Added Pickets Patrol Paths at Holland Hitch

Management Instructs Foremen, Office Force Not to Enter Building

The management of Holland Hitch Co. Tuesday instructed its foremen and office workers not to attempt to enter the plant as striking employees threw heavier picket lines about the premises on the 62nd day of a strike.

Striking employees, who have maintained a token picket line at the plant ever since they walked off their jobs Oct. 2, strengthened their forces with outside talent Monday and Tuesday. Some of the pickets were from Bohn Aluminum plant No. 11 which is affiliated with the Hitch employees in Local 284 UAW-CIO.

In its first public statement since the strike was called two months ago, management said it had instructed its office force and foremen to discontinue efforts to enter the plant in order to avoid violence. The sheriff's department was notified as a further deterrent of any violence.

Meanwhile, pickets stepped lively at times to keep warm in 20-degree temperatures early today. A small portable building, known generally as a construction shack, serves as strike headquarters across the street from the plant.

Tom Parker, president of local 284, chatted off the record, with reporters on the scene but made no particular statements, other than pickets were mainly concerned with keeping foremen from entering the plant. He added that labor had been unable to arrange any meetings with management.

Grievances which the union filed with NLRB, as explained in a public statement Nov. 1, listed five specific charges. It said the company refused to enter into a signed contract which would include the International CIO union, and that management had called a meeting during working hours of employees without consulting the union.

The union also charges that the company canceled vacation pay, that it interfered with employees' right to self organization, and to bargain collectively, and that unfair labor practices of the company caused the present strike.

Ottawa Tree Lots Being Harvested

Herman Schmidt, Jr., secretary of the Ottawa Cooperative Marketing association, reported today that the demand for Christmas trees from Ottawa county is on the increase. Buyers are in the county from Chicago, Toledo, Detroit, and in fact most midwest cities, purchasing trees. Schmidt said these trees are the products of thinning operation made by the tree growers.

Thousands of trees will be harvested from plantations of the co-operators of the West Ottawa Soil Conservation district this fall.

John Dietrich is among those who will harvest a cash crop of Christmas trees.

There are still many acres in Ottawa county that are not producing any income due to the fact that the wind has carried away the topsoil. The crop that will grow and will produce an income for this type of land is trees.

Grand Haven Man Fined

Grand Haven, Dec. 5 (Special)—A joint statement issued by local 1017, State County and Municipal Employees (AFL), and the Board of Public Works today said the strike by power plant workers scheduled for midnight tonight had been postponed indefinitely.

This action was taken with the understanding that the city employment classification experts to make recommendations on job designations, the statement said.

The union had refused to extend the strike notice date which would have expired tonight, but an agreement was reached today between negotiators.

"Some progress was made at a meeting of the Board of Public Works and union representatives Wednesday night, but it resulted in a stalemate over classification and wage demands," Raymond Smith, union president, said.

Today's statement was issued by J. B. Sims, superintendent of the Board of Public Works.

Earlier, Mayor Edmond Wilds said he had been assured by Smith that in event of a strike, power lines would be maintained to Municipal Hospital, and water and sewage disposal plants.

Francis Williams, international representative of the union, expressed gratification at the cooperation of the board during the last seven days.

Spring Lake Village Will Extend Water Service

Grand Haven, Dec. 5—The Spring Lake village council has completed arrangements to purchase six lots east of the village limits to be used for extension of the water supply.

Test wells have been driven on the land, showing a good water supply at a 60-foot depth. The 300 by 600-foot plot is next to Consumers Power property where a booster station has been in operation for some time.

Cost of the property, owned by Ray Fox, is $1,200.

Dorothy Lavoy, Chamber of Commerce office secretary, checks the list of local merchants who ordered evergreen festoons for their store fronts, as thousands of feet of evergreen roping and wreaths were delivered from a Grand Rapids firm. Within a day or two, many downtown stores will be decked with festoons made of live evergreen, adding a festive touch without the use of ornamental lighting now restricted under the brownout. The Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber has let the contract for lighting at the three local intersections, and these lights will be installed if the brownout is lifted before Christmas.

