cent. Ordinarily high egg production means high death loss.

Eleven years were spent by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fisher in developing this profitable management program, according to a farming magazine. In 1937, the Iowa flock of White Wyandottes averaged only 106 eggs per bird. Mortality was 19.4 per cent. A labor income over cost of 99 cents per hen or a total of 86 cents an hour was received.

The practice, which made their poultry business a success include shopping around for improved breeding. Single Comb White Leghorns were bought and production went up 50 eggs per bird. Inbred hybrids were purchased later and these were the hens that made the outstanding production. Other factors which made the enterprise profitable were:

1. Prevention of contamination by keeping the chicks and laying flocks from ranging over the farmstead.
2. Use of a well-balanced commercial concentrate feed instead of trying to mix their own to save money.
3. Keeping an all-pullet flock.
4. Construction of a new, fully-insulated laying house to reduce shock to hens from extreme weather changes.
5. Adoption of a self-feeding program.
6. Construction of a wire-floored sun porch to permit the chicks to go out-of-doors without getting on contaminated ground.

By confining pullets to the laying house at five and a half months of age, the pullets are laid in August. Thus, normal-sized eggs are available by the time prices are highest in the fall.

A profit of $2.92 cents per bird was made on the laying stock in 1946. This amounted to $1.83 per hour for all the time spent with the flock. The return on investment totaled more than 53 per cent. This profit was left after 50 cents an hour was deducted for time spent with the flock, money invested in birds and equipment was subtracted and depreciation was figured on the laying house.

Only one hour per bird was spent to set the egg production record in 1947.

Miss McLean Is Feted At Pre-Nuptial Events

Miss Margaret McLean, whose marriage to Dr. Elmer L. Lashua of Mexico City will take place next Saturday in a home ceremony at 4 p.m., has been complimented at several pre-nuptial events.

Mrs. Kenneth De Pree entertained a few friends at her home on West 12th St., Friday afternoon at a luncheon and bridge party to honor Miss McLean. Yellow chrysanthemums decorated the luncheon table and were also used in the living room. Covers were laid for 12.

Favorite recipes were presented to the guest of honor. Prizes in bridge went to Mrs. J. D. French and Mrs. A. Bondy Gronberg. Miss McLean and Mrs. E. P. McLean, the bride-elect's mother, also received gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Harrington entertained earlier in the week at a family dinner honoring Miss McLean and her fiancé at the Harrington home on South Shore Dr. Covers were laid for Miss McLean, Dr. Lashua, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin L. De Vries, Jim De Vries, Miss Lavina Cappon, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harrington, the host and hostess and their daughters, Carol and Garnet.

Others who plan to entertain for the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Heasley with a dinner in the Warm Friend Tavern tonight and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Van Donsolen, Jr., with a buffet supper in their home on South Shore Dr., on Tuesday.

Moral Welfare Committee Named for Armed Forces

Washington, Nov. 19 — Representatives of the three major religious faiths have been named by President Truman, along with six civic and educational leaders, to a committee on religious and moral welfare and character guidance in the armed forces.

The committee will help provide a healthy spiritual and recreational life for servicemen while they are off-duty.

Committee named by the President include: the Rev. Daniel A. Foling of Philadelphia, president of the World's Christian Endeavor union; Father Edmund A. Walsh of Georgetown university; and Frank L. Weil of New York, president of the Jewish Welfare board, who will serve as chairman.

Enthusiastic Audiences See Hope Production

Laugh-packed lines, comic characters and tuneful music filled the stage of Holland High school auditorium Wednesday and Thursday nights when Hope college students presented "Washington Conference," a three-act musical comedy, written by Warren Eickelberg. Hope college senior, and Kevin Kennedy, student at Georgetown university.

Presented by the Student Council and aided by Palette and Masque, college dramatic society, the satire on political conferences with a touch of romance, was enthusiastically received by large audiences at both performances. The original songs, both love tunes and novelty numbers, were the nucleus of the production, well performed by a cast of 20.

Outstanding was the comic role of Sasha (with the lower lip) Gromolikov, United Semi Slavic Republic delegate, capably portrayed by Richard Leonard. He and his staff, Jim Bennett, Duane Boel, Gene Harsvoort and John Jaekel, pleased the audiences especially with their song, "Bow Down to Uncle Joe," and their frequent calls to the "boss in Moscow."

Romantic leads were well played by Claire Wierenga and Bob Kransendonk as Anne Hartley, the senator's daughter, and Bill Johnson, newspaper reporter, respectively. Star tunes of the show were sung by these two.

