World Traveler Visits Norway's Fishing Banks

ONE CATHEDRAL IN NORWAY
CAPITAL CHALLENGES IN BEAUTY ST. PETER'S
AT ROME
NORWAY

By Dr. A. J. Brower

After leaving the Lapp Colony at Lyngen, we sailed for a group of the Lofoten Islands, grandest of Norwegian island scenery; Norway's center of its greatest fishing industry. The codfish come here from all around to spawn in a fjord called the Vestfjord. These islands boast of the setting for its golden cod-fish and its black eider ducks. The season lasts from January to April. Small boats dot all over the islands where fishermen live during this season when fishing is at its best.

Then, on we sailed through Holands Fjord to Trondheim, meaning (throne home) founded in 997 A. D. This is the medieval capital of Norway where Norway's king's are crowned in a cathedral, the most imposing building, is also the most imposing church building in all Scandinavia. It occupies the old site of St. Clementis Church which was built at the end of the 10th century by King Olaf Kyrr.

The present building was erected in 1152—and it is not now completed, and they are still building on it today. In beauty, it challenges St. Peter's at Rome, St. Paul in London, and the massive Cathedral in Seville, Spain. Apart from its splendid architectural lines, interesting features are the many gargoyles, charming in some cases because of their very ugliness.

These gargoyles are water spouts with dragon heads on their very ends and water spouts out of these when it rains. They are about 10 to 15 feet above the ground, and certainly do look ghastly with their sharp teeth and pointed, arrow-like tongues, protruding.

St. Olaf's Spring, the waters of which are said to have healing powers is in the apex at the east end. We were entertained with a special organ recital specially arranged for us and that was a real rare treat and very much appreciated by all of us.

To this Cathedral thither all the kings have gone for coronation. Haakon VII being crowned here in 1905. This King Haakon's wife died very recently after an operation.

Trondheim was the first capital until replaced by Christiania in 1830 now renamed as Oslo.

The kings of Great Britain are crowned in Westminster Abbey; of Netherlands in the King's Palace at Amsterdam and so all countries have their customary places. I had the special privilege of sitting in some coronation chairs, just for curiosity, and this is allowed only when one is entirely alone with a specially hired guide, and tipping them will help a lot to accomplish that experience. For comfort, however, I would rather sit in mother's old rocking chair.

This city is a seaport on the west coast on a bay at the mouth of the Nid river on the south side of the Trondheim Fjord. It possesses strong fortifications on the mainland and on the small, rocky island of Nunkholm; very much resembling the Rock of Gibraltar at the mouth of the Mediterranean Sea.

Many places in Norway have names which sound strange to a visitor from foreign lands. Near Trondheim, for example, there is a railway station called Høll to which return tickets can be bought. Another drive takes us to Paradis, a pretty village suburb.

Next we stopped at Aandalsnes and from there by special train for Bjørli, through several villages and passing through the famous Stavern Tunnel cut through the mountains, 4,395 feet long. Here we saw many most gorgeous and massive, high, roaring waterfalls, the beauty of which I have never seen elsewhere.

This great world of ours. The most famous and most beautiful of them all was the Vornafosse waterfall.

The falls on the Columbia River Drive in Washington, California and the Madeira Islands on the coast of Africa are beautiful too but Norway has the best.

The mountain scenery was outstanding and ever changing as our train sped along. Only pictures taken of such scenery can bring back the beauty that one's eyes have seen. At one place we saw the Seven Sisters waterfalls. Seven falls next to one another and only a few feet apart and several hundred feet high.

Next we stopped at Merok, where our boat anchored close to shore and we took an automobile drive or by Stokkjerre (horse drawn cart) to Lake Djupvund up in the mountains. The winding road climbs steadily for most of its 10 1/2 miles, through beautiful, wooded and fern-covered countryside.

The road is none of its long loops (The Knot) crosses itself. Further up, there are only stunted trees, gnarled shrubs, coarse grass and a few flowers and rocks.

HOLLAND SUGAR FIRM TO PAY $235,000 TO 900 BEET GROWERS

The Lake Shore Sugar company announced an initial payment of $235,000 to growers largely in Ottawa and Allegan counties. Approximately 900 sugar beet growers will share the payment.

Although a 50c decrease in tonnage basis, the payment is about $85,000 more than the approximate $150,000, the initial payment made a year ago. Today's payment, for which checks will be issued, is the first payment for the 1938 crop, and is based on a figure of $5 a ton.

Mr. John Kelly, field manager of the company, states that last year's initial payment amounts to $5.50. This year 4,900 acres of beets were harvested.

Approximately 46,932 tons of beets were received at the local plant. They were received in 973 freight cars and 2,981 loads in trucks and wagons.

Last year's tonnage amounted to 27,862 tons. This year's tonnage totaled 19,070 tons more than were received in 1937. From this year's tonnage, the company will manufacture approximately 11,000,000 pounds of sugar. Last year's production was over 7,000,000 pounds.

The factory sliced an average of 655 tons of beets daily. The campaign which started on Oct. 30 and ended this week Monday, which was apparent when long blasts of the sugar mill whistles proclaimed that the long season had finally ended. At least 225 employees were given gainful employment during that time on a night and day shift. There will still be a large crew remaining throughout the year, making repairs and getting the factory in shape for next fall's campaign.

The Holland sugar factory reopened about 6 years ago and has been a valuable asset to Holland and its environs. It is a diversified enterprise, gives employment to hundreds locally, and besides creates a market for our agriculturists on a crop that augments the usual crops raised on farms here.

John Kelly is manager, B. J. Paschal is the superintendent of the plant, and M. Leenhouts is the assistant manager. The firm is looking forward to a fine acreage of beets next year.

Swan A. Miller, a veteran of the Civil war and manager of Macatawa hotel, observed his 96th birthday anniversary last week Tuesday at his apartment in the Warm Friend tavern.

Abe Nauta, public works superintendent, Charles Vos, assistant superintendent, Bert Smith, chief engineer of the board of public works, and Charles Hamilton of Grand Rapids, consulting engineer for the board, went to Kalamazoo to attend a 24th annual fuel engineering conference.

Judge of Probate Irving Tucker of Allegan gave an address on adult criminal influence in the life of the child, at a meeting of the Parent-Teachers association of Russch school Monday night. A demonstration of teaching beginners was given by the teacher of the beginners class. Music was furnished by a women's quartet composed of Mrs. W. J. Vanden Belt, Mrs. J. F. Schorlinghuis, Mrs. Cornelia Dykhuizen and Mrs. H. Korte. Refreshments were served.

There is always snow up there. Merok is regarded as one of the most beautiful towns of its size in the entire kingdom of Norway. We saw small hay fields here and there along mountain sides, but to dry and cure the grass to make hay, it is all piled in rows five feet high on wire fencing. This is the only way it can dry. These resemble the beautiful winding hedge fences one sees in England between London and Liverpool all through the countryside.

Winter Really Begins Next Thursday

With the exception of one small skim of snow, the summery complex since Labor Day has been one continued stretch of fine fall weather. Heat waves in September, warm weather in October and a few days in November, with December half gone and still more fall than winter. Winter, however, officially begins on Thursday, Dec. 22, at 7:14 a. m., Eastern Standard Time. That, too, is the shortest day and shortly after the sun will go in reverse and within a few weeks longer days will be perceptible. Anyway, watch how the wind blows at 7:14 a. m. next Thursday for that will be the prevailing wind for three months to come, according to weather prognosticators. Some hope its south.

Business men who have reasonable goods to sell and the coal man might say north. However, our wishes on the matter won't alter conditions one jot and that is a good thing—for if everyone's wish were complied with it would have changeable Michigan weather beat for changes.

LADIES AUXILIARY OF NINTH STREET CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The Ladies Auxiliary of Ninth Street Christian Reformed church held their annual meeting in the parlors of the church on Wednesday evening of this week, Mrs. Raymond J. Nykamp, president, presiding. The meeting was preceded by a pot luck supper, served at tables nicely decorated with seasonal trimmings and lighted candles. Following the supper a pleasing program was presented, including several musical numbers and readings. The program was as follows:

Guitar selections: Russell Bouwman and Harold Bangor. Trombone solo by Jay Schadalee accompanied by Margaret Schadalee; piano accompaniment selections by Miss Maxine Veurink.

Two compositions, the first entitled "Say It Now," and the second, "The Spirit of Christmas" were read by Mrs. M. De Boer. Mrs. De Boer is well known locally for her work as poet and composer and the compositions she read Wednesday presented the themes in a most pleasing manner.

A Christmas grab bag was then enjoyed by those present, when an exchange of gifts was made. Reports, distribution of funds, and the election of officers followed.

Officers elected for the coming year are as follows: president, Mrs. Raymond J. Nykamp; vice president, Mrs. George Weisink; second vice president, Mrs. Harry Kalmink; secretary, Mrs. H. Van Oort; vice president, Mrs. Harm Slenk; treasurer, Mrs. John Bratz; vice treasurer, Mrs. Geo. Zuverink.

The funeral rites of Mrs. Ruby Spring Luidens, 41 years of age, wife of Dr. Henry Luidens, formerly of Holland, were held in Muskegon yesterday. She passed away at her home at Willard, New York.

Mrs. Hendrika Van Slooten, who is making her home with her children, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Putten, at Holland, spent last Thursday here, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Karsten at their home on East Main St. Mrs. Van Slooten who recently celebrated her 88th birthday, was a former resident of Beaverdam, Zeeland, Holland.

Dr. Wm. Tappan, local health officer, addressed members of the Science club of the Holland Christian high school Wednesday evening on the subject of contagious diseases. Interesting pictures accompanied the lecture. Open discussion under the leadership of Herbert Bulthuis, sponsor of the club, followed.

News Items Taken From the Files of Holland City News Sixty, Fifty, Forty, Thirty, Twenty and Ten Years Ago Today

SIXTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sleighting is fine and with it business has improved in Holland. Logs, cordwood, stove wood, stove bolts, etc., are drawn to the city by farmers and the highways into Holland are veritable parades of "bobs" with tinkling sleigh bells accompanying. Grain, too, is coming into the city brought to the different flour mills here. Farmers are getting the highest market price for their products; the local storekeeper is doing a splendid business, presaging a fine holiday trade. Note: How times have changed! Good sleighting even 80 years ago meant good business and busy streets. Today no snow at all is preferable to the motorist and concrete highways plowed bare would make sleighting impossible even with plenty of snow on the side lines.

