Hippie Editor Faces Obscenity Charges

The hippie editor of the Grand Valley State College newspaper, "The Lantern," demanded examination in Holland Municipal Court Tuesday afternoon after being charged with distributing obscene literature.

Unkempt James Wasserman, 21, who gave his address as 954 Watson St., Grand Rapids, was arrested Tuesday by Ottawa sheriff's officers who also served an injunction on the college halting publication of the controversial newspaper.

The administration of Grand Valley College said Wednesday it will comply with the temporary order and that the Board of Control and its legal counsel will review the case before a definitive position is taken. The review is necessary, the administration said, because the newspaper is operated under an independent constitution granted by the Board of Control.

Holland Municipal Court Judge John Galien scheduled an examination for the long-haired, bearded Wasserman Dec. 12 at 11 a.m. and set bond at $5,000. Sheriff's deputies said stories in the Lantern had become increasingly foul since Sheriff Bernard Gysen's men had made arrests on campus Nov. 9 in connection with raids in which marijuana valued at $500 and a quantity of hashish were confiscated.

The injunction stopping publication of the Lantern was drawn up by Prosecutor James W. Bussard and signed by Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith. Named in the injunction were Grand Valley State College, George Potter, acting president, and James Wasserman, editor of the Lantern.

Bussard also authorized a criminal warrant out of Holland Municipal Court charging Wasserman with "distributing lewd, obscene, indecent and filthy newspapers." The paper had come under fire after publishing obscene four-letter words in controversial articles.

Two other campus newspapers have been organized in recent weeks. The first was "The Guardian," edited by a group of students opposed to the policies of the Lantern staff, and the second was "The Liberator," which also assails the Lantern, the official newspaper of the college.

The new Liberator has taken stands on six issues: banishment of apathy from the campus, formation of a football team, meal tickets for commuting students, a chapel on campus, better parking facilities, and longer library hours.

Prosecutor Bussard said today: "If the college administration cannot take care of its internal problems apparently it will be another job for law enforcement officers. I have talked to several persons who made complaints to college officials about the paper but they have received no satisfaction."

$50,000 Sought In Fall in Home

GRAND HAVEN — A $50,000 damage suit by a Holland man was filed in Ottawa Circuit Court Friday as the result of a home accident Oct. 22, 1967.

William G. Kelley of Holland seeks the $50,000 from John H. and Vadie Robertson of Holland, owners of a home at 201 East 15th St. where Robertson claims he fell down seven steps, receiving severe injuries. Kelley claims he slipped on a carpet. Loss of work was cited in the complaint.

SLIDES ON ICE—Two persons in this 1965 pickup truck escaped serious injury when the truck slid on the icy pavement of US-31 500 feet north of 32nd St. at 8 a.m. today. Jay Meiste, 21, 419 West 48th St., driver, was taken to Holland Hospital and released after right shoulder x-rays. Passenger Wayne Koeman, 22, route 1, later went to the hospital for x-rays. Holland police said the truck was headed north on US-31 when a gust of wind forced it around on the icy road. The truck slid into the median and flipped over onto the southbound roadway, police said. Holland firemen were at the scene to wash down gasoline that had spilled from the fuel tank. Weighted Vote Set In Ottawa

New Plan Follows Court of Appeals Apportionment Edict

GRAND HAVEN — Holland city's five supervisors on the new Ottawa county board of supervisors won't get their full five votes when decisions come before the board in 1969.

The Michigan Court of Appeals has ruled that the apportionment under the 21-district plan, tentatively approved for the election of the 21 members for the recent Nov. 5 election, does not comply with the one-man, one-vote rule. Grand Haven city has two members on the new board, R. V. Terrill and J. Nyhof Poel, and claims it should have more representation.

The county apportionment commission adopted a plan for the county May 7, calling for 21 districts, each to be represented by a supervisor. This number is the maximum allowed for a county the size of Ottawa. The present board, which will hold its final meeting in December to approve the budget for 1969, has 38 members. Seven members of the present board were elected to the new board, including Lawrence A. Wade of Holland city.

The Appeals Court has ruled the apportionment will stand for one year but that during the year the board will operate under a "weighted voting" system, whereby the votes are broken down into fractions according to the 1960 population of the various districts. County Clerk Harris Neusma released percentages this week.

