EVERY PENNY HELPS — Kelly Vis, 2½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Vis, Leisure Acres Trailer Park, drops her penny in the Salvation Army Kettle as Debbie Roelofs, 19, a bell ringer for seven years, graciously accepts the contribution. Gertrude Marlink, 367 West 22nd St., was on hand to explain to her granddaughter that the penny will help buy food for a needy area child. (Sentinel photo)

Bell Ringers: Only Hardy Volunteers Need Apply

By Ann Hungerford

"Standing on a patch of cardboard helps keep your feet warmer," Major John Kimmons assured me.

So with my feet planted firmly on a plot of cardboard, my ringing wrist wrapped for action, my pockets brimming with "I give" buttons to give, and a Merry Christmas smile on my face, I eagerly began my one-half-hour stint as a bell ringer for the Salvation Army.

The temperature at First National Bank registered 29, not frigid but nippy.

"When are they going to get that thing fixed," I kept thinking. "It's got to be colder than that."

My first discovery . . . vigorous wrist action keeps the wrist warm . . . and little else.

Jumping up and down on one or both feet would degrade the dignity of my volunteer's badge so I went the stoic route — a staunch, stable stance.

To take my mind off the cold I began experimenting with adding flair to my bell ringing. My quick up-and-down wrist movement had generated only a monotonous ding-a-ding dong but with persistence I managed to keep time with the Christmas music being played downtown.

Occasionally the clapper would sneak in an extra ding and throw off my beat.

"My" first donor was a handsome Hope College student, Brian Hipwell, 19, from whom I coerced a pledge of donating again this season. (Authentic volunteers never coerce or coax a contributor.)

Hipwell was followed by several elderly contributors who sincerely knew the joy of giving despite their obvious meager existence.

Mildred Wiersma, an active Golden Ager, and Jo Hopps, donated next and mentioned that they always give when they can.

Mrs. Chris Smith, dropped a bill into the bucket (a rarity according to the Major. Most of the $2,000 to $3,000 collected in Kettles is received in coins.) Mrs. Smith also noted that she gave wherever a kettle was available.

Two five-year-olds, Wendy McLaughlin and Paul Johnson, knew the red kettle was to put money into but despite motherly prodding couldn't quite decide what the money was to be used for.

Each year kettle money supplies food, clothing and toys for the approximately 250 legitimately destitute families in the Holland area. And this year, Major Kimmons fears, the number may soar.

But thus far, the kettle take has been good. The day the Kiwanis Club collected, they raised more money than any previous year, Kimmons said.

With the economy as it is, the Salvation Army still fears that not enough funds will be collected to help the greater numbers who will need it.

Empathy is possibly the best explanation why funds, as yet, have not fallen off. When you feel hardship yourself, it's easier to understand the plight of others less fortunate.

Perhaps it's just a year when the realities of hardship puncture the consciousness of each individual just a little, just enough to prompt gratitude for blessings previously uncounted and empathetic generosity where none had existed.

Despite assistance from service clubs, namely Kiwanis Club, Rotary, Exchange, Lions, Noon Kiwanis and Optimists, the Salvation Army still needs many volunteers, including both individuals and clubs.

"Volunteering with a club or friends can be great fun," according to Kimmons.

"Several of the Golden Agers have volunteered to man the kettles but some of them are way up in years," Kimmons said somewhat fearful for their health.

"But," the recently assigned-to Holland Major reflected, "they do come from hardy Dutch stock and can take the weather."

Most volunteers work 15 minutes on and 15 minutes off and Kimmons suggests alternating with a friend. High school and college volunteers are warmly welcomed and a primary time to fill is 1 to 5 p.m.

Because of reassignment within the Salvation Army not all service clubs in the area were contacted before the start of the collection so all organizations are encouraged to participate.

Kettles are usually located at Thrifty Acres, Shopper's Fair, Woolworth's and First National Bank and Trust Co.

"The response of local businesses has been outstanding," Kimmons said sincerely. "In other towns merchants often consented because they felt they had too. Here the businesses really want to help and extend us every courtesy."

Ted Zondervan, manager at Thrifty Acres, specifically requested that, if possible, Hazel Van Wieren return to their store to ring bells.

Kimmons related Zondervan's conversation: "She's a gracious lady. We all fell in love with her."

The gracious lady is in her fourth year of bell ringing and considers it a high honor to be asked back. Hazel, who works approximately 120 hours a season, explains that she gets the strength to endure the brisk December cold from "the Lord who stands by my side giving me courage."

Hazel says that only a few out of the thousands of people she meets, ever ridicule her task. "In all the years I have only had three or four youths try to play games. Most young people take it seriously," she says.

She particularly enjoys small children who contribute a penny and smile.

So if you can't give a coin, give a smile. It's tremendous encouragement for the frosted volunteer.

And if you have an hour to spare, volunteer. It's not easy but then that makes the reward of helping so much better.

With my 30 minutes up, my feet and smile frozen, my wrist warm but swollen, and my pockets void of donor buttons, I reluctantly turned in my bell, my badge, my board (made of cardboard) and my theory of yours.

You have a splendid imagination!

Three New Teachers Approved

Three new staff members were approved by the Holland Board of Education Monday night as replacements during the current year. The monthly meeting was held in Longfellow School.

Nancy Cross, a 1973 Michigan State University graduate with no experience, will teach in Harrington Elementary School. Elaine M. Gavette, a 1973 Wheaton College graduate with one year's experience, and Nancy Meeusen, a 1970 Hope College graduate with two years' experience, will teach in Longfellow School.

