One-Way Streets Proposed; Council Awaits Reaction

With one major change, Common Council approved a program calling for major streets at an adjourned meeting of Council Wednesday night and now is considering the possibility of one-way streets on Seventh and Ninth Sts. and Pine and Central Aves.

The only change in the list published in Wednesday's Sentinel is making 17th St. a major street from Ottawa to Columbia instead of the corresponding distance on 16th St. This change was made mainly because of the two high schools, two funeral parlors, shopping district and factories on 16th St.

Sixteenth St. was designated a major street from Fairbanks to Columbia Ave. and from the west limits to Cleveland which is a boundary street. Cleveland between 16th and 17th Sts. also was designated a major street. Approved major streets now total 21.5 miles and local streets 31.73 miles. The list and map must be submitted to the state highway department by Dec. 1 so that Holland city may share in increased revenue from the gas and weight tax.

City Manager H. C. McClintock explained that the basic concept of the plan as proposed involves desirability of one-way streets on Central and Pine Aves. and Seventh and Ninth Sts. These streets parallel trunklines through Holland and would facilitate traffic. Such an arrangement has long been advocated by the city planning commission and the Holland police department, McClintock said.

Council was reluctant to take action Wednesday night, and Mayor Harry Harrington said the aldermen should see the reaction of the public before making any decisions.

The plan calls for traffic on Pine to be southbound, Central northbound, Ninth eastbound and Seventh westbound.

To remove 50 per cent of the traffic on Eighth St., McClintock said the plan would require westbound trucks to turn north at Lincoln to Seventh, continue west to River and there make the left turn. The traffic signal at Seventh and Central in all probability would be moved to Seventh and River to facilitate such a flow of traffic.

Eastbound truck traffic would remain on Eighth St., it was proposed. The new arrangement would eliminate the bad left turn at Eighth and River for southbound trucks. Turns at this corner have been the city's most difficult problem ever since US-31 was relocated. Truck traffic would continue on River Ave., it was definitely stated.

McClintock indicated a plan for one-way traffic paralleling trunklines would substantially strengthen Holland's major street plan. It is possible the state highway department may make some changes on the list approved by council.

Council considered making Washington Ave. a major street from the south limits to 17th St., and Central Ave. a major street to 32nd St., but both measures lost.

John Vander Kolk of 3 East Seventh St. has been hunting for 20 years and until this week had never even seen a bear in the woods. Then Sunday morning, while hunting deer, a 150-pound bear strolled leisurely toward him and Vander Kolk bagged his first bear. The same day, about six hours later, he got a four-point buck weighing about 175 pounds. Vander Kolk was hunting alone about 15 miles north and a little west of Newberry. He had been hunting in lower Michigan for four days with no luck when he decided to head north. Staying at a Newberry hotel, Vander Kolk listened to another hunting party discuss tracking a bear that day and making plans to go after him again the next morning. Vander Kolk ambled out after them, hoping to sit by for any deer they might scare up, when the bear approached, obviously not even seeing the hunter. "I shot him right between the eyes," Vander Kolk said. He used a .348 rifle, which is "big enough to kill an elephant."

Winter Weather Delays M-89 Relocation Work

Allagan (Special)—Early winter weather and steel shortages have combined to make doubtful that construction crews would meet the Jan. 1 deadline on the M-89 re-location west of Allagan. Common Council Wednesday night set Jan. 2 as date for public hearing to hear objections to closing a T-shaped alley between 30th and 31st Sts. running from River to a point near Pine. Residents had requested the closing some months ago, and council set the date for public hearing after the planning commission informed council it had no objection to the closing.

Council also approved purchase of a truck for the street department from the Venhuizen Co. at a low bid of $1,682.68 to replace a '37 model. Specifications call only for the chassis. City Engineer Jacob Zuidema figured it would be a greater saving to transfer the body and hoist from the old truck and salvage usable parts and junk the rest, than to figure on a trade-in.

Winners Outfight Taller Lee Quint For Decisive Win

Zeeland High school's scrappy eagles fought a taller Grand Rapids Lee squad off its feet and walked off with a decisive 45-32 victory at the Holland Armory Tuesday night in the first game of the season for each school.

Coach Joe Newell's Chix team continually jumped higher and faster than their taller opponents, and time and again came out of a clump of blue-clad Rebels with the ball.

After establishing an early lead in the opening quarter, the Zeeland avalanche was never headed. Lee led in the opening seconds on a field goal by center Keith Fry, but then Zeeland took over. Closest the Rebels got after that was a 15-10 count midway in the second period.

Diminutive forward Glenn Schrottenboer of Zeeland paced both clubs in scoring with seven field goals and six free throws for 20 points. His forward partner, Del Komejan, was second high for Zeeland with four field goals.

Fry was top man for the Rebels with six buckets and one charity toss for 13 points. No other man scored more than four points, and usually high-scoring forward Bob De Young was held to three free throws for the evening. Outside of Fry, the Chix defense worked solidly all evening.

Zeeland outscored the Rebels in each period but the last when a Lee assault narrowed the gap to 40-30 before Zeeland's scoring game broke loose again. In the first eight minutes, the Chix had a 10-3 lead and increased it to 25-11 at halftime. By the end of the third period, the Chix were ahead, 38-21. Lee outpointed the home club, 11-7 in the final period.

