Anti-Drunk Pill Made in Holland

By Paul Van Kolken
Four pills instead of another flask in the hip pocket might be the best friend of the intoxicated person this holiday season.

The pills, manufactured by The De Pree Co. of Holland, are designed to turn a moderately intoxicated person sober in less than one hour.

Known as Sted-Eze, the pills contain amounts of vitamins and niacin to counteract the effects of alcohol in the person's system.

The tablets were developed by Charles Bowman & Co. of Holland and are being marketed by Ceres Products Co., Inc., of Chicago.

The Bowman Co., formerly associated with The De Pree Co., had an idea for a sober pill and several years ago began to develop a crude formula.

About four years ago, Benton O. Bowman, son of the late Charles Bowman, was put in charge of the project. Bowman is president of Ceres.

A University of Michigan graduate in pharmacy, Bowman had worked for the Bowman company in Holland in the early 1950s.

Bowman said the crude formula of the Bowman firm was taken to Inter Science Laboratories of Tampa, Fla. who conducted research and testing and refined the Bowman formula into a workable compound.

Bowman said the tablets contain primary grown dried yeast containing vitamin B1 and vitamin B2 and niacin. Four of the tablets are necessary to become effective.

Normally the tablets begin to reduce the effects of alcohol in the body within an hour, Bowman said.

The four-pill package, which sells for about $2, is being test marketed in Madison, Wis. Bowman said the test was more for consumer packaging than anything else.

Bowman said the tablets were not designed to sober a person who had passed out from too much alcohol or had taken an abnormally large amount of alcohol.

He said the tablets do not remove alcohol from the body.

Taking the tablets before drinking may prevent the drinks from having their usual effect, Bowman said, but consuming an unlimited amount of alcohol could override the effects of the tablets.

Local Police Question Man In Robbery

A man held by Eaton County authorities on an armed robbery charge there has been questioned by Holland police about the armed holdup Nov. 3 at Skip's Pharmacy. Police said the man declined to answer their questions.

Eaton County police called Holland officers following the man's arrest after seeing a sketch of the Holland bandit mailed to law enforcement agencies in the state. The man was arrested last week. He was not identified.

Holland police said the man resembled the sketch of the person sought in the Holland store robbery.

Holland officers said they have been unable to further question the man since he has been taken to a state hospital under protective custody. Police intended to put the man in a police lineup for identification by store personnel who were robbed.

The lone bandit armed with a sawed off shotgun fled the Skip's store with about $200 in cash. None of the loot has been recovered.

EIGHT INJURED — Eight persons were injured in the collision of two cars Saturday at 1:37 p.m. at M-21 and 96th Ave. near Zeeland. New PBS Station Opens Next Month

ALLENDALE — Western Michigan will have access to another tv station in December, hopefully Dec. 10, operating out of Grand Valley State College. Known as channel 35, WGVC-TV, the new public broadcasting station will produce a number of programs created to meet the needs and interests of people in a 45-mile radius in Western Michigan.

Holland, Grand Rapids, Grand Haven, Saugatuck and Muskegon all are in the so-called City Grade where reception should present little or no problems. Allegan, Whitehall, Greenville, Newaygo and Fremont are in Grade A, and Kalamazoo, South Haven and Ionia in Grade B coverage area.

The new station will be carrying some tests and test patterns at unscheduled intervals before Dec. 10 as various installations are completed.

Gordon Lawrence, station manager, explained aims at a press conference on GVSC campus Monday. He said the station will not compete as such with existing stations in the regions. It will present no newscasts but will go into depth on issues of the day.

The new station is not connected to national PBS although it is on a priority list for this service later. Regular PBS broadcasts will be aired some seven weeks later, although arrangements have been made with a Detroit station to have tapes on current events in a two or three-day delay.

Plans are under way to have listings in local newspapers and other publications, hopefully TV Guide.

Besides Station Manager Lawrence, others on the WGVC-TV staff are Charles Furman, program director; Rita Gentile, director of instructional television; James Jerkatis, art director; James Gaver, producer-director; Paul Bock, chief engineer, and Pam Bunnell, traffic director.

Program - Director Furman has scheduled many Christmas programs and other events from Dec. 10 through 31. Among the attractions will be Thackeray's

"Vanity Fair" Dec. 10 at 9 p.m., Lillian Hellman's "Another Part of the Forest" Dec. 18 at 7:30 p.m., "A New England Christmas" Dec. 24 at 6:30 p.m., the National Ballet of Canada in "The Sleeping Beauty" Dec. 17 at 10 p.m.