The board approved a summer workshop for the instructional media department, and approved plans to apply for vocational education projects for persons with special needs. The latter projects, financed through federal funds, were outlined by Dr. Nicholas Fridsma and Don Gebraad covering vocational programs for all handicapped children, as well as disadvantaged children.

This program would cover seven school districts: Allegan, Fennville, Hamilton, Holland, Saugatuck, West Ottawa and Zeeland. It would include co-op training where indicated.

The board approved a policy for administering the Herick trust covering a $50,000 bequest which has been invested. The policy covers ground rules for administering the income from the trust.

The board adopted a resolution establishing a checking account at First Michigan Bank and Trust Co. for the 1974 high school athletic site fund. The Zeeland banking institution was low bidder for a $350,000 bond issue let at a meeting of the board Nov. 25. The net effective interest rate was 5.24536 per cent for bonds running 10 years.

Longfellow Principal Jane Lampen introduced her school's teaching staff and its PTO president, Mrs. Ronald Boeve, plus student teachers from Hope College. 24-Mile Link Completes 80-Mile Freeway

Gerald R. Ford Freeway Is Officially Opened

The Gerald R. Ford Freeway, an 80-mile highway from I-96 in Grand Rapids to I-94 east of Benton Harbor, was opened at noon Wednesday, following dedication ceremonies for the final 24-mile link between Grandville and Holland.

Gov. William Milliken was unable to be present for the ceremonies, but President Ford's three brothers, Thomas, Richard and James, represented the President. Thomas Ford read a message from the White House praising the federal interstate highway system in saving lives, reducing travel time and providing economic benefits to cities and towns along the way.

The Holland High School Dutchman band, wearing wooden shoes and Dutch caps, provided band music under the direction of Carl Dephouse.

A cold, stubborn fog that refused to lift hung over the dedication site at the 44th St. interchange near Grandville. Wesley Tebeau of the West Michigan Tourist Association, master of ceremonies, asked the Ford brothers to tell their famous brother to come to come to Michigan for vacations, not to Aspen, Colo. He spoke of Michigan's growing reputation as a great winter vacation spot and expressed the hope that there would be no controls on gasoline.

E. V. Erickson, chairman of the State Highway Commission, read a message from Gov. Milliken, stating that Michigan freeways now total over 1,000 miles, and I-96, known as the Gerald R. Ford Freeway, is the first to be named after an individual. Interstate highways are financed by 90 per cent federal funds and 10 per cent state funds.

The President's message mentioned his long standing support of the federal interstate system and his personal satisfaction in Michigan highways which have been "particularly meaningful to me."

Mayors of all cities and towns from Holland to Grand Rapids posed with the Ford family at the close of the ceremonies and snipped a huge ribbon across the eastbound highway. Later, state officials and others were photographed with the Ford family.

Several hundred people were present for the dedication ceremonies which lasted about a half hour.

Among guests introduced by Tebeau were Miss Michigan, representatives of agencies and political units sponsoring the event, and state and local officials.

May Be Out of Service for 3 Months

Boiler Damage Hits $250,000

Damage in a boiler explosion Friday night at the James De Young power plant has been estimated at $250,000 and Board of Public Works General Manager Ronald L. Ranson said the boiler could be out of service from two to three months for repairs.

Inspectors entered the boiler during the weekend after it cooled down and Ranson said girders in the boiler wall itself were damaged by a secondary explosion when fuel was ignited following the initial damage when water tubing in a gas passage area burst.

Ranson said the boiler was coal-fired and was in the process of being deactivated for inspection and repairs when the explosions occurred Friday at 10:12 p.m. Two workmen suffered minor injuries.

Other boilers and generators in the power plant were being used to supply sufficient electrical power for BPW customers.

Ranson said the damaged boiler, rated at 22,500 KW, was one of the main boilers in the plant and would be replaced in part by the new gas turbine on Sixth St. which is oil fired.

He said the cost of operating the oil-fired turbine generator is about 4½ times as expensive as the coal fired boilers.

A water tube in the so-called gas-passage area of the boiler let loose allowing steam and water under pressure to escape. The resulting force ripped open a side of the gas passage area and filled the power plant with steam and debris. No structural damage to plant was reported. Ranson said the burst tubing blocked the flue passage area which caused the fire in the boiler to go out but the boiler fire was reignited and caused a secondary explosion which damaged the boiler itself.

The first three days of November were in the 70s with a high of 77 on Nov. 1, exceeding the 74-degree maximum for October. A low of 14 was registered Nov. 26, the only teen of the month.

Snowfall totaled 5.25 inches with 4.5 inches falling Nov. 14. Precipitation totaled 3.04 inches, mostly rain and drizzle.

Ice pellets were noted Nov. 13. There was snow on the ground only three days.

Allegan Seeks County-Wide Detective Unit

ALLEGAN — Plans for a county-wide detective unit, subject to local approval and funding were announced this week by Allegan County sheriff Robert J. Whitcomb.

A similar proposal last June by the Allegan County Board of Commissioners was rejected by the Office of Criminal Justice Programs in Lansing because manpower for the department came from the sheriff's department.

But Whitcomb said under the new plan attempts would be made to secure manpower from several city governments within the county.

If approved the project could become effective July 1, 1975. Under the new proposal the county and cities combined would contribute $5,500 out of a total budget of $110,000 or 5 per cent of the budget.

The detective unit would include five full-time officers and one part time secretary with three of the officers and the secretary coming from the sheriff's department. One officer would come from each of two participating municipalities.