Besides being the leading scorer, Schrottenboer set up many more tallies with his accurate and deft passing. Lubbers and Geerlings also played well at their guard positions, and the entire Zeeland aggregation cashed in on heads-up play.

Zeeland connected on nine of 17 free throw attempts, while Lee made good on exactly half of 16 charity tosses.

Coach Mel Bouma's reserve squad fell victim to a taller and more experienced Lee reserve team in the opener, 44-27.

Ron Wetherbee paced the Junior Chix with eight points, while Don Schout had six. Duane Kuipers five, Gene De Jonge and Jim Wyngarden three each and Ron Knopert two. Lee center Kiezer was top scorer with 20 points.

Next game for the Chix is next Tuesday when Wyoming Park comes to Zeeland. First Tri-County conference contest is Dec. 7 at Otsego.

Woman's Club Speaker Explains 'Master Plan'

Scott Bagby of Grand Rapids presented the "Master Plan for Holland" Tuesday afternoon before members of the Woman's Literary club, a plan which is being worked out in conjunction with the nine-man planning commission of this city.

Mr. Bagby had many charts with him on Grand Rapids and Holland which he used throughout his talk to illustrate his points. "Many towns today refuse to face their local problems," the speaker said. "They pass them off to Lansing or Washington with costly results if the state or national scene comes into the local picture."

In the master plan of Holland there is one big problem this town does not have which many others do. That is "urban blight" in the residential areas near the business district. While there are some rundown homes scattered through the area, yet for the most part Holland has a good residential area, as well as being a town of one-family houses, he said.

The business of running Holland is big business, and industry wants to be in cities where the town is well run, where its homes and parks are well cared for, he said.

Several factors were explained that cause high taxes and high city maintenance such as persons living in areas far from town which necessitate additional schools, sewerage, public utilities. High birth rates mean more schools, more playgrounds; the FHA revolution caused young families to move to outlying districts for their new homes.

"City planning that was all right in 1925 is as outmoded today as a car of that vintage," Mr. Bagby explained, "and city fathers who wish to keep the tax rate reasonable are using foresight in planning the town of tomorrow."

In closing, the speaker challenged his listeners to get all the facts on any proposal before voting it down. If persons who do not understand the overall picture of what is being planned for the city's welfare vote it down, then social and economic problems arise, making it hard for the city fathers, he said.

"Eighty per cent of the development of a town is done by people who want it done," he said, "and who want the best for their city. Money spent now on a local level may save millions in the years to come."

Another feature of the program was a short talk given by Marjorie Veltman of Hope college who spoke on "International Relations at Hope." She told of the work of the International Relations club, how it had been instrumental in bringing good talent from the outside as well as discovering local talent on campus on the subject.

Hope to Relieve Water Situation In 6-8 Months

Special Committee Reports to Council At Regular Meeting

A course of action which may bring some relief on the water situation in Holland was outlined by a special committee in a report to Common Council at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

The report, presented by Alderman A. W. Hertel, said the wells producing water for Holland city have varying characteristics, some having iron oxide with its yellow coloring effect and others hydrogen sulphide with its attendant odor.

"It appears that the former condition may be remedied by individual metaphosphate or equivalent chemical treatment at each well site, while the latter condition may be helped by a chlorination process at a central gathering point," he said.

Samples from each well are being submitted to a qualified water analysis and engineering firm for exact determination of the negative content factors upon which a formula of correction may be based. The procedure also is being undertaken at a local level and findings will be reviewed with the State Health department for its recommendations and co-ordination with other research activities. After the corrective formula is determined, the necessary equipment will be built or installed to provide the required treatment. Mains also will be thoroughly flushed at a time of year when there is no danger of freezing so as to correct in some measure a bacterial condition existing within the water supply pipe lines.

The foregoing plan of procedure does not preclude the alternate possibility of constructing a filtration plant or development of new water sources; and employment of appropriate engineering skills will be undertaken as soon as advisable to do so," Hertel concluded.

Other members of the special committee were John Beltman, James H. Klomparsen and H. S. Maentz.

CONTROL OF LAKE SHORE
EROSION

In a valued "Public Opinion" letter contributed by Robert R.
Hornor, North Shore Drive, the suggestion is made that lake shore erosion can be prevented. That assertion is worthy of additional emphasis.

To quote from the communication: "The present Great Lakes flood conditions could be prevented, as well as the recurring periods of low water, by the building of control works in the form of partial dams in the St. Clair and Niagara rivers." That statement will be of special interest to thousands of citizens who have summer homes along the extended shores of Lake Michigan, Lake Huron and Lake Superior.

It is certain that no private group or combination of citizens can cope with the relentless pressures that have been set up by the water levels. If the ravages of nature can be controlled as suggested, it will have to be on a scale that can be financed only by the nation as a whole.
Normally, the suggestion to apply to congress for local relief or local improvements is unwise; the American people ought to learn to do things for themselves instead of looking to Washington.

But erosion along hundreds of miles of lake shore is more than a local problem, and it is something that cannot be solved through local measures. Moreover, if it can be done successfully through "partial dams" in the St.
Clair and Niagara rivers, that job is clearly national in character and scope. Congress would have to make arrangements with Canada before the project could be set in motion; neither private organization nor the state could handle such a thing legally.

This is clearly not a matter of getting "pork barrel" funds out of Washington. If the water levels can be controlled to a reasonable degree, such control will pay dividends in the long run, and not only to local communities but to the nation.