Two Holland board members, Wade of district 17, and Thomas De Pree of district 21, will have a fraction over a vote. Wade will have 1.049 votes and De Pree 1.031 votes. Terrill of Grand Haven, representing district 2, will have 1.224 votes and will be "top man" on the vote totem pole. William Kennedy of Allendale and Tallmadge and Raymond Vander Laan of district 10 in Hudsonville city and Georgetown, are next with 1.166 votes each. Lowest vote was given to Bert Schuitema of district 14, Holland township, .821 vote.

A list of the districts, their locations, their population in parentheses, the supervisors and the votes follows:

HHS Biafra Project Gets Approval

City Council Wednesday night granted permission to the Holland High School Student Council—Student Mobilization for Biafra to solicit funds on the streets of Holland and from residences from Dec. 3 to 25.

The project was explained by Dan Bouwman of the Holland High School Council who said a goal of $5,000 is sought, $500 already provided by the Student Council.

He explained that the money will be transmitted via the International Red Cross to the starving Biafrans in Africa. He also said the project is not exclusive with Holland High and expressed the hope it would be expanded to Christian High School and West Ottawa High School.

Council also approved plans submitted by Recreation Director Joe Moran for a lot lot west of Civic Center. Mrs. Lawrence Den Uyl of the Junior Welfare League said the League is interested in furnishing such a lot at this location since there are many small children in the neighborhood and it would be a convenient place to leave children while parents are attending certain even-ings at Civic Center or shopping downtown.

She said the League will turn over proceeds from its annual ball to this project, although it might take two years before funds are sufficient to purchase the desired equipment estimated at $4,460.

Director Moran said the lot would be a smaller lot measuring 53 by 47 feet accommodating 30 to 40 children. It would be located directly west of the kitchen area in Civic Center where the custodians' window overlooks the area. It would be smaller than the lot at Maplewood playgrounds which measures 100 by 70 feet.

Council voted 8-1 to approve the program with Councilman Robert Dykstra dissenting on grounds of location. The vote included a city manager's recommendation for the city to provide $1,120 for such items as fencing, retaining wall and sand.

Council referred two communications from the Liquor Control Commission to the city manager for study. One was advising that unless Council has any objections, the commission will renew licenses to sell beer and wine for consumption on the premises. The other was on a request of James Pollock and Ward Hansen for a new SDM license in conjunction with the 1968-69 SDD license at 505 West 17th St.

Council acknowledged gifts to Herrick Public Library from eight donors involving books and flags.

The city clerk reported that three appointments to the Board of Review and two to the Planning Commission are to be made by mayor and council during January.

Council confirmed a certification from Councilman Dyke, Holland Litho Service, for purchase by the engineering department in the amount of $2.25.

Claims against the city entered by H. Harold Mickle, 731 Marylane Dr.; Mrs. Armina Hoffman, 37 Manley Ave.; and Henry Vanden Berg, Twin Lake, Mich., were referred to the insurance carrier.

Low bid of Ver Hage of Holland, Inc., for $12,317.50 for 10 1969 police cars with nine cars to be traded in was unanimously approved. It was low of three bids.

Council also approved as best bid a box spreader for the street department from Miller Equipment Co. at $2,202.95. Low bid did not meet specifications. Five were entered.

Because New Year's Day falls on a Wednesday, Council decided to hold regular meetings on the second and fourth Wednesdays in January instead of the first and third Wednesdays. There are five Wednesdays in January, 1969.

Mayor Nelson Bosman presided at the meeting which lasted an hour and a quarter. All Councilmen were present. The Rev. Miner Stegenga, retired minister, gave the invocation.

Births in Holland Hospital include a daughter, Kerri Lynn, born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Sherwin Brower, route 1, Hamilton; a son, John Abram, born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. James Hays, 37½ South Pine St.; a daughter, Kim Dawn, born today to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Serbin, 75 East Ninth St.

Public Sampling Program Slated By City Council

City Council is launching a new public sampling program which hopefully will provide two-way communication between Council and the public in seeking solutions to urban problems prevalent today.

The subject was introduced at a regular meeting of City Council Wednesday night by City Manager Herb Holt who submitted a list of 81 addresses and names of persons for such a program, selected by the Center for Urban Studies of the University of Michigan.

Selected scientifically, these persons should reflect attitudes of the entire community. This group will be called together from time to time for a give-and-take discussion on city problems.

Plans call for Council members to deliver in person letters signed by Mayor Nelson Bosman to the 81 persons in question to explain the program and to solicit their interest in civic affairs. Names of persons cooperating will be released at a later date.