City governments who assign men to the unit would pay only 5 per cent of their officer's combined wages and fringe benefits.

Whitcomb said the officers would work the entire Allegan County area including the cities.

The county prosecutor, sheriff and chiefs of the municipal police agencies will form a board to direct the project and will have authority to determine policy and set operating procedures.

The proposed budget of $110,000 would pay for salaries and equipment and funding is available up to 90 per cent of the total cost the first two years and 50 per cent the third year.

Man, 20, Arrested Inside Oil Building

William Petroelje, 20, of 41 West 35th St., arrested by Holland police Thursday at 9:08 p.m. inside the Boeve Oil Co. building at 9:15 Lincoln Ave., demanded examination in District Court today to a charge of breaking and entering.

He was released on $1,000 personal recognizance bond and no date was set for the examination.

Police said they recovered a quantity of items believed taken from the oil company in the trunk of Petroelje's car and from a building on east 48th St.

Officers, who had been investigating other break-ins at the oil company, said entry was gained through a side window. The other break-ins dated back to October.

BPW Lauds Power Plant Employees

Employees at the James De Young power plant were commended by the Board of Public Works Monday for their work in protecting equipment and providing continued electric service during the explosion Friday night that damaged a main boiler complex.

A communication commending the employees for their actions was being sent to council.

Damage to the boiler and related equipment was estimated at $250,000 and BP General Manager Ronald L. Ranson said the loss was covered by insurance. But he added the cost to use the oil-fired turbine at Sixth St. to provide electrical energy for the city would be an additional $135,000 for the two or three months the boiler will be shut down for repairs.

Ranson said Michigan Power Co. has offered gas on a standby basis for use in the power plant boilers should the BPW lose the use of the oil-fired turbine.

The BPW asked Ranson to apply for a delay in implementing air control devices on the power plant until federal limitations for removal of pollutants is determined.

The board agreed that a committee of city officials and BPW personnel negotiate labor contracts with BPW employees.

BPW president Charles Cooper lauded the contractor who installed the sanitary sewer in Central Ave. for his efficient work in completing installation before the winter weather.

Jail Program Suspended For Opinion

GRAND HAVEN — Work on a jail rehabilitation program has been suspended pending an opinion from the state Attorney General's office, it was reported to the Ottawa County Commissioners Monday.

Chairman William Winstrom, in answer to a question from commissioner William Kennedy, said the attorney general had been asked for an opinion regarding the relocation of the sheriff's headquarters from the county seat.

A lengthy study into detention, corrections and law enforcement of Ottawa County recommended the existing jail and sheriff's department be converted for detention and treatment and a new law enforcement facility for deputies and the sheriff be constructed somewhere north of Zeeland.

Preliminary planning had been started on the jail project and the proposed $1.6 million law enforcement building.

But Winstrom said there was a question whether the sheriff's headquarters could be located away from the county seat. Winstrom said Sen. Gary Byker indicated it could not be done under state codes.

County Prosecutor Calvin Bosman was asked for his opinion but suggested the Attorney General be asked for an opinion. Winstrom said. He said he asked Sen. Byker to ask the Attorney General for such an opinion.

Commissioners Monday approved the low bid of Robert De Nooyer Chevrolet of Holland for the purchase of 23 1975 model cars for the sheriff's department at a cost of $77,999 and a transfer of $2,300 for modifications in sheriff's department patrol radios.

Commissioners approved the hiring of a labor attorney to represent the county in contract negotiations with the sheriff's department. Commissioner Kenneth Northouse of Jenison said negotiations are in the mediation stages but could go to arbitration.

Northouse said one of the unsettled issues in a proposed contract was a grievance issue which would give the commissioners authority to override hiring and firing decisions of the sheriff.

Hiring of additional county personnel with the use of federal manpower funds was approved by commissioners. They included one person in the treasurer's office and three for the health department.

Referred back to committees were requests for two persons in the property description department and two for the mental health department.

Payment of $2,481 as Ottawa County's share of a regional council on aging for 1974 was approved by commissioners who questioned benefits received from the three-county agency. But it was pointed out the first phase of the program was a study and review of programs for the elderly and that implementation of programs comes under a separate grant or funding. The three counties involved in the regional plan are Ottawa, Muskegon and Oceana.

GRAND HAVEN — Robert Allan Janzen, 30, and Karen Sue Morren, 21, both of 844 West 25th St., Holland, pleaded innocent to a charge of larceny less than $100 at their arraignment Thursday in District Court.

Bond of $100 was furnished and no date was set for trial.

The two were apprehended by Ottawa County deputies in connection with an incident reported by Louis Cech of Grand Haven township who said two subjects were loading household items from his residence into a trailer backed to his house. The pair unloaded the items when he arrived at home Wednesday and drove away in a car.

The car was stopped later by deputies along Butternut Dr. north of Holland.

David See Wins 2nd State Contest In Composition

A composition by David See, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph See of Saugatuck and a senior at Saugatuck High School has won first place at the state level of the Third Annual National Student Composition Contest of the Music Teachers' National Association, held this fall.

This is the second year that See, a piano and composition student of Dr. Anthony Kooiker of Hope College has won the award. He was also the state winner in 1973. He attended Interlochen this past summer.

According to Dr. Kooiker, all compositions are submitted under pseudonyms, so that there can be no question of judging anything but the quality of the composition. Winning two years in a row is a real achievement for See.

State winners will be asked to perform their compositions at the spring convention of the Michigan Music Teachers Association, in Battle Creek in April.

