City Not Easy For Shoplifters

Holland is not an easy city for the shoplifter to work. But, using the methods employed by the professional shoplifter, two Flint detectives Monday night picked up $450 worth of merchandise in about an hour from downtown Holland stores.

Detective sergeant Herbert Adams and detective Marvin Anderson the specialists in detecting shoplifters. They have studied shoplifters' methods and tricks; they know how the shoplifter works.

The two men conducted a seminar on shoplifting detection at the Hotel Warm Friend Tuesday, sharing some of their knowledge of the shoplifter with approximately 90 Holland merchants and store clerks.

The hour-long seminar included demonstrations of dozens of known methods used by the shoplifter, both professional and amateur.

The high point of the seminar, however, was the unveiling of the loot the detectives had taken from Holland stores Monday night. The loot included a television set, fur-collared lady's coat and an automobile tire, along with numerous small items such as jewelry and hose.

All of the items taken by the pair were returned. Store managers had been informed by Holland police that Adams and Anderson would be in their stores. Clerks, however, were not aware of the shoplifting detection test being carried out by the two policemen.

The “oh's” and “ah's” from those attending Tuesday's seminar was ample testimony to the test's effectiveness and the secrecy with which it was conducted.

In spite of the large collection of items the two men got away with, they said Holland was a difficult town for shoplifters to operate in, especially for the amateur or would-be shoplifter.

Adams and Anderson said they were reported to the manager of one store by an alert clerk, and that in several other stores clerks kept them under constant watch.

The ironic part of the demonstration was that some stores which were hardest hit had no one attending the shoplifting detection seminar Tuesday. In addition, Holland police reported that not one of the stores which were “victimized” by Adams and Anderson had notified police of shoplifting activity.

The 90 persons who attended the seminar, however, left with a new awareness of the shoplifting problem and will be better able to cope with it, especially during the busy holiday shopping season.

The seminar was sponsored jointly by the Holland chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police and the downtown merchants division of the Holland Chamber of Commerce.

Adams and Anderson appeared in Holland with the special permission of Flint Police Chief George Paul. The pair has conducted similar seminars in cities throughout the state.

Postal Hints Listed for Christmas

Faced with the almost certainty that the 1964 Christmas season will set an all-time record for mailing Christmas cards and gift parcels, Postmaster Louis A. Haight today sought cooperation in the “Mail Early for Christmas” program.

Grateful for cooperation shown last year, the local post office staff has listed the following suggestions:

PARCELS: pack, wrap and tie your parcels securely by using corrugated boxes, heavy wrapping paper and strong string. A card containing the name and addressee should be placed inside the parcel. You may mark your parcels “Do Not Open Before Christmas.” We recommend that valuable parcels which are properly wrapped and packed be insured.

Parcels sent to the west coast, east coast and deep south should be mailed by Dec. 7. Mail “close-in” parcels no later than Dec. 11.

CHRISTMAS CARDS: Be sure to place your return address in the upper left hand corner including your ZIP CODE number which is 49423. By doing this your friends may update their mailing lists for next year. Update your mailing list too by noting the ZIP CODE number of your friends.

May we suggest that you send your cards first class using the new 5-cent Christmas stamp. First class cards will be forwarded in the event of a change of address or returned to you if undeliverable and your return is shown. Personal notes may also be added to cards sent at the first class rate.

Cards sent at the third class rate (4-cents) will not be forwarded in the event of a change in address and will not be returned if undeliverable. They may not be sealed or carry a personal note. Mail cards for delivery to the west coast, east coast and deep south by Dec. 10. Mail cards for delivery “close-in” by the 13th and locals by the 15th. By following the schedule your “out-of-town” cards will be on their way before cards from “out-of-town” arrive at the Holland post office. In this way we can first concentrate on outgoing mails and then on incoming mails.

Please write plainly! Be sure to address your mail by correct house number, street, city, state, and ZIP CODE. This is important.

Beginning, Monday, Dec. 7 windows at the Holland post office will be open daily from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. (including Saturdays, Dec. 12 and 19) for sale of stamps and acceptance of parcels. Stamps may be purchased and parcels mailed at postal stations located in Wade's Drug Store, 166 West 13th Street and Dykstra's Drug Store at 149 North River Ave.

If you expect to receive large quantities of mail during this season may we suggest you place a container near your regular mail box for easier delivery by the carrier. This will also prevent your cards from being crushed or bent.

Use the LOCAL and OUT OF TOWN labels. Please separate your letters for Local (Holland and Holland rural routes) and OUT OF TOWN bundles, place correct label on bundle and tie with string for deposit in the mails. More labels are available at the Post Office.

Rule Out Bible Reading During School Hours

By George Zarzy
GRAND RAPIDS — A federal judge decided late Monday that Bible reading and prayers in a Grand Rapids suburban school system will be on a temporary take-it-or-leave-it basis.

Ordering a temporary set of rules on the long-standing controversy involved some of the Jenison School District parents and the Board of Education, Judge Noel P. Fox issued a directive that:

—Allowed 1,168 pupils in the Ottawa County community to “optionally engage” in Bible readings and prayers, but, with the stipulation that these religious activities are conducted outside of school hours.

—Set ground rules pending a full-scale trial triggered by nine parents seeking an injunction aimed at blocking Bible reading and prayers during regular school hours.

No Increase Immediately For Deputies

GRAND HAVEN — Sheriff Bernard Gysen of Ottawa county, seeking wage increases in his department, to meet a crisis among his deputies, was denied any immediate increases at a special meeting with three committees of the board of supervisors Monday afternoon in the supervisors room at the county building.