For a really beautiful and artistic job of painting, we refer our readers to the fine residence of Harmanus Boone on 9th St., near Market. The work was done by Messrs. B. & J. Grotenhuis and a beautiful imitation of American walnut, French walnut and marble are unsurpassed in this city. The new method of "graining" was also used in some rooms. It is a gratifying sign of the times to see artistic merit enabled to find remuneration so young a city. Note: The Boone home was a large red and white brick structure with plenty of "gingerbread" trimmings, even in vogue. It was the finest of three homes in Holland—the other two were the homes of Isaac Cappon, tanner, still on 9th and Washington Blvd., and the castle built by Dr. Geo. now owned by Walter Walsh, just west of 9th St. Christian Reformed Church. These are all found on 9th St. because that street was the principal residence street 60 years ago and streets didn't go as far north as 12th, and there were few homes south of that ungraded or ungraveled highway. The Boone home was Holland's first hospital, started by This made Holland hospital-minded, however, and then the Dr. Kremer's home on Twelfth and Central, now the baby clinic center, was taken over by the city. Our new municipal hospital on the hill came next and there were few homes south of that ungraded or ungraveled highway. The 1,200 pounds of poultry which were given to the employees of the Holland Furniture factory, were delivered by Hietje Bros. of Zeeland.

Paul De Kruij, student at Ann Arbor, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. De Kruij, of Zeeland. Note: Today he is an internationally known author and lives at Holland, on Lake Michigan.

Mrs. Wm. J. Murphy, who left Holland harbor eight weeks ago with her 30-foot launch, Quo Vadis for a trip down the Mississippi river via Chicago, the drainage canal and Illinois river, has returned to her home at Ottawa Beach, after completing the trip to New Orleans and selling her boat. Mrs. Murphy kept a record of her trip through picture postal cards upon which she made notes.

An unusual concert was staged at the M. E. Church here when three of the survivors of the Lusitania, the ship blown up by a German torpedo during the World War, gave the concert here. A large group of the celebrated Royal Welsh Concert Company, from America, planned a concert tour of America, but the larger part of the company found a watery grave and only three survivors remain and when they reached New York they reorganized and arranged the tour to carry on just the same and a packed house greeted them in Holland as elsewhere.

Ten years ago today

Two hundred and fifteen employees of Baker & Company of Allegan, enjoyed a Christmas tree and party in the main office Saturday.

William Jekel will sing at the Bethel Reformed Church Sunday evening. "Bill's" singing is very much appreciated and he is often called and willing to contribute of his talent always.

Party for the blind will be featured by the Lions Club

Next Wednesday an unusual party will be featured at Warm Friend Tavern under the auspices of the Holland Lions Club. This Christmas party will be for a dozen blind folks, who are to be guests of the club. Arrangements for the program are being made by William Nies, Bernard De Pree, John Kelly, George Pate, and George Damson. The principal speaker will be Ralph Kidd, a blind resident of Belding. On the program will be Cornie Steketee and John Olet, who will give a trumpet duet, and Gerald Hanchett, an artist on the piano, will give several selections. The Tulip City Quartette, consisting of Kelly Trap, Jack Bos, Rein Visser, and Jerry Houting, will give several numbers. Mrs. Trap will accompany the singers on the piano.

Miss Betty Jean Knapp, senior at Holland high school was honored by her classmates at the local school when she was chosen as the candidate of the high school for the annual good citizen pilgrimage to Washington, D. C., sponsored each year by the National D. R. The choice is made on the merits of good citizenship, which includes such qualities as dependability—truthfulness, loyalty, punctuality; Service—cooperation, courtesy, consideration of others; Leadership—personality, self control, ability to lead; and Patriotism—unselfish interest in school, community and nation.

Miss Knapp has served the school in varied capacities, having been Boomerang editor, alderman of the first ward, group president in her junior and senior year, group secretary of her sophomore year. The choice for this honor is made under the direction of a committee of teachers, including Miss Baibelle Geiger and Miss Lida Rogers, both of whom are members of the local chapter D.A.R.

Miss Knapp will go to Lansing in the near future to compete with other candidates of the state. She will be accompanied by Miss Beth Marcus also of Holland high, who was the successful national candidate last year, and will preside at the meeting of state candidates this year.

Miss Henrietta Bosma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bosman of North Holland, submitted to an operation at the Huizinga Memorial hospital, on Sunday morning.

Born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oudemolen of New Groningen a daughter named Mary Jane.

velopment as this file copy indicates. A public meeting was held for the purpose of purchasing more land so the company could expand. The amount as it appears now was indeed a trifle — 5 acres required $2,500 and that is the only bonus the Heinz Co. ever received. The editor of the News at the meeting wrote the resolution carrying with it the amount to be raised and John C. Post, Bastian D. Keppel, Lane Kanter, Wm. H. Beach and Lake Lokker were sent out to raise the $2,500 which was done in short order. What is extraordinary in the two-column item was the prophetic truth in the address of Mr. Graves of the company, when he said at the meeting, "I believe the time will soon come if this project carries and the land is secured, that soon all the pickles from our Michigan salting houses will be finished in Holland as far as practical and other activities will augment what is now going on here. In that case Holland will become our largest distributing point. I predict that Holland will become our second factory in size and that will be next to the Pittsburgh plant, our largest distributing point. I think that within the next five years our building program in this city will be increased five times their present capacity. If this does not follow it will be because business will become dull and unproductive or the farmers refuse to cultivate and grow such farm products as we need." Note: Surely Mr. Graves made a prediction looking back 40 years, that has more than been fulfilled. Building after building was erected until now these cover more than a city block. A large structure, the Vac-A-Tap building, has also been acquired on the north side as a storehouse. Thousands of farmers have lifted the mortgage from their farm through a pickles margin. Many workers have received gainful employment the year round with more than 1,000 men and women being employed during the harvest season. The plant not only pays taxes annually into the city treasury but the management is found fostering city projects, helping to carry the civic load through cash and cooperation.

First Catholic Church Built In Year 1903

St. Francis de Sales church passed another milestone with the dedication of a large addition to its chapel on the corner of 18th St. and Maple Avenue, on Sunday, Dec. 11th. The Right Reverend Joseph Pinten, Bishop of Grand Rapids solemnly blessed the new church before the High Mass sung by the Pastor, Rev. J. M. Westdorp. This blessing consisted of special prayers of the Church and the sprinkling of the entire edifice, inside and outside, with holy water, together with the recitation of the Litany of the Saints and certain of the Psalms. In the dedication, Bishop Pinten was assisted by Rt. Rev. Magr. K. Whalen, Pastor of St. Mary's Church, Muskegon, and Reverend Raymond Sweeney, Pastor of St. Peter's church, Douglas. The whole ceremony was closed with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

The new addition gives the parish a seating capacity of 500 as compared with 260 in the old building, and for the service last Sunday every seat was occupied.

St. Francis parish dates back to 1903 when a small circle of Catholics built a church on the corner of Harrison and Twelfth Street. At that time it was a mission church, attended from Byron Center, but with increased numbers in the parish, a new building was erected in 1912 on the present site of the church and school. In 1923 this building was converted into a school, and a chapel added to the west end of the school, and this chapel served the parish for all services until the present time. The first resident pastor was Rev. George A. Nye, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. O. Nye, early pioneers of Holland, who for many years lived on East Ninth Street, near College Ave., who was succeeded upon his death in 1924 by Reverend Frederick W. Ryan who remained pastor here until August, 1937, when Rev. Westdorp took charge.

HOLLANDER EXPECTED TOO MUCH FROM A FIRE BOX

An unusual occurrence sent out the fire department and the police when an alarm was touched off at River Ave. and 18th St. yesterday afternoon. It seems that a man by the name of William Verver, who recently came here from The Netherlands, on a call put on the door of a house at 18th St. and River Ave. He asked someone where he could mail it to the street in that neighborhood. He was directed to a box on the corner but Verver selected the wrong corner and the wrong box. He endeavored to stuff the letter in one of these new-fangled alarm boxes, where you pull a lever rather than break a glass. The man had scarcely begun to tamper with the box, when the noise of gongs, sirens, and uniformed men. Fire trucks were there almost instantly. They surrounded Verver but in his excitement the man could scarcely articulate, but finally with the letter in hand he stated that he had made a mistake. He was taken to police headquarters, and Chief Van Ry saw that the man was innocent of any intent of wrongdoing; in fact, this was plainly evident. Nevertheless, he was put on a coat on the city of approximately $30. The man thought that the box represented a chute that whizzed the mail to the post office. Postmaster Vanderburg thought this rather a novel idea, and smilingly said he would see Jim Farley about it.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Dykstra, Mrs. Harvey Kleinhekel and two children are leaving today, Friday, for Florida by motor car. They will spend the remainder of the winter in the southland. Miss Willie Kars, West 16th Street, will leave the day after Christmas and will remain with the Dykstras until they return in the spring.

HOLLAND GAME-FISH CLUB RICHER BY 50 TONS OF CARP

A record haul of carp was registered Tuesday by fishermen for the Holland Fish and Game club when 50 tons were removed from Spring lake. The haul is the largest ever recorded by the club since operations began more than 15 years ago.

The fish were placed in the blue-gill pond at Conservation park, the club's rearing grounds on the Zeeland shore. At present there are 110 tons of carp in the pond. The club plans on holding the fish until the market price improves.

The funeral rites for Otto Westing, 73 years old, 111 E. 16th St., who passed away Thursday, will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 from the home and at 2 p. m. from Central Avenue Christian Reformed church, with the Rev. Dr. H. Walters, the pastor, officiating. Interment will take place in East Holland cemetery. Friends will be given the opportunity to pay their respects on Friday from 3 to 5 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. Survivors are the widow; a son, Theodore; two grandchildren; five sisters; Mrs. Benjamin Lemmen of Holland; Mrs. Joseph Johnson of Grand Rapids; Mrs. Jacob Geersing of Grand Rapids; Mrs. T. D. Warner and Miss Ida Westing of Holland; three sons, Peter of New Era, John of Grand Rapids and Ed Westing of Holland.