The suggestion deserves serious attention. If the project is not feasible from the engineering angle, that fact may well be established. We pay our Army engineers anyway so their expense need not be prohibitive, congress might well think about it seriously. Write us 300 words if you have ideas.

League Plans

Pudding Project

Extensive plans for their annual plum pudding project were made Tuesday evening by members of the Junior Welfare League. They held a regular meeting at the Woman's Literary club house.

Mrs. Clarence Becker is general chairman of the plum pudding project. Puddings will be made from Dec. 11 to 13. Mrs. Becker's day chairmen are the Mesdames Ken Kooliker, C. M. Wagner, Bob Wolbrink, Seymour Padnos, Craig Trueblood, Jud Leonard, Gerard Cook and Bill Beebe and Misses Althea Raffan-aud and Beth Marcus.

Packaging chairman is Mrs.
Dale Fris, distribution chairman, Mrs. Bill LaBarge and financial chairman, Mrs. Paul Winchester.
It was announced that the league netted a profit of $82.45 from a rummage sale held in Grand Rapids last Monday. Mrs.
John Vander Broek and Mrs. Bill Venhuizen were chairmen. The money will be used for the wading pool project.

Mrs. Jim Hallan reported on the candy project. The goal of 500 pounds almost has been reached, she said. Members continued work on the Christmas stocking project, of which Miss Kay Stokette is chairman and Mrs. Wagner is distribution chairman.

ing, and it's wash day too," Rendleman said.

A Doubting and Disobedient People

Numbers 14:1-11
By Henry Geerlings

Our Scripture reading for today covers a sad episode in the history of Israel. This was the ignominious failure of the people to enter in and possess the good land that God had given to them and the judgement that fell upon that generation. We might have supposed that after all they had experienced in the last two years, of the power and the grace of God, that the people would have been ready to cross the border with faith, zest and enthusiasm.
But instead, they failed utterly.

They murmured against Moses and Aaron. They questioned the wisdom of God in bringing them up out of Egypt. They questioned His ability to preserve them. They proposed to elect new leaders and return to Egypt. It was only by the intercession of Moses that they were saved from extinction.

If a people ever had cause to be patient in view of the divine blessings, they were the children of Israel. For 430 years they had sojourned in Egypt and their number had increased from 70 to some 600,000 men besides the children and the mixed multitude who went along with them. They had been completely delivered—they together with their flocks and herds and very much cattle. Moreover, they had seen an army of their hateful enemy completely destroyed by waters of the Red Sea which, a little while before, had given them friendly passage on dry ground. Then, too, they had been led by the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night and had looked upon the glory of Jehovah as it had been manifested on Mt. Sinai. In truth the people had every reason to have implicit faith in Jehovah and in His plans for their ultimate restoration to the land of promise.

Moses tarried long in the mountain in fellowship with Jehovah.
The people grew impatient and decided they wanted gods which they could see and which would go before them as they went out from Sinai. Consequently they called upon Aaron, who instead of sharp words of rebuke, fashioned for them an image, a golden calf, that they might worship it.
The idolatrous practices of the people that followed were abhorrent to contemplate. It was a time of loathsome revelry and mock worship as the people offered burnt offerings and brought peace offerings in sheer idolatry.

Another evidence of unbelief was the sending of spies into the land of Palestine to bring back a report. It would appear that both the Lord and Moses approved of this move. They permitted it, but they did not originate the idea. There was no need for a spying expedition to bring back a report. The Lord had reported on the land while they were yet in Egypt. They had had evidence of God's power to meet any emergency. So long as the Lord dwelt in their midst they need not fear.
But blind unbelief is sure to err and scan His ways in vain.

Their heart was set upon it, so they were permitted to send twelve men. These men returned from visiting the land of Canaan and ten of them reported that it would be impossible to take possession of the land because of the difficulties in the way. They did not overlook the richness of the land and how desirable it was for a habitation, but they allowed their fear of the dangers to push aside their desire. The report influenced the people and there was an air of discouragement evident as the murmuring began and the complaints of the people were voiced. There was sadness and weeping.

Moses and Aaron took the complaints of the people as a personal matter. They tried to show the people that there was no purpose in their minds of the people but the highest and that the report of the spies was not to be a source of discouragement. Their pleadings were that Israel should not turn against God but should let Him lead them out.

Then the two spies, Caleb and Joshua, who had a different opinion to give the people presented their conception of the Promised Land and declared their ability to occupy it. They took God into account as they reckoned on their ability to conquer Canaan and take possession of the land. It was God's pleasure for them to dwell in that good land and He would see to it that they were able to drive out the inhabitants even if they were giants living in walled cities. The plea of the two God-trusting spies was that they should not act as rebels against the Lord, but should stand ready to advance as He directed.
They believed that the Canaanites would have no power to resist them if they went forward in the name of the Lord.

Israel was not lacking in enough leaders who depended on God to make it possible for them to become possessors of the good land.
What was absent was a willingness to conform to the plans of these leaders. At least four men were united in opinion as to the wise course to take. Moses, Aaron, Caleb and Joshua foresaw victory if they went ahead, because they believed that it was the will of God that they should do so.

GRANDSTANDING...

by Dick Millman

About one year ago, we wrote a story that started something like this:

"The word around the Southwestern conference this year is 'Watch Muskegon.'"