Plans for public opinion samplings grew out of discussions at the annual session of the Michigan Municipal League in Lansing Sept. 20. Councilman Morris Peerbolt said there had been a lot of talk on the part

Car-Truck Crash Fatal for Woman

Ottawa county recorded its 35th traffic fatality of the year at 3:22 a.m. Wednesday when Lula Borst, 22, of 1 North River Ave. was killed in a car-truck accident on US-31 three-tenths of a mile south of James St. in Holland township.

Carol Jean Davis, 19, of 333 East Lakewood Blvd., the second occupant of the car, is in critical condition at Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids. Ottawa county sheriff's deputies said the car the two women were in slammed into the rear of a semi loaded with 45,000 pounds of applesauce.

The truck driver, Erwin C. Brakel, 39, of Buckley, was not injured.

Mrs. Borst was pronounced dead on arrival at Holland Hospital. She had suffered head injuries, deputies said.

Mrs. Davis received severe multiple head and body injuries and at noon was reported "dangerously ill" by Butterworth spokesman. Holland Hospital spokesman said she was unconscious at the time she was transferred to Grand Rapids.

Deputies said both vehicles were headed south on US-31. They reported the 40-foot, fully loaded semi, tractor and trailer, was struck in the rear with such force that it knocked the extreme rear tandem axle under the trailer owned by Duffy-Mott Co. Inc. of Traverse City.

The car, according to deputies, travelled 103 feet from the point of impact and came to rest on its left side in the median between the north and southbound lanes. It was facing south.

One of the young women was pinned under the car and the other was found partly in the car behind the steering wheel and partly on the ground. Deputies had not been able to determine who was driving the car. The truck had travelled 188 feet from the point of impact. The tractor and trailer landed alongside the west side of the southbound lane, off the travelled portion of the road.

Mrs. Borst, who had attended Allegan High School, is survived by her husband, Frederick; one daughter, Carol Lee Borst; her mother, Mrs. Mable Sherman of Holland; six sisters, Mrs. Rose Resseguie of Holland, Mrs. Mack (Esther) Selby of Paw Paw, Mrs. Dale (Violet) Schut of Holland, Mrs. Donald (Daisy) Fike of West Olive, Mrs. Dick (Mary) Michaels of Holland, Mrs. James (Annie) Woods of Holland; three brothers, James Sherman of Grand Junction, William Sherman of Borculo and Thomas Sherman of Holland.

Earn 64-63 Win in Final 23 Seconds

Bruce Klaasen scored only four points Friday night, yet was the hero of Holland Christian's 64-63 basketball win over Hudsonville Unity Christian.

With 1:05 remaining in the game Klaasen scored his only basket to bring Christian within one, at 61-60. John Nysse, of Unity, followed with two free throws with 23 seconds left, for a three-point Crusader lead.

Steve Baker scored for the Maroons with 16 seconds left. Klaasen was then fouled with eight seconds to play, shooting the one and one, and hit on both to change apparent defeat into victory.

The game was close all the way, with six points being the largest lead for either team. The score was tied 13 times and changed hands nine times, the last being Klaasen's winning free throws.

Unity took a 6-4 lead and remained ahead the rest of the first quarter even though the Maroons took seven more shots than the Crusaders. The score at the end of the quarter was 17-14 with Unity ahead as they hit on eight of 16 attempts, while Christian made seven of 23. The Maroons missed all five charity attempts in the opening period.

The Crusaders increased their margin to 21-16 before Christian scored 11 points while holding the losers to three, to take a 27-24 margin. Dick Frens gave the Maroons their first lead of the game with 3:15 left in the half, as he sank two free throws. Unity regained the lead, 28-27, before Dan Brower and Art Tuls hit baskets for a 31-28 Christian lead at the half. Tuls' basket came as the horn sounded.

The second half was 10 seconds old when Bob Haven gave the Maroons a five-point lead. However, the Crusaders came back and tied the score 35 all with 5:23 left in the quarter. The score was tied at 37, 39, 41 and 43 before Christian took a 49-45 third quarter margin.

Each team made four baskets in the first three minutes of the fourth quarter, with Frens garnering three and Nysse two, and the Maroons still led 57-53. Two more Nysse baskets tied the score with 4:06 remaining in the game. Harley Masselink put Unity in the lead with 2:40 left. After Brower scored on a charity toss Masselink again connected with 1:50 left and the Crusaders enjoyed a 61-58 lead, to set the stage for Klaasen's clutch scoring.