Local police still have found no clues to an attempted robbery last night at the Geerd's Shoe Store, 442 Washington Ave. That a robbery was attempted is evident that the rear door was found open; however, nothing was found to be taken after an inventory was made.

LARGE FREIGHTER LAID UP HERE FOR WINTER

The large freighter entered port yesterday loaded down with 2,000 tons of iron for the Holland Furnace Co. One-half of it is being unloaded at the Harrington docks, and the other half will be unloaded next spring; and the boat will, therefore, be a sort of a storehouse for the local furnace company's iron. This is the last trip this season for the Bennington. It will be laid up in Holland harbor for the winter and as soon as the unloading is completed the will be put in shape by the crew of 26 for the winter. Next spring the crew will return and reconduct the boat for summer sailing as usual. For several weeks these crews will remain both this fall and spring and as a rule the outfitting of a boat adds considerably to business activities in town.

Captain Andressen is the skipper of the ship and he will remain until everything is in "shipshape." Chief engineer Ryzenberg will also remain. A few of the men will be on the steamer barge during the entire winter, watching the property, Carl Harrington, youngest son of Capt. Austin Harrington, piloted the Bennington into Holland harbor down the bay up to her docks. This was at the request of the captain, since the buoys showing the harbor lane have been taken up before the winter sets in. Both Carl and Harry Harrington have piloted other large steamers before and are thoroughly versed as to where the navigable steamer lane is in Lake Macatawa.

Holland, this winter, will have three large steam boats winter here, including the Bennington at the Harrington docks, and the North and South American at the Montello Park docks.

HOLLAND MERCHANT WEDS YOUNG LADY FROM ZEELAND

On Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 14th, Miss Isabel Wentzel of Zeeland, and Mr. Andrew Du Mes of this city spoke their marriage vows in a simple wedding service performed by Dr. John Van Fursem, pastor of the First Reformed church, Zeeland.

The marriage took place at the home of the bride's parents on E. Main St. at three o'clock in the afternoon, in the presence of the immediate families of the bride and groom.

Those present to witness the ceremony were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wentzel; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wentzel of Lansing; the bride's niece, Miss Beverly Wentzel of Holland; Mrs. John Du Mes, Holland, mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Vanden Bosch of Zeeland; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Du Mes of Holland; and John Robert Du Mes.

Mrs. Du Mes is very well known and is popular in her home city. She has conducted the Ladyfair Beauty Salon for some time. Mr. Du Mes is manager of Du Mes Bros. Department store, an enterprise established by the family nearly a half century ago. The newly married couple will make their home at 107 W. 11th St. in this city.

OLIN, CAPTURED AT GRAND HAVEN BARN, FLEES MUSKEGON'S JAIL

Kenneth Olin, age 27, who was captured by Grand Haven police at the Barr skating bowl in that city Nov. 28, for Muskegon officers, escaped from the county jail at Muskegon at 7:30 a. m. yesterday shortly before he was to have been taken into court and sentenced for breaking and entering. Olin faced a possible life sentence as a fourth offender.

Police believe Olin was cut while crawling through a window. He was arrested by chief Clarence De Wit's men after a series of robberies in western Michigan. Olin, it was also reported, walked out of the jail. First reports of the escape were that no witnesses were on hand at the time.

He had served sentences for stealing automobiles and merchandise on three other occasions during the past 10 years.

A girl friend's love for roller skating brought Olin to the Barn, where he was captured by City Officer Hirdes and Kinkema. He was linked up with a gang of robbers in Muskegon and was reported to have pulled several robberies in Grand Haven.

Two of the gang, Clarence Hoffman and Lyman Dempsey, are serving sentences in state prison, and three more are being held for trial at Muskegon. Olin was the last of the gang at large. He was arrested at the time Hoffman and Dempsey and three others were held, but escaped the officers at Muskegon and had been out of the state for some time until apprehended at the Barn rink.

The Monica Aid society will meet this Friday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock in Central Avenue church. The Rev. L. Van Laar, pastor of Prospect Park church, will be the speaker.

An unusual robbery is reported at Warm Friend Tavern. Bier Stube shortly after 10 a. m. Thurs. A man 35 pounds, 6 feet tall, a tan hat and brown overcoat, entered the place with his face partially covered with a black mask, holding a gun, demanded the cash. Mrs. Lyons, who was alone near the cash register opened the cash drawer to meet his demands, spoke to the man and asked him whether he felt like doing time for $20. She had some money to give him, but he wouldn't do that to her, acting as he was acquainted. Immediately he turned on his heel, and left by the side entrance, undoubtedly removing the mask as he ascended the stairs. Manager Howard Lillard, who was notified, called the police. When they arrived, he gave a description of the man. The masked man left without taking a penny.

Wm. M. Connelly Has Accepted Fine Position

HAS BEEN MADE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC RELATIONS OF GRAND RAPIDS FURNITURE EXPOSITION ASSOCIATION

Mr. Wm. M. Connelly, who for five years has made a very successful secretary-manager of Holland's Chamber of Commerce, was recently offered an exceptional position, for which we believe he is eminently fitted. Charles R. Sligh of Holland, as it will be remembered, some months ago was made president of the Board of Directors of the Grand Rapids Exposition Association; and he placed in nomination Mr. Connelly as director of public relations of that organization, and the Holland man received the unanimous support of the entire Board.

Mr. Connelly will be in charge of all the publicity work for the association, and his duties will include him about the country from Maine to California about one-half of the year. He will call upon manufacturers and retailers of furniture, and through these contacts will interest them in the Grand Rapids Exposition, as both sellers and buyers. The Grand Rapids Furniture Exposition Association includes all those who exhibit in the "furniture city." Practically all Holland furniture makers are included, as well as other cities in Michigan; among them Owosso, Grand Ledge, Charlotte, Hastings, Big Rapids, Holland, Zeeland, and others. Altogether, there are about 200 members belonging to this association.

Shotguns Lead in Accidents

An analysis of hunting accidents made by the Iowa State Conservation Commission shows that shotguns cause more fatalities than any other type of firearm. The results determined follow.

It has been estimated that 60 per cent of all fatal gun accidents are caused by shotguns, 37 per cent by rifles and 3 per cent by pistols or revolvers. This makes the three types of firearms 100 per cent dangerous. Estimates also have it that 53 per cent of fatal gun accidents are self-inflicted while 47 per cent are caused by others. This makes 100 per cent of all fatal gun accidents attributable to carelessness by yourself or someone else.

About 45 per cent, it is estimated, of all fatal accidents occur in open fields, 20 per cent in brush, 13 per cent in dense woods. The balance of 22 per cent occurs in open woods, conveyances and highways. This makes guns 100 per cent dangerous, regardless of where they are, but more so in open fields where there should be no excuse for carelessness.

Sixty-two per cent of the number of persons inflicting fatal gun injuries on others were over 21 years of age. This is strange because it is felt that persons over that age have attained full reason and have outgrown carelessness.

Our Shrinking Lakes

That in the comparatively recent past our Great Lakes were much larger than they are today is no secret. And indications that the recession is continuing are easily discoverable.

But just how rapidly the outlines and levels of the lakes change is another matter, and some reports made by two men from the University of Michigan invite attention to this somewhat important question.

Recently Dr. E. G. Greenman, archeologist, uncovered on Grand Isle in the Georgian Bay region the evidences of a great gathering of Indians at a spot which was then on the beach of the lake. But this same spot is 23 feet higher than the present beach. Estimating that the water table has been falling for some thousands of years at the rate of a foot in from 38 to 50 years, Dr. George M. Stanley after studying the site believes the Redmen held their pow-wow and feast somewhere between 500 and 800 A.D.

However, all geologists are not in agreement regarding the rate at which the big lakes have been receding, and the estimate of one conservative savant would put the gathering back about 3,500 years, which would be in the neighborhood of 1600 B.C.

The difference in estimates seems in considerable degree to be a difference of opinion about the steadiness of the rate of recession. And it is quite understandable that the shrinkage may have been much more rapid just after the glaciers melted and the lake outlets were numerous and bigger than today.

Another point that needs to be taken into account is the changing tilt of some of the shoreline.

There are strong indications that not so long ago the land in the vicinity of the Straits of Mackinac, for example, was definitely lower than it is today, perhaps because the compression caused by the weight of the big glaciers still remained. And there also are indications that the land levels at the southern end of Lake Michigan were higher.

Certainly we know that lands have emerged at the Straits and have been engulfed in the regions near Chicago.

So how much of the rise of the shore at Grand Isle and other places is due to lake shrinkage and how much is the result of the elasticity of earth which has been relieved of a great weight is quite a question.

Indeed, it's the uncertainty about all this that makes the subject fascinating.

John R. Dethmers of Holland, whose term as prosecutor of Ottawa county expires Dec. 31, received notice today that he has been appointed chairman of the committee on criminal jurisprudence of the Michigan Bar association. The work of the committee is to make a study of the defects in the law enforcement and make suggestions for amendments to the state legislature for legislation to correct these defects.

Funeral rites for Mrs. Gerrit Kamper, age 73, will take place this Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the home and at 2 o'clock from Dykstra's Funeral chapel. Rev. D. H. Walters, pastor of Central Avenue Reformed church, will officiate. Interment will take place at Fairview cemetery. Mrs. Kamper died at her home, 239 Lincoln Avenue, Tuesday. She was born Feb. 1, 1865, and came here from The Netherlands 36 years ago. Her husband preceded her in death on Oct. 4 of this year. She is survived by a daughter, August Van Langevelde, also three grandchildren, and a brother, John Faber, of Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Spyke were surprised at their home on East 15th St., the occasion being their 25th wedding anniversary. Games were played, prizes awarded, refreshments served and gifts presented. The invited guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. Oonk, Andrew Spyke, Jr., Alvin Ban Asselt, Arie Breen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buursma, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stefens, Mr. and Mrs. William Kuhlman, Mr. and Mrs. William Grabski, Nick Vander Leest, Ray Lighthart, Henry Wierda, Mr. and Mrs. B. Andrus, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Eschbagger, Mr. and Mrs. P. Borchers, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wierda, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Overkamp.