The oil tanker Michigan with a capacity of 40,000 barrels, owned by the Texas Co., will be making periodic visits to Holland, since the company's new terminal near the Bohn Aluminum plant has been completed. The tanker made its first trip here Nov. 11 and its second Nov. 21 with gasoline for five large storage tanks which have a capacity of 7,000,000 gallons. The tanker docks at Montello park where the company has a pipeline leading to its terminal a half mile away.

Oil Company Opens Million-Dollar Terminal and Storage Plant Here

A new terminal for the Texas Co., representing an investment of more than a million dollars, is now in operation on the outskirts of Holland near 24th St. and Ottawa Ave.

The new terminal has five storage tanks for 7,000,000 gallons of gasoline. The company owns 20 acres, four of which are fenced in. Its services eventually will extend into oils of all kinds.

Two of the five storage tanks have a capacity of 59,000 barrels, two others have a capacity of 8,000 barrels and one has 40,000 barrels. All supplies are brought in by oil tanker and the company has a special pipeline to the Montello park docks.

The terminal has been under construction for about a year. Office space and a warehouse are housed in a temporary frame building which will be replaced by a steel building when current building restrictions are lifted.

Manager of the new terminal is L. F. Van Ness who came to Holland Nov. 6 from Peoria, Ill. He is assisted by four Holland men, Earl Nienhuis, Leon Kraai, Elmer Smith and L. H. Holt.

The new terminal will service an area with a radius of 100 miles. The company's products formerly were handled in Holland by Weener and Bussies on Madison Place. They will continue to operate.

Supplies will leave the terminal in oil trucks of the Refiners Transport and Terminal Corp.

The oil tanker Michigan which made its first trip here Nov. 11 will supply the local terminal. It has a capacity of 40,000 barrels. The tanks were constructed by the Chicago Bridge and Iron Works and all other work at the terminal was done by local contractors. All the latest improvements were observed in constructing tanks which are designed in such a way that all vapors are concealed and compressed back into gasoline in a special tank, and no fumes escape into the air.

Council Requires City Employees to Live Inside Limits

Stalemate Is Reported In Efforts to Extend Numbering Area Here

Common Council Wednesday adopted a resolution requiring regular employees of the city to live within the corporate limits of Holland. The resolution requires any regular employee now living outside the city to move inside within a year. Ald. Bertal Slaght cast a dissenting vote.

Ald. William J. Meengs reported a "stalemate" in the efforts of the city to have Holland's house numbers extended into a proposed Holland area, following a meeting Nov. 28 with County Engineer Carl T. Bowen and township officials.

Meengs reported that Bowen was willing to concede an area for Holland's numbers but insisted that names of the county roads be used up to the city limits. Numbering in the rural area is a matter for township boards to decide, it was said.

A communication from John Vander Kolk, who operates the Holland City Bus Lines, called attention to business practices of his competitor, John Brinkman, who, according to Vander Kolk, has been collecting fares illegally within the city where Vander Kolk has an exclusive franchise.

Vander Kolk said he had contacted some city officials and has received no satisfaction to date. City Attorney Vernon D. Ten Cate said he has had the subject under consideration for the last six weeks, but had been unable to act immediately due to the pressure of other city business and the inability to locate the proper legislation.

Vander Kolk, who was present, informed council he now was operating six buses and has about $18,000 invested. He said he wants to clarify his position with the city before making further investments.

Ten Cate said the city has no jurisdiction over the Brinkman line which operates under the Michigan Public Service commission, other than to prosecute such violations as may occur in the city. He explained that it is Brinkman's practice not to charge fares for riders who travel only in the city, but these riders usually leave a coin in a special bucket.

The subject was referred back to the License committee and the city attorney.

Zeeland Exempted From Dimout Rule In State Ruling

Zeeland, Dec. 5—Zeeland does not come under the dim out regulation U14 issued by the Civilian Production administration the Zeeland Chamber of Commerce announced today. CPA issued regulation U14 because of the coal shortage caused by the current coal strike.