Gloria Dawne, Hollywood star who fell in love with Sasha, was played by Mickie Van Egmond. The clever duets of this pair were highlights of comedy.

Jack Robins as Senator Enoch Buckles from Wisconsin, was outstanding in his "Politician's Song," and Jean Snow, portraying a news photographer, sang the dramatic love songs of the rejected lover.

Others in the capable cast were Jack Ketchum, the flustered hotel manager; Gerald Vining, Kenneth Smouse, Charles Kelly and Jack Boeskoel, new reporters; Phyllis Sherman, Evelyn Van Dam, Barbara Van Dyke and Lucille Brunsting chorus.

The music was arranged by Herbert Ritsma who was at the piano. Assisting Director Eickelberg with the revision of the comedy for local production were Lawrence Massey and Katherine Steketee. The attractive stage settings were designed by Peter Westterhoff and executed by Edward Avison and his staff.

Stupka Is Irked By All-Conference Grid Selections

Jack Hobeck Is Lone Holland High Player Named in First 22

The 22 "supposedly" best players in the Southwestern conference were named today by coaches of the six member schools.

Holland high placed one man on the mythical first two team selections. Grand Haven and Benton Harbor headed the list with each team having five men named. Conference champions, the Muskegon Heights Tigers, placed four men, the same as second place Kalamazoo Central. Third place Muskegon had three men chosen.

Tackle Jack Hobeck was the only local player named among the first 22.

The coaches met at the Holland American Legion country club Tuesday night to pour over the list of eligible men. Several athletic managers and officials from the schools also attended the meeting. However, only the head coach of each school cast ballots. Today was given as the official release date for the final selections.

Coach Bob Stupka of Holland high said, "The men selected do not represent the best, as they should."

As proof he cited the five Benton Harbor men selected. The Harborites had a conference record of one victory, three defeats and one tie. Muskegon Heights, which had a conference record of four wins and one tie placed only four men on the teams.

Stupka said he felt his fullback, Dick Malchow, should have rated over two choices. Leo Mortorano of Benton Harbor or Rich Cuti of Grand Haven. The local member Cuti didn't play the final four games with the Bucs because of injuries. And Mortorano was stopped by several teams this season.

The local coach also said he believes Tom Hildebrand should have been mentioned. Here are the first 22: (No distinction was made between first and second teams).

Ends: Charles Zorn, Muskegon Heights; Don Johnson, Grand Haven; Dick Silverthorn, Benton Harbor; Paul Dekker, Muskegon. All are seniors.

Tackles: Jack Hobeck, Holland; Bill Crouch, Kalamazoo; Charles Weatherly, Benton Harbor; Al Molencamp, Grand Haven. All are juniors.

Guards: Ed Kelley, Muskegon; Jim Mean, Benton Harbor; John Nedau, Muskegon Heights; Harry Nordoff, Grand Haven. All are seniors.

Centers: Ken Mosier, Kalamazoo, senior; Jim Neal, Muskegon, Junior.

Quarterbacks: Bruce Fox, Benton Harbor; Mike Strach, Muskegon Heights, both seniors. Halfbacks: Frank Howell, Muskegon Heights; Keith Jones and Terry Nulf, Kalamazoo; Russ Rescorla, Grand Haven. All are seniors.

At the meeting, school officials voted to name A. E. Stoddard, retired track coach of Kalamazoo Central, as commissioner of the Southwest conference. Stoddard will take up his duties in 1950 and be charged with hiring all officials for conference athletic contests.

Attending the meeting from Holland high were: Malcolm Mackey, J. J. Riemersma, Joe Moran, Gerrit Wieringa, George Damson, Austin Buchanan, Fred Weiss, Carroll Norlin and Stupka.

Plans are going ahead today for the formal opening party tentatively set for Friday night. Cards must be presented at the door for all parties. Mrs. Van Leuwen said.

The new spacious quarters were "very enthusiastically" received by the members. Mrs. Van Leuwen said. The center was jammed Saturday night.

According to results of a survey taken, members voted against having roller skating in the new building.

Former Ottawa Woman Dies in Traverse City

Grand Haven, Nov. 25 (Special) — Mrs. Clara F. Willis, 85, former resident of Spring Lake and Muskegon, died in Traverse City at 12:45 p.m. Saturday. She had been in ill health for five years and seriously so the past month. She was born in Spring Lake on Oct. 10, 1863, and had lived in the Spring Lake area all her life. Her maiden name was Clara McMann. She was a member of the Methodist church. Her husband, Lyman, died 32 years ago.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Alice Schultz of Chicago, Mrs. Charlotte Griffin of Sprig Lake and Mrs. Esther Prow of Muskegon; a son, Charles Bates, of Muskegon; a brother, Abraham McMann, of Grand Rapids; 13 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Van Zantwick Funeral home where services will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. with Dr. E. H. Boldrey officiating. Burial will be in Spring Lake cemetery.