Gysen had a previous meeting with the sheriff's committee, which informed him that it would take a two-thirds vote of the entire board to change salaries at this time. Two men have resigned, both “key” men in his department, he said, and several others may quit to seek private employment because they cannot make a living wage working for the county.

The matter was referred to the officers and salaries committee and the ways and means committee, which met with the sheriff's committee Monday. Both Supervisor Henry G. Slaughter, of Lamont, chairman of the ways and means committee, and city manager R. V. Terrill of Grand Haven, chairman of the officers committee, told Gysen that no increases can be made at this time.

After discussing the problem two hours the group voted to ask Terrill to contact agencies that review salary schedules and seek a review of county salaries in time for the April board of supervisors. The board will be asked to approve such a study at the January session. The agency will be asked to make a special study of salaries in the sheriff's department, comparing them with schedules in similar departments. The possibility of covering employees in Ottawa with hospitalization benefits will also be investigated.

Mayor Nelson Bosman of Holland, a member of the sheriff's committee, said Sheriff Gysen should have revealed his plight earlier. He said committee meetings with heads of departments in connection with budget study last October revealed no such difficulties, nor was any discontent voiced at the public hearing on the budget a day before it was adopted. Such public hearings are required under the new state constitution.

Bosman added that any consideration for the sheriff's budget poses similar situations with other departments. He said any readjustments would be doubly difficult in view of the new welfare setup in which the county operates the program instead of sharing welfare costs with other governmental units. He said severe cuts were made in some parts of the budget to provide for welfare funds, slated in the budget at some $170,000.

He added that sheriff's department appropriations have been increasing steadily over a period of years and the total at present exceeds $200,000 a year.

M-50 Now Changed To M-45

Highway M-50 between Grand Rapids and US-31 in Ottawa county is being renumbered as M-45, the State Highway Department in Lansing said today.

Highway department crews currently are replacing the M-50 route markers with M-45 signs. About 35 miles of M-50 is being re-signed with the new number.

The project begins at US-31 near Agnew in Ottawa county, about 12 miles north of Holland, and ends at I-96 east of Grand Rapids. Existing M-50 signs on about 12 miles of I-96 from Grand Rapids east to the Lowell interchange also will be removed to eliminate dual signing.

When the signing project is completed, M-45 will begin at I-96 and Cascade Rd., east of Grand Rapids, cross through the city and end at US-31 near Agnew.

M-50 will begin at I-96 and go southeasterly to Charlotte and Jackson on to Monroe where it ends.

Farabee, Onk Receive Honors at West Ottawa

Senior Dave Farabee and junior John Onk have been honored by members of the West Ottawa football team.

Farabee, 5'11", 170-pound halfback, was named the Panthers' most valuable player while Onk, 5'10", 165-pound tackle, was elected captain of the 1965 West Ottawa team.

The selections were announced today by Coach Ron Wetherbee following an election Friday by members of the West Ottawa team. Both players will be honored at the annual all-sports banquet held at West Ottawa next spring.

Wetherbee called Farabee "the best player both offensively and defensively on the team." "He was called on to get the yards in key situations and he got them," Wetherbee said.

This was Farabee's third season on the varsity. He was the team's leading rusher, one of the top pass receivers and handled the punting. Farabee's brother, Ben, is a senior end on the Michigan football team.

Onk played tackle for the Panthers this season and kicked the extra points. "His biggest attribute was hustle," Wetherbee said, "and John gave 100 per cent all of the time." Onk succeeds Dave Vitzthum as West Ottawa captain. The Panthers were 5-4 this season.

AAUW Hears Psychologist On Continuing Education

Emphasizing the importance of continuing education for women, Dr. Laurine E. Fitzgerald, a counseling psychologist from Michigan State University, presented an interesting and informative talk at the meeting of the Holland Branch of AAUW Thursday evening in Durfee Hall.

Many cultural myths, such as the myth that a college education is wasted on a girl, still have not been quelled, Dr. Fitzgerald said. Despite the fact that today women have the privilege of voting and the right to own property and many other freedoms, women make up 34.5 per cent of the students on campuses today opposed to 47 per cent during the suffrage years of the 1920s. The percentage of women on college faculties has also dropped from 37 per cent to 12 per cent today. Dr. Fitzgerald said that there has been a great drop in degrees awarded to women in all fields except in the field of elementary education. This field shows an increase of 400 per cent.

Dr. Fitzgerald continued by saying that only one girl out of four attends college and that only one out of three who attends is graduated. The need for continuing education programs to help women finish their degrees and to update their skills is great and is being met by study groups and special programs in many colleges and universities. Women, Dr. Fitzgerald said, need to be self-starters in seeking help in furthering their education.

Although much of the continuing education program is aimed at helping women who are part of the labor market, the speaker mentioned that mothers are the educators of men and also that our society greatly needs the important volunteer services that educated women provide.

The next AAUW meeting will be held Dec. 3 at the home of Mrs. Calvin VanderWerf.

Views From The Campus

James Tallis, Assistant Professor of Music, was added to Hope's faculty this fall after his recent return to the United States from the Netherlands where he had been studying under a Fulbright grant. He received his B. M. from Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y. and his Master of Sacred Music degree from Union Theological Seminary. He had been organist and chaplain's assistant at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point and a teacher at Hastings College, Hastings, Nebr., before going to the Netherlands to study improvisation and harpsichord. Editor's note.)

By James Tallis

Anyone convicted of heresy during the reign of Henry VIII could expect to burn at the stake. But when the composer John Taverner was convicted of such charges, he was fully pardoned. The argument which freed him was that "he was but a Musician."

Though we may be grateful that Taverner survived, we cannot but be a bit saddened by the grounds upon which the judgment was based. It reflects a rather sorry attitude toward music and musicians — an attitude which has in various ways manifested itself since the Middle Ages (when, for example, the town musicians of Basel were forbidden to wear trousers!).