Because of requests of local citizens and merchants the local chamber telephoned Lansing for an official ruling.

According to the opinion Zeeland is not required to dimout because of the coal shortage for these reasons:

Zeeland's electrical current is manufactured by diesel equipment and produced by oil and not by coal.

Further the regulation designates Zeeland as an exempt community because it has no standby service with a utility whose current is produced by coal.

Mr. Otis Cook, manager of the Michigan Retail Institute declared that according to exemptions in the regulation U14 Zeeland is not required to dim out.

The local Chamber was pleased to receive the news because merchants plan a Window Night promotion for Dec. 17.

Kenneth Woods of South Haven suffered a broken arm Sunday about 8 p.m., between the Luplow crossing and the Gidley school house. He was changing a tire on his parked car, and standing at the rear of the car, obstructed a view of the rear light. Mrs. Lloyd Vickery, driver of an approaching car, failed to see the car until fairly upon it. Woods jumped aside but was struck on the arm which was broken. No other damage was done to cars or persons. Mrs. Vickery was absolved of blame.

On that basis, Fritz Van Voorst, a fraternal pledge who went to Holland hospital for a tonsillectomy Friday, has considered presenting his master, "Porky" Dalmann, with the medical bill.

Porky came out on the short end, too. He paid 80 cents for Van Voorst when he was put on the slave block, and because of holidays and hospitalization, he hasn't even been able to get enough work out of his slave to justify the investment.

M. G. Manting was commenting that present-day schools are lax in teaching geography (An opinion the Ambusher sometimes advances himself). So Clyde Geerlings challenged Mr. Manting to name the 48 states in 15 minutes. When time was called Mr. Manting had 47 and was down-cast no little.

Clyde consoled him. This naming the 48 states in 15 minutes is a favorite parlor stunt of his, and in the many times he's pulled it no one has done better than 47. The Ambusher's score was 47, thank you, having forgotten the obvious state, Delaware.

In providing some information for a story to run with a picture of the laying of the cornerstone of the North Holland church, Berlin Bosman, chairman of the building committee, added a little personal note: "I think I had my mouth open when the photographer took the picture. Well, did you ever see me when I didn't have it open?"

What amused the Ambusher was a penciled note in parentheses in his wife's handwriting. It said simply: "No. H. B."

County Engineer Carl T. Bowen related a new wrinkle in the county street naming and house numbering program when he was in Holland a few days ago in connection with a protest of Tallmadge township folk against the name of "Lovers Lane" in that area.

Their protest was given publicity not only in Holland, Grand Haven and Grand Rapids papers, but even in a big New York daily... with a new twist. A relative sent the engineer a clipping.

Local newspapers had mentioned the possibility of naming the road "Easy Street" as that is how the curving road had been known. But the New York paper, because some mention had been made of new houses on the road, suggested it be called "Mortgage Lane."

Bowen also mentioned that the Democrats up in Chester township objected vigorously to the naming of Hoover St. on one of the east-west roads. That township gets quite a sprinkling of political names... Truman, Hoover, Coolidge, Harding and Wilson, all running parallel.

Last week was "slave week" for certain fraternities at Hope college.

But being a master also carries certain responsibilities—at least it did in the old plantation days when the plantation owner and his wife were held responsible for food, clothing and medical care of their slaves.

Volleys From Ambush - -

THE Rev. J. Kenneth Hoffmaster, victim of one of those annoying typographical errors that plague the best of publications, tells this one on himself:

A Jackson, Mich., newspaper had a photographic feature which it called "Faces in the News." When the Rev. Hoffmaster returned from Europe recently, he was invited to address a luncheon club in Jackson and the editors elected to use his photo in their feature.

Imagine his chagrin when he was paired off with a fan dancer, whose portrait appeared opposite! He claims he was kidded more by that than when The Sentinel inadvertently connected him with the wrong church.