Singer's Coat Missing

City police were trying today to aid Charles Flier of South Bend, Ind., one of the singers in the master choir at dedication day services at the New Apostolic church, who lost his coat in a local restaurant at breakfast early Sunday morning. Left in its place was another gray coat of the same size but lesser quality. Police believe the exchange was not deliberate and is asking the other person involved to get in touch with headquarters.

Miss Kuiper is employed at the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and Mr. Koele is continuing his father's business, the Lake View Poultry farm.

Directors Named For Aid Council

Dr. Lester J. Kuiper was re-elected and Mrs. W. C. Kools and Beth Marcus were elected directors of the Council of Social Agencies at its annual meeting Tuesday night in the city hall. The latter two succeeded C. C. Wood and the Rev. William C. Warner as members.

Rex E. Chapman, president, explained the work of the council which serves as an advisory agency for the Holland Community Chest.

The program featured talks by three nurses, Hertha Larsen, consulting nurse of visiting nurses' department of the State Board of Health at Lansing, outlined public health nursing and the method of setting up such an agency. He also explained how investigations are carried on to determine the need for such a program and related some of the problems in financial responsibility for such service.

Mrs. Lena Sherman, regional consultant of Public Health, called attention to Nursing Progress week, marking the 75th anniversary of the trained nursing profession. She said three Michigan hospitals, Battle Creek sanitarium, Harper hospital in Detroit and Blodgett in Grand Rapids had graduating classes in the 1880's. Public health visiting was begun in Grand Rapids and Detroit in the early 1890's and by 1910, 14 cities in the state and one rural area had visiting nurse service.

Mrs. Mayo A. Hadden, county director for the Bureau of Social Aid, called attention to the White House conference for Children and Youth in 1950. Mrs. Hadden representing Ottawa county; Randy Bosch, representing the state of Michigan, and Russell Welch, visiting teacher, attended the governor's conference on the subject in Lansing Nov. 11, 12 and 13. The council will participate in a regional conference after the first of the year.

Rare Blood Disease

Norman Piersma, freshman at Michigan State college, is recovering in East Lansing from a rare blood disease which he contracted about 10 days ago. He was among eight or nine students so stricken. The ailment was described as one in which the white corpuscle balance is upset. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Piersma, 28 West 30th St. His mother visited him in East Lansing Sunday. His father is hunting up north and has not learned of his son's illness.

Will Rogers Stamp

Will Rogers commemorative stamps are available in limited numbers at the Holland post office, according to Postmaster Harry Kramer. The three-cent issue pictures Will Rogers and has one of his quotations on the bottom. "I never met a man I didn't like."

Fresh Vegetables

Mr. and Mrs. James Koops and family, route 6, have been eating fresh radishes and lettuce—taken from their garden. What's more amazing is the fact that the Koops family didn't plant any vegetable seeds like that. "The seeds must have blown into our garden," Mrs. Koops said.

Christian Quintet Will Put Height To Best Advantage

After holding a skull practice Thursday afternoon, Holland Christian cagers were back at work again today in preparation for their home opener with Zeeland early in December. The locals have been working out about two and a half weeks, spending most of the time on fundamentals.

Coach Tula "set up" his cagers for the first time this week, endeavoring to find out which player is best suited for the style of play. Tula said today that "there was a very good chance" that he would vary his offense somewhat this year, or at least add something to it.

For the last two seasons Tula has used the "three out, two in" set up almost exclusively. However, due to the size of this year's squad and various other reasons, the Christian mentor says he may use the "two out, three in" system. Under this play, fundamentally, Tula would have three big pivot men, rather than his usual two. This style would add to Christian's control of the offensive backboard. If possible, he said he would like to have the squad adapt itself to both styles, enabling it to change with the defensive formations it would meet on different occasions.

Tula said, "One thing is sure. We are going to be rugged this season with a hard scrapping ball club. The boys are improving and I have bright hopes for the coming season."

The schedule still remains at 15 games, but Athletic Director Raymond Holwerda is still trying to secure two more titles. Grand Rapids Central is the latest foe to be added to the Christian card.

Tula has scheduled drills for the first three days of next week, but will give the boys a rest during the Thanksgiving week-end. He has cut the squad to 10 men, and said it would remain at that size, at least temporarily.