But this was not always so. In ancient Greece the greatest minds devoted their utmost attention to the science of music as a vehicle of reason and as a moral force.

Plato went so far as to write that "education in music is the most sovereign (of the disciplines) because more than anything else rhythm and harmony find their way to the inmost soul — imparting a right mind if one is rightly trained, and otherwise the contrary." Though we might not fully embrace Plato's purely ethical role for music in his social order, we can but marvel at the powers which he assigned to it.

Degeneration was not long in following however, for under Roman dispensation music increased considerably in its connotations of amusement and thus decreased in its intrinsic dignity. It was against this degenerate attitude that St. Augustine, in the 6th century, pleaded that music be reinstated into the elevated community of sciences as it had been in the times of ancient philosophy — as an art that was more than a pleasant play of sounds, and which carried within it the power to move man for good or for evil.

Martin Luther understood this when he wrote, ten centuries later, that "next to the Word of God, only music deserves being extolled as the mistress and governess of human feelings."

Such noble ideals are, alas, seldom considered today, for, like the Romans, we are much too enamored with the sensual sound of music to look beyond. This is not to deny the validity of the entertainment quality of music, for even the most sophisticated mind sometimes feels a desire for distracting pleasure, and music for all degrees of entertainment ought, theoretically, to be available. However, what is too often overlooked — by musician and non-musician, by clergyman, conservatoryman, educator, and school board member — is the fact that there is more to music than that which meets the superficial, half-tuned ear.

What a remarkable thing it would be, for example, if theological seminaries followed Augustine's advice. Perhaps music would again take its rightful place in their curriculum, and some day music in the church might become more an act of worship and less an irrelevant pleasantries.

And what if our liberal arts colleges could see music less as an amusement and more as a discipline with powers to "impart a right mind?" Would so many of them still shrug their would-be professional shoulders at the liberal-conservatory where, in true 19th century European tradition, he is given time to develop his skills, but in relative

Mrs. Arthur Banks Jr., sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a street-length gown of royal blue brocade satin accented with a chiffon shoulder drape. A blue cabbage rose headpiece completed the ensemble and she carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and peach roses.

Thieves Loot Holland Firm

Burglars ransacked the offices of the Edwin Raphael Co. at Roost Ave. and Lakewood Blvd. Thursday night or early Friday and made off with an undetermined amount of cash.

Ottawa County sheriff's deputies said a file cabinet, seven or eight desks, and three vending machines had been forced open. The amount of money taken was not believed to be very large.

Sheriff's officers said entry was gained by prying open a service door on the south side of the building. All offices, located on the east side of the building, had been entered, deputies said, and all desks had been tampered with, some of them having been pried open. The offices lead off a long hall and were unlocked.

A filing room door was forced open, deputies said. The thieves had chopped around the lock on the door until it fell out, and then they smashed open a heavy filing cabinet to get at a cash box inside.

A cigaret and candy vending machine were also forced open and the coin boxes looted. The thieves opened a soft drink machine with a key they had found in one of the offices, deputies said.

Holland Native Tells How Alaskans Unite, Rebuild Area

"Let's get to it and build a bigger and better Alaska," according to Mrs. Robert J. Parr of Ft. Richardson, Alaska, was the key idea which united Alaskans after the devastating earthquake which occurred Good Friday, March 27, 1964.

Mrs. Parr who was in Holland for the past week recalled quake events and told of the rebuilding of the area.

Now eight months later, according to Mrs. Parr, downtown Anchorage (where sections of the city dropped 30 feet and buildings fell to the second floor level) is completely levelled off and there is no outstanding evidence that an earthquake struck.

Business establishments have been relocated on nearby streets and districts on a temporary basis until soil tests can be made to determine if the earth is stable enough to support new buildings.

Mrs. Parr went on to say the five-story J. C. Penney store which was completely destroyed is being rebuilt on the exact spot of the old store. The store will be larger than the one damaged in the quake.

She said at the time of the quake, what merchandise was left was salvaged or taken to places vacated by smaller businessmen who were setting up temporary establishments nearby. The smaller businessmen, according to Mrs. Parr, have relocated their shops and are trying to maintain an active, average business in this interim.

Mrs. Parr said one of the buildings which withstood the quake is the McKinley apartment building in Anchorage. Now resembling the Leaning Tower of Pisa, the building is condemned and bears perfect "x" marks where the fault line of the quake struck. While no one lives in the building, a television station still transmits live coverage from it daily.

The Denali movie house theatre which dropped into a chasm leaving its marquee even with the street has been rebuilt in the Spenard area. The three-story theatre was known for its elaborate interior.

In the hard-hit Turnagain-by-the-Sea residential area, salvageable homes were transferred to nearby areas where they will be relocated. Several such houses are blocked on trailers awaiting their removal. Other houses were completely destroyed, splintered like toothpicks or carried into Cook's Inlet.

Mrs. Parr added several establishments and houses remain tilted at crazy angles due to legal technicalities. She also said the future of some buildings remains in the hands of owners who live out of the state or who are members of corporations who cannot decide whether it would be better to tear the building down and start from scratch or simply refurbish the damaged one.

She continued that in some areas persons were without sewage facilities for as long as three weeks following the quake. Electricity was on in Anchorage within 24 hours after the quake between two and three weeks for lights to be restored.

She added telephone lines were repaired as soon as possible. During the initial tragic hours, a squad car in Anchorage provided first communication between the city and Ft. Richardson.

Mrs. Parr said there is much work to be done but the people are obsessed with this idea of building a bigger and better Alaska and are to be admired for their bravery and courage to come back and rebuild a new Alaska.