Winter Concrete Work Explained By A. D. Morley

Agricultural Agent Offers Suggestions For Concrete Mixing

Farmers may do concrete work in cold weather if precautions are taken, A. D. Morley, Allegan county agricultural agent said today. There is no need to stop all construction work until warmer weather.

Heat hastens the hardening of concrete, but cold retards it. In mixing concrete when temperatures are below 40 degrees, sand, pebbles and water should be heated. Since the cement forms only a small volume of the materials in the batch, it need not be heated.

The county agricultural agent suggests that sand and gravel can be heated by piling over an old metal colvert pipe, a section of smokesack or some other improvised firebox. With a fire kindled inside, the heat soon distributes the heat through the material if it is raked or moved about to get all portions heated equally.

Water may be heated in a large kettle or in a boiler. Water and materials should not be heated to a temperature higher than 150 degrees.

Snow and ice must be removed from the forms and ground upon which the concrete mixture is placed. As soon as the concrete is placed in the forms it should be given some protection to retain the heat. Covers of canvas, straw or hay are often used for this purpose. The protection should be left on for four or five days.

To test to see if the work has sufficiently hardened Morley suggests you pour hot water on the concrete. If properly hardened, concrete will not be affected by the hot water. If frozen, concrete will be softened by the heat.

Exchange Vows in Niekerk Church

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Schemper

A double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. John Beebe at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 26 in the Niekerk Christian Reformed church united in marriage Miss Garrietta Petroelje and Chester Schemper. Palms, ferns and candelabra decorated the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Petroelje of route 5 and Mr. Schemper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schemper of route 2.

Preceding the ceremony Harry Meiners, Hope college student, sang "O Perfect Love" and later, "The Lord's Prayer." He was accompanied by Miss Marian Nienhuis, organist, who also played "Meditation from Thais" and "Largo" in addition to the Lohengrin wedding march.

For her wedding the bride wore a suit of soft green wool with a gardenia corsage. Her attendant was her sister, Mrs. Ernest Westbroek, who wore a brown wool suit with a corsage of yellow roses. Joe Ludema was best man and Alvin Petroelje and Richard Nykamp seated the guests.

Calvin Outclasses Olivet Basketeers

Grand Rapids, Dec. 5 — The Calvin Knights hopelessly outclassed Olivet college here at Burton Tuesday as they romped to an easy 63-32 victory.

Calvin jumped to an early 9-1 lead and was never seriously threatened as reserves finished the half. The half time score was 25-16.

The Calvin college offensive, led by lanky Jake Heikman and Wes Vryhof, former Holland Christian star, really moved in the second half and soon piled up an impressive lead.

Jake Heikman led all scorers with 19 points followed by Bylsma and Vryhof of Calvin with 10 and 8 points respectively. Funk played an outstanding game for the Comets as he scored 8.

Judgment Sharply Cut In Headley Assault Case

Grand Haven, Dec. 5 (Special) — A Circuit Court jury after deliberating 14 hours Tuesday, entered a judgment of $250 for Clarence Headley of Muskegon, former Spring Lake resident, against Robert Thomas of Grand Haven.

Headley, who sought $1,500 damages resulting from an assault at Jac Jungle, a tavern in Robinson township last Sept. 21, alleged Thomas struck him, without provocation, as Headley entered the tavern. Thomas, in defense, testified, as did his wife, that the reason he struck Headley was because the latter had made an insulting remark to Mrs. Thomas, as the Thomases were leaving the dance floor.

The case was originally started against Thomas, together with Rodney LeSage and Kenneth Campbell, owners of the tavern but, upon motion of plaintiff's attorney, the case against the owners was dismissed just before the trial Tuesday morning, as plaintiff admitted there was no proof that either Headley or Thomas was intoxicated while in the tavern.

This was the last jury case scheduled for the November term and the jury was dismissed.