Holland Woman Feted On 80th Anniversary

Zeeland, Nov. 25 (Special)—The home of Mrs. Sarah Riemersma, Centennial St., was the scene of a birthday party Saturday evening in celebration of the 80th birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Alice Kossen of Holland.

Those present included her daughters, Mary and Florence Kossen, teachers of Holland with whom she makes her home on 26th St.; Elizabeth Kossen of Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rietman and sons, Marvin, Carl and Elmer of Chicago; her brothers, Arthur De Pree of Detroit and Bert De Pree of Zeeland; Mr. and Mrs. Donald De Pree of Zeeland.

Mrs. Joe Kossen and children of Zeeland and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kossen and children of Beaver Dam, Wis., were unable to be present.

Mrs. Kossen is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. P. De Pree, early pioneers of Zeeland. She spent her girlhood in Zeeland and after her marriage to John Kossen lived on a farm on North Fairview Road for many years.

Her husband died several years ago. The farm home on North Fairview road is now occupied by Mrs. Joe Kossen, a daughter-in-law.

4-H'ers Will Take Part in National Show at Chicago

Highlights for the National Farm and Garden show Nov. 27 through Dec. 4 at the Chicago Coliseum include eight different contests, a home economics section, dairy production demonstrations, and new implement, farm equipment and home appliance items to be shown in actual use on the stage.

Deil Rhea, president of the show, said more than $25,000 worth of prizes are being offered. Junior teams representing many states will compete in the Invitational Interstate 4-H Poultry Judging contest under direction of H. G. Ware, extension poultryman of Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college. Other youngsters will match skill in a goat-milking contest.

In the home economics section, apple-pie makers will vie for top honors Wednesday, Dec. 1, in a contest sponsored by the British Columbia Tree Fruit association. There will be prizes for junior and senior divisions. Entrants must bake pies at home and bring them to the Coliseum north hall before 2 p.m. for preliminary judging. Each finalist will bake another pie on the stage.

Christmas cookie makers will prove their prowess in another contest Saturday, Dec. 4, at 2 p.m. Junior and senior contestants in this event should make a batch of cookies at home for the preliminaries.

Home economics demonstrations will be presented at 2 p.m. on the other six days of the show. The opening night of the show will see the crowning of the ideal farmer's daughter, chosen from a field of candidates nominated by show exhibitors.

On Sunday afternoon, Nov. 28, horsehoe pitchers will compete in a contest.

Entertainment each evening will feature a style review presented by students of the Vogue School of Fashion Art. Implement, equipment and home appliance demonstrations will be continuous daily in the main hall.

The American Butter Institute will present daily dairy production demonstrations by teams brought to Chicago from many states. Other events being held include the second annual Karakul Fur Sheep show.

The Coliseum is located at 16th and Wabash in Chicago. Special buses will operate between there and the Amphitheatre, where the livestock exposition is to be held.

Check Heating Equipment To Help Prevent Fires

With cold weather here and fires being started, heating equipment should be in best possible condition, believes Fred Roth, farm safety specialist at Michigan State college.

Defective chimneys rank high as a cause of farm fires during the heating season. Cracks or other defects should be repaired and rusted or burned out stove pipes replaced.

Another group of farm fires are started by sparks on roofs. A spark arrester on the chimney will eliminate this risk. Fire-retardant roofing will also help.

Manure Value Increases With Proper Storage

Everyone knows the value of manure in raising yields of crops. But A. G. Weideman, soil scientist at the Michigan agricultural experiment station, says that many people don't realize that much of the fertilizing value can be lost before it's put back on the land.

He estimates that a ton of fresh stable manure (including both liquid and solid portion) contains 10 pounds of nitrogen, five pounds of phosphoric acid, and 10 pounds of potash. At present prices of commercial fertilizer, that would cost about $2.75.

No method has been found to handle manure without some loss, Weideman points out, but care will help to reduce the loss. The greatest part of manure must be stored or applied to the soil and left on top for a considerable length of time due to the frozen soil in winter.

For best results, Weideman gives these hints. Manure may be stored in box stalls until ready to be hauled to the field and plowed under; stored in a concrete manure pit under a roof; stored on a level area in the field in straight-sided, flat-topped piles; or hauled directly to the field and spread on the land. However it is stored, it should be kept moist and well compacted to keep the air out.

Considerable loss is sure to occur when manure is spread on frozen soil. Spreading it on slopes should be avoided if possible when the soil is frozen. Top-dressing manure lightly in winter on wheat or meadow is a good practice where the land is level despite the fact some loss is likely to take place under such practices.