Well, that same word is out again. Reports coming our way indicate that the Big Reds are loaded for the coming conference basketball season.

Loaded with top-notch, tall material, Coach Tom McShannock's crew appears to be the logical successor to the kingpin position enjoyed by Kalamazoo the last few years. That is, if a successor is forthcoming this year.

Although Kazoo Coach Bob Quiring lost most of his first returnees to help out. The Maroon Giants carried a large squad through the season last year, and Bill Stueffbergen will be around to spearhead the attack. Other top prospects are six-foot-plus Ron Harder, Terry Nye and Terry Husband.

Besides Earl Morrill and Don Rademaker, both at six-two, Muskegon has a newcomer in Merle Bright, six-four center, who transferred in this year. And Muskegon had a co-championship reserve team last year, with plenty of height and speed.

Grand Haven might pull up into the race, with six lettermen backed by three regulars, Dick Berg, Nick Essenyi and Bob Klukos. But lack of height will prove troublesome to Coach Steve Sluka's charges.

Benton Harbor, with only a mediocre team last season, received new blood this fall when its two leading scorers were lost for the season. Roger Findley was stricken with polio, and John Benning is in South America. Varsity men returning for Coach Don Farnum include Frank Valle, Bill Grahl and Gene Michael.

Muskegon Heights Coach Oakie Johnson has troubles, too. Only center Louis McMurray is back from last year's squad, and an almost complete building job faces the Tiger mentor.

Holland will be out to move up the ladder from last year's third place finish behind Kalamazoo and Muskegon. With four lettermen back, plus help from last season's co-championship reserve team, Coach Fred Weiss' charges might very well turn the Southwestern conference race into a three or four-way scramble.

Tom Carey, counted on for considerable duty with the Holland high basketball team this year, will not be able to play this sea-

Raterink Named

honorary co-captain of the Michigan State Junior Varsity football team, it was revealed today.

Raterink, a freshman performer who sparked the Zeeland high squad to two undefeated seasons while a prep star, was a stand-out backfield man for Coach Dan Devine's Spartan Jayvees, who won three of four games played.

Carl Nystrom of Marquette, was named co-captain with Raterink.
The Jayvees hold victories this season over Selfridge Field, Michigan and Ohio State, while losing of the two teams.

Eagle Released
At Swan Creek

Allegan (Special) — It wasn't exactly the Eagle Rock station staff did some fast stepping around for an eagle Tuesday.

The event was release to freedom of the young American bald eagle penned at the wildlife station while his wounded wings healed.

Having never released an eagle before, station manager Orland Haugen and Biologist Clayton Doville didn't know just what "Baldy" would do when he found his door open.

What he did do was step out and casually look around. Then he glided into a smooth take-off for a tall tree. He made a poor landing and got one of his nearly three-foot wings caught on a branch.

It was the first flight test since the bird several weeks ago in Allegan State Forest.

Haugen and Doville, anxious to photograph the unusual incident, followed "Baldy" about the clearing. Finally the big bird made a final swoop and was gone into the duck marsh nearby.

His wings seemed to be working fine. But his presence was going to rattle the Mallards for a while.

Ministers Meet
At North Holland

The Ministers' Social circle of the classis of Holland met Monday afternoon in North Holland Reformed church. The meeting was in charge of the president, the Rev. Jacob Brouwer.

Opening devotions were in charge of the Rev. Ellsworth Ten Clay and the Rev. Henry Van Dyke. Missionary guests present were the Rev. William Angus and Miss Jean Nienhuis of China. Mr.
Angus told of the enthusiasm of the western churches for missions during his recent mission trip.

The president spoke of the rapid growth of the churches of Canada under the auspices of the Reformed church. From 18,000 to 20,000 people will come next year to the Netherlands in a program sponsored by the Canadian government. He spoke of the fine leadership and said it was more like transplanting a church instead of building a new church.

Leaders anticipate no language problem because each minister after preaching the sermon in the Holland language gives a resume in English.

Miss Nienhuis spoke of the praying church at home and attributed the safekeeping of the missionaries to that fact.

Don Lubbers, student ambassador, explained the experiment in international living which sent a number of students abroad last summer to ascertain the culture and present conditions among the peoples of western Europe. He felt that America had disregarded her opportunity for leadership in the first World War. "Now we have accepted it at the close of the second war," he said. He showed how the world needs this leadership, both materially and spiritually, but felt that the fact America was trying to teach democracy through the military way was the poorest way available.

"We must share our freedoms and faith with other nations," he said. He deplored the lack of faith and idealism among the youth in Europe today.

The closing prayer was offered by Rev. Brouwer. Hosts and hostesses for the day were Rev. and Mrs. Ten Clay, Rev. and Mrs. Van Dyke and Rev. and Mrs. John Vander May.

Ottawa County 4-H Orchestra to Play at Round-Up

Participating Units Must Turn in Reports Before Dec. 1 Deadline

With reports from participating groups due in offices of county agricultural agents Dec. 1, plans are shaping up for the Round-Up entertainment Dec. 27 of the 1951 West Michigan Farm-to-Prosper Contest.

Jud Branderhorst, of route 3, Holland, writes that his Ottawa County 4-H orchestra again will provide the half hour's opening concert. The orchestra has been popular in three previous appearances.