Mr. and Mrs. William Eby and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eby and family, B. H. Kamferbeek and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dressel and daughter, Sandra, spent Sunday with their aunt, Mrs. Fannie Hewer, in Grand Rapids. Mr. Hewer died about three weeks ago. Mrs. Katherine Priestner who had been spending the past month in the Hewer home left Monday for her home in California.

Approximately 50 teachers and officers of Sixth Reformed church Sunday School attended the annual banquet Friday night and heard the Rev. William Van't Hof, pastor of Third Reformed church, describe his experiences as pastor of Mariner's Harbor, Staten Island, N. Y. The following officers were elected at the business meeting: Louis B. Dalman, superintendent; Leonard Fought, vice-president; B. Kortering, treasurer; John Mokma, secretary; and Mrs. S. Scheerhorn, superintendent of the graded departments.

Half of Tickets Sold in County

The Allegan county world's poultry congress committee charged with the underwriting of advanced ticket sales at their meeting in Allegan on December 1 reported that about half of the 1200 tickets allotted to Allegan county had been taken by business and farm organizations of the county.

The Hamilton area under the leadership of Andrew Lohman had disposed of the greatest number and Leon Kolvoord of Allegan is next. The Plainwell and Fennville districts were not so successful. Frank Heasley and Alice Smith representing Dor and Salem, Mr. Elmbass representing Wayland and Leighton, Francis Moore representing Hopkins, and Monterey were not present at the meeting.

Allegan county, the outstanding poultry county in the state, and 17th in the United States, receives a considerable part of its income from the poultry industry. Hatcheries, feed concerns, milk plant operators, poultry equipment dealers and even paper manufacturers, grocers, lumbermen, coal and oil dealers receive directly or indirectly a large share of the poultry producers money during the year.

Besides being the outstanding agricultural show that will appear in the U. S. for a good many years to come it will be the biggest advertisement that anyone connected with the industry will ever see. The show will be held in Cleveland, Ohio, July 28 to August 7, where over 60 countries will be represented. Anyone planning to make a trip or take a vacation during the time of the poultry congress is being held should make plans to visit the show in Cleveland.

AGED GENTLEMAN OF 79 HURT BY AUTOMOBILE

Mr. John De Hoop of Vriesland, who operates a service station there, and who was injured when he was struck by an automobile, was released from the Zeeland hospital and is now recuperating at the home of his children, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Poest, on West Main St.

Mr. De Hoop, who is 79 years of age, was injured when he was struck by an automobile driven by a Rozeboom of Holland, on the north and south road just north of the intersection of which his station is located. He was returning to his station from his home shortly before six o'clock when Mr. Rozeboom drove up from the north. He was thrown to the ground and painfully injured besides sustaining a fractured left leg above the ankle.

Houtman Tells of Tulip Planting and Plans

The Tulip Time headquarters today announced the total tulip plantings for the festival in May of 1939. Under the direction of the Park Board, John Van Bragt, superintendent, the eight miles of tulip lanes have been planted with approximately one million bulbs. The planting in the parks and boulevards totals 50,000 bulbs. This planting includes Centennial Windmill, Lincoln, Prospect and Kollen park. The park department also superintended the 75,000 plantings of the Senior Chamber of Commerce at Michigan Ave. and 23rd St., and the 40,000 planting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Michigan Ave. and 26th St. These bulbs were a presentation from the Spring-Air Mattress Products Corp. This concern also sold 50,000 bulbs to local residents at cost price.

The Nelis Tulip Farm reports planting of well over a million, in which there are 500 varieties. The Van Bragt Bros. farm reports a half-million of 200 varieties. The Tulip Time Committee has arranged for the planting of 350 pots of special color, short-stemmed tulips. These will be used in the merchants display windows, on the street lamp posts, for decorative purposes at Riverview park during the special programs there, and for floats in the parades. This potted planting includes over 1,000 tulips.

The curb plantings have been changed from 9th St. west of Washington to pass by the Western Machine Tool Works and the Superior Ice Co. then on through Kollen park. The other change occurs at 21st St., where the lane leaves State St., goes south to Cherry, then west to Lawndale Ct.; from Lawndale Ct. it swings east on 25th, north on Central to 24th; 24th St. east until it again joins the State St. planting. Again at 26th and State there is a swing around to Columbia Ave., and back on 28th. Here the route doubles back on State St. to 24th, where it goes east to Columbia Ave. The old route is followed until College and 14th St., where it turns east and then north to Columbia; north on Columbia to the college grounds.

MORE INFORMATION ABOUT THAT COAST GUARD QUESTION

The secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, who has been trying for the past six weeks to get some information on the status of the Coast Guard Station, has finally succeeded through the help of Congressman Mapes to get the facts of the situation. The congressman called up the Chamber of Commerce, telling us the results of his efforts, and mailed us copies of the correspondence between his office in Washington and the government authorities.

Under instructions of the Congressman, his secretary in Washington contacted L. C. Covell, Captain, U. S. Coast Guard, Acting Commandant. His reply was "that this work was one of the projects for which public works funds were made available and which were subsequently withdrawn, owing to the belief that the site would not be available on or before August 15, 1938, which was the deadline set for the awarding of the contract. Every effort has been made to have the necessary funds reallocated to the Coast Guards by the PWA, but up to the present, the matter has not received favorable consideration."

Mapes' Washington secretary then contacted the PWA authorities and in a letter to the Congressman, they say, "This administration allocated funds to the Coast Guard on June 27, 1938, in the amount of $114,500 for construction of this station. Subsequently, at the request of the treasury department, all but $100,000 was rescinded from the project. This administration has not received a request from the Coast Guard to reinstate the allotment for this station."

Congressman Mapes assured us in his talk over the telephone that as soon as he arrives in Washington he will personally get in touch with both of these departments and see what it is all about, and who is telling the truth. Mapes expects to leave for Washington in a few days and has promised to send us full information in the very near future.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Raoul Nies, daughter of Ray E. Nies, 577 Michigan Ave., to Lloyd Johnson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Claude W. Johnson of Grand Rapids. The ceremony will be performed Christmas eve in the home of the bride's father, in the presence of the immediate families. The Rev. W. G. Flowerday will officiate. Miss Nies was graduated from Holland high school and attended Michigan State college, where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Mr. Johnson attended Ferris Institute.

At the annual business meeting of Bethel church, the following were elected: elders, B. Lemmen and Herman Mooi, (re-elected) and Edward Lam; for deacons: J. Van der Wege (re-elected) and Herman Blok and Henry Driesenga.

STORM "ALUMNI" DINE ON PANCAKES AT GLENN REUNION

The "big snow" of December, 1937, was recalled in this little southwestern Michigan community, Glenn, Allegan county, Friday as hundreds of persons gathered to eat pancakes.

The visitors, guests of Glenn, were those whose trucks and automobiles were snowbound on U.S.-31 last year when a blizzard tied up traffic throughout southern Michigan. At that time all available groceries in Glenn were used up by the unexpected guests and for two days pancakes were the only fare. The village also announced that the second annual Glenn pancake festival will be held next May 27-30.

Its ProductionTO HIRE HELP AT NEW PLANT
THIS WEEK AT ALLEGAN

Production at the Williams-Barker Loose Leaf Binder company and the Elam company at Allegan got under way recently, and employees needed have been interviewed and hired at that time, according to announcements made recently by officials of the two companies.

About 50 people are now working at the plants, located off Water street in the old Baker Furniture factory building, and when production is at its peak there will be a total of around 200 men and women. Of those now employed, about half are Allegan people, officials reported.

All machinery necessary to equip the plants has been moved, part of it coming from Vicksburg, Plainwell and New Jersey. This machinery is now all set up and production is well under way.

Information concerning the number of people required at the new plant was not available, but the number is largely based on how rapidly the departments speed up. One department must operate before another can begin, since all are inter-connected although there are two firms in the same plant. This, however, has been gone through, it is said, and the whole plant is now beginning to operate.

One department specializes in the production of envelopes of all sizes and kinds. Another specializes in the production of school supplies and another produces fancy papers of all sorts for decorative and wrapping purposes.

Allegan citizens and business men aided in financing the move of the two plants and the open house plan is a courtesy program offered by the companies for those interested.

The business district of Zeeland many trees are scintillating with its all lighted up for Christmas. colored lights. Festooning lights from one boulevard light to another makes a cheerful picture. Many window displays are decidedly picturesque, indicative of the yuletide season. The city churches and other organizations are preparing Christmas programs, and many parties are being staged for the exchanging of gifts.

Building is booming at our neighbors. Four new houses are being erected in Hamilton, B. Folker's at the north village limits on Overisel road; L. Johnson on M-40 at the south limits; and Laurence Lohman and Marion Keeper are building in the southwest portion of the village.

Yesterday afternoon the fire department was called out to a fire in the Holland Furniture Co., River Ave., which started in one of the spray booths. The automatic sprinkling system soon put out the fire. The firemen remained until all danger was over.

Bud Brinks of Zeeland moved his family from Holland and now occupies the residence of Ella Her-ring on E. Main street, recently vacated by Tim Schuitema.

HOPE MEMORIAL CHAPEL FILLED TO CAPACITY FOR ANNUAL "MESSIAH" RENDITION

Hope Memorial Chapel was filled to capacity Tuesday evening of this week, when an interested audience gathered to hear the most beautiful of all oratorios, namely, Handel's "Messiah," presented annually by the Holland Civic Chorus. The chorus, under the able direction of Kenneth R. Osborne of the college school of music, rendered the oratorio in a most pleasing manner, giving much credit to the work of Mr. Osborne as chorus director.