Zeeland Chix Lose To Grandville Five

Zeeland, Dec. 5 — Grandville Bulldogs went on a scoring spree Monday in the fourth period of their game with Zeeland to defeat the Chix 21-16. Zeeland held a 7-2 first quarter lead, but they fell behind Coach Gene Roth's quintet at half time, 10-9.

The third stanza was strictly a defensive one as Zeeland scored the only point. Then came the final period in which Grandville tallied 11 points to win the game.

It was the first win of the season for the Bulldogs and the first in the coaching career of Gene Roth, young Grandville mentor and graduate of Hope college last year. Low score resulted from poor marksmanship on both sides. Zeeland made only four out of 18 free shots while Grandville did little better scoring only three out of ten charity tosses. The contest was rough. Officials called 28 fouls.

It was the second defeat in as many starts for the Chicks. They lost to the Grand Haven Buccaneers earlier this season.

GRAND HAVEN MAN FINED — Chester Tokarczyk, 22, route 1, Grand Haven, pleaded guilty before Justice George V. Hoffer Monday afternoon to a charge of reckless driving and paid $35 fine and $6.65 costs.

Dutchmen Swamp Percy Jones Five In First Contest

Hinga Throws Entire Squad Into Game Against GI Cagemen

Coach Milton (Bud) Hinga's Hope college basketball got off to a flying start Tuesday at Percy Jones Hospital gym where they romped over the soldiers 74-41 for their first victory of the season. The Dutchmen started out slowly but as the game progressed they gained momentum and were just getting "hot" as the game ended.

Every member of the Hope squad broke into the scoring column. Rus De Vette, who put on a Hope uniform for the first time since 1943, took scoring honors with 14 points.

As the game began, the Dutchmen found themselves lost on the spacious court at Battle Creek and it took them 10 minutes to get their balance and begin scoring. The large floor enabled the local's fast break to work like a charm. After the game got started it was just a matter of time until the Dutchmen had administered their first victim a hard blow. Long passes by the Dutchmen caused many interceptions.

Herk Buter, in his first starting role, scored nine points and looked like the most improved player on the college squad. Buter's under-the-basket work was superb as he tipped-in three buckets in the first 10 minutes of play.

Except for the first minutes of play when they lead 2-0, the GIs didn't know what it felt like to be ahead. The team work used by the Dutch team every player on the Soldier squad as well as the crowd of patients who witnessed the contest.

The victory was revenge enough for the two setbacks the Generals gave the Hopelites last season. Hinga substituted freely and had kept the regulars in all the time, the Hope score might have been higher.

As the first half ended the GIs found themselves trailing by a 34-19 score with little hope to catch the razzle-dazzle Dutchmen. Miller, Colbert and Meyers turned in commendable performances for the Generals.

It was the tenth successive victory for the Hingamen after having taken the final nine contests last season. The Dutch will try to make it eleven against Grand Rapids Junior college Thursday night in the Holland armory.

Geologists Say Great River Once Passed Under City

Engineers and geologists of the U. S. Geological Survey, who are working with the engineers of the City Water Department in the survey of underground waters in this area, report finding evidence that a great river once passed under the site of our city in prehistoric times.

This powerful stream flowed from a mountainous land of solid rock. Later, the glacial ice, miles in height, buried this valley and filled it, with the shattered and pulverized remains of the rocks and other material it battered, in its relentless march to the south. A gradual warming of the climate finally pushed the ice back to the north, but there was left behind a jumbled mass of clay, sand, and gravel which filled the old river valleys and formed our present land surface.

Where these old river valleys were filled with sand and gravel, they represent vast underground reservoirs for storing rain waters. Where these sands and gravels are very coarse, wells can be drilled and great quantities of cold and crystal clear water can be pumped for the city supply.

To chart accurately these old valleys, requires information about all wells in the city to tell where the valley is deepest and where the best sands and gravels are found. As part of a state-wide study, the department is calling on the school children of Holland to distribute questionnaires and collect information about each well in their neighborhood and about wells at the stores or factories where their parents and friends are employed.

"Each one of us can help in this search into the past, for water for our future, by cooperating with these youngsters," the department said.