"I believe I can give you something entirely different this year," Jud writes. "Besides our 4-H orchestra we have four pretty girls dressed in authentic Dutch costumes dancing the well-loved Klompen dance. Our special version is 'Come, Come to the Fair.'"

"It certainly went over with a bang at the Michigan State Fair and the governor's banquet for Michigan Queens. Marilyn Maxwell of the stage and screen thought they were great. I feel sure you will like them."

WHILE ALL numbers for the entertainment program have not yet been booked, the "Harman-Jacks" of Newaygo county will sing. This 4-H quartet has come into prominence since its talent was uncovered last spring in the statewide Fun Festival promoted by the state 4-H office.

The accordion section of Mrs. Del Lankfer's Oceana county 4-H band has been asked to provide a number, with perhaps other members of the band providing luncheon music.

A GIRL'S group from Jack Bryan's dance studio, Muskegon, will provide a number. Those attending last year's Round-Up will remember the Haan twin brothers.

Hospital Needs New X-Ray Unit, Council Is Told

The need for a new x-ray unit at Holland hospital was presented to Common Council at its regular meeting Wednesday night. A communication from the Hospital board revealed that such a unit would cost approximately $15,000 and that a request would be forthcoming for council approval of the purchase, contingent upon a report of a special committee appointed to consider means of obtaining the funds. There is no such allocation for such a purchase in the hospital budget. The communication was filed.

Council approved a request from the Board of Public Works for a contract with Carroll, Bechtel and Langtry to place the engineering service still needed at the new plant addition on the basis of a per cent fee rather than a per diem basis as at present. Approval also was given a Haven-Busch contract for 30 tons of structural steel at $290 a ton, plus $1,436.80 for concrete work.

City Manager H. C. McClintock presented a semi-monthly estimate of the amount due the Michigan Colprovia Co. on West 21st St. paying from Washington to Ottawa in the amount of $8,517. This is the final payment except for the 15 per cent withheld until the job is finished.

McClintock also reported that George Sidwell of Lansing who has been retained by Holland city to recodify ordinances spent a day in Holland recently to study local ordinances.

Approval was given an application from Jacob Klomprens to operate a restaurant at 316 River Ave., formerly the B and G drive-in.

A petition containing 12 signatures requesting paving of West 19th St. from Harrison to Cleveland was referred to the city manager and city engineer for study and report.

Council approved a request from the mothers of World War II to sell pointsettias from 6 p.m. Dec. 7 to 6 p.m. Dec. 8.

A communication from the Michigan Municipal League giving the schedule for new membership dues and listing the next billing for Holland next July 1 at $407 was referred to the city manager and city clerk for inclusion in the next fiscal year budget.

The 24-hour meeting adjourned after Mayor Harry Harrington wished all aldermen and city officials a happy Thanksgiving. All aldermen were present. City Inspector Ben Wiersma gave the invocation.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Projects

Several projects were adopted by members of the American Legion Auxiliary at their regular meeting Monday evening at the Legion club house.

The group decided to participate in a state-wide project to provide sums of money to non-pensioners at all veterans hospitals. The local group's share will be about $10, it was announced.

Plans were made to send Christmas baskets to all local veterans in hospitals and to send Christmas baskets to needy veterans' families. They also decided to donate $5 for the tuberculosis fund drive. The Auxiliary again will sponsor the Americanism essay contest, offering prizes of $10 and $5 in the senior high school division and $5 and $3 in the junior high division.

The next meeting will be Dec. 17, a Christmas potluck with each member bringing her own table service and a dish for the table. The bus will leave the City Hall at 6 p.m. Each member will bring a 50 cent gift.

Marine Pfc. Harold Franken, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Franken, 315 East 11th St., Holland, was promoted to his present rank upon graduation from "boot camp" today. Franken won the marksmanship medal on the rifle range with a score of 204 out of a possible 250. Franken, entered the Marine Corps Sept. 12 and was employed at the H. J. Gas Heating Units Sold by Essenburg

A full line of gas heating equipment is sold by Essenburg Electric Co., 51 West Eighth St. The Timken silent automatic conversion gas burner and the Janitrol gas heating equipment are handled by Mike Essenburg, owner and manager.

The Timken silent automatic improved principle of burning gas has been tested and proved through several heating seasons in thousands of homes throughout the country. The burner has only a single port through which the gas-air mixture is introduced into the heating plant. The blue-hot flames are scientifically deflected to all sides of the combustion chamber by a chrome-iron deflector. For this reason, the burner is described as a wall-flame burner.

The Janitrol heating equipment line includes air conditioners, forced air units, gravity furnaces, boilers—steam and hot water, triple service hot water systems and unit heaters.

Essenburg Electric Co., which has been in heating business 21 years, also handles Duo-Therm and Temco heating units. Other items sold at the store are gas stoves, refrigerators and electrical appliances.

The company engages in servicing and repairing motors and electrical appliances and does commercial and industrial wiring. Anything you might want in the line of electrical appliances can be obtained at the store where Mr. Essenburg displays his stock.

Soil Conservation Group Reviews Progress, Plans

Grand Haven (Special)—Stanley Locke, regional forester in the Milwaukee soil conservation office, and Richard Van Tebra, chief of operations, spent two days recently in the West Ottawa Soil Conservation district reviewing progress made in handling land utilization by the West Ottawa district board of directors.