Mrs. Parr, the former Genevieve Mrok of Holland, is married to Lt. Col. Robert J. Parr, a battalion commander in Alaska. They have three daughters.

Wed in Kalamazoo

Miss Sharon Nederhoed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Nederhoed, 1045 East Centre Ave., Kalamazoo, became the bride of Sanford R. Zylstra, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zylstra of Coopersville Friday evening Nov. 6, in a ceremony performed in Kalamazoo.

Organ music was played by Mrs. John Griffioen. Soloist was Duane Westrate.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of pea de soie with a fitted bodice frosted with pea de ange lace designed with a scoop neckline and three quarter-length sleeves. The controlled skirt of unpressed pleats was enhanced with appliques of lace on the chapel train. A pill box of pea de soie was accented with pearlized orange blossoms from which fell an elbow-length veil of English illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of red and white roses and feathered white chrysanthemums.

The blue floor-length gowns of the bride's attendants featured controlled skirts and panels which flowed from bows secured in the mid-back. They carried cascades of blue and white carnations and wore matching small round feather headpieces with short veils.

A reception for 200 guests was held in Faith Reformed Church with Mr. and Mrs. William Walcott of Grand Rapids serving as master and mistress of ceremonies.

The newlyweds will make their home at 572 Crescent Ave., Holland. The groom is a social welfare worker for Ottawa County and the bride is employed as staff nurse at Holland Hospital.

'Androcles and the Lion' Delights Capacity Crowd

Hope College's Little Theatre was packed to capacity Thursday night for the first public performance of "Androcles and the Lion," one of George Bernard Shaw's shorter plays, but one packed with humor, subtle and otherwise, and one that thoroughly delighted the audience.

It was the first of three plays this season under the college's new drama director, James J. Malcolm, and the enthusiasm shown set the stage for another top season at the college which in recent years has established a high level of critical dramatic acclaim.

Typical Shavian humor permeated "Androcles," the story of the meek and mild tailor who removed the thorn from the lion's paw in the prologue, and was recognized by the lion in the final act, the arena scene in which Christians were tossed to the lions, thereby sparing him and his fellow doomed Christians.

John Renwick, East Lansing sophomore at Hope, amply filled the title role of the meek, henpecked Androcles, a man of less than heroic proportions more at home with animals than human beings. Linda Patterson made an attractive blonde maned lion in a well designed costume, snarling ferociously but nicely, and doing the whole role in crawling position except for brief moments of two-legged chasing and a touch of choreography.

Dennis Jones made a wonderful Caesar, plump and dissipated, and Glenn Gouwens was a most convincing as the tough short-tempered fighter with rippling muscles whose own philosophies on "turning the other cheek" provided some of the best humor of the play.

Thelma Leenhouts of Holland appeared as the beautiful Lavinia, a member of the Christian band about to be thrown to the lions, and Rick Reitseveld played the Roman captain, in love with Lavinia, who pleaded with her to "burn the incense" and save her own life.

Limitations of a small stage were no barrier to imaginative staging on various levels, providing scenes in the jungle, at the city limits with its highway sign of Route 131, a waiting room at the arena, and the arena scene itself, which provided a series of wild chases even Caesar's escape on a rope ladder.

Director Malcolm was assisted by Robert Wegter as technical director assisted by Robert Hecht.

THERE'S A LIMIT

Every reputable business concern, every editorial office, every person of some prominence, yes, and even the most lowly "Occupant" receives its share of what is called "junk mail." It's just one of life's little irritations which we have to endure and live with in a free country. Not entertaining the notion that just "passing a law" is the remedy for all ills, we don't even entertain the notion to restrict this right of others to impose this upon us. Nevertheless, there is a limit. That point has been reached when the "junk mail" is at the same time "skunk mail."

Congressman "Jerry" Ford's Newsletter of Sept. 23 of this year reports that in June the House passed H.R. 319 "to protect American families against those who would force upon them obscene and indecent material." He further says: "It is designed to permit a parent to remove the names of any member of his family from mailing lists used commercially." All that is necessary to do is for the family to ask the Postmaster-General to notify the sender to cease such mailing which notice, if not heeded, will result in the Postmaster-General filing a formal complaint against the offender. Unfortunately, the Senate has not yet acted upon the House-passed bill. In our judgment, action by the Senate in the next session is overdue.

Sunday School Lesson

The Gospel in Brief
Titus 1:1-3; 2:11-14; 3:4-8a
By C. P. Dame

Paul had many devoted friends, and fellow workers. Two of Paul's workers he called his spiritual sons—Timothy and Titus. He calls Timothy "my dearly beloved son" and Titus "my own son." Our lesson text is from Paul's letter to Titus, a converted Gentile, to whom Paul gave some hard assignments which he accepted and discharged nobly.

I. Hope gives strength. Paul called himself a servant, that is a slave of Jesus Christ. This meant that Christ's will was Paul's will. Paul knew that the Lord had given him the task to "further the faith of God's elect and their knowledge of the truth which accords with godliness." Faith implies trust. Paul promoted the faith of God's people. God's people also need knowledge. The word faith reminds us of our hearts, the word knowledge of our minds. We must trust God more and learn to know him better. It is the knowledge of the truth that people need—and the truth meant is the gospel. Christians have the hope of eternal life which God has promised and revealed through the preaching of the gospel. Paul preached this gospel.

II. Salvation is through grace. And grace is the unmerited favor of God shown to undeserving sinners. Salvation is a gift God bestows. The saved people express their salvation first in a negative way — turning away from "ungodliness and worldly desires" and then in a positive way by living "soberly, righteously, and godly in the present world." Paul tells us of the dynamic of the Christian life—the coming of the Lord Jesus. This is the greatest of all future events. Christ laid down his life in order to redeem his people "from all iniquity" and besides to have a people whose lives are marked by a zeal to do good works.