Maroons Resemble Power Clubs

By Rich Wolters

Holland Christian's basketball team used a tenacious man-to-man defense Friday night to swamp the Irish from Kalamazoo Hackett, 72-38.

The Maroons, in recording their second win in as many outings this season, resembled some of their powerhouse teams in the 1968-70 era. Defense was the name of the game, and the entire team turned in an outstanding effort in this respect, as Christian never allowed the Irish to get set to take a good percentage shot. The constantly harassed Hackett five was also guilty of 21 floor violations, many caused by the defensive pressure put on by the Maroons. Christian had a turnover count of only eight for the game.

Rebounding also played an important part in the outcome, as the Maroons' forward line of Keith Frens, Jon Houseward, Dave Van Langevelde and Joel Vogelzang took control of the boards. Ron Geerlings, playing in the final minutes of the game, also turned in a strong board game. Christian took the ball off the boards 43 times, and Hackett 24 times.

Houseward opened the scoring with two quick baskets to lead Christian to a 9-2 lead. Apparently sensing they were in for a tough night, Hackett coach John Rapacz had his team go into a full court press. The strategy backfired, as the Maroons found Frens all alone under the basket for three sure-fire two-pointers, and Christian rolled to an impressive 21-5 lead at the quarter.

The Irish had their best scoring output in the second period with 15 points, but still fell further behind as the Maroons notched 18 for a 39-20 halftime advantage. Between them, Van Langevelde with 11 and Frens with nine first half points, matched the entire Kalamazoo total.

The third quarter was nearly a repeat of the first, with Christian putting 19 points on the board while yielding six to the Irish. Hackett was held scoreless until Rick Barta netted a field goal with 2:51 left in the period. The score going into the final eight minutes was 58-26. Seven players scored for Christian in the period.

Coach Dave Vander Hill emptied the bench in the last quarter, during which the lead twice ballooned to 36 points. Geerlings pumped in a pair of baskets, while Dave Gritter ended the scoring with 20 seconds left.

Van Langevelde took scoring honors with 17 points, with Frens adding 13. Barta was high for the Irish with 10. Frens led in rebounding with 12.

It would be hard to single out any one player as the star of the game, as the entire starting five did an outstanding job. Vogelzang, Mike Vander Ploeg and Tom Zoerhof also did fine jobs in reserve roles. In addition to the tough defense, the Maroons received 26 points from the substitutes.

Christian, with a 2-0 record awaits the invasion of the Niles Vikings in the Civic Center Tuesday.

The Maroons made 30 baskets in 66 attempts for 45 per cent, having quarters of 10-17, 7-16, 8-16 and 5-17. Hackett ended with 15 of 55 for 27 per cent. Their periods showed 2-11, 6-16, 13-13 and 4-15.

Christian's junior varsity also turned in its second win, 55-49. Christian led at the quarter, 12-8, but fell behind 20-18 at the half. Hackett led 32-31 after three quarters.

Joe Albertson popped in 29 points for the Irish. For Christian Mark Van Dyke netted 20, Ken De Jonge 14 and Duane Terpstra 10.

Piersma Shakes Up Lineup But Dutch Fall By 1

By Leo Martonosi

MUSKEGON — Basketball Coach Don Piersma of Holland High shook up his starting lineup here Friday night but unfortunately in the end, it was the same result, as Mona Shores won a thrilling 60-59 contest.

Greg Holcombe replaced Ken Bauman and Dave Van Wylen took the place of Tom Borgman at the opening tip-off but it was Bauman, Loren Schrotenboer and Todd De Young that almost pulled out, the win for the Dutch in the fourth period.

With Tim Parker hitting for eight of his team high 21 points in the third period, the Sailors tallied eight unanswered markers to take a 42-33 lead.

Big Denny Lawson surprised Holland's fans at that time by taking himself out of the game. The 6'7" junior never got back in the tilt, as Piersma was getting maximum effort from Ron Noyd, Schrotenboer, De Young, Bauman, Van Wylen and Tom Borgman.

De Young's fielder with 33 seconds left closed the third period with the Dutch only trailing Mona by three points, 42-39.

The Dutch came close on many occasions of going ahead but could never get that key basket that they fought so hard for.

Mona had one point leads of 44-43, 46-45, 48-47, 50-49, 54-53, 56-55 and the final score.

Substitute guard Phil McHenry locked up the game for the Sailors by sinking two free throws with 28 seconds on the clock and his team on top, 60-55. De Young made the heart of Mona's Coach Howie Clark's almost stop, as he dropped in two field goals for the final margin.

Mona's gym is like an echo chamber. In fact, its so loud, that you couldn't even hear Coach Piersma yelling encouragement to his cagers.

De Young, who was one of the big reason the Dutch played so much better than in Tuesday's loss to Niles, pumped in his third field goal of the first period to give Holland a 16-15 quarter advantage.

Mona took over the halftime lead at 30-29 in the extremely fast moving tilt.

Grand Haven Coach Al Schaffer, who was scouting both teams offered, "I just can't believe there are only 59 points on the scoreboard at the half by the way the both teams were racing up and down the court."

Schrotenboer ended up as Holland's leading scorer with 18 points and rebounded as well with 15. De Young chipped in with 14 counters. Mike Patton followed Parker with 15 markers.

The Dutch finished with 10 less turnovers this game than last and according to Piersma, probably played "their best" game to date.

"We still have to improve," said Piersma. "But I did see some encouraging things out there tonight."

Coach Don Johnson's reserves upped their record to a perfect 3-0 by ripping the Little Sailors, 76-61.