Recognizing the methods that cause loss of fertility will help farmers to choose the best method of handling their manure, Weideman believes.

Keep Fixtures Clean

Plumbing fixtures need not be an eyesore. To remove silver nitrate or dye stains from plumbing fixtures, use a cleansing powder that does not scratch. Mix it with enough hydrogen peroxide to form a paste. Apply the paste to the fixture. Rinse with clear water.

To rejuvenate rusty pipes, sandpaper them well. Then paint with gold, aluminum or an ordinary enamel in a color to match the color scheme.

Mrs. Nina Daugherty was unanimously re-elected teacher of the class.

Mrs. Working and Mrs. Maude Horning were in charge of games. Refreshments were served by a committee including the Mesdames Peter Raffenaud, Dora De Boer, Mary Van Duren and Anna Kyger.

The class Christmas party will be held Dec. 17 at the home of Mrs. Daugherty.

Many from Holland In Hope Orchestra

Eighteen members of the Hope college orchestra, which will appear in concert Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Memorial chapel, are from Holland, Zeeland and the surrounding area. They include Robert Hall, concertmaster; Gordon Barendse, Ransom Everett, Prudence Haskin, Rodger Kramer, Robert Laman, Myron Van Ark, Howard Van Dahm, Lloyd Wolters, Robert Wajahn, all of Holland, and Anita Rynbrandt of Zeeland.

The orchestra was organized in September, 1947, under the direction of Morrette Rider, its present conductor. Since that time it has shown unusual growth and development, with good prospects for continued progress.

Miss Hazel Paalman will be soloist at tomorrow night's concert, which is open to the public free of charge.

The orchestra also will accompany the college chorus in the annual performance of Handel's "Messiah," to be held in Hope chapel on Dec. 7. It will also play for the Zeeland "Messiah," Dec. 14.

Destroy Smoke Stains

Smoke stains can be removed from a glazed-brick fireplace with a trisodium phosphate solution. Scrub with a brush. Rinse thoroughly. Stone fireplaces are more difficult to clean. Try dissolving four ounces of laundry soap in one quart of water. Cool and add a half pound of powdered pumice stone and a half cup of household ammonia. Let this solution remain on the bricks for 20 minutes. Then scrub with a brush and water.

Motors Need Winter Care

Farm automotive equipment should be readied for winter, say agricultural engineers at Michigan State college. An important point to consider, they believe, is anti-freeze to prevent motor freeze-ups.

The cooling system should be carefully inspected before adding anti-freeze. Costly damage can develop from leaks, and under severe conditions an engine block can be ruined putting the car, tractor or other equipment out of service.

Here are some of the tips passed along for a cooling system inspection.

1. Inspect radiator—if it is rust-clogged, it should be drained and cleaned. A cooling system cleanser is excellent for this purpose.

2. Check for leaks—radiator hose, hose clamps, and pump should be tight. A serviceman will indicate need for any repairs or replacement.

3. Try cylinder bolts—if they need tightening, use a special tension wrench.

4. Check fan belt, and heater—slipping belts should be adjusted or replaced, if worn. Heater hoses should drain properly and not trap air.

5. Put in anti-freeze—follow manufacturer's directions to protect the motor. A radiator tag should be used to identify the anti-freeze used, give the degree of protection, and warn against accidental draining.

Add New Look With Old Lace

Latest and one of the best ideas for changing the old look into the new look is the use of lace.

Lace is very fashionable this year and offers many possibilities for adding length or new interest to last season's dresses advises Julia Ter, home economist at Michigan State college.

Variety of colors is the feature of today's lace dresses. Color combinations include black over black, dark brown, navy, beige, grey or the pastel or the reverse such as a blue lace over brown taffeta.

Accessories offer other suggestions for reviving dresses. Lace boleros or stoles are very popular. Trimmings of lace used at the neck, at the sleeves or for inserted bands in a skirt are other possibilities.

A search through an old trunk or box of clothing may reveal some old lace which you can put in use again. The MSC home economist says it may be much better than you can buy today. If it is "real" or handmade lace you really have a find.

Lace is also becoming more and more abundant on lingerie. Holiday styles will feature a great deal of lace. When large quantities of lace are used on low cost lingerie, it is a good idea to examine the quality of the fabric and also the lace. It may be that quality has been sacrificed for quantity and the garment may not survive the number of washings you may expect it to. Be sure the edge of the lace is very firm and well made if it is on a washable garment.