III. God's mercy obligates us to serve the Lord. We must always remember that we are not saved by any of our good works "but according to His mercy He saved us." The words "by washing of regeneration and renewing of the Holy Ghost" deserve attention. The word "washing" alludes to baptism. In the early church adults were admitted after being baptized which indicated that they had renounced paganism and accepted Christianity. Baptism is a sign and symbol. It does not cleanse any one from sin—this the Holy Spirit does. God's Spirit regenerates us and makes us new creatures. The Christian is justified by grace and is made an heir of eternal life. A bright future awaits all believers. It will take eternity to make us realize the blessings of salvation. Here we should serve and thus show how thankful we are.

R. Mulchahey Talks at Meet

R.J. Mulchahey of the Coldwater State Home and Training School was the speaker at Monday's noon luncheon of the Holland Exchange Club. He was introduced by the Rev. R. Vande Bunte.

The speaker, who has been in charge of the school for the past 12 years, dealt largely with the educational training and care given the 2,900 children and adults now being treated. The oldest patient is 80 years old and the youngest is 3 months old.

Special programs include occupational therapy, recreation, speech correction, physiotherapy and vocational training. While a good number of the mentally retarded can become partly or wholly self supporting, a large number do not get beyond the normal five year intelligence group, the speaker said. About 10 per cent of the children are mongoloid.

Mr. Mulchahey stressed the financial cost of maintaining such an institution by citing specific items. It now costs $6.85 per day per patient. On severe winter days it takes 50 tons of coal to heat the 27 patient care buildings. About 7,500 meals are prepared daily and 3,000 loaves of bread are consumed each month. There are 855 employees.

President Charles Shidler called upon Larric Clark to induct into the club Robert Lanting as a new member.

Must Return Questionnaire For Pension

More than 68,000 disabled veterans or the widows and parents of deceased veterans will be seeing colors when they open their pension checks about November 30.

Inside will be not only the familiar green check but also an income questionnaire card with a stripe in one of four different hues, depending on the kind of pension received.

This card must be filled out and returned to the Veterans Administration by January 31, or, under the law, February pension checks must be suspended. However, Robert M. Fitzgerald, manager of the VA regional office in Detroit, urged pensioners to get the cards back as soon as possible not to lay them aside until the last minute. Each year this results in several thousand delayed checks which have to be suspended by VA until the cards are returned.

Fitzgerald pointed out that this year VA needs all the extra time possible to process the income information due to a number of complicated changes under a new pension law. Some veterans will not be eligible for a seven per cent increase and other benefits unless they change from the older, so-called protected, pension plan to a newer program enacted in 1960. Complete information will be found on an instruction sheet with the card.

The VA Manager cautioned veterans not to attempt to apply the new benefits when answering the income questions. All questions should be answered fully, he explained. The 10 per cent exclusion from public or private retirement income as well as the exclusion of the spouse's earned income will be figured by VA when the cards are returned. The seven per cent increase will be made automatically.

First Nighters At West Ottawa Enjoy Drama

The West Ottawa Drama department's production of "The Great Sebastians" thoroughly entertained 150 first nighters who turned out despite hazardous driving warnings Thursday evening.

Director Jan Stuckey had the large cast for the three-act play well rehearsed as they flawlessly presented what could be called a sophisticated comedy combined with a modern day political event.

The play was presented again Friday and Saturday in the school cafeteria with curtain time at 8:15 p.m.

As the production opens the audience finds themselves immediately part of the show as the "Great Sebastian" descends the stage and uses members of the audience as subjects for his mind reading act.

As the play progresses the principals become engrossed in their parts and a glow of warmth spreads through the audience. With a setting in Prague, Czechoslovakia in 1948 shortly after the Communist party has taken over the government, the Great Sebastians, a mind reading team, are seemingly oblivious of the political dangers they are getting into by using party officials as subjects for their act. Essie Sebastian was played by talented Nanalee Raphael while the part of her husband, Rudi, was taken with poise and ease by Bob King, a newcomer to the West Ottawa stage.

The plot unfolds as the Sebastians are getting ready to leave the country to the great relief of their timid and frightened theater agent Josef, ably played by Steve Stam. The Sebastians are about to smuggle a rare and expensive stamp out of the country when they are detained by General Zandek, who plans to use their clairvoyant powers for his own political ends. The role of the general with the force of the military was convincingly taken by Dan Resseguie.

Humor and excitement pervade the third act of the play and the solution to the Sebastians' problems is not disclosed until the final 30 seconds of the production.

Ably carrying out their roles with Stanislovskian confidence are members of the supporting cast including Sandy Brand as Many, Lynn Bakker as Sgt. Javorsky, Walt Seidelman, Chris Krauss, Bruce Van Huis, Ben Shaffer Shelly Kolean, Darlene Laarman, Cheryl Weigel, Dave Vizithum, Al Ver Schure, Brian Hansen, Linda Locker, Bob Slenk and Jim Bjorum.

The stage settings were designed by Director Stuckey and Miss Nancy Norling and costumes were provided by Miss Norma Longstreet and her student committee.

Ben Farabee ... decoy on touchdown

Ben Farabee Aided in Win

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Ben Farabee, Holland senior and starting left end on the Rose Bowl bound Michigan football team, served as a decoy on the touchdown pass against Ohio State here Saturday.