Dan Molenaar and Steve DeVette were the big guns with 18 and 17 points in that order. Del Dozeman and Frank Peterson added 10 markers apiece.

Holland will host Portage Northern Tuesday.

Holland (59)—Lawson, 2-2-6; Holcombe, 2-0-4; Modders, 2-1-5; De Young, 6-2-14; Van Wylen, 0-0-0; Bauman, 4-0-8; Noyd, 2-0-4; Schrotenboer, 9-0-18. Totals 27-5-59. Mona Shores (60)—Prediger, 3-2-8; Morris, 2-0-4; Patton, 7-1-13; Thornton, 0-0-0; Parker, 10-1-21; McHenry, 4-2-10. Totals 27-6-60.

CUT YOUR OWN TREE

We have just received a release from the Michigan Department of Agriculture by Larrestine Trimm concerning the cutting of your Christmas tree. "Experience the joy and excitement of selecting and cutting your Christmas tree. Michigan is tops in plantation-grown Christmas tree production according to marketing officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

"Many tree farms are offering cut-your-own opportunities to consumers. Although major production is in Allegan, Kalamazoo, Oceana and Ottawa counties, Christmas tree farms are scattered throughout the state. On many of them, the season is well underway with fun, food and wagon rides for families or groups.

"You'll find a listing of Christmas tree farms in the farm tour guide, 'Michigan Country Carousel,' published by MDA. If you do not have a copy, you can get one free by writing to MDA, Lewis Cass Building, Lansing, Mich., 48913.

"You should call ahead and check when you decide to go. Some farms are equipped with cutting tools if you wish to cut your own tree. The prices will no doubt vary with the size.

So when you are enjoying your Christmas with your tree in your home, you can offer thanks for the farmers who have helped make our state cleaner and greener.

Celebrating the Promise
Luke 1:39-55

By C. P. Dame

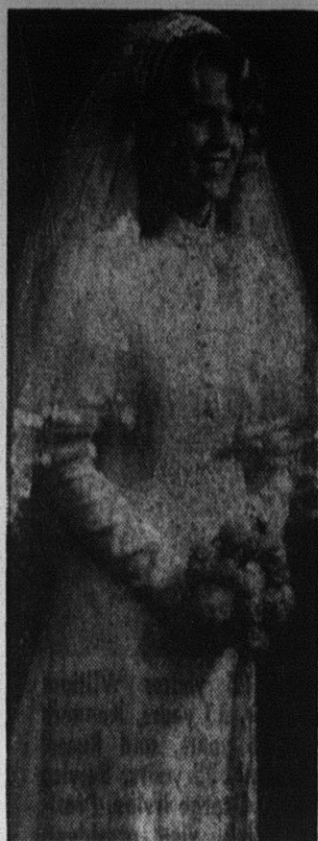

The events recorded in this lesson were but little known when they took place but now they still exert an influence. The reason is that they had spiritual significance for they are connected with the great promise of the coming redemption which finally took place.

I. God bestows honors. We are all honored in becoming children of God but some receive special favors and responsibilities. The text portrays the meeting of two women, cousins, one elderly, the other young, both pregnant. Elizabeth the elderly, had passed the child-bearing age. For years Zachariah her husband and she had hoped and prayed for a child. The priestly family had lived uprightly before God. Finally God had promised a son who was to be the forerunner of the Messiah. Mary too was pregnant, not in the normal way, but in a supernatural manner through the operation of the Holy Spirit. She was engaged to Joseph, a carpenter in Nazareth. In those days a betrothal was equivalent to a wedding.

Mary left her home in Nazareth and went to visit her cousin in the hills of Judah, remaining there for three months, perhaps to avoid unpleasant remarks. The two mothers-to-be know that their sons would have a mission to perform for God and mankind.

II. The honored give thanks. The first two chapters of Luke contain three psalms which the other gospels do not mention. The three are, The Magnificat (1:46-55), the Benedictus (1:68-79), and the Nunc Dimittis. Luke also records the Beatitudes of Elizabeth, the Evangel of the angel sung over the plains and the Gloria of the angelic hosts. Observe that Elizabeth called Mary, "the mother of my Lord" and called her blessed among women and confessed Jesus as the Messiah before he was born. The greatest honor any woman could have, was given to Mary, a humble peasant girl from a small town.

"And Mary said, My Soul doth magnify the Lord, and my spirit hath rejoiced in God my Saviour." She too needed a Saviour. Note what Mary says about "the Lord's maid-servant." Her hymn reveals a knowledge of the psalms and of God for she speaks of his holiness, his mercy, his might and his faithfulness in fulfilling the promise made to the fathers and to Abraham. She spoke of a personal experience. Observe also what she says about deeds, words such as "shown strength," "scattered," "put down," "filled," "sent away," "spoke," indicate power. God is great in character and deeds. He is the God modern people need. Is he your God?

County Sets Hearing Into Soil Erosion

GRAND HAVEN — A public hearing was set for the next meeting of the Ottawa County Commissioners Dec. 27 on a Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Control ordinance. The hearing begins at 9:30 a.m. in the Commission chambers in the County Building.

Commissioner Herbert Wybenga of Zeeland said the ordinance follows state codes and governs construction along bodies of water.

Tallmadge township farmer Arthur John Koster, son of former member of the county Social Services Board John Koster, was elected to a three year term succeeding his father.

The younger Koster was among seven persons nominated for the vacancy on the board which, among other responsibilities, manages Community Haven at Eastmanville, a home for elderly people.

A letter was received from John L. Feininger of Holland who objected to the treatment his Labrador Retriever received after it got into a fight with an unleashed dog in the city.