These men visited many of the 6,200 acres of public lands and men with Paul Slabaugh, district forester, to plan future developments.

At the present time, much of this public land has been planted with trees. Last fall, more than 131,000 trees were planted to make a total of 2,475,450 trees since the project was started.

Many people are unaware of this land-use program, according to L. R. Arnold, secretary of the board.

Some years are this land was picked up because it lay idle. Some of it included bare drifting sand and this now has been stabilized through planting of beach grass. Trees will be planted in this beach grass during the next two or three years. All developments on this public land should be completed within the next five years.

Directors feel that this program will bring a permanent forest area to Ottawa county for future generations to enjoy.

A group already is rehearsing each Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. in room 2 of the Junior high building. More are needed.

City Bus Fare May Be Increased To Fifteen Cents

Mayor Names Group To Study Proposal; Better Bus Service

Bus fare in Holland may be increased to 15 cents with 10 cents for children under 12 if a special committee to be appointed by Mayor Harry Harrington recommends such an increase, according to action taken by Common Council Wednesday night.

Should the increase be granted, better bus service also is in prospect with residents from most areas having access to service almost every 20 minutes. This involves re-routing whereby buses return on parallel streets instead of making a wide circle of the town. Transfers also are being considered.

Decision to turn the matter over to a committee came after a discussion on a petition from John Vander Kolk, owner of the Holland City Bus lines who in addition to asking an increase in fares also asked the right to sell lot fares at the rate of four rides for 50 cents, as well as a complete re-routing.

On question of Alderman Raymond Holwerda, Vander Kolk said he would give proper consideration for transportation of school students.

In other business, the special committee studying the reopening of East Ninth St. reported a meeting on Nov. 27 and said a report would be forthcoming at the next meeting.

By a vote of 7 to 4, Council approved an amended motion recommending insurance coverage be increased on certain buildings, but rejected a recommendation that 50 per cent of the commission be allocated to the Holland Association of Insurance Agents. Insurance coverage on the hospital building is set at $488,000 and on hospital contents at $72,000. Insurance on general city property is to be increased by $177,000 and BPW by $139,700.

The committee also recommended that protection for the City Compensation Insurance reserve funds be provided to cover legal liability of the city in any one account of more than $20,000. At the request of the Board of Education, boiler insurance coverage on Lincoln school was increased $5,000 to $25,000.

The city manager and city engineer presented a report outlining the tentative system of trunks, major streets and local streets, substantiated by a map setting forth such streets. But council was reluctant to approve the report without further study and decided to hold an adjourned meeting next Wednesday at 7 p.m. so that the necessary resolutions may be adopted in time to submit them to the state highway commission Dec. 1. The program laid out listed 44.18 miles of major streets and 31.05 miles of local streets.

The city manager also presented a report on resurfacing River and Michigan Aves. from 13th to 28th Sts., giving the total estimated cost of $35,000, with the city's share under the Dykstra act at $6,510. Council adopted the necessary resolution for resurfacing and authorized the expenditure from the gas and weight tax fund to meet the city's portion of the cost of improvement. The next step will be to work out plans with the state highway commission.

Council also adopted resolutions abandoning US-31 north of Eighth St. and adopted recommendations classifying boundary streets as major streets in the city.

Jason De Vries
.... now playing with Army eleven in Germany

Former Holland Football Player Now Performing With Army Squad

Husky Jason De Vries, who used to perform regularly on Holland gridirons, now is playing football with the 43rd division team in Germany.

The service grid team went right along with the 43rd division which arrived overseas two weeks ago. The squad played three games at Camp Pickett, Va., this fall, before shipping out.

De Vries plays guard and wears the same old number 40—the number he had for three years with the independent Holland Hurricanes.

Competition for the team was terrific. Jason related when he was home on furlough in September. About 250 candidates showed up for the first practice, including several former college players. But the Holland gridders made the team. Now several more games with teams in Germany are lined up for this year's schedule.

Jason went into service in October, 1950, and now is assigned to a signal company with the 43rd, doing work similar to that he performed before being inducted.

GRANDSTANDING...

by Dick Millman
Selection of quarterback Ron Schipper as the most valuable player on the Hope football team capped a season that saw the chipper Schipper turn in an outstanding performance.

Besides directing the Hope offense that helped win a share of the MIAA title, the Zeeland quarterback also compiled an impressive personal record. In the nine games on the Hope schedule, Schipper tossed 70 passes good for 1,176 yards. His completion record was almost 50 per cent, with his 70 completions coming on 142 attempts.

Besides his accurate passing, Schipper was the balance wheel of the number one Hope backfield. When the season started, Skip was the only experienced backfield performer on the first string. With his signal calling and strong direction, he molded the running talents of freshmen John Hamilton, Jim Willyard and newcomer Zeke Piersma—plus his own deadly aerial arm—into a devastating and feared offense.

Besides that, his driving spirit was evident both on the playing field and the practice field. Although the strength of the Hope eleven this year was based on team play and group effort, Schipper's value to the team was evident to all those who watched him perform. His selection as most valuable was a wise choice.

The football Staggs have added another feather to their caps with an undefeated season for tiny Susquehanna college.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, Sr., assistant coach of Susquehanna, Stagg, Jr., is a summer resident of Holland and his famous father visits his cottage near Castle Park several times each year.