Too much cannot be said of the wonderful performance given by each of the soloists, Miss Thelma von Eisenhauer of Detroit, soprano; Miss Beatrice Brody of New York city, contralto; Eugene F. Dressler of Evanston, Ill., tenor, and Stanley De Pree, bass soloist. The work of these soloists was beyond criticism and most appreciated by the attentive audience; in fact, throughout the program a devout interest was shown by the audience—deepest appreciation being shown only by the quiet listening attitude, no applause breaking the charm and pleasure created by the rendition of the sacred oratorio.

Mrs. W. Curtis Snow at the organ console, and Miss Sarah Lacey at the piano also deserve much praise as accompanists.

Much more could deservedly be said about this year's "Messiah" but space forbids. Suffice it to say that although each year's performance has always been given unstinting praise by the large audiences attending, next year is already looked forward to by those who have heard it time and again.

Miss Jennie A. Pieters has arrived in Holland to make her home with her brother, Dr. Albertus Pieters. She retired recently after 34 years as a missionary to Japan.

Mrs. Fred Oldemulders of 372 West 21st St. and Miss Wilma Barnum of Burnips were injured Thursday night when the automobile in which they were riding, which was driven by Mr. Oldemulders, was side-swiped by another car. Mrs. Oldemulders suffered a fractured pelvis. Miss Barnum received lacerations of the scalp.

GEERDS - ROSEBERRY OPEN NEW ELECTRIC SHOP ON RIVER AVE.

Arthur Geerds of Holland, better known to his many friends as "Dutch" Geerds, and George Roseberry, an energetic young business man, formerly of Grand Rapids, have jointly opened a new electric retail store and shop in the Arnold building, located at 250 River Avenue, just south of the Colonial Theatre. These young men have set up a show room at the above named location, with Frigidaire refrigerators and stoves taking up a greater part of the floor space, and varied other electrical equipment and fixtures, such as motors, radios and appliances also being on display.

Mr. Geerds is not new in the electrical business, having attended the Naval Electrical training school more than 20 years ago while serving a three-year enlistment period in the U.S. Navy, and having been actively engaged in electrical installing and repairing for the past 18 years. Mr. Geerds of recent years also operated a retail store on West 16th Street.

Mr. Roseberry has been connected with one of the largest and most completely equipped electrical firms of western Michigan at Grand Rapids.

Beside the retail trade, the Geerds-Roseberry Co. is also equipped to do electrical installing and repairing of any kind as this relates to refrigeration as well as motors and other equipment.

Anyway, the public is given a cordial invitation by Messrs. Geerds and Roseberry to come in and see their new place of business on River Avenue, according to the large announcement elsewhere in this paper.

Paper Drive Has Been Set For Dec. 24th

THE GOOD WORK OF THE
GOODFELLOWS FOUNDATION IN 1938

The Goodfellows Foundation of the Holland Exchange Club has been continuing its good work throughout the year which is now drawing to its close. 54 children have had infected tonsils removed by local physicians at the local hospital, the Goodfellows Foundation paying all expenses, including the hospital fees involved. Fourteen families have been aided with additional milk supply. This milk supply has been a great help to these families, especially where illness made this nourishing food a prime necessity.

Many fine letters of appreciation have been received by the Secretary of the Goodfellows Foundation, expressing the gratitude of the families where these forms of aid have been received. "You surely are doing a good work and I hope you will be successful in aiding many who are in need," wrote one of the beneficiaries. "We realize the good that your work is doing, and you may be assured that it is greatly appreciated," wrote another. "We thank you all from the bottom of our hearts," is the way another expressed it. Regarding one boy who had a tonsillectomy, his parents wrote, "We can already notice an improvement in his health." Sometimes the children themselves sent very fine "thank you" cards with a sweet message of gratitude. All of these messages have encouraged the Goodfellows Foundation to continue the work.

The total budget this year has been almost fifteen hundred dollars. The Community Chest has listed this cause for eight hundred dollars for next year. The regular annual Newspaper drive for the work of the Goodfellows Foundation will be made on Dec. 24th. In this drive we should receive about seven hundred dollars, in order to make the work of the coming year equal to that of this year. Let us all participate as before in the true Christmas spirit of goodwill.

Yours very truly,
Paul E. Hinkamp,
Secretary, Goodfellows Foundation.

A $10,000 FIRE AT LOCAL LUMBER PLANT

Fire destroyed the planing mill and part of the storage sheds of the Bolhuis Lumber and Manufacturing Co. at Columbia Ave. and 18th St. Friday night, causing a loss estimated at $10,000 and breaking Holland's record, nearly complete for 1938, of no serious fires for the year.

The fire was discovered at 8:55 p. m. when an unidentified man ran into another part of the building from that which burned and reported that the southeast section of the Bolhuis buildings was on fire. William Van Alsburg, vice president of the company, reported passing the building at 6 p. m. without noticing any sign of fire.

Frank Bolhuis, president, said that five to six carloads of lumber, valued at $6,000 or $7,000, were stored in the damaged buildings. Loss on the building itself was set at $3,000.

Three pumping trucks and a ladder truck, all of Holland's equipment, were called out to fight the blaze. Firemen were hampered in getting water on the fire by numerous people in the scene and by the small water mains in that part of Holland. However, officials of the lumber company praised the firemen for their work in preventing spread of the blaze to other parts of the plant.

After the fire, Cornelius Blom, fire chief, said that he will use the Bolhuis loss as an example in urging common council to provide a new truck for the city's fire-fighting forces.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL SCHEDULE DISTRIBUTED TO THE PUBLIC EVERY DAY

The Dutch-Boy Bread Company has come out with a new and novel arrangement by having the basketball schedule of our high school tear printed on all their bread wrappers.

Complete information of every game is given, besides the name of the coach and college team he played with are shown. With the daily distribution of this bread into various homes, the appearance of our high school basketball schedules on every wrapper will naturally create a greater public interest in our various games, and thereby tend toward swelling the gate receipts.

Arrest of Olin Clears Up Thefts

Arrest of Kenneth Olin at Grand Haven has cleared up all but some minor thefts reported recently. Chief Lawrence De Witt, chief of police at Grand Haven, stated after looking over the city police complaint sheet. "There were a number of unsolved crimes," he said, "since early September, and our department was unable to connect any local parties with them."

When it was reported Olin had escaped Muskegon police after Hoffman and Dempsey were arrested," Chief De Witt said, "we obtained a picture of Olin and our officers familiarized themselves with it and kept a close watch for him as he was known to have come to Grand Haven frequently. His girl friend liked to skate and we knew this and the officers watched amusement places closely."

Chief De Witt said Olin admitted, beside he stripping of a car in Duncan park, that he had removed tires, batteries and seats from other cars and taken articles from parked cars. Four or five years ago, Chief De Witt said, Olin was arrested for removing tires from a car but was turned over to Muskegon police who had a more serious charge against him.

South Haven police came to Grand Haven to take back cigarettes, razors, clocks and other articles from the Pratt and Kuhn store, which were found in a car Olin admitted taking from Waukegon, Ill.

Chief De Witt is a Holland man and his parents live here.

WILL VOTE TO REMODEL PINE CREEK RURAL SCHOOL.

The Pine Creek school board which met yesterday afternoon decided to ask the school district voters to vote on a remodeling program to remedy existing conditions at the Pine Creek school.

The vote will be held as soon as proper plans and specifications and bids can be submitted which have the approval of the state fire marshal's office, department of public instruction and the county sanitary engineer.

It has been proposed on previous occasions to build a new school at Pine Creek as a PWA project but voters have refused to approve the working by turning down a bond issue.

The school board met yesterday with E. J. Burrill, assistant state fire marshal of Lansing, to discuss the necessary steps to be taken to put the school in proper condition to meet with the state's approval.

Mr. Lefly, assistant fire chief of Lansing, who is sponsoring the work being done in Lansing by school pupils in the line of fire prevention, and J. W. Kelder, of the department of public instruction, accompanied Mr. Burrill on his inspection tour of the Pine Creek school building.

Mr. Burrill pointed out to the board that various fire hazards and many details of faulty construction in the present building which endangered the lives of pupils had been responsible for the order from his department for the closing of the building earlier in the season. The school later had been reopened with special permission, subject to limitations. He further stated that necessary steps must be taken to insure adequate protection for children now attending the school.

Mr. Kelder informed the board that in addition to Mr. Burrill's recommendations the lighting was improper and inadequate. This should be improved to insure the preservation of proper eyesight of children.

CHURCH AT HOLLAND DELAYS NEW BUILDING

The Rev. John Dubbeldeman, pastor of the New Apostolic church, which was recently denied common council's permission to build a new church here, announced that his church will not built "at the present."

The New Apostolic church will not contest council's action, the Rev. Dubbeldeman said, after conferring with the Rev. John Erb of Chicago, president of the National Council of the New Apostolic Church of the United States and Canada, and the Rev. F. W. Busse of South Bend, Ind.

Council rejected the application for a permit Wednesday night in spite of a plea by the Rev. Mr. Dubbeldeman. Interference with services at Seventh Reformed church, which is near the Pine and 14th corner at which the Apostolic church wanted to build, were given as causes for the action by common council.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By CORA ANTHONY
Director of A&P Kitchen

MEAT and egg prices are lower. The chief changes will be noted in pork loins and in lamb cuts. More fresh eggs are arriving which should help make Christmas baking more economical and pre-Christmas meals quicker and easier to prepare.

Butter prices stopped climbing and even dropped a cent or two, which makes it more than ten cents cheaper a pound than last year at this season. Orange juice is now almost as cheap to serve as tomato juice. Most people like both but not all food budgets can always compass orange juice and for those people a treat is in store. Grapefruit and apples are also very reasonable.

Three Sunday dinner menus follow.

Low Cost Dinner
Scalloped Potatoes with Shoulder
Pork Chops
Buttered Cabbage
Bread and Butter
Hot Apple Sauce
Tea or Coffee
Gingerbread
Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Baked Half Ham
Glazed Pineapple
Mashed Potatoes
Spinach
Bread and Butter
Orange Spanish Cream
Tea or Coffee
Milk

Very Special Dinner
Consomme Julienne
Roast Lamb
Pan-browned Potatoes
Sweet Sour Green Beans
Tomato Salad
Rolls and Butter
Vanilla Ice Cream with Chocolate Sauce
Cup Cakes

The Grand Haven Skaters Bring The Publicity

Are Now on Air in Southland; First Day of Skating Brought Terribly Swollen Feet

The two Grand Haven skaters now in Florida who left that city Oct. 24 and passed through Holland fully dressed up for the sweep to the Pacific coast—and, it appears now are coming back the northern route—tell of some of their experience:

Grand Haven is being well advertised in the southern section of the country by Al Fisher and Courtney Arbogast, roller skaters who are on a 4,200-mile trek to Florida and California.