Feininger said his dog was properly licensed and tagged and was picked up by a dog warden, given a tranquilizer and died en route to the animal shelter. He claimed the dog's body was disposed of before the family was notified. Commissioners referred the letter to the administration committee for study and report.

Also referred to the administration committee was a letter from the Michigan Civil Rights Department indicating a complaint was being investigated against the county charging alleged discrimination in hiring county employees.

Charles Pringle of Spring Lake claimed the county refused to hire minorities and refused to give advance notice to openings in county employment.

It was alleged Pringle sought a position on the manpower board.

Commission chairman William Winstrom said the makeup of the manpower board is dictated by federal standards and includes three minorities and added that the chairman had not been contracted by Pringle concerning an appointment.

A report on Leonard Rd. and its uses was presented by students from Grand Valley State Colleges as part of their course work in William James College.

A proposed widening project of the road by the County Road Commission has come under criticism by residents along the road.

The study recommended that the planning processes outlined in the Michigan Action Plan be incorporated by the road commission, that if Leonard Rd. is widened, a tree-replanting program be initiated, that consideration be given to designating Leonard Rd. as a scenic road, that no widening occur until a transportation plan and an origin-destination plan is completed and that the road commission prepare an environmental impact statement for Leonard Rd.

West Ottawa Drops First League Game

By Roger Kuiken

West Ottawa's basketball team turned out to be a good host as far as Rockford Rams were concerned Friday evening as they presented the Rams with 37 turnovers enabling them to best the Panthers by a 65-39 score.

It was the second loss for West Ottawa while the Rams have a 2-1 mark.

The game started out slowly for the Panthers, as they could not seem to work the ball in for a shot because of the turnovers, 13 in the first period. They did manage to score six points in the period while Rockford sunk 13.

Then in the second period West Ottawa started to put it together with some good hustle and fine shooting. Mark Bosma, Mark Visser and Dan Scheerhorn were controlling the boards and the result was a 26-23 half-time lead for the Panthers. Bosma made a beautiful long shot just before the half to give West Ottawa the three point lead.

It looked like the Panthers were going to be in charge for the rest of the game. But the Rams came out in the third period and shot a torrid 60 per cent of their shots while the Panthers went back to give-away, turning the ball back 11 times.

Defensively the Panthers were a much better ball team than the opening game against a hot Grand Haven team but the problem of ball handling kept haunting them.

Then to top it off the Rams got real tough at the charity line and that's where they won the game. Rockford scored 17 points from the free throw line in all as the whistles blew frequently.

West Ottawa had a good chance to catch up in the final period but again the Rams kept hitting from the free throw line. Scoring was even in the final period with each team getting 16 points and rebounding about even.

Overall West Ottawa shot 45 per cent from the field compared to 40 per cent for Rockford. The Panthers did have a height advantage but the rebounds were even. Bosma had a good night from the field and led all scorers with 22 points while Visser put in 17 for the Panthers.

West Ottawa's reserves won an exciting, low scoring game 35-32. Again it was Randy Vanderploeg leading the way with 13 points followed by Marty Klein with eight.

The Panthers will be traveling to Jenison to meet the Wildcats next Friday.

West Ottawa (50) — Scheerhorn, 2-3-7; Bosma, 10-2-22; Visser, 6-5-17; Mordock, 3-5-11; Moeke, 1-0-2. Totals 22-15-39.

Rockford (65) — Holcomb, 4-5-13; Stark, 4-0-8; Shellen, 0-5-5; Krygier, 2-2-6; Schmuck, 1-3-5; Gamble, 4-0-8; Jura, 1-0-2; Swenson, 8-2-18. Totals 24-17-65.

Christmas Coffee Fetes Betty Davey, LWV Head

By Marion Shackson

A lovely Christmas Coffee prepared by Eleanor deKruif, Lynn Counihan, Helena Winter and Lois Workman preceded the December meeting of the League of Women Voters on Monday, at the First Presbyterian Church.

The president, Lois Workman, introduced Betty Davey, first vice president and legislative chairman of the League to the large, enthusiastic group.

Mrs. Davey explained the workings of the production and activity of this legislative office. She said this office takes positions on state bills according to membership vote or consensus of the LWV.

The new House Appropriations Committee is faced with an 80 million dollar deficit due to the recent drop of 4 per cent in food tax. The expected Unemployment Benefits will amount to 50 million more so the new legislature will have to find ways to provide for this expenditure.

The League pays for a box at the state capital in which they get two copies each of every bill, the analysis of every bill, the status of each bill plus the Senate and House Journals. The Gongwer Report gives appointments on Action Committees in both House and Senate, and the committee meetings scheduled each week.

All bills are brought to the LWV Legislative Office where they are read and categorized if they fall under any League position. The Bill Reader fills out the form and sends it to the Item Chairman, who in turn writes testimony and makes a decision whether to send it to State Board.

All bills are watched carefully as the legislature may introduce new bills at any time. Public hearings occur for support of some bills. Membership is informed when action is needed immediately on certain issues. It takes lots of patience and some frustration to serve on the legislative committee for last term the League supported 175 bills, but only 50 passed.

Over two-thirds of all bills presented, the League had no position on, so they only support those that fall under their position. The League is non-partisan and works with Staff Committees and the Governor's Staff, who drum up support for some bills.

It is important to work with other organizations to have "like-feelings" on certain bills. Many times bills are rewritten before they are finally adopted. Common Cause has also been active in political reform measures and have circulated petitions for reform in Campaign Financing, Conflict of Interest and Lobby Disclosures.