Susquehanna closed out a six-game perfect season by defeating Ursinus, 19-14, last week-end.

Just notes—Quarterback and captain Earl Morrill was chosen as most valuable player on the Muskegon high squad this year. Edward C. Filstrup, 65-year-old Benton Harbor manufacturer who died of a heart attack while deer hunting last week, and his brother, A. W. Filstrup who died in 1939, donated the football field at Benton Harbor high school to the school. The Filstrup brothers were close followers of high school and Southwestern conference sports. The Benton Harbor field still bears the name of its donors—"Filstrup Field."

Tuls Selects Team To Start Against Muskegon Invader

Holland Christian's cage squad will run through light drills this afternoon in preparation for its opening basketball contest with Muskegon Christian at the Holland Armory Friday night. The tilt is the first of a rugged 18-game schedule for the Maroons this season.

Coach Art Tuls has been drilling his club hard for the last two weeks in an effort to find a starting combination. Forming the nucleus for this year's lineup is forward Tony Diekema and Center Jim Kok. Diekema is about 5' 11" while Kok stands 6'3". The local mentor reports more speed this season with a definite increase in height. Lack of height has bothered the Dutch considerably the last few seasons, especially against the bigger class A opponents.

One bit of bad news comes out of the Maroon camp this week. Earl Schipper, a veteran of considerable experience last year and counted on for a starting forward berth this year, turned up with a broken finger Monday. He will be out of action at least 10 days and probably will miss the first three games, Tuls reported. Schipper, a fine passer and backboard man, stands about 6'2". Taking his place will be Jack Borr, another letterwinner with some game experience. He is 6'1" and will come in for his share of rebound work.

At the guard spots Friday night will be David Schreier, a letterwinner who stands about six foot. He saw little action last year, but has shown improved form so far this season. Pairing with Schreier at the other guard position will be Merle Van Dyke, the smallest man of the starting five and the only one with no varsity experience. He is about 5'10" and comes up from the reserve squad.

The locals will face a formidable opponent in Muskegon Christian. Coached by Elmer Walcott, ex-Holland Christian performer, the Vikings come to Holland with nearly an all-veteran club. Last year the Hollanders downed the Muskies twice, but only after tough battles. In 1950-51 the Muskegon squad captured the state district crown and were defeated in the semi-finals of the regional tournament.

The reserve squads of the two schools will square off at 6:30 p.m. with the main event scheduled for 8 p.m.

Maroon Reserves Set for Opener

Coach John Ham of the Holland Christian reserve squad announced his starting lineup today for the opening clash with the Muskegon Christian reserve club Friday night at the Armory.

The Maroon mentor named Ron Myrick, a 6' 3" sophomore to start at center. He has seen relatively little action, and will be out to prove himself at the post Friday night. At the forwards will be two experienced performers, Ron Nykamp and Dick Lenters. Nykamp is a good sized pivotman and saw considerable action on the reserve squad last season.

Lenters also has some experience. Two inexperienced ninth graders will occupy the guard positions. They are John Mulder and Junior Bursma. Both boys are fast and could lend speed to the "set up" Christian offense. Others slated for action are Herb Wybenga, Bill Vryhof, Sylvan Disselkoen and Carl Edwards.

The reserves have been working out for about three weeks and Ham says it is still too early to tell what kind of a season to expect. "Most of the boys are inexperienced and we never know what they can do until they get in a ball game," Ham said.

He was hunting with Gordon and Harold "Duff" Dangremont and Dr. M. H. Hamelink of Holland.

The group returned home Saturday night.

Dance tickets will be distributed among the organizations for sale to the public, chairmen said.

Here is an architect's sketch of the proposed new fine arts center for Hope college, part of the million-dollar Century of Service campaign which got under way in Holland at a kickoff meeting Monday at 7 p.m. in Carnegie gymnasium. Holland's share in the total is $150,000. Other projects listed are a dormitory for men, improvements to Carnegie gymnasium, and utilization of the historical Van Raalte homestead and grounds.

Mayor Emphasizes Value Of College to Holland

The following message comes from Mayor Harry Harrington who heads the men's division for the Hope College Century of Service campaign which has a goal of $1,000,000 for new buildings on Hope campus. Mrs. George E. Kollen heads the women's division. Both talked briefly at a kickoff meeting Monday at 7 p.m. in Carnegie gym.

By Mayor Harrington
If Hope college were to pack up and leave town, it would be taking more than a million dollars a year out of the city.

More than that, it would cost hundreds of local families many hundreds of thousands of extra dollars to send their sons and daughters out of town to college. And think of the cultural void that would be created if Hope college should take its students and faculty and facilities elsewhere! But we don't need to think of such dire prospects. Hope college has been with us for a hundred years, and it is now starting its second Century of Service with every intention of being an ever increasing community asset.

It is an appropriate time for Holland to take stock of what this cultural center means to the community. Too long have we been content to take Hope college for granted, basking in its favors without counting our blessings.

There are no landmarks on the campus to show that Holland, as a civic group, is interested in the growth and development of Hope college. Instead, we are reminded by the Van Vleck, Voorhees, Winants, Graves and Carnegie cornerstones that Holland has had a strong college through the generosity of others who have no local attachments.

Hope college has never been on easy street. It's been a century of struggle for this local institution, born with the beginning of Holland, to acquire its buildings and to serve its students with an education far below the bare cost.