The boys will be heard on the air at Atlanta, Ga., as "men on the street," interviewed, a form of entertainment over the radio that is conducted in many parts of the country. The Atlanta Constitution, largest newspaper in that city, had an article and pictures of the boys which they enclosed in a letter received by Joe Davis, Sr.

The article states: "Amazing as is the boy's stamina and determination in crossing the country on skates is their statement that they expect to skate back home via the northern route from California and hope to be back home July 4."

"It's not so bad now for all the blisters on our feet have turned to callouses. The worst part of the trip is having to take off our skates and walk across dirt and pebble lined roads or rough asphalt," they told the Atlanta reporter.

Arbogast said his feet were so swollen after the first day out that he could hardly put his shoes back on after removing them at night.

The suits the boys wear with the name "Grand Haven, Riviera of Western Michigan" emblazoned across their backs, when appearing in towns, have done much to fix the name Grand Haven upon those who see them.

Following is a letter received today by Mr. Davis, one of the sponsors, which tells of the boys' progress:

"Thanks a lot for the $5. We sure needed it. We got a swell writeup and picture in the morning edition of the Atlanta Constitution which is enclosed. We will be in West Palm Beach Dec. 17 at night. We are going to make Jackson tomorrow, which would be Thursday of this week, and Macon by Friday night."

"We will leave Macon Saturday noon and will make 23 miles to Perry by Saturday. Sunday will be another short day on account of the traffic but we will make Hainesville, 20 miles away. On Monday we will make Macon and half way between Hazelhurst and Alma by Tuesday evening. We figure that by Friday, Dec. 9, we will be in Jacksonville, Fla., and expect to stay there until the following Sunday."

"Thanks for everything and say hello to all the kids. Remember we are going to be on the air and get a real boost which may help in the sale of the cards. Just like to tell you that we are both gaining weight. We'll get all the publicity we can."

BIRD FOOD SUPPLY STARTS OUT WELL BUT DON'T NEGLECT IT

The larder is well filled for Michigan's game birds for this winter, due to an unusually wet summer followed by an unusually dry autumn.

Winter bird feed conditions are very favorable at this point, according to game division workers of the Department of Conservation. The abundant rainfall during the summer contributed to an unusual growth of weeds, a heavy corn yield and a lush production of crops in general, all of which are sources of feed for the birds as well as for many other species of small game.

The dry, warm autumn helped to preserve the stock of feed, game workers point out, especially in the effect on corn, the most important game bird food. Where a year ago the corn was comparatively small with little left in the fields, this year the crop was exceptionally large and the dryness of the ground prevented farmers from doing as much plowing as they ordinarily would do. Many farmers also were compelled by weather conditions to pick their corn on the stalk. As a result, more fields than usual have been left with the stalks in them, making highly fertile feeding grounds for the birds.

The game investigators point out, however, that an unusually severe winter might prevent some species of animals from getting at the large supplies of food. Otherwise the small wildlife population should reach spring without abnormal mortality.

Council Postpones Nykerk Cup Contest

The Nykerk cup contest which was originally scheduled for December 8th, has been postponed until after the Christmas holidays. Neither the sophomore nor the freshman girls were quite ready for it, so the council voted last week to hold it over. This gives the orators more time to prepare their orations, and will make the rivalry in the rest of the contest more keen.

allowed. At least this method, as an experiment, is worth a trial providing proper legislation can be obtained. With deer practically tame, bow and arrow hunting should be entirely successful.

Sportmen's organizations should realize that because of protests being made, some action must be taken. Of all the probable methods to control, it perhaps would be better to attempt the bow and arrow and if this doesn't prove satisfactory, then other ways must be used. At least the bow and arrow should be safe and is well worth the experiment.

The Deer Problem In Allegan County

(Allegan Gazette)

With considerable pressure being brought by a large group of protesting farmers, Allegan county's herd of deer are involved in a problem, the solution of which appears to be through an annual deer harvest.

There is no question but that deer will become a serious problem unless control measures are adopted and control is impossible unless certain numbers are killed each year leaving only a limited size herd.

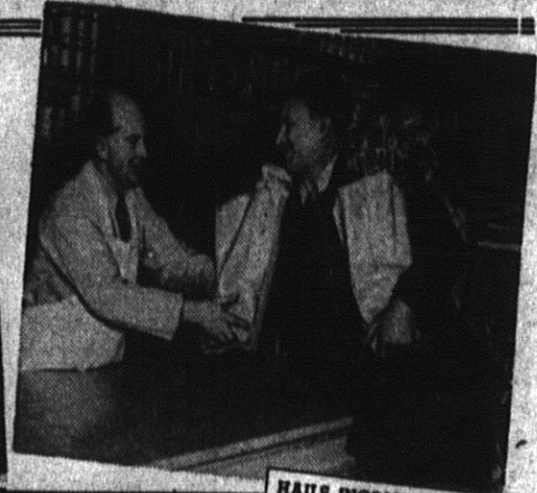

To accomplish control it probably will be necessary to kill both buck and doe deer with strict Department of Conservation supervision. Yet, to turn hunters loose with high powered rifles in Allegan county would result in many accidents, perhaps fatal.

It may be that bow and arrow hunters could do the job. Conditions are such in the county that this type of hunting, if permitted over a period of 30 days, might keep the herd down, especially if both buck and doe killing were

Strange Antics Of Perch Take Place Each Year

GO UP STREAM FROM LAKE MICHIGAN; COULD BE GOTTEN BY THE BUCKETFUL

With fingerling perch appearing in several Great Lakes tributaries on their annual mystery runs upstream, employees of the conservation department's fish division have been seeing thousands of the young fish for transplanting into a number of inland lakes.

Fish researchers and culturists are not agreed as to the cause of the annual perch movement, but invariably the fish exhibit an urge to venture upstream in the tributaries of the Great Lakes every fall. In some years, possibly due to favorable conditions during and following spawning, which result in more than the average number of young fish surviving, the number ascending the streams runs into the millions. This year, however, the runs are not heavy. One of the first runs to be reported in the state occurred at Alpena, beginning the latter part of September. Other points at which the runs usually occur are up the inlet to Hamlin lake at Ludington, at Elk Rapids, Cheboygan, Berrien Springs, Traverse City and Frankenthum. In past years, a large percentage of the young perch seized for planting were taken at Frankenthum, but this year the water at that point was lower than usual.

The seeding of the perch is begun by the fish division after equipment becomes available as the annual fall program of trout, bluegill and bass planting is completed. The perch are planted mainly in designated pike lakes for which black bass and bluegills are not furnished.

During years of heavy runs, the fingerling perch have come into the streams in such numbers that they could be dipped out easily by the bucketful. Frequently the run ends abruptly, the fish vanishing from a stream overnight.

We're Not the Whole Cheese

At the end of 1937 there were 2,134,000,000 people in the world, according to a League of Nations estimate.

And more than 2,000,000,000 of them lived outside the United States.

This fact, although interesting and important, will probably not make a dent in those Americans who are constantly talking and writing as if their opinions were "world opinions."

The greater part of the world's population is in Asia. China claims 450,000,000 people and India 350,000,000 while Japan and its possessions account for another 100,000,000. A considerable portion of the Soviet Union's 175,000,000 inhabitants also live in Asia.

The population of Europe, according to the League of Nations, amounts to 397,000,000, that of the United States to 130,000,000 and that of South America to 90,000,000. The English-speaking peoples of the earth probably number less than 200,000,000, with the United States providing about 65 per cent of them.

What a thought-arresting fact!

ILLUMINATED SIGNS FOR HOLLAND AND ELSEWHERE (Fennville Herald)

A delegation of three business men from Otsego attending a monthly dinner of Fennville business men presented a proposition for placing immense illuminated highway signs near Holland and Plainwell, to direct travel through those places and Allegan, Fennville, Saugatuck and Douglas. The signs would cost $600 and each of the six places would be expected to contribute $100. The matter was referred to the highway committee of the association, as also was a proposal to co-operate in sending a delegation to Lansing to ask the state highway department to improve M-89.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS NOW REQUIRED ON DRIVERS' LICENSE

Relatively few licensed drivers of motor vehicles in the state have ever realized that the same law that requires them to be licensed also stipulates that they must notify the Department of State immediately of any change of residence address. Notification is made through local police and sheriff's offices on forms furnished by the department. In Holland it would be Chief Van Ry or Frank Van Etta, sheriff.

The licensing statute provides that failure to have any change of address recorded in the prescribed manner may be cause for revocation or suspension of an operator's or chauffeur's license.

The operators and chauffeurs division of the Department of State has been unable on many occasions to furnish the correct home address of license operators when the appeal for aid in locating people sought was for the purpose of notifying friends or relatives of injuries or even death. Missing persons have been located through the records of the Department by relatives who knew that the person was a licensed automobile driver in Michigan. In unsuccessful cases, failure to locate the missing person was attributable only to negligence on the part of the operator to file his change of address. There have been many instances in which badly injured persons could be identified only by their names or serial numbers on their drivers' licenses. But when the addresses are wrong, delays in more complete identifications are experienced and in some cases it is impossible ever to trace the proper residence address.

Fire Insurance Old Business

Fire insurance dates from the great fire of London in 1666. The widespread havoc caused by this disaster created a demand for protection and in the remaining years of the Seventeenth century several companies were formed for this purpose.

Cars Are Hard On Squirrels

Automobiles are proving the greatest menace to squirrels in the cities. Every year hundreds of fox squirrels in the cities are killed by cars in trying to cross the streets near parks. Of course, dogs are another menace to the fox squirrels in the cities, but it is the automobile that takes the greatest toll.