Mrs. Davey keeps League informed by writing a Legislative Memo regularly which goes to each League president and Action Chairman. She expressed her concern over the proposed cuts in the school budgets, and the supplemental 50 million needed for Welfare with the huge unemployment looming ahead.

The State Lottery brought in 125 million at its highest figure, but that is liable to taper off with the present conditions. Higher income taxes will probably be the solution for the new legislature to make.

A lively discussion followed the presentation on the Ottawa County Resolution, Protective Services, Salaries of Legislators, Professional Lobbyists at work, and the big change in the Senate due to a new Democratic majority.

The meeting was adjourned by Lois Workman with a wish for a Merry Christmas.

Child-Care Classes Form Babysitter Referral List

The Ottawa County Department of Social Services graduated, Monday and Tuesday, 50 persons from child-care classes held over the past four weeks. Those enrolled completed eight hours of class in first aid, relating to children, activities, health-care, nutrition, sitter-mother relations, early child-care, and legal responsibilities.

Through the classes the DSS would like to improve the quality of child-care in Ottawa County. Graduates will be available through the Babysitting Referral Service, making it easier for parents to locate competent babysitters.

In addition the DSS uses the course to provide qualified sitters for ADC mothers who work, either training a family member or using the referral list. These sitters must be licensed, but the only qualifications necessary legally are that they be at least 16 years old, able to read and to use the telephone. The DSS regards these as minimal and wants sitters to have child-care training.

The DSS is interested to see how the community makes use of the Referral Service. It plans to offer the classes again, and especially encourages men to participate.

Child-care, says Dawn Bushouse of the DSS has long been considered the province of women, but in families headed by women, male influence is needed and men should consider child care.

Warehouse Is Started By Taylor

Ground was broken earlier this week in Holland's south-side industrial park for a new 50,000 square foot general warehouse for Taylor Produce and Storage Co. of Holland.

The site lies on the west side of Waverly Rd. between 32nd and 40th Sts. Present at the ceremonies were Mayor Lou Hallacy, Chamber of Commerce Vice President Roscoe Giles representatives of Taylor Produce, Markland Development Inc. of Grand Rapids, architects and bank officials.

The new facility will increase Taylor's dry storage capacity to 200,000 square feet. The completed warehouse will be equipped with fire sprinklers and have a minimum height of 21 feet. To accommodate truck and rail needs, the warehouse will have six docks for trucks and three loading zones along the railroad siding.

Markland Development Inc. of Grand Rapids will supervise construction of the warehouse which was designed by Richard A. Murphy Associates of Grand Rapids.

Plans call for occupancy by March 1 with the addition of an identical 250 by 200-foot warehouse scheduled for construction in late 1975.

The company, which is a public warehouse, has been serving the Holland area for 19 years, employs 23 workers and has three warehouses in the area plus a freezer operation in Hartford, Mich. In addition to its dry storage space, Taylor has 1.8 million cubic feet of freezer space. The entire computerized operation handles over 212 million pounds or 96,000 pallets of products each year.

The company will retain its quarters on Howard Ave. where main offices are located and its storage area in Chemetron Co. at Columbia and 21st St.

The company was founded years ago by George K. Taylor of Kalamazoo who moved the operation from Kalamazoo to Holland. It was reorganized in 1955.

38-Year-Old Play Has Timely Message Today

By Cornelia Van Voorst
It was a refreshing experience to see a 38-year-old play, one with lots of zany action and one which, in many ways, seems as timely today as when the Kaufman-Hart "You Can't Take It With You" opened on the Broadway stage Dec. 14, 1936.

Holland Community Theatre's production had some limitations at its opening Thursday night in Holland High School, but the merry madcap activities of Grandpa Vanderhof's unusual household kept the relatively large audience fully entertained.

In some ways, it was the stage setting as well as the special effects that competed with the large cast of characters... and characters they were, all the way from a benign head of the house to would-be playrights, dancers, fireworks manufacturers, candy makers, tycoons and just plain hangers-on.

The 1936 stage setting had all the marks of a "people" house... pictures of all kinds on the walls, mismatched furniture, ironing board, dart board, a small alligator overhead, snake cages, printing equipment and amazing clutter of all kinds.

Nona Penna's cast got off to a rather slow start, but after the explosion of loud fireworks early in the first act, things picked up and by the time the curtain fell on the third act, action had really rolled.

Nearly all of the 17 members in the cast had character roles... Dan Resseguie as grand-

Vikings Give Christian First Defeat

By Rich Wolters

Holland Christian's basketball team ran into an aggressive Niles five Tuesday night, and had its modest two-game winning string snapped by the Vikings, 69-58.

The Maroons never got untracked in the first half, as the Vikings gave them all kinds of trouble simply by outthrusting them. This resulted in Niles moving to a big 37-22 halftime margin.

John Harrington, the Vikings' stellar forward, popped in six of his team's first 14 points, as Niles raced to a 14-4 lead before his teammates helped out giving the Vikes a 21-9 margin at the quarter. Pat Cooper and Tim Dill also garnered six points in the period, while Keith Frens had five for Christian.

Five free throws by the Maroons, one by Tom Zoerhof and four by Dave Van Langevelde, brought Christian within seven, but the Vikes again took over, outpointing the Maroons 16 to eight for the rest of the period. Harrington again led the way with eight points, while Van Langevelde had seven.

Christian looked like a different team in the third quarter. They began pressing all over the court and caused Niles to turn the ball over eight times in the period. As a result the Maroons slowly narrowed the deficit, twice coming within three, on buckets by Zoerhof and Van Langevelde, before a Dill free throw made the score 48-44 going into the fourth quarter.