Other programs will be "Bill Moyers' Journal" which premieres Dec. 15 at 9 p.m.; Metropolitan Opera Star Robert Merrill who hosts the "International Performance" series presenting the best of European ballet, opera and concert programs each evening at 9 p.m.; and William F. Buckley Jr., urban host of "Firing Line," each Sunday and Thursday evening at 10 p.m.

Manager Lawrence emphasized that the new station is not a college station per se, that it is programming for an entire coverage area and will use the resources available from other campuses in Western Michigan.

Programming is designed to broaden the choice in Western Michigan, serve smaller audiences, and work more closely with community groups. In its educational work, the area has a potential 290,000 school children in public and nonpublic schools.

To tune in on the new station, turn master dial to "U" or "UHF" and second dial (like a radio) to channel 35. Use fine tuning dial to improve reception. If the television set is older than 1964, a converter can be obtained from your television repairman. Antennas older than 1964 will need a small loop, a low cost item.

Richard N. Arthur

Donnelly Will Share Scanlon Plan Know-How

Donnelly Mirrors Inc. of Holland has announced that Richard N. Arthur, senior vice president, is heading a program which will make the story of Donnelly's success with the Scanlon Plan available to all of those interested.

For several years Donnelly has assisted companies on an informal basis, but in recent years they have had so many firms ask for assistance that they are now going to see if this activity can be a profit center for the company without disrupting their normal manufacturing operations.

Donnelly has been developing "Participative Management" for over 20 years. Employees are encouraged to make and implement suggestions to increase productivity and then share in the savings they effect.

As a result of this program productivity per employee has climbed from $17,000 to $30,000 per year. The selling price of the company's main product is 25 percent less than it was in 1952 and profits are two and a half times greater. The 450 Donnelly employees are paid bonuses monthly; everyone shares in the plan, and it is not often that a monthly bonus is not earned.

HARDER TO GIVE A BUCK

The Internal Revenue Act of 1971 provides that taxpayers shall be allowed to designate one dollar of their income tax as a presidential campaign contribution to a political party. There is little doubt that what Congress had in mind, to make this checkoff easy and the contributions program effective, was a space for that purpose on the personal income tax form.

Contrary to this evident intention, the Treasury Department has decided not to include a checkoff box in the income tax form. No such box will appear on either the short or long version of Form 1040. Instead, a small separate form will be found, if taxpayers happen to remember to hunt for it, in the back of the booklet of return blanks which taxpayers get from the Internal Revenue Service. As Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota has pointed out, this violates the spirit if not the letter of the 1971 statute.

The Treasury Department's stated rationale for its decision may seem laudable on first thought: it reportedly wants to keep IRS agents from learning which political party an individual favors. Such zeal to safeguard privacy may have some merit, but that consideration is outweighed by a more important factor.

This is that, without an easy checkoff space on the tax form, many who might otherwise have made a political contribution in this way are likely not to do so. Some will forget, some will consider it just too much bother to fill out a separate form. The end result will be to weaken the effect Congress sought to achieve: that is, an almost universal one-dollar contribution checkoff which would greatly broaden the base of the political parties' financial support.

Parade Route Is Unchanged For Tulip Time

Tulip Time parade routes will remain the same as in previous years, it was decided at the monthly meeting of the Tulip Time board of directors Tuesday afternoon in City Hall. Dates next year are May 16-19, 1973.

Plans are under consideration for a commemorative medal similar to the 1972 medal, probably using a similar design. Plans also are being made for portable rest rooms.

Butler, Jacob De Graaf, Mrs. Leonard Dick, Dwight Ferris, Wendell Rooks, Mike Gorno, Warren Willard, Bud Borr of the police, Lois Matchinsky of Beechwood, John McClaskey who heads the square dance, Mrs. David Conklin of St. Francis School, Andrew Van Slot for floats and Pauline Vander Kooy of the Tulip Time staff.

A Man For The Hour

Jeremiah 1:4-10; 26:12-15

By C. P. Dame

Some church members know but little about the treasures in the Old Testament, and especially little about the prophets whose books are in it. Our lesson tells about a great prophet who truly was a man for the hour.

I. God calls workers. We plan to study four prophets of judgment and hope—Jeremiah, Ezekiel, Haggai and Zechariah—and become better acquainted with these great souls. In four lessons we will study Jeremiah who came from a priestly family; his father's name was Hilkiah. Jeremiah lived in Anathoth, a village located two miles northeast from Jerusalem.