Coach Bump Elliott, in a post game dressing room interview, said the Bob Timberlake to Jim Detwiler 17-yard pass play was a "trailer." He said it had been designed especially for Ohio State and the Michigan coaches sent the play in when the Wolverines reached the 17 after recovering a fumble on the OSU 20.

"Ohio State has such fine linebackers that we felt we might be able to fool them with what we call a 'trailer,'" Elliott said.

"They react so quickly on pass situations, dropping off the line to help the secondary, that we sent our left end, Ben Farabee, straight down, and then had Detwiler trail into the vacated middle when the linebackers went for Farabee."

Detwiler caught Timberlake's pass at the two-yard line after being bumped by linebacker Dwight Kelley, who had gone for Farabee and couldn't recover. Detwiler tumbled into the end zone for the touchdown.

Farabee snagged one pass from Timberlake in the first half for a seven-yard gain.

Red Cross Group Views French Film on Blood

A French film on blood was shown at a Red Cross meeting Tuesday night in Hope Church in connection with a drive for 300 blood donors for the next donor clinic Dec. 23 in Civic Center from noon to 6 p.m. The foreign film traced the history of blood transfusions which originated in France well over 150 years ago and was outlawed by Parliament as too dangerous for well over a century.

The film, an animated cartoon production, traced the history of blood types the scientific breakthroughs and the continuing new discoveries which make the blood miracle of yesterday a routine function today.

Mrs. Doris Fishbeck, field representative of the Lansing Regional Blood Center which services 36 counties including Ottawa county, explained operations of the center which sends out three mobile units a day to all parts of the region, returning all blood to Lansing to be processed and then dispensed to 78 hospitals according to need.

No charge is made for blood, but it costs the Red Cross more than $6 a unit. Hospitals charge a fee for administration which includes careful and lengthy laboratory analysis.

It was pointed out that the price of blood from commercial blood banks runs from $25 to $60 a unit. If all blood used in Ottawa county last year were "purchased" at the rate of $25 a unit, the total would exceed the entire county Red Cross budget.

Mrs. Fishbeck emphasized any local person receiving blood in a hospital outside the 36-county region of the Lansing center should notify his home Red Cross office immediately so that the necessary paper work can be done. Otherwise the patient would be charged for the blood. She said paper credits between regional center and individual hospitals or organizations are eventually balanced out with unit exchanges. "It's complex, but it works," she said.

Dr. O. van der Velde, originator of the Holland blood center and medical director for the county program, emphasized the great service blood donors give for their fellow men.

Bruce M. Raymond, who directs the blood program in Ottawa county, said the county is being reorganized into five regions instead of six, mostly on a telephone exchange basis. Centers hereafter will be in Holland, Grand Haven, Zeeland, Coopersville and Hudsonville. Each region will have a chairman with subchairmen in smaller areas, all with the purpose of recruiting donors.

Mrs. Jeanette Cranmer of Holland has been appointed county blood chairman.

On display was a tiny Christmas tree loaded with Christmas angels which will be given to donors reporting at the Dec. 23 clinic. Theme of the coming Holland clinic will be "Be an Angel... Give Blood." At the angel's heart is the blood drop donor pin.

John Owens, new Red Cross field representative for 16 counties in mid-lower peninsula of Michigan, was introduced at Tuesday's meeting. County Chairman Wilbur Cobb presided. A coffee hour followed in the chapter house next to Hope Church.

West Ottawa Defeats Allegan in Overtime

Panthers Win, 52-51 In Opener

West Ottawa's varsity basketball team built up a big lead in the first half, gamely fought to protect it in the last half and finally was forced into overtime to defeat Allegan, 52-51, at West Ottawa's gym Tuesday night before more than 1,000 fans.

The Panthers were ahead by nine big points at halftime only to see it dwindle to nothing at the end of regulation play. The score was knotted 46-46, going into the three minute overtime.

West Ottawa broke the ice at 2:30 when Dave Farabee scored on a driving layup. Mike Oram, Allegan's fine center, made a free throw at 1:32 to make it 48-47. Dave Vizithum, the floor general of the Panthers, who scored only three points in regulation play, scored on two beautiful driving layups to give the winners a 52-49 margin with 21 seconds remaining. The Tigers were not done, though, as Tom Hale made a shot at :04 to end the scoring.

The regulation play was as exciting as the overtime. West Ottawa entered the final quarter with a slim 36-32 lead. The teams traded baskets regularly until Oram tied the score at 44-44 with a nice three point play at 1:55. Bruce Van Huis, Panthers' center who was a tower of strength, scored on a layup with 1:34 left, but Jim Pritchett tied the score at 1:24 with a similar shot. West Ottawa was able to take five shots in the last minute to none for the losers, but none went in and the game remained tied.

West Ottawa, receiving some fine play from forward Paul Busscher, moved to a 15-11 first quarter lead. Allegan decided to try a two-man press in the second quarter and it worked sufficiently to move them to within two points, 17-15, at one point. The Panthers then adjusted and moved to a 27-18 lead by halftime with six points coming from Van Huis. Van Huis, the tallest man on the floor at 6'4", was grabbing rebounds from over the heads of his opponents and giving them fits with his shooting accuracy.

Allegan made some adjustments at halftime and pressed full court. The Panthers, seemingly caught unaware, faltered noticeably and Allegan scored eight straight points to move to within one point, 27-26. The game was close from that point on with the winners always holding a small lead.

Coach George Van Wagoner of Allegan felt that his squad lost the game in the first half with its poor shooting. The Tigers only made 6-31 in the first half for 19 per cent. In the last half in field goals they improved to 14-39 for a total game percentage of 29. Allegan made 11 of 24 free throws.

West Ottawa did its best shooting in the first quarter when they made 6 of 10. West Ottawa made 10 of 20 free throws in the game.