Zoerhof netted three baskets in the comeback as Christian, with six players scoring, hit 10 of 13 shots for 77 per cent, after a miserable 26 per cent in the first half. They also held Niles to only six shots during this time, three of which they made.

Two free throws by Dill opened the fourth period scoring to raise the Niles lead to six points. Joel Vogelzang and a Dill Harrington traded two-pointers before Van Langevelde and Del Petroelje connected, and Christian was down by two with 5:20 left to play.

Then came the play that again turned the game back to Niles, as Dill sank a field goal and was fouled on the play. He made the free throw. A half minute later he was again fouled, and connected on both attempts, to put the Vikings up 57-50, with 4:33 left. That proved to be the spark his team needed, and a Christian was not able to come closer than five points again.

The Maroons played most of the game without starting forward Jon Houseward, who early in the game was forced to the bench with a cut lip. After receiving first aid, he got back into action, and was again forced to leave the lineup, midway in the second period, this time with a leg injury which kept him out of any further action for the night.

Harrington topped a balanced Viking attack with 20 points, while Dill hit for 16, Steve Adams 12 and Cooper 11. Van Langevelde again turned in a fine all around game, and also notched 19 points. Frens was held to 10, his lowest output since the Jan. 18 game last season against Holland. Zoerhof also put 10 points through the hoop. Frens, with 12, led Christian to a 34-33 rebounding edge.

In the reserve contest the Maroons won their third game in as many starts, 62-54. Christian led 19-8, 31-24 and 41-38 at the quarters. The Little Vikes made nine more field goals than the Maroons. However, Christian scored 34 times at the charity stripe.

Dutch Look Strong In 61-39 Victory

By Leo Martonosi

It was hard to believe that Holland went into Tuesday's basketball game in the fieldhouse against Portage Northern with no wins compared to two victories for the Huskies.

Coach Don Pierasma's Dutch looked extremely tough in romping past Northern, 61-39 for its first win in four starts. The Huskies are now 2-2 for the season.

With big Dennis Lawson displaying the kind of play that Pierasma has been counting on, the Dutch shot out to a commanding 22-4 first period margin.

Lawson tallied eight of his game high 17 points in that opening quarter.

Northern only trailed 8-4 before Holland poured in the next 14 points to hold an unbelievable 22-4 quarter lead.

"That was by far the best quarter we've played all season," offered Pierasma. "That is the way we're supposed to play."

With Pierasma interchanging nine players throughout the first half, the Dutch took a 32-12 halftime margin.

Holland was not only dominating the offensive action but the defensive as well, as Todd De Young and Company were all over the place harrassing the Huskies.

Loren Schrotenboer and Lawson grabbed almost every rebound between them, as Holland controlled the ball 50 times compared to 30 for Northern.

In the shooting department, the Dutch canned 27 of 49 shots for a fine 46 per cent average. Northern was good on only 18 of 50 tries for 36 per cent.

But the big difference of this game than the others for Holland, was that the Dutch had only 14 turnovers which was their lowest of the season. In fact, in the first eight minutes, they only had two miscues.

No other Dutch cager reached double figures besides Lawson. However, De Young and Ken Bauman in a reserve role scored eight points apiece. Ward Whitmore, who resembled Holland's announcer Jeff Japinga, led the Huskies with 10 markers.

Coach Don Johnson's reserves lost a heartbreaker, 52-50, as a last second basket wasn't allowed. The defeat was the first in four games for the Dutch.

Tom Harvey scored 21 counters for the unbeaten Little Huskies while Dan Molenaar gunned in 19 markers for Holland. Frank Peterson and Steve DeVette added nine and eight in that order.

Holland had quarter scores of 8-20-33 while Northern registered 8-27-40 totals.

On Saturday, the Dutch entertained rugged Muskegon.

Gone But Not Forgotten

We were sorry to hear that one of Holland's favorite people, Bill "Bookie" De Boer died of an apparent heart attack Monday.

De Boer, who got his nickname of "Bookie" back in the fourth grade, was a friend of everyone. He always had a big smile and to this day, we can not ever recall him being mad at anyone or anything.

He was to everyone like having an extra uncle around, as he would give the shirt off his back if you needed it.

When someone talks fast pitch softball, the name of "Bookie" De Boer always came up.

He might not have been a star on the diamond these past years but he was a star with everyone associated with softball.

De Boer had been keeping scores of various sports in Holland for more than 37 years. "Bookie" cut his fingers in keeping score for the old Flying Dutchmen baseball team. He also kept statistics in football and basketball for many years for WHTC.

In the past two years, he was the "right hand" man behind fast pitch softball Director Bert Bruursema. He kept score almost every night at Maplewood No. 1 field and before that for so many years at Van Tongeren Field.

De Boer, a 1933 graduate of Holland High, didn't keep score for the money but for the sure enjoyment of watching softball and the fellowship of it.

"It gave me the chance to meet a lot of people and I like people," De Boer once said.

Bruursema stated, "De Boer was a very reliable and dependable person and did a great job. Whenever you needed someone in the pinch, he was always there, ready to do the job."

One of De Boer's closet friends, Norm Japinga, a former fast pitch director, commented, "Bill was just a wonderful person. It's hard to find a man like him that was so dedicated. I just don't know what softball would have done without him. When I was director, he was like an assistant."

A Christian man, "Bookie" Bill De Boer, was one of the finest persons that this writer has ever met.

Fast pitch softball just won't be the same without him.