God called him when the godly Josiah, who ruled from 640 to 609 B. C., was king. God told him that He had plans for him even before he was born—"I formed you. I knew you. I consecrated you. I appointed you"—to be a prophet to the nations, although his message was especially to Judah.

Jeremiah responded to God, saying, "Ah, Lord God! Behold I cannot speak; for I am a child." When Moses refused, God became angry but in this instance God said tenderly, "Do not say, I am only a youth." He was then 24. Jeremiah finally accepted and preached to a slipping nation for 40 years, to five kings of Judah and a governor. Most of his prophecies spoke of doom and judgment although words of hope and salvation were interspersed. God still calls workers and continues to hear words of acceptance and excuses.

II. God gives a message to His messengers. The words "and whatever I command you, you shall speak" contain the message of the prophet, and note that it is limited, as are the words, "behold I have put my words in your mouth." His work was twofold, to preach to the people and to foretell, which he did in his messages regarding the coming judgment. He was to be God's spokesman, not utter his own opinions. Verse 10 records the negative and the positive aspect of his work. The work was going to be hard but God promised him His protection and presence saying, "I am with thee."

III. God's workers need courage. When the prophet said that the city and the temple would be destroyed unless the people would repent, the leaders put the prophet in prison. The prophet said that if they, the authorities, would put him to death, they would bring innocent blood upon themselves. Jeremiah plainly told the people and the leaders that if they would repent, the nation would be spared, if not, the nation would be destroyed. The leaders spared the prophet's life but did not repent and hence the nation was exiled.

The Church has a message from God. Those who repent of their sins and turn to God will live, but those who refuse to repent but go their own way will not live. The gospel implies weal for the penitent but woe to the hardened—believe in Christ and be saved, disbelieve and be lost.

Cars operated by Rosemary Hutson, 21, of 1984 92nd Ave., Zeeland, and Donna Joyce Veldheer, 43, of 121 Greenly St., Holland, collided Saturday at 2:03 p.m. at Seventh St. and Central Ave. Police said both were westbound when the Veldheer auto attempted a left turn from the center lane and collided with the Hutson auto in the left lane.

Plans are under consideration for a commemorative medal similar to the 1972 medal, probably using a similar design. Plans also are being made for portable rest rooms.

Chairman Nelson Bosman presided at the meeting which included the enlarged committee for festival events. Attending were Roscoe Gfles, W. A. Butler, Jacob De Graaf, Mrs. Leonard Dick, Dwight Ferris, Wendell Rooks, Mike Gorno, Warren Willard, Bud Borr of the police, Lois Matchinsky of Beechwood, John McClaskey who heads the square dance, Mrs. David Conklin of St. Francis School, Andrew Van Slot for floats and Pauline Vander Kooy of the Tulip Time staff.

The Perfect Balance And Lili Kraus

By Michael Anthony

"The perfect balance between spirit, intellect and emotion" makes music an art form Lili Kraus revealed in an interview at Hope College Tuesday.

She continued saying, "the emphasis must be on the perfect balance. At all times out output must be judged... and only five per cent of that (our output) is genius. We must thank God for genius."

The perfect balance, the genius, is what Lili Kraus strives to attain. She believes "music in absolute beauty exists only in the Godhead" and that the composer tries to reach this perfection when he creates. However, the composer never reaches the Godhead unless the attainment is within himself, she maintains. A missing link exists between the composition and the Godhead.

The purpose of the performer is to move the composition closer to the Godhead, the divinity, or the absolute perfection. He too falls short of this goal.

He must try to move the composition to its level of perfection. This striving for the perfect balance, towards the Godhead, is "the agony and the ecstasy" of Lili Kraus' work as a concert pianist.

When describing her role as a performer, Lili Kraus says, "I don't veer from the text... and at the same time the text is my voice. God made me for that purpose." She adds, "There is no Lili Kraus in the moment I play, but of course there is—that's all I can do."

Lili Kraus, when quoting Leonardo de Vinci, says, "The... and at the same time the experience of the true artist is so terrifying that it scares the layman if exposed as it was experienced." Therefore she concludes, "The duty of the artist is to guard his experience in a cloak of beauty."

Lili Kraus may not find the Godhead that she seeks, but she moves her listeners closer to the absolute perfection in her own cloak of beauty.

Crusaders Show Class In Opener

HUDSONVILLE — Holland Christian's basketball team never got untracked Friday night as they bowed to a highly-touted Hudsonville Unity crew by a 70-51 score. The season opener for both teams was played in the Hudsonville High School gym, where Unity plays many of their home games.