Brower led the Maroons with 17 points, followed by 12 each for Tuls and Frens. Nysse had the game high with 21. Dave De Good added 12 and Nick Talsma 10 for Unity.

Brower also grabbed 16 of Christian's rebounds, while Talsma collected 10 of Unity's 34.

In the shooting department the Maroons hit on 27 field goals in 98 attempts for 27 per cent, and the Crusaders 25 of 51 for 49 per cent. Christian converted on 10 of 20 charity tosses and Unity on 13 of 16.

It occurred sometime Saturday night and was reported to deputies shortly after noon Sunday.

What puts the theft of the 2 by 3-foot sign in the humorous category is the fact it read: "Guard Dogs on Duty — Trespassers Will Be Shot At."

NOT RETIRING YET — William C. Tange who learned gunsmithing as a boy in Germany is shown with an 8 mm. Mauser he built, incorporating many of his own innovations including the silent "cross-bolt safety," special sights and hand-made stock. He came to Allegan from Germany in 1927 and after several years as a furniture and casket maker returned to gunsmithing in 1933.

Veteran Allegan Gunsmith Not Ready for Retirement

ALLEGAN — Many a Southwestern Michigan gun fancier breathed easier when he heard that rumors of William C. Tange's impending retirement were "greatly exaggerated."

The veteran gunsmith does plan to phase out his retail operation, but will continue to operate his Wiltan Gun Shop for as long as he's able.

After all, gunsmithing has been both hobby and trade to Tange ever since he built his first gun in his father's workshop in Hamburg, Germany, at the age of 12. It was a muzzle-loading match-lock pistol. In order to test-fire it, he cast his own bullets and compounded his own gunpowder. The fuse, he recalls, was a piece of shoe-lace.

In 1918, at the age of 13, he was apprenticed to a famous Dutch gunsmith, F. W. Van Dry, who had come to Germany from the United States after working for the Winchester Arms Co. at New Haven, Conn. The Van Dry Co. was by appointment court gunsmith to both the Grand Duchy of Oldenburg and the family of Prince Bismarck, first chancellor of the German Empire.

Tange recalls the time he was summoned to the Bismarck estates for a "serious emergency." A large hunt was in progress and one of the family's best guns was inoperable due to the carelessness of a gamekeeper. He remembers that the entire hunting party of more than a hundred waited impatiently while he painstakingly restored a part to its original tolerance of something like a millionth of an inch by rubbing it with crocus cloth — the finest grade of emery paper.

After only a year as an apprentice — at the age of 14 — Tange had built from scratch a working copy of a .25 calibre automatic pistol, but he spent three more years of apprenticeship and four years as a journeyman before he received his certificate at a gunsmith.

The ink was hardly dry on the certificate before he made up his mind that postwar Germany was no place for a gunsmith. He wanted to go to the United States but in those days it wasn't easy. Immigrants had to have an American sponsor. Fortunately one was found, a distant relative on his mother's side. He was the late Emil Schmitz, who operated furniture and casket factories in Allegan for many years.

Tange came directly to Allegan from Hamburg in 1927 to work in the Schmitz factory. Within a year he had saved enough to make his only trip back to Germany. In 1928 he made the 10,000 mile journey to marry his childhood sweetheart, Elsie, and bring her back to Allegan. Since then he has had no desire to return to his homeland.

He continued as a furniture and casket maker until 1933 when the late Sheriff Fred Miller convinced him he should return to gunsmithing. With financial help from Miller, Schmitz and the late Oliver Huley, Tange constructed and outfitted a small shop behind his home, then located on Sherman Street.

Even in those times, Tange was one of the very few expertly trained gunsmiths in Michigan and — although it was in the depths of the depression — the business grew. By 1938 he was able to devote full time to the business and purchase the building at 422 Water Street which now houses the shop on the ground floor with the residence upstairs.

Since then the "Wiltan" mark has become familiar to "gun-nuts" throughout Michigan and several adjoining states. Gun buffs come to Tange with their problems and with a rare combination of expertise in all the fields which gunsmithing calls upon — engineering, wood, working, metallurgy, chemistry and ballistics — he solves them. The World War II years were extremely busy for Tange. New guns were impossible to obtain. Factory-made repair parts were equally scarce.

He was unofficial gunsmith to most of the law enforcement agencies in Southwestern Michigan in those days, keeping their firearms in working order on an almost "round-the-clock" basis.