U.S. Coal Strike Cuts Fuel Ration For Netherlands

Holland Dependent On Imports From America and Germany

The Netherlands government has issued a new coal conservation order as a result of the soft coal strike in the United States, according to a statement Friday from the local office of the Netherlands Information bureau.

Manager Willard C. Wichers said that the already stringent restrictions have been extended to many types of outdoor lighting including all neon signs. Use of electric lights in homes are rigidly curtailed, something like only one 40-watt light to a room.

Dutch homes are limited to 12 units of coal (150 pounds per unit) a year, which is something less than a ton for the entire winter. However, this restriction is double the ration of last year which allowed only six units.

Cause of the new restrictions is due partly to the fact that industrial production is still 30 per cent under pre-war standards, the bureau said. The Dutch coal mines are in operation and are producing considerable more tonnage than last year, but has been dependent on certain imports of coal from the United States and Germany.

Red Cross Workers, Both Senior and Junior, Busy With Christmas Projects

Thanksgiving is over and Christmas is just around the corner.

And the Ottawa county chapter of the American Red Cross has a good start in its Christmas activities with Junior Red Cross members packing gifts to be sent to children overseas, and the camp and hospital committee of the adult chapter wrapping Christmas gifts for patients at Percy Jones hospital at Battle Creek.

In Holland, Miss Eleanor Smith superintends work among the Juniors. The Christmas project consists of packing small gifts such as pens, pencils, erasers, soap, wash cloths and useful articles in to boxes which are distributed abroad. Miss Smith, local school teacher, is Holland city chairman and also serves as vice-chairman under Miss Stephanie Yurick of Grand Haven in the county.

Packing small gifts in this way has been an annual project with Juniors for many years with all schools in the county participating. About 300 boxes are packed each year. The project was halted during the war years.

The camp and hospital committee has a quota of preparing 350 gifts for Percy Jones patients for December. Gifts have an average value of $2 and many of the gifts come from various organizations and agencies since this type of service is not included in the Red Cross budget.

Mrs. W. S. Merriam encourages all organizations, agencies, Sunday school classes, or the like, to donate a few gifts for the project. Gifts are usually small useful articles which are not furnished in the GI hospital program. There should be no perishables, and the hospital has announced that there should be no more jigsaw puzzles since there is a large supply on hand.

For the last few years, the camp and hospital committee has been active in the project which has often been described as a community program. Mrs. Merriam and Mrs. A. W. Tahaney plan to take the present supply of wrapped gifts to Percy Jones hospital when they make their next trip there Dec. 4. Dec. 15 is the final deadline.

Persons or organizations willing to donate one or more gifts may get in touch with Mrs. Merriam.

Congress Repeal Of Railroad Act Concludes Era

Land Grants Aided In Bridging Nation With Rails of Steel

Lansing, Dec. 5—"Land Grant" railroads are no more.

The law passed by the 79th Congress repealing the act that in the 1850's approved the granting of lands to certain railroads to facilitate their construction is now in effect, and a famous era in railroading, the Michigan Railroads association points out, has ended.

The railroad land grant era, begun in 1850, has always been misunderstood. The grants were not gifts by the government. In each case a bargain was made. They were favors with strings attached. Also, contrary to general belief, not all the railroads, only 14,410 miles or 8% per cent of the total, were government-aided. Stephen A. Douglass is generally considered the author of the railroad land grant idea.

The government owned vast acreages of land for which it could find no settlers at even as low as 12½ cents an acre because the land was inaccessible or too remote from markets. To give the land value the government persuaded the railroads, then in their infancy, to build by grants of land, 60 in all, totaling 131 million acres.

The railroads built. Settlers followed the lines. Land formerly unsalable at 12½ cents now sold readily for $1.25 and up to $2.50 per acre.

In return for the gifts the railroads bound themselves in perpetuity to transport government troops and materials free in most instances and at half rates in others, and the mails, since 1876, at 80 per cent of base rates.