The Crusaders of Hudsonville, who some feel could win the state championship this season, outplayed the Maroons in every department, as they shot better, outrebounded the Maroons 49-35, and caused the Hollanders to come up with 24 floor violations.

Christian, particularly in the first half, was getting the good shots, but just couldn't put the ball through the hoop, and ended the half with a 25 per cent shooting mark. The second half was slightly better at 31 per cent, for a cold 28 per cent game mark, which isn't good enough against a top-notch ball club.

The Maroons' defense did a fine job on Unity's all-state center, 6'10" Mark Veenstra, holding him to just five baskets, with one or two of them being tip-ins. However, they did foul Veenstra frequently, and the three-year starter connected on eight of 11 from the charity stripe to end with 18 points.

Guard Jim De Groot, another three-year regular with the Crusaders, is the one who really hurt the Maroons. With Christian concentrating on Veenstra, De Groot was on the scoring end of many fast breaks, and also hit well from the outside on 10 baskets and 22 points to lead both teams.

For the Maroons, the bulk of the scoring was done by big 6'7" Chuck Visser, who connected seven times from the floor for his 14 points, and Sid Bruinsma, who had 13 points on five buckets and three-for-four at the free throw line. Bruinsma, incidentally, standing at 6'5" was used for the center jump, even though he played at a guard spot.

De Groot opened the scoring after a minute of play and Unity took a 6-2 lead before Bruinsma and Terry Grassmid connected to knot the score. Four foul shots by Unity followed by two-pointers from Visser and Dave Tuls again tied the score at 10-all. That turned out to be as close as the Maroons were to get all night, as the Crusaders led the rest of the way. The quarter ended at 16-12.

Veenstra put his team ahead by ten, 28-18 with 2:45 left in the half and the Crusaders continued on to a 34-22 halftime margin.

Continuing to pull away Unity moved out to a 20-point lead, 52-32, with 1:50 to go in the third quarter, which ended at 52-34.

The Maroons had quarter scoring of 12, 10, 12 and 17 points, while Unity, after 16 in the first period, scored 18 times in each of the remaining quarters for their 70 points.

The reserve contest was also won by Unity by a 60-50 score. The Crusaders held quarter leads of 13-10, 25-22 and 41-34.

Bill Van Vugt paced the winners with 22 points, while Jim Haverkamp notched 16 and Mick Hondert 13. Dave Gritter led Christian with 16, followed by Bob Vander Hoening with 12 and Ken Dozeman with 10.

Christian travels to Allegan Tuesday as they try to even up their season's record.

Almost Blow 17 Point Lead

ALLEGAN — Holland Christian's basketball team evened its season's record at 1-1 Tuesday night, by defeating Allegan 70-69, but not before receiving a real scare in the final minutes of the game.

For 27 minutes the Maroons were far and away the better of the two teams, and had taken a 64-47 lead with just five minutes to go in the game. During this time Christian was in complete control, as they were shooting at a 49 per cent average for the night, played good defense and dominated the backboards.

Suddenly the Tigers, who had hit only 30 per cent for the first three periods, caught fire, and in less than four minutes outscored the Maroons 20-4, to pull within one, 68-67 with 1:13 to play. Rick Morgan led the surge with eight of the 20 points, and Mike Knobloch added six.

After Christian called a time out, Sid Bruinsma went in for a layup making the score 70-67 at the 58 second mark. Morgan, who carded 14 of his game-high 24 points in the fourth quarter, wound up the scoring with 10 seconds remaining for the final score of 70-69.

Chuck Visser connected four times from the floor in the opening eight minutes to give the Maroons a 16-6 lead before Allegan spurted to narrow the count to 16-14 at the buzzer.

In the second quarter Jim Terpstra did some excellent shooting, scoring nine points while Visser and Rick Klompmaier controlled the backboards. Christian took a 36-22 lead before settling for a 38-28 margin at the intermission.

Klompmaier took over the scoring role in the third quarter, getting nine of Christian's 14 scores. The Maroons twice held 16-point leads and entered the final stanza with a 52-39 advantage.

Keith Branden with two buckets and a pair of free throws led Christian to its biggest margin of the game, 64-47, before Allegan became aroused and nearly pulled the game out. The Tigers rolled up eight consecutive points before Terpstra connected. Brian Cook and Bruinsma traded buckets, and then Allegan ran off another 10 making it 68-67, setting the stage for Bruinsma's clinching bucket.