Tange has had a working partnership with law officers ever since Sheriff Miller talked him into opening a shop. He recalls one incident from the pre-war period. A posse was being formed to capture the notorious Chicago gunman, "Machine-gun Kelly," known to be in hiding in the vicinity of Bloomington. One Allegan county deputy sheriff had jammed his rifle with the wrong size ammunition in his anxiety to join the posse. While he paced the floor, Tange dismantled the gun, extracted the oversize ammunition and began to reassemble the rifle. By the time the job was complete, word of Kelly's capture had reached Allegan.

The same incident produced another job for Tange. When captured, Kelly was found to have in his possession a matched pair of the famous "Ned Buntline Specials" — the long-barreled six-guns made famous by the Marshal Matt Dillon television series, "Gunsmoke." One of the pair was sent to the Governor of Michigan while the other was presented to then Prosecuting Attorney Wellbourne Luna, as a souvenir. Luna and Tange cut down the 14-inch barrel to a more manageable six inches, despite all protests that the gun would be a collector's item.

In recent years, more and more of Tange's time has been devoted to work on antique guns for collectors. Not long ago he completely rebuilt a Kentucky long rifle for a customer. The gun had been found in a hill-country cabin. The stock was rotted and many of the iron parts badly rusted. When Tange completed the restoration he did just what he does with every gun he repairs — taking it out to test fire it. The first shot was right in the center of the red diamond target — at 75 feet. The muzzle-loading flint-lock is believed to have been built for the Indian trade. Tange did a little detective work on this one and learned — from the gold and silver inlays in the stock — that the gun had been made by Running Fox, son of Little Elk, a Crow Indian.

Of late he also has been building small, scale models of old cannons and naval guns, a hobby which calls on all of the skills he has acquired in his years as a gunsmith.

A SHORTAGE OF FIXERS

One of the ironies of modern life is that there never seem to be enough fixers to fix things when things go on the blink. When a housewife hears one of her offspring shout, "Mom, water's running over the cellar floor!" the immediate reaction is "Call the plumber" — but the plumber may be long in coming. Getting an electrician or carpenter or television repairman to show up in a hurry also is a chancy thing in many communities.

There is, in short, a shortage of fixers. It is bad enough in an average town or city. In some small town adjacent to an automobile plant or some other devourer of workmen, getting an odd job done is almost hopeless. More than a simple shortage of repairmen is involved; there also is the matter of scheduling. The problem might be eased considerably if the fixers, or at any rate some of them, would stagger their working hours to make provision for calls at odd times. There's money in it for fixers who hit on a good system for making themselves available when things need fixing.

Christ Speaks to His Churches
Revelation 1:9-11; 3:7-13
By C. P. Dame

The Book of Revelation was written in a time of persecution for the purpose of encouraging the Christians who were persecuted by the Roman emperor. The book speaks of the sovereign God who will eventually overcome all the forces of evil. This truth deserves to be remembered in this day when evil is so bold and subtle.

I. God uses men to bring His message to the church. John, the beloved apostle of Jesus was in the isle of Patmos, located in the Mediterranean Sea, about 35 miles from the mainland. In the first section of Revelation there are seven letters to the seven churches of Asia Minor. We can't discuss all the letters and so we will limit our study to the letter sent to the church in Philadelphia. Churches in that day were different just as the churches of today are all unlike.

The writer "was in the spirit on the Lord's Day" — on the first day of the week. The early Christians observed the first day in memory of the Lord's resurrection from the dead—note Acts 20:7 and 1 Corinthians 16:2. John calls himself a brother. The word suggests unity. All Christians have God as their Father and hence all are brothers in the spiritual sense of the word. John was also their "companion in tribulation"—persecution was common — "and in the kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ."

The Lord called Himself the "Alpha and Omega," the first and last words of the Greek alphabet. He is the beginning and end in Creation, in Revelation and in Redemption. The risen Christ told John to write what he saw and send it to the various churches which he did.

II. The Lord knows every church. A reading of the seven letters reveals four distinct matters — Christ's title, His commendation, His complaint and His counsel. Each letter is addressed to the angel of the local church—to the pastor. In the letter to Philadelphia Jesus says that He is holy, true, and that he has "the key of David" — a symbol of authority.

The Lord gave "an open door" to the church at Philadelphia. Every church has opportunities, some more than others. The church had little strength, but it used what it had, and did a great work. Small churches can do great things in the power of the Lord. This church had kept the Lord's word and not denied His name which explains why the church had power. The church met with opposition from the synagogue of Satan — from the unbelieving Jews. The more faithful a church is to the Word the more opposition it will meet.