These arguments will be advanced at the next session of the State Legislature when steps will be taken to repeal the law providing for a closed season on squirrels in Michigan.

Michigan. Various conservation groups and others are organizing to bring about the repeal.

A Detroit member of the Legislature introduced a bill which it developed later placed a closed season on squirrels throughout the state. In introducing his bill, the Detroit legislator said that he desired to protect the squirrels in the cities. It was not until after the bill became a law that the majority of hunters realized that it had placed a ban on squirrel hunting throughout the state. An effort was made by some to have a repeal law introduced at the recent special session, but it failed.

Long Fall and Dry Holes Make Muskrats Restless

Muskrats, like people, do most of their moving in the spring. This fall, however, the "rats" have shown an unusual restlessness, moving around from place to place at a date much later than usual. The reason, according to conservation department game division workers, is that many water holes where they had built homes have dried up. The drouth conditions that prevailed during most of the fall resulted in many muskrats being forced to move just when they probably thought they were settled for the winter.

The drying up of the smaller water holes has resulted in a concentration of muskrat families on the larger waters, a condition which makes it easier for trappers, barring the development of unfavorable ice conditions such as prevailed last season.

Game investigators have noted an unusual number of muskrats along roads and highways and have counted many new muskrat houses sitting "high and dry." In Oakland county, usually a high producer of muskrats because of its large number of lakes and water holes, the drouth's effect on the "rats" has been especially noticeable. Similar conditions have been observed in Montcalm county, as well as in other regions of the state.

No New Regulations On Fishing for '39 To Speak Of Fishermen will not have to worry about any new regulations for the coming year except in the minor instance of newly designated pike lakes. With that exception, the rules for legal fishing will be the same for 1939 as have prevailed during 1938, barring the unlikely possibility of the 1939 state legislature voting changes and making them effective immediately.

A possible increase in the number who will try their luck in Michigan waters next year is anticipated by the department of conservation in ordering a larger allotment of new fishing licenses than were printed for 1938. Although the new licenses will not be available for several weeks, a total of 1,800,000 has been ordered, an increase of 50,000. All of the increase is specified for resident, non-trout licenses, the order for this class totaling 750,000. In other groups the 1939 order is the same as for 1938—200,000 resident trout licenses, 150,000 temporary, 10-day, non-resident licenses, 100,000 annual non-resident licenses and 100,000 permits for wives of non-residents.

In addition, 1,415,000 digests of the fishing laws have also been ordered.

ASK STATE TO PLANT BLUEGILLS IN MONA LAKE

(Muskegon Chronicle)

Mona lake, once a fishing paradise, is becoming a piscatorial Sahara and the residents of Mona Beach, Muskegon, want the State Conservation Department to do something about it.

Residents of Mona Beach, a community of 115 cottages, some occupied the year around, are signing a petition circulated by George Bolthouse and addressed to P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the department, requesting that it restock both Mona lake and Lake Harbor with bass, bluegills, speckled bass and perch.

Decline in fishing results has been especially noticeable during the last five or six years, dating from the depths of the depression. During the peaks of unemployment many residents of Muskegon Heights have been fishing the lake to such an extent there are relatively few fish left, the petitioners claim.

CARRIER PIGEON IS PICKED UP

The Sport Shop, Grand Haven, has a carrier pigeon that was brought there by a resident who picked it up as the bird's flying feathers were gone and it was hovering on the ground.

On one leg is a band with the letters G.R.M. and the figure 5396. The bird is very tame and is contented to remain in the rear of the shop. When first brought in it would not eat but today it has had water and food. The flying feathers on one wing are gone, probably through accident, and it will be some time before they are grown out so that the bird may continue its flight.

The owners of the Sport Shop say they will house it until it is in good condition, or they will find some pigeon fancier who will give it a home.

STRAINED FOOD FACTS

Babies nowadays live a pretty full life. It's not just a matter of eating and sleeping and playing and crying anymore. Things have been planned and developed for them. Their days have been regimented to fit well organized schedules. Their nurseries have been studied and designed by psychologists and child care authorities. They are taken regularly to their these choice, fresh-flavored vegetables so regularly. Then for his morning delectation there is a fine flavored cereal—a mixture of wheat hearts and farina, whole wheat and oats, cooked for a long time without any seasonings or milk being added, then strained through the minute holes of a special screen to remove all coarse, branny material and retain the rich nutritive value of the grains.

When it comes to desserts, babies now have a choice of several fine fruit combinations. First there are strained prunes—smoothly pureed prunes with a dash of lemon juice added to give the touch of tang that children love. This lemon juice makes for better keeping qualities, too. Prunes have a very gentle laxative effect and are rich in iron and growth-giving vitamins A and C.

For variety, babies also have smoothly blended apricots and apple sauce made of rich-ripe fresh apricots merged with delicately flavored applesauce. There now, is a fine flavored fruit combination—apricots with their light sharp snap toned down with mild mellowed applesauce. This combination is especially rich in vitamin A and a good supply of iron—the anti-anemia mineral so essential to building sturdy young bodies.

Newest contribution to the strained foods line is a subtle blend of pears and pineapple—mild-flavored, juicy-ripe Bartlett pears have been merged with a lively dash of first-choice tropical pineapple. Makes a fine flavored dessert that babies take to at first taste. As a matter of fact, many physicians recommend pears and pineapple as the first fruit for babies who are not yet used to the sharper savor of more acid fruits. And what's more, the natural sugar content of the new strained pears and pineapple food makes it a good source of energy for an active infant.

Deer Die With Horns Locked

Horns interlocked, two fair sized bucks were found dead on the Ogonts river in Delta county, victims of a forest battle that disproves the theory of survival of the fittest.

Evidence of a terrific struggle marked the forest. One deer apparently died of a broken neck, while the other died of starvation. There was also indications that the victor dragged his vanquished dead a considerable distance in frantic efforts to free himself.

The find was made by Laurence Lavelle of Ontonagon, who procured permission from the conservation department to take the heads. He was attracted to the scene by a flock of buzzards which hovered over the spot for several days.

Many Rubber Checks Appear

A sudden outbreak of forged checks in Allegan county is serving to warn merchants and others cashing checks to investigate the circumstances carefully before accepting payment in this manner.

A dozen or more forged checks and others found to have been issued without sufficient funds, have been reported to the sheriff's department during the past two weeks, and it is feared there are still more in circulation.

While no arrests have yet been made, thorough investigation is being made this week by the sheriff and his deputies. Reports have come from all parts of the county, including a few in Allegan. Other checks have been reported cashed in Bloomingdale and Gobles.

Checks have been written when funds had not been deposited, they have been written with a forged name and endorsed with a forgery, and amounts ranging from a few dollars upwards, according to reports by officials.

Zoo Receives Albino Bison

An albino bison bull born on the National Bison Range near Moiese, Mont., was presented to the National Zoological Park by the U. S. Biological Survey. This white bison bull is rarer even than the sacred white elephant of Siam.

A couple of generations ago, in the days of the vast herds on the western plains white bison were great rarities and the Indians considered them sacred. One plains tribe, the Atsina, slaughtered large numbers of bison by driving them over cliffs, but if one white animal was in the mass they killed whole-sale, only the direct necessity could drive them to take the meat or hides of any part of the whole herd.

December 14, Date Set For Oratorical Contests

December 14 is the date set for the annual Adelaide and Raven Oratorical contests. Winners of the contests, besides receiving awards in June, will represent the school at the intercollegiate meet in March.

The Adelaide Contest for women is scheduled for 2:30 in the basement of the chapel. Returning to tradition, the men's Raven Contest at 8:00 in the chapel auditorium, is to be a formal occasion for participants and for the audience if so desired.

The women orators who have drawn for places are: Rose Teninga, speaking on the subject, "The Power of War Propaganda"; Norma Beckfort on "Intercollegiate Athletics"; and Alice Bosch, on "Kidnapping." Nina Fopma will also take part in the contest.

In the men's contest, "Wildfire" will be the subject of Robert Vanderhart's oration. Robert Bonthis has chosen to speak on the "Galileos of 1938"; the title of John Hain's oration is "America's Supreme Menace," and "Midas Touch" is Dean Dykstra's title. Bill Jacobs, Peter Hamel, and Leroy Ellerbrook also intend to enter the contest.

Transportation on Snow

The first book to mention transportation on the snow was Xenophon's "Anabasis," which tells of Armenians who put enlarged shoes on their horses while traveling in the mountain passes.

When our Lord gave this new commandment Judas had just left the company for the purpose of carrying out his plans. It was a night much to be observed. It was the night upon which the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was instituted, in which Judas joined. It was the night upon which Christ gave that remarkable lesson in humility to His disciples by washing their feet. It was the night, too, on which Christ gave distinct warning to Judas of the treachery he was about to commit. And it was after this warning that Judas went out to do his work, leaving the eleven faithful disciples behind.

Any lesson, therefore, given on such a night would be likely to be well remembered, to sink deeply into the heart, and one cannot be surprised that our Lord should take advantage of such an occasion to impress some important precepts and doctrines upon His disciples. One might expect that some things that the Lord would desire to say to the apostles before His passion, and which scarcely could be said in the presence of Judas, would now be uttered without reserve. Christ's New Commandment—Matthew 5:43-48; 22:34-40; John 13:34-35; John 15:12-14

Henry Geerlings

It is very fitting that we should conclude this series of studies on the ten commandments with what Jesus has to say on the subject. Of course we have been studying His sayings on the separate commandments as we have passed along. But right now we have an entire lesson on what He has to say on the commandments, they are the summing up of the meaning of what Moses gave the children of Israel back in the wilderness.

As we follow Him in His words we are impressed with the close connection between the Old Testament and the New. The one is more legalistic than the other; nevertheless they are one in spirit. The emphasis in the one case is more on the outward law, while the emphasis in the other case is on that law which is written on the tablets of men's hearts.