Coach Jack Bonham of the Panthers was happy with the win. He praised the overall, steady play of Arvin Visser. Bonham felt that the 6' forward played heads-up ball. Bonham felt that the experience that these same boys gained last year was the difference at the end. The team didn't fold when the going got tough.

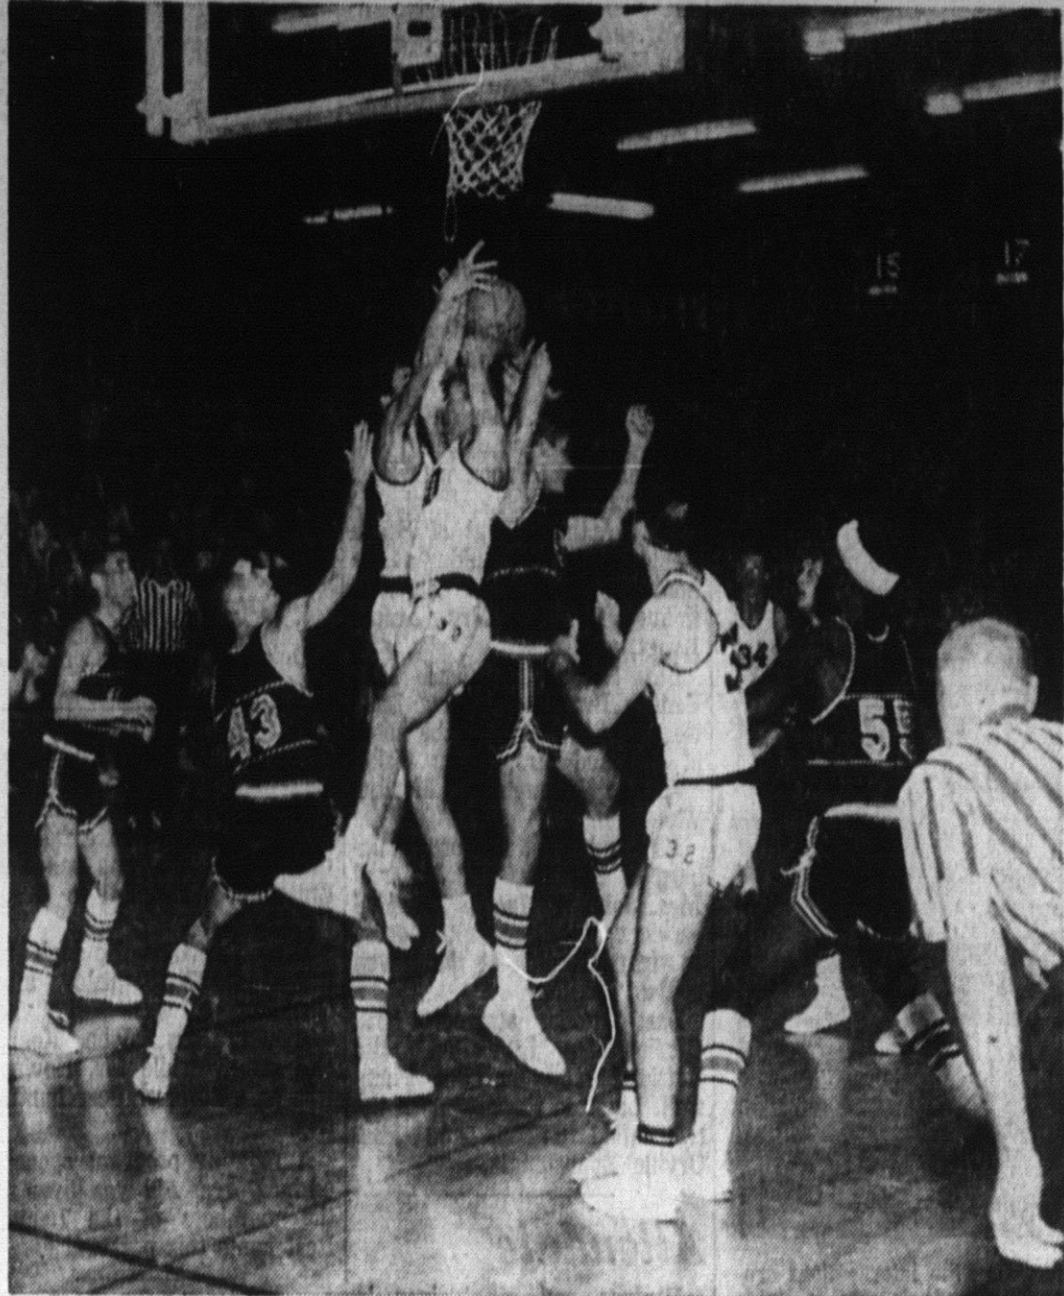

Van Huis led all scorers with 19 points. None of the other Panthers were able to reach double figures. Allegan received very balanced scoring. Oram had 14, Gary Wagers 13, and Pritchett and Jeff Schreur each 10.

West Ottawa has, therefore, begun its new season with a win and will try to keep its record intact next Friday when they entertain another non-league foe, Paw Paw.

Christian Hosts Unity on Friday

Five seniors will more than likely form the Holland Christian starting lineup Friday night when the Maroons open their basketball schedule against Hudsonville Unity Christian in the Civic Center at 8 p.m.

Coach Art Tuls said he definitely would start Tom Deur at 5'10" and Larry Klaasen at 5'11" at the guard spots. Jack Kalmink at 6'1" will get the nod at one of the starting forward posts. At the center slot the Christian mentor said he was leaning toward Harold Alferink at 6'4" although he was being pushed hard by Paul Stegenga. The other forward post will probably go to Tom Wedeven at 6'3" although other strong candidates were Vic Sharda and Jack Berghoff.