III. The Lord makes and keeps His promises. More persecutions were coming but the Lord would keep the church in its hour of trial. The Lord said that He will make every conqueror "a pillar in the temple of my God" — give him stability and in addition a position. "I will write upon him the name of my God and the name of the city of my God." The redeemed will bear a likeness to God and be citizens of the heavenly city. Great things await those who conquer.

Sgt. Forest H. Shuck Receives Silver Star

Sgt. Forest H. Shuck, E5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Shuck of 288 West 13th St., has received the Silver Star award "for gallantry in action against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam" on May 25, 1968.

Sgt. Shuck, who was discharged from Walter Reed Army Hospital on the Army on Aug. 15, "distinguished himself by intrepid actions on May 25 while serving with Company D, First Battalion, 52nd Infantry."

The citation read "On that date, Sgt. Shuck, communications chief for the company, was participating in a search and clear operation near the hamlet of Chien Son (110 miles southwest of Da Nang) when the command group was suddenly ambushed by a group of approximately 35 North Vietnamese army soldiers."

"The initial burst of enemy fire killed the commanding officer and one other man and Sgt. Shuck was severely wounded."

"Despite his wounds, the citation continues, 'Sgt. Shuck immediately returned fire upon the enemy killing two enemy soldiers. Sgt. Shuck then, in the face of intense enemy fire and with complete disregard for his personal safety, stood and threw hand grenades at the closest enemy positions.'"

"About this time, Sgt. Shuck had become extremely weak and collapsed on the ground. Yet he continued to fire his M16 rifle at the enemy, keeping them away from the now stranded group."

Sgt. Shuck held the enemy off the group until other friendly elements provided them with suppressive fire, allowing them to leave the kill zone."

"Before leaving the kill zone, Sgt. Shuck managed to obtain all the equipment and documents from the bodies of his dead commander and other comrades that would have been invaluable to the enemy despite his wounds."

Sgt. Shuck exhibited the highest standards of courage in this encounter with the enemy. Sgt. Shuck's courage, devotion to duty and unselfish concern for his fellow soldiers are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, The American Division and the United States Army."

Sgt. Shuck entered the Army Oct. 6, 1966, and took his basic and AIT training at Ft. Hood, Texas, where he was awarded the "Outstanding Trainee" award of the First Recon Troop. He was then stationed in Vietnam.

Hope Nets Season Opener, 84-71

Schreiber, Van Huis Hit 51 Points

Outscoring Lake Forest College, 17-4 in the final 6:15 seconds of the game, Hope College's basketball team opened the 1968-69 season here Saturday night with an 84-71 victory.

Hope, sporting a fast-running, free-shooting team, was paced in the contest by senior center Bruce Van Huis who scored 31 points and pulled down 19 rebounds.

He was backed up by a fine 20 point effort from sophomore Barry Schreiber and a ten point performance by freshman Marty Snoop.

Hope jumped into an early 4-0 lead on two baskets by Schreiber and at the 10:00 mark of the first half held a slim 19-18 advantage.

After the lead changed hands a couple of times Hope outscored the Foresters 20-8 in the half's final six minutes to hold a 45-36 halftime lead.

The charge was led by Snoop who tallied eight points.

The first half saw Hope outshoot the Foresters, 46-36. Hope hit on 20 of their shots for 43 per cent while Lake Forest hit 16 for 44 per cent.

Al Shethar paced Lake Forest with 11 in the half while Mike Maiman added nine.

The taller Hope squad outrebounded Lake Forest, 30-24 with Van Huis leading all rebounders with nine.

Hope increased their lead to 58-47 before a full court zone press by the Foresters caused numerous Hope turnovers which Lake Forest took advantage of to tie the game up at 58-58 with 9:21 remaining.

Hope had a three and one-half minute scoring lapse before a bucket by Ken Hendrix put the Flying Dutchmen back in the lead, 60-58 with 8:57 left.

At 5:50 Lake Forest took the lead for the last time, 67-65.

Baskets by Schreiber, Randy Adolphs and Tom Dykstra put Hope ahead to stay and later Van Huis hit three straight buckets to clinch the opener for Hope.

Except for the brief period mid-way in the second half when the Lake Forest press bothered Hope, the Flying Dutchmen did a good job of ball-handling in a fast break pattern basketball.