Christian shot well throughout the game with quarters of 42, 56, 54 and 47 per cent, while Allegan was 33, 35 and 24 per cent, before hitting a torrid 63 per cent on 12 baskets out of 19 shots in the fourth quarter.

The Maroons, with Visser and Klompmaier each hauling down 13, held a 44-27 margin in rebounding.

Christian's playmaker, Dave Tuls, the only junior among the starting five, had to leave the game midway in the fourth stanza with a knee injury.

Klompmaier and Bruinsma split 30 points between them while Visser ended with 12, Terpstra 11 and Branden 10 to give coach Elmer Ribbens fine scoring balance. Following Morgan's 24, counters, the Tigers received 19 from Knobloch and 16 from Cook.

Christian also took the preliminary game by an 84-66 count, as John Houseward racked up 33 points. Jack Scholten and Tom Zoerhoff supported him with 16 and 13 respectively.

5,000 MILES — That's right, Doug Meeusen did just that — he pedaled 5,000 miles. Meeusen, who lives at 13083 James St., left Holland on Sept. 19th and bicycled to Key West, Florida. After Key West Meeusen pushed on to San Diego, Calif., where he finished the trip on Nov. 21st. (Sentinel photo)

Bicycle Trip Ends After 5,000 Miles

By Michael Anthony

The spirit of adventure and the desire to "do something great" inspired Doug Meeusen to make a cross country bicycle trip from Holland to Key West, Florida.

Only Meeusen's sense of adventure and desire proved to be far greater than he anticipated as his bicycling odyssey extended itself beyond Key West to San Diego, Calif.

The trip lasted 63 days, 5,000 miles, and several bicycle tires. One time when the bicycling became extremely difficult just outside of Del Rio, Texas, he was offered a ride. Down trodden, discouraged, and overcome with exhaustion from fighting the 35 to 40 m.p.h. headwinds, Meeusen refused the ride. What motivated him was pride and the desire to be able to say, "I pumped every inch, every inch."

Meeusen made the trip alone, but he was not without friends. All along the way, a nd especially in Texas, strangers were friendly to him. He received numerous free dinners and breakfasts from other travelers. Meeusen felt that the people thought he was a "unique specimen" and that they were curious about who he was, where he came from and where he was headed.

One couple in Texas wanted to do something for him. In the morning they offered him a ride that he turned down. Later in the day, the couple stopped Meeusen and gave him a jacket, just because they wanted to help him.

Traveling light, Meeusen had everything that he needed rolled up in his sleeping bag. The weight of this package was only 20 pounds. Meeusen carried a Swedish mountain stove, cooking utensils, first aid material, spare parts for his bicycle, and two spare tires. Although he made the trip with what many would consider the bare essentials, Meeusen felt that he did carry some extra material.

Mountain riding proved to be the agony and the ecstasy of the trip. Going up a mountain in his lower two gears, Meeusen described the ordeal by saying "every pump hurt . . . mile after mile." Pumping up the mountains was "the hardest part."

Yet the top of the mountains was "the most fantastic part . . . just the fact that you have pumped up there." Meeusen thought that the view made the pain and heartache worth it all.

Hungarian Pianist Thrills Large Holland Audience

By Cornelia Van Voorst

Lili Kraus, a living legend who has plied her piano magic for nearly four decades, held a full house in rapt attention Tuesday night in Dimment Memorial Chapel as she demonstrated her own special piano artistry in sonatas of Haydn, Mozart and Schubert, plus a sprinkling of Bartok and Chopin.

Wearing a stunning shimmering gown and highlighted by special spot lights on the stage, Mme. Kraus played with a strength seen usually in strong males, contrasting this volume with a touch so light one could think of angel wings or ephemeral fabrics in the breeze.

Mme. Kraus was spending today on campus at Hope College conducting master classes for piano students and instructors, providing an exposure to greatness which may be hard to rival in coming years.

Speaking with a Hungarian accent, Mme. Kraus explained the contrasts of her first selections, the light, happy tone of the Haydn Sonata No. 52 to the more tragic Mozart Fantasia K. 475 and Sonata 457 which together have five connected movements in a sorrowful, questing opus, unrelieved by any consolation. The Haydn and Mozart selections formed a contrast of tragedy and hope, interpreted with a high sense of drama, surprises and changing of keys.

Then came the happier Fifteen Hungarian Peasant Songs and Dances by Bela Bartok who began collecting Hungarian folk music at the Royal Academy of Music in Budapest around the turn of the century.