During debates on the repealer bill in the last congress it was brought out that Uncle Sam, since the first land-grant days, had received from the railroads 900 million dollars of free transportation for his "gift" of land, valued at $125 millions.

In Michigan, 1,100 miles of track on six railroads were built with land grants totaling 3,129,297 acres.

"Passage of the repealer law is the incontrovertible proof," the Michigan Railroads association points out, "that the grants were not outright gifts as has almost universally been thought, but were profitable bargains for Uncle Sam. In addition, building the railroads saved the West to the Union."

400 Present at Outdoor Service

For posterity, nine different articles are enclosed in the cornerstone of the North Holland Reformed church which was laid at an outdoor Thanksgiving service Thursday morning in the presence of 400 persons.

Sealed in the large stone are a copy of The Holland Evening Sentinel containing a picture of the old church and an account of the fire which destroyed it Dec. 11, 1945; a Bible, a hymnal, copy of the Church Herald, pictures of the former building and of the church fire, a list of pastors who have served the congregation, list of the present consistory, a list of the building committee and special building fund treasurer, and coins of 1946.

The Rev. M. G. Folkert, pastor of the church, read the liturgy as the stone was laid in place by Floyd Kraal.

The minister's Thanksgiving message was titled "The Glory of This House."

"Today we are filled with a hope and encouragement because there is the beginning of a new building. It is in keeping with the spirit of Thanksgiving that we are able to lay the cornerstone today and sing praises and give thanks to God who has helped us this far."

"The rebuilding of our church has an interesting parallel in the history of the children of Israel in the rebuilding of the temple of Jerusalem after the time of captivity. The decree of Cyrus, king of Persia, not only allowed the captives to return but also stated that the house of God should be rebuilt."

"We have every reason to believe that from the point of architectural design, construction and workmanship, that the glory of the new church will far exceed the glory of the former."

"But the real glory of the church is not an outward one! If more souls rededicate themselves to Christ in the new church, the glory will be greater. The glory of this church also will depend on the place that we as Christians give to Christ in our lives."

Winter's Advent Causes Serious Highway Accident

Near Blizzard Hits Region Sunday With Mercury Falling Low

Old Man Winter was too generous when he tipped his bag of snow on Holland and her immediate Western Michigan vicinity here Sunday.

The resultant snowfall, which reached blizzard proportions at odd moments was accompanied by a plummeting thermometer, and icy roads which were responsible for several accidents in the area.

A few snow flurries today failed to increase materially the snowfall which measured 3.3 inches at 7 p.m. Sunday, according to Jay Folkert of the Hope college mathematics department who compiles information for the U.S. weather station. The station was moved from the power plant last week to the campus.

Folkert reported an 11 a.m. temperature today of 21 degrees and a minimum this morning of 16. He said it began snowing at 9 a.m. Sunday and stopped at 4:30 p.m.

The worst accident, charged to icy roads, occurred at 8 a.m. today two miles east of Zeeland on the Vriesland road where a two-car crash sent two Zeeland high school students to Huizenga Memorial hospital with serious injuries.

Lloyd Howard, 15, route 3, Zeeland, received a fractured skull, a six-inch neck laceration, besides facial cuts, when he plunged head first through the windshield of a car driven by Howard Schutter, 17, route 2, Dorr, which collided with a car driven by Justin Palmboos, route 2, Zeeland.

Elmer Don Teusink, 16, also of route 3, received a possible skull fracture and facial cuts. The Schutter car was demolished after it rolled over twice and landed in a ditch near a cement culvert against a telephone pole. The Palmboos car remained upright but was badly damaged.

The crash occurred at the intersection known as the Ossewaarde crossing. Schutter and another occupant, Lavern Lantzer, and Palmboos escaped injuries.

Two persons received minor injuries in an accident at 6:45 p.m. two miles south of Holland on US-31 involving cars driven by William R. Mara, 70, of Grand Rapids, and Roy Pursey, 25, Grand Rapids. The two injured persons were Pursey and Mrs. Lillian Mara who also injured her left arm. Mara told officers his car started to skid on the icy pavement and skidded across the road into the oncoming car.