Hope committed a total of 15 turnovers to the Foresters 12. Ten of the Hope turnovers came within a six minute span in the second half.

In the game Hope hit 37 of 84 shots for 44 per cent while Lake Forest hit on 30 of 76 for 39 per cent.

Hope outrebounded the Foresters 58-46.

Hope will meet Aquinas College at the Holland Civic Center. The game will start at 8 p.m.

The purchase of Carousal Mountain Ski Resort by Chicago Industrialist Norbert C. Smith was announced Saturday. Smith acquired the 5-year-old winter sports facility on the south end of Holland from the United Insurance Co. of America which had taken over the property in 1966. The purchase price was not disclosed.

L. J. "Larry" Phillips, who has been representing the Chicago insurance company's interests at Carousal Mountain, will remain in charge, Smith said.

Phillips has resigned his position as account executive in the mortgage loan department and "trouble shooter" with United to become general manager and vice president of the ski resort.

Smith and his family flew to Holland Friday in their private plane and spent most of their day sightseeing and meeting new acquaintances.

The new owner reviewed plans for the 1968-69 season with Phillips in the resort lodge Friday afternoon. The season will open as soon as weather permits, he said.

"We've reworked all the slopes, and they'll be ready for skiers whenever we get enough snow or when the temperatures are low enough for us to make a solid base and hold it," Phillips announced.

A new "expert hill" has been added this year, making a total of five slopes. New snow equipment, including three 125 h.p. compressors, is installed and ready to operate.

Special activities planned for this year, Phillips added, includes Family Night every Thursday, with a buffet supper; cook-outs every Saturday night during the ski season; Sunday morning brunches, also during the ski season; and Ladies Day every Thursday, featuring a noon luncheon and afternoon skiing.

Instruction classes for elementary, high school and college age skiers also are scheduled and are filling up rapidly, Phillips said. Some vacancies still remain.

The number of season memberships in all classes is running well ahead of last year, he added. These will remain available until Jan. 15.

Smith is well known in industrial and business circles in the western Michigan area where he has done business in Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo and other cities for nearly 25 years. It was his high regard for this area, he said, that led to his consideration and ultimate purchase of the ski resort.

Smith is president of Lennox Engineering Co., Chicago, and president of Dimco, also of Chicago, a company operating six electronics and metal fabricating plants located at various points throughout the United States. He is a member of the Sunset Ridge Country Club, Northfield, Ill., and the Northfield Community Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their three younger children, Gary, Wendy and Lisa, will continue to make their home in Northfield for the immediate future, he said. They also have a married daughter, Mrs. John Packel, of Evanston.

Overbeek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Overbeek; Fred A. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Smith and Katrina Van Lente, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale E. Van Lente.

Holland High School has two semifinalists, Victor Folkert, son of Dr. and Mrs. Jay Folkert and Mary Houting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Houting.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, said: "Although Commended students advance no further in the National Merit Scholarship competition, their outstanding record in this nationwide program deserves public recognition. Their significant academic attainment gives promise of continued success in college.

The Commended students' names are reported to other scholarship-granting agencies and to colleges named by the students when they took the test. We encourage these students to make every effort to continue their education."

Light Plant Unit Near Completion

The fifth addition to the James De Young light plant is rapidly nearing completion and probably will be put into operation sometime in January, Chamber of Commerce Early Birds were informed at a breakfast in Hotel Warm Friend Tuesday.

The speaker was Marvin Fink, project engineer of Black and Veatch, consulting engineers for the latest project which will add 30,000 kilowatt capacity to an installation already having a capacity of close to 50,000 kilowatts.

Fink was of the opinion that the fifth unit is the final one for the plant and that hereafter a new facility will be designed to meet continuing demands.

He estimated costs of the new addition will run about $5.4 million with a boiler costing about $1 million; turbine, three-quarter million; condenser and auxiliary equipment, quarter million; building construction, $1 million plus, and mechanical and electrical contracts, $1 million.

The visiting engineer said the demand for electrical power has doubled in Holland in the last 12 years and he pointed out that, unlike water, power cannot be stored but must be generated. He said Holland's operation uses pulverized coal of a consistency almost as fine as talcum powder which is burned in suspension in air previously heated to 600 degrees.

He said water from Lake Macatawa is used in huge quantities—about double the amount used by Holland on a hot summer day. Separate piping systems pump the cooling water to the generating equipment and return the warm water to the lake.

The new fifth unit has been designed to include a locker room, an office and a new entrance to the plant.