The commandment of love is not a substitute for the ten God gave Moses on the mount. It is additional. It is called a new commandment. There is a possibility of observing the ten commandments in a formal manner that just keeps us respectable members of society. This new commandment carries us beyond that. We are to love one another as He has loved. This includes everyone. There were no racial lines in His sight. He did not make the rich His friends while neglecting the poor. He never told one man that he could enter the kingdom, while informing another that there was no room for him. This love is very intensive. It went to the deepest depths. No man had sunk so low that the love of Christ could not get down to where he was. His love is broad enough to include every soul He has made. It is long enough to follow us all the way. It is deep enough to reach the worst of men. It is high enough to bring us to our final abode.

When our Lord gave this new commandment Judas had just left the company for the purpose of carrying out his plans. It was a night much to be observed. It was the night upon which the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was instituted, in which Judas joined. It was the night upon which Christ gave that remarkable lesson in humility to His disciples by washing their feet. It was the night, too, on which Christ gave distinct warning to Judas of the treachery he was about to commit. And it was after this warning that Judas went out to do his work, leaving the eleven faithful disciples behind.

Any lesson, therefore, given on such a night would be likely to be well remembered, to sink deeply into the heart, and one cannot be surprised that our Lord should take advantage of such an occasion to impress some important precepts and doctrines upon His disciples. One might expect that some things that the Lord would desire to say to the apostles before His passion, and which scarcely could be said in the presence of Judas, would now be uttered without reserve. And indeed it does seem as though the departure of Judas had taken, if one may venture to say so, a weight from off the heart of the Lord, for He enters at once into some of His deepest and most affectionate conversations with the faithful eleven.

The time is short and there is much to be done. The preparations for His capture will begin forthwith, and He has many things to say to His followers which cannot be said so well at any other time. What lesson shall He take first? Upon what doctrine shall He chiefly lay stress? "A new commandment I give unto you: that ye love one another; even as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another." Can we wonder that this new commandment should have afterwards so completely absorbed St. John's own mind, when we remember that he heard it enunciated under such circumstances as these?

When Jesus gave His new commandment that we should love one another as He has loved us, He was stating a principle upon which all the laws and commandments are based. As He has loved us, there would be no need for any other law. The source of our love for others is our love for God. If we do not love our fellow men we do not love God. But when we love God we will also love our fellow men. Our love to God is measured by our love to others, and our love to others is measured by our love to God. It is unreasonable to expect love to God, where there is no love for man. Love can be pictured as a triangle with the peak of the triangle representing God and the other two angles representing ourselves and others.

When we express good will and friendship toward others we can be sure that we are children of God and followers of Christ. When our proverbial verbal profession love of kindness toward all with whom we come in contact, we can be sure that we are far from Christ. For the measure of our love to others is the measure of our love to God. It is no more. It is no less.

Grave Has Many Visitors

The tomb of Abelard and Heloise, in the cemetery of Pere la Chaise in Paris, is, after 700 years, a place of sentimental pilgrimage. Since their tragic romance, notes a writer in Collier's Weekly, this grave is believed to have been more widely known, to have had more visitors and to have been the subject of more stories and songs than any other in Christendom, with the exception of that of the Savior.

Statutes Available For 1938 Extra Session

Few people realize the extent to which the state of Michigan is in the business of publishing books. In the execution of his duties as provided by law, the Secretary of State is the Capitol's chief publisher of books, pamphlets and other public records.

The publication of the Michigan Manual and the Public Acts of each session of the legislature, is a matter of routine for the Department of State and has been for years. Because of this the immensity of the project escapes public notice.

Every two years the Department publishes 15,000 copies of the Michigan Manual, or "Red Book," which has been a familiar symbol of state records for many years.

Also after each session of the legislature, bound volumes of the Acts passed and signed by the Governor are published. The number of books published is usually about 13,500. These Public Acts, as well as the Michigan Manual, are distributed to thousands of public officials without cost as provided in the distribution act.

The most recent publication of the Department is that of the extra session of this year or properly called the Public Acts of 1938. This is a small paper-bound volume of 30 pages recording the 9 acts passed by the last legislature. The cost of this most recent publication is forty cents per copy.

ANTLES DESIGNS NEW TYPE OF BIRD FEEDER

Ira Antles, conservation officer for Ottawa county, has designed a new type of bird feeding station which is an evident improvement over many types now in use. It consists of a box with a hopper-shaped bottom, with wire ball attached for hanging from tree branches at any height dictated by depth of snow. In the bottom is a small hole through which corn, grit or other feed combinations can trickle as the birds need it, but not otherwise.

A small glass bottle, filled with corn, hangs below the box. Birds see the corn, peck at it and the bottle jiggles a stiff wire which lets the grain out on request. Antles isn't selling the box or design and a sample is on display at the district conservation headquarters in Grand Rapids for individuals and clubs to copy if they so desire.

EXAMINE LICENSE APPLICANTS

With 150,000 deer hunters, or thereabouts, in the Michigan north woods at one time, there are bound to be accidents in which human beings are shot with bullets intended for animals. But it ought to be possible to reduce the number of them.

We believe the number would be reduced if, in issuing licenses to hunt, the State were to demand that applicants give proof of fitness to be allowed in the woods with a deadly weapon.

A person desiring to get a license to drive a car must show that he is competent to do it. He must prove that he understands the traffic regulations and can operate a vehicle safely.

Equally a person wishing to hunt deer should show that he has a reasonable familiarity with firearms and knows how to handle a rifle safely. He should be required to give evidence of acquaintance with the rules of caution which experienced hunters observe. And so far as practical, he should be examined for physical and temperamental fitness to indulge in a hazardous sport.

An examination of that sort might save a good many lives and a lot of suffering and grief.

Certainly there is something wrong with a practice which enables a greenhorn to buy a powerful weapon, and then upon payment of a fee, prowl about in the woods with it, a danger to himself and a menace to everybody in his vicinity.

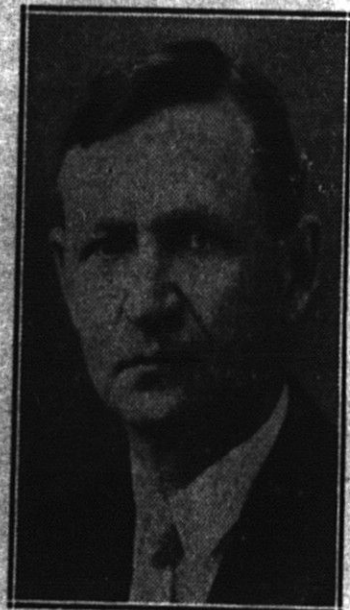

Clare Hoffman Explains His Relief Stand

"Don't Ask Me to Do Anything You Wouldn't Advocate in Your Personal Business"

During the last session of Congress, through the kindness of the publishers and editors of the District, it was my privilege to tell you of a few of the things that were happening in Washington. During the campaign, by paid political ads, you were advised of my views on several occasions.

The campaign is over. May I thank you for the support you gave and express the hope that your confidence may be justified during the coming session.

It is not only my duty but my desire, in serving you, to carry out your wishes on matters of national policy. Many of you, either because you have read what I have written or have heard me speak, know in a general way the principles for which I stand.

Many said, during the campaign, that I was against relief, old age benefits, the laboring man.

As one who has but little property, who has always been forced to work; as one who may some day be in need of old age assistance, I have no personal reason to oppose legislation benefiting any of these groups.

Nothing could be further from the truth than the charges which have been made. Those charges probably have grown out of the fact that it is my belief that, before benefits can be paid to any class, the source of the money to make those payments should be ascertained; that all legislation which is labeled labor legislation is not necessarily of benefit to the actual worker; that I have not blindly followed the demands of organizers or lobbyists.

It is my desire to give the first consideration to the needy, the unfortunate, those least able to protect themselves.

It is my desire to give you the best possible service. That I may do so, help me with any constructive suggestions you may have, but don't ask me to do anything as your Representative which you would not advocate in connection with your own personal business.

Sincerely yours,
CLARE E. HOFFMAN, member of Congress.

THE NEW "NICKEL"

The Indian and the buffalo design.

And in their stead Thomas Jefferson and his home at Monticello will jingle in the national pocket.

The new "Jefferson nickel" that was put into circulation Tuesday is not, artistically, an improvement on the coin it will ultimately displace.

The bust of Jefferson is well enough done, but the reproduction of his historic home on the reverse of the coin has none of the appeal of the buffalo it ousted.

At that, if they can get hold of enough of them, Americans probably will not revolt over the artistic deterioration represented by these misnamed subsidiary coins.

A United States five-cent piece, to explain what we mean, contains three times as much copper as it does nickel.

Two weeks ago Saturday Dr. Bruce Raymond attended the Council meeting of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters at Ann Arbor. Dr. Raymond is chairman of the history division of the academy.

Last Friday, Dr. Raymond attended an all-day meeting of history department professors of all church affiliated colleges of Michigan at Albion. He was accompanied by students interested in that field of education.

HOBBY GROUP TO ARRANGE MODEL RAILWAY EXHIBIT

A group of model enthusiasts, who plan to form a Hobby club or Model club later on, have arranged a display for National Model Railway week in a Grand Haven hardware store window. The railway display not only shows factory models but also cars and locomotives made by members. R. M. Swansen of Keller, Inc., Grand Haven, has long been a model railway enthusiast and has a large amount of trackage, cars, locomotives and equipment arranged in his basement. It has a central control system and is believed the most complete model railway outfit in that city.

Beside Mr. Swansen, others interested are John Lindemulder, who painted the back drop for the window display; his son, Ward; Kenneth Ross, Alvin Jonker and Louis Ellingson. The group will attempt organization later if others show interest. Model building, Mr. Swansen says, does not have to be confined to railroads but may include ships, houses, construction apparatus or anything in miniature. Model clubs located elsewhere have large memberships and in some cases have developed layouts of railroad yards, terminals, harbors, ships and dockage.

Name Jephtha of Hebrew Origin.
The name Jephtha, also spelled Jephthah, is of Hebrew origin and means "God sets free." The original Jephtha was a judge of Israel who vowed that if he should be victorious over the Ammonites he would sacrifice whatever first came to meet him on his return home. He was victorious, and when his daughter came to meet him he kept his vow.

Traveling Around America

WEST POINTERS TAKE TO THE SEA