A car driven by Henry Vanden Bosch, 26, route 4, Holland, was damaged on the right front when the driver in attempting to miss hitting another car crashed into a boulevard pole on River Ave. near the railroad tracks. The other car was driven by Harvey Last, 15, of 137 West 15th St. Last said his car skidded as he was crossing the tracks and headed for the Vanden Bosch car.

'Moonstone' Presented To Responsive Audience

The implicated plot of "The Moonstone," mystery play, presented by the Holland Christian High school Alumni association, intrigued the audience during the first performance Thursday night in Holland High school auditorium. An overflow crowd quickly responded to the mysterious and humorous incidents in the play, which was presented by a well-chosen cast. The play is under the direction of Mrs. John L. Bouman.

Action centers around the home of Lady Verinder, ably portrayed by Janet Jonker. The precious Moonstone was bequeathed to Miss Gloria Verinder, played by Gayle Koop, on her 19th birthday. The mysterious disappearance of the diamond shortly after it enters the Verinder household, is followed by many strange events.

Steady, kind-hearted Franklin Blake, portrayed by Howard Becken, and romantic, dashing Godfrey Ablewhite, played by Clarence Pott, both of whom are in love with Miss Gloria, try systematically to help solve the mystery.

The reliable butler, Betteredge, portrayed by Paul Cook, and the friendly Dr. Jennings, played by LaVerne Dykstra, also become involved in the Moonstone mystery. Jovial, confident Sgt. Cluff, portrayed by Alfred Hietbrink, and his able assistant, Mr. Joyce, played by George Knoll, are valuable assistants in the unfolding of the Moonstone mystery. Mr. Knoll also successfully portrayed the role of Mr. Northwaite, an English writer.

Drusilla Clack, depicted by Ervina Van Dyke, added humor to the play with her outmoded ideas and dress. The contrasting characters of the maids, played by Beatrice Michmershuizen, Ruth Kragt, Betty Postma and Leona Kragt, and the part they play in the mystery, retains the interest of the audience.

The Hindu, played by Donald Bulthuis, and the part of the stranger, taken by Merle Grevengeod, adds mystery to the play. The Woman in Black, whose identity is unknown, also plays an important part in the solving of the mystery.

The play was repeated Friday.

No Action Taken On Numbering

No action was taken at a meeting Wednesday night in the Chamber of Commerce headquarters regarding the house numbering and street naming program in the Holland area.

County Engineer Carl T. Bowen explained the offer of the Ottawa County Road Commission to establish a five-by-seven mile area around Holland whereby the current program of numbering houses extending the city's numbering system could be pursued.

Bowen's offer defined the north boundary as just south of James St., which is the road a half mile north of Lakewood Blvd., and the east boundary as just east of the Waverly road. He said the county road names would have to continue to the city limits, not to the limit of the proposed Holland area.

Although no action was taken, some representatives of Holland township indicated it would be simpler in the long run to abide by the county program without establishing a Holland area.

No mention of renumbering houses in Holland was made.

Chicken Pox in Allegan County

Allegan, Dec. 5 — Seven cases of chicken pox, one of scarlet fever and three of strep throat have been reported by the Allegan County Health Department for the week ending Nov. 23.

There were three cases each of chicken pox in Cheshire township and Allegan city and one case in Dorr. The single case of scarlet fever was in Salem. There were two cases of strep throat in Otsego and one in Monterey township.

The department said that it has been recognized in recent years that scarlet fever and streptococcal sore throat, speaking generally, are the same disease, except that it is called scarlet fever when a rash appears and strep throat when there is no rash.

State regulations concerning isolation and quarantine are similar in the two diseases. When the patient is properly isolated either in a hospital or at home, contacts are not required to be quarantined. If there is no isolation, a quarantine period is set of 11 days for the patient and for the exposed persons.

The department urged parents to consult physicians promptly for all cases of sore throat in children.