But you have never seen Hope college complain. Nor has it ever made itself a burden to the community. It has given of itself sacrificially without once having asked its community for any sacrifices.

It is in the hearts of many people in Holland that more should be done for our college in the way of support and appreciation. That privilege is now to be extended on a community-wide basis, for it is here in Holland that Hope college will inaugurate its national campaign for a million dollars with which to catch up on its pressing needs. It will be another million dollar addition for Holland to enjoy, with as little as a fifth of that for Holland to contribute.

Stimulated and encouraged by Holland's participation in this Century of Service campaign, the rest of Hope's friends and adherents elsewhere in the country can be counted on to help with more generous heart.

The end purpose of this campaign is not, of course, the million dollars. Hope college could use that million in its endowment fund, but even surpassing that need is the one for a new dormitory for men, a new fine arts center to properly house the music, art and drama departments, improvements to Carnegie Gym for the advancement of the physical education program, and a rehabilitation of the Van Raalte homestead property for inclusion in the college activities. These projects, and the needs they cover, will be treated in detail in a brochure now under preparation; for the present they are mentioned by way of showing that Holland will have something big and tangible to benefit from as a result of this campaign.

Strictly as a business proposition, Holland should find just reason for doing its bit in this campaign. Not only will it have at least a dollar return for each 20 cents it gives, but it will also be a party to making Hope college a still greater community asset.

Death Claims

John Hekman, 65, In Grand Rapids

Grand Rapids—John Hekman, 65, who started his career as a house-to-house cookie salesman and became operator of the biggest bakeries in Michigan, died Friday afternoon in his home. He had been in good health until a few months ago and had returned home Nov. 15 from the Mayo Brothers clinic at Rochester, Minn., where he had gone for surgery in October.

He was president and general manager of the Hekman Biscuit Co. and vice president, director and a member of the executive committee of United Biscuit Co.

He was born in a little town in Groningen, the Netherlands, Oct. 24, 1886, and came to Grand Rapids with his parents when he was six years old. His father, Edsko, had expected to work in a furniture factory, but the family arrived during a panic and the father soon was baking cookies in the kitchen of the rented home. Two sons, Edsko, 12, and John, 6, sold cookies throughout the neighborhood from a second-hand baby buggy. Seven years later the father moved his shop to Grandville Ave. where the business remained until the big plant was completed on the South Belt Line in 1948.

Hekman left school in the eighth grade to work for his father and when he was 19, the father quit the retail business and made cookies exclusively for the wholesale trade. In 1907, John's older brothers, Edsko and Henry, went to Denver for their health and John became his father's chief assistant. The business grew steadily.

With the death of the father and two sons, Edsko and Henry, the business was operated by the brothers John and Jelle. They launched the Hekman Furniture Co. in Grand Rapids in 1922 and the Hekman Rusk Co. in Holland a few years later. In 1928, the brothers sold the bakery to United Biscuit and John became vice president and director of the concern, later being elected to the executive committee.

He also was an officer and director of furniture and rug enterprises and a director of Peoples National bank for 15 years.

Throughout his busy life, he gave generously of his time and means to church, civic and charitable enterprises. He contributed generously to Calvin college and Hekman Memorial library and the seminary building were Hekman family gifts.

In 1947, he received a silver Medal of Gratitude for his efforts in raising funds for the rehabilitation of the Netherlands, after World War II. It came from Queen Wilhelmina through Ambassador Alexander Loudon.

Surviving are the wife; a brother, Jelle; a son, Edward; a daughter, Mrs. Samuel Tamminga of Grand Rapids, and seven grandchildren.

Eisenhower, Lt. Gov. Vandenberg Both Somewhat in the Same Boat Contacted in Holland by The Sentinel, Lt. Gov. Vandenberg had this to say:

"If I had any thinking in my own heart and mind I wouldn't announce it before February or March of 1952."

Lansing (UP) — Michigan Republican leaders are getting more and more itchy to know the future political plans of Lt. Gov. William C. Vandenberg of Holland.

State GOP chiefs are almost as concerned about Vandenberg's intentions as national leaders are over the Eisenhower mystery.

Vandenberg is a potential candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination next year and whether or not he decides to make the race will have heavy bearing on future party developments.

Thus far, the lieutenant governor has not dropped a hint about his plans and he has become the subject of all sorts of state capitol guessing games.

"It's still too early to make any plans," Vandenberg says.

Quietly, he has told his closest friends that he won't announce any decision until sometime during the approaching legislative session which begins in January.

The only announced candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination so far is Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr. Vandenberg has at least three options. He can challenge Alger for the governorship nomination or dive into the race for the U. S. senate nomination, opposing Auditor General John B. Martin, Jr., who has announced his candidacy for the post now held by Democratic Sen. Blair Moody. Or, Vandenberg can run again for his present job as lieutenant governor.

Some political observers believe Vandenberg could take his pick and win any race.

Two years ago Vandenberg proved his vote-getting ability when he scored a resounding 100,000-vote victory over the previous Democratic incumbent lieutenant governor, John Connolly.

He made his first bid for public office in 1944, winning election as state senator from the Ottawa-Muskegon district. Vandenberg won re-election in 1946 and 1948 before he bid for the lieutenant governorship in 1950.

That's why Vandenberg's decision may influence state politics almost as much as Eisenhower's affects the national GOP.