To piano lovers, Mme. Kraus' interpretation of the Schubert Sonata in A major and the Chopin Scherzo No. 2, B-flat minor was sheer joy, punctuated with strong volume and tuneful rhythms. These contrasts again were demonstrated in several encores more familiar to the attentive audience which included many students and children. And the applause acclaimed a true artist.

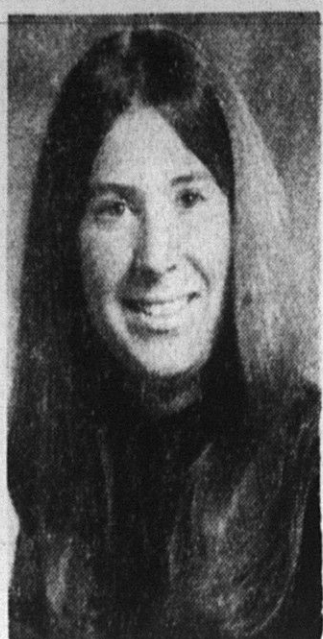

The next concert of the Holland Concert Association series will be a makeup concert Dec. 11 at 8:15 p.m. in Civic Center with a concert version of "Fiddler on the Roof" billed as "An Evening With Tevye and Golde." The concert is not list-membered on membership tickets.

James K. Miller Speaks at AAUW Meet in Durfee

"The Courts and the Legislative Process" was the topic of James K. Miller, Kent County Prosecuting Attorney last Thursday night for the American Association of University Women in Durfee Hall.

Miller said "The purpose of the courts is truthfinding which was true until 1959 when the Supreme Court looked at procedure of obtaining truth in the Mac Nab - Mac Neale case. Now the courts spend more time in procedural matters than in substance."

According to Miller, society bears responsibility for acts of individuals. This led to the liberalizing and socializing of the courts. The main idea was that the courts have substituted their thinking for legislating. Courts do things school boards and legislatures do because they are interested in good legislation. Judges are ill equipped to legislate. The court has taken on a great deal of legislation," Miller said.

Courts should be limited to do what they were intended — decide cases according to the law and do it speedily.

Miller predicted a constitutional convention to adopt an amendment to prevent the courts from legislating.

Miller responded to questions from the membership. The social committee consisted of Mrs. Fred Bertsch, Mrs. Peter Schakel, Mrs. Roger Gemmen, and Mrs. Vernon Hoff.

Charity Ball Fashions Show Interesting Trend

Many exciting and fun fashions will be popular this year for a formal or semi-formal look at the Annual Charity Ball sponsored by Junior Welfare League. The Glenn Miller Orchestra featuring Buddy De Franco evokes memories of the 30's and 40's and many of this year's fashions are reminiscent of that era.

Formal dress is not required, although the Ball is one of the few occasions that couples may comfortably dress as elegantly as they wish.

Women's fashions that are in vogue this year are long dresses and palazzo pants with a revival of a few short ball gowns. The emphasis is on soft fluid lines with feminine touches. Lots of ruffles are being shown as are backless halter dresses, long sweater dresses, long skirt dresses, and long skirts with high slits.

A variety of materials such as velvet, wool, crepe, lurex, and polyester are popular. The plainly embellished dress to the extremely dressy and glittery outfit will be seen.

Many men will choose a good semi-formal look in the basic gray, black, or blue business suit. Those wishing a more formal look may choose tuxedos, which are popular for formal wear because men can be individuals in the tuxedos they wear. They come in a variety of fabrics and styles. The newest fabrics are the crushed velvets and double knits.

Commissioners Hold Briefing Session Here

Old and new members of the Ottawa County Board of Commissioners gathered in the Woman's Literary Club Monday afternoon to discuss organization and direction for the coming year.

The session was arranged by William Kennedy of Allendale who has served as chairman for the last four years. When the new board meets in January, it will have 11 members, down from 21.

New members attending were James Dressel of Holland and Herbert (Kelly) Wybenga of Zeeland. William Kieft of Grand Haven who served a two-year term in 1969 and 70 is returning to the board.

James Callaghan, legislative assistant for the Michigan Association of Counties, spoke of the county's role in state government. Four rotating group sessions were held on various phases of county government.

DOE WITH HORNS—Gary Smeyers of route 2, Holland recently bagged this rare three-point antler doe while hunting in Iron Mountain in the Upper Peninsula. A conservation officer in the Upper Peninsula told Smeyers that this was the first antler doe he has seen in 18 years. The doe tipped the scales at 145-pounds. (Sentinel photo)