During the question period, Fink said American engineers have not found it feasible to incinerate garbage in its power plants. This method has been used in Europe where most power plants are publicly owned and not concerned with efficiency to the degree American economy dictates. He said there are many problems in disposing of solid wastes and Europe has spent large sums of money in intermingling the two subjects. One problem is corrosion necessitating retubing once a year, an expensive procedure.

The speaker also expects in time that Holland will have to cool the water returning to the lake since heated water can contribute to water pollution.

Putting power lines underground is difficult and a lot more expensive than overhead, but Holland is installing underground lines in the newer residential areas.

Converting to gas from coal is not immediately foreseeable for Holland since present gas supplies are not adequate for the local system. Fink added that a gas pipeline system is not acceptable to an electrical utility as an exclusive supplier.

Fink was introduced by Guy E. Bell, superintendent of the Board of Public Works. BPW personnel present also were introduced.

GRANDSTANDING ..

Jim De Neff

By Vern Plagenhoef

1969 may be the year for Jim De Neff.

De Neff is a Holland High School graduate who was signed to a professional baseball contract on June 9, 1966 by the California Angels.

Asked about his chances of making the major league club this coming season De Neff said, "I don't know, it depends on how many home runs I hit in spring training. It really does."

"I know I have better than a fifty-fifty chance."

"What they really want is for me to start in right field."

All this began for De Neff following his sophomore year at other reason for his early departure was a back injury which he incurred at El Paso.

The spring of 1968 saw Jim report to his first major league spring training camp upon receiving a major league contract as part of the Angels' 40 man roster.

In spring training at Palm Springs, Calif. Jim, "got to bat against all the boys, McDowell, Tiant, Marichal."

Was he impressed?

"Not really, they threw with better control, a lot better control, but not any harder."

This past season at El Paso was Jim's most successful.

Angel officials told Jim before the season to, "forget your average and just blast away."

And so he did.

In 95 games Jim hit for a .250 average but socked 19 home runs, second in the league, and drove in 55 runs as a mainstay for the El Paso club which finished the season in first place in the Texas League.

Jim was also the second best fielding third baseman in the league despite the fact that he played everywhere because of service commitments of some of the players.

On July 26 Jim, "tore all the ligaments in my right foot," and was out for the year.

At the time he was leading the team in stolen bases and had already hit more home runs than he had the previous two years of his professional career.

To cap the season, despite his injury, Jim was selected to the Texas League All-Star team as a third baseman.

Asked to differentiate between college, Class A, and Class AA ball Jim felt, "college and Class A ball are about the same." As to the advantages of Class AA, "pitchers throw the same thing with better control, but the fielders are so much better that they knock about ten to 20 points off your average."

"At El Paso we fly charter. El Paso's field is not so good, but the others in the league are real nice, they're major league ball parks."

"The fences are farther back in the higher leagues and the fans are a lot better."

When asked if this was advantageous to the players Jim remarked, "Yes, you play better. You come up in a clutch situation and the fans get behind you."

The life of a professional baseball player according to De Neff is "great for a single guy (which he is). Real good pay, meet a lot of people, get a lot of contacts, there is a good opportunity for jobs if you're in-

Students Share With Others To Celebrate Thanksgiving

The children of the Holland City Mission and Bravo Christian Elementary Schools decided to celebrate Thanksgiving differently from the usual way this year. In order to express their thanks for the blessings they have received, the students decided to share with others less fortunate than themselves.

The children of the South Side and Rose Park schools brought food for needy families in their own community which will be distributed by the Holland City Mission and Bravo Christian Elementary Schools. The Maplewood School children are planning to collect food stuffs in the same manner for distribution in the community at Christmas.

The children of East View and West Side Schools collected funds for the Christian Reformed World Relief Committee. Their specific project was called "Animals for Korea" and the $125 contribution of the West Side students will enable the CRWRC to send three cows, one goat and some rabbits to needy families in Korea.

The East View children gave enough to send three goats and some rabbits.

The Korean people who receive the gifts are in turn asked to present the first offspring of the animals to the CRWRC which will then give them to other needy families.

St. and College Ave. at 8:12 a.m. Tuesday.

Holland police who are investigating said Mrs. Bonzelaar was driving north on College Ave. when the car collided with one driven by Lewis Teninge, 44, of 1264 Beach Dr.

Police said the Teninge car, east on Ninth St., had stopped for the sign and was starting to make a left turn when the collision occurred.