Tuls said no matter who starts, in all likelihood seven or eight players will see considerable action in the season opener. The third guard on the squad is Les Hulst who is also slated for substitute duty.

Another opening game sell-out is a possibility with tickets going fast. Athletic Director Clare Pott reported.

The two reserve squads will clash in the 6:30 p.m. preliminary.

West Ottawa Reserves Win

West Ottawa's reserve squad put on a fine second half rally to defeat Allegan, 42-35, at West Ottawa's gym Tuesday night.

The Panthers took a 2-0 lead in the opening moments of the game and then couldn't get the lead back until the fourth quarter. The big second half rally was mainly due to the Panthers' fine guards, Dan Bauer and Bill Henson. This duo accounted for all but two of West Ottawa's second half points and all but eight in the entire game. Bauer led all scorers with 21 and Henson had 13.

Both teams were tense in the first half. Many shots were missed and many floor mistakes were made. West Ottawa was only able to score four points in the entire first quarter and fell behind to 11-4 after eight minutes of play. The teams played on even terms in the second quarter with each team scoring seven points.

The Panthers outscored the Tigers 15-8 in the third quarter to be down by only one point, 29-28, after three quarters. West Ottawa then dominated the play in the final quarter. Allegan was hampered by fouls and lost three players via the foul route. West Ottawa made 16 of 32 foul shots.

Gary Huntley and Mark Wagers led the losers with 11 points each.

The Thanksgiving Day service will be held at Maplewood-Reformed Church Thursday at 10 a.m. with the pastor, the Rev. William A. Swets, speaking on "Why Ungrateful?" The Senior choir under the direction of Larry Dykstra, will sing "Riches" and "The Beatitudes."

Ottawa Hills Hosts Holland

Recreation Consultant To Aid Group

GRAND HAVEN — William Krause of Research Recreation Associates of Muskegon will serve as professional consultant to the Recreation Development Committee named last July by Mayor William Creason. This action was taken by City Council Monday night.

Committee members will be assigned to sub-committee work for studying phases of the recreational development program.

The program involves proposed development of Mulligan's Hollow (Ski Bowl) where the city has 20 acres as a recreational park. First development was the ski bowl and future plans call for an ice skating rink, toboggan slides, ball diamonds, hiking trails, band shell and other recreational activities. The future armory site of five acres is in the center of the ski bowl area.

Five Mile Hill or Ski Bowl area was used as a World War II Coast Guard Training camp and before that as a Civilian Conservation Corps soil conservation service camp during the depression years of the 1930's.

The new consultant will be paid $3.50 an hour or $25 per day for his work with the development committee which is charged with the responsibility of developing a city recreation program for persons of all ages. Total fee for his services is not to exceed $1,200.

Serving on the mayor's committee are Miller G. Sherwood, chairman, George Purcell, Dr. Jack A. Jordan, Mrs. Leslie Ennenga, Steven Karell, Frank Such, William Holman, H. N. Christiansen, F. E. Hill, Robert Brinkert, Bernard Boyink, Arthur Stang, William Law, Don Badnon and James Murphy.

At the time the committee was appointed, Mayor Creason emphasized that its work will in no way interfere with the school-park program now operated as a cooperative city and Board of Education project.

General plans call for providing photography trails as well as other recreational attractions.

Buys, Caledonia junior who has been alternating with Capt. Dean Overman at a starting guard post, received an elbow bump on the head in Monday's practice. He was hospitalized Monday night and discharged Tuesday.

De Vette said Buys will have additional tests by a Grand Rapids neurologist on Friday.

A regular meeting of the Waverly School Busy Bees 4-H Club was held Tuesday in the school with Mrs. Dennis Steinfert as leader.

Officers of the group are Sandy Vanden Berge, president; Kristy Vanden Berg, vice president; Susan Zuidema, secretary; Lela Essenburg, treasurer; Peggy Alofs, reporter.

Packets for the Lions Club "Be Thankful You Can See" campaign were made earlier in the month.

Holland High's basketball team opens the season Friday night against Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills at 8 p.m. in the Grand Rapids Central Christian gym.

Coach Don Piersma sent his team through a scrimmage at Whitehall Tuesday but today still wasn't decided on his starting lineup. "I probably won't decide until game time," Piersma said.

Piersma is beginning his third season as Holland coach and he will be up against a college teammate at Ottawa Hills. The Indians are coached by Bob Hendrickson. Piersma and Hendrickson both played at Hope College in the early '50's.

The Holland coach has decided on three of his starters. Mike Lawson, 6'10" junior, will get the call at center while senior 6'1" John Leenhouts and 5'10" Cal Beltman will be at the guards.

The other forward is up for grabs between Bob Brolin, Jim Brondyke and Perry Cornelissen. Brolin and Brondyke, two juniors, have a slight edge on senior Cornelissen who reported late because of football. But Cornelissen was on the varsity last year.

Senior Randy Johnson and junior Larry Pete are battling for the other guard spot. Johnson was a varsity reserve last season and Pete is up from the reserves.

Beltman is the lone regular returning this season while Lawson spent the season on the reserves. Leenhouts was a varsity reserve last season.

Ottawa Hills has four regulars back from last season. The Indians are led by all-city performer Lowell Trice, who averaged 20 points a game. The center is 6'5" Johnson while the guards are veterans Puruki and Hudson.

Piersma held another workout tonight and plans a drill for Thursday afternoon in the Holland High fieldhouse.

The reserve teams will tangle Friday in the 6:30 p.m. preliminary game. This is the first time Holland will play in the Christian gym. The gym seats more than 2,000 persons.
