Open House Set Tonight At Carousel

Snow may be lacking, but the new Carousel Mountain ski lodge held an open house Wednesday from 6:30 to 10 p.m. for area residents to inspect the ski lodge and the hills. Many ski runs have been redesigned for better movement and safety.

Larry Phillips, who is managing the resort for the new owners, United Insurance Co., has arranged for improved parking accommodating more than 200 cars near the main lodge, new facilities for ski rental, ski repair, ski patrol and first aid in the "barn" which formerly was a cider mill with a water wheel, changes within the lodge which allow for better movement of guests, and many improvements on the runs.

Phillips has completed his staff for the current season which will start as soon as snow is on the runs. Don Kuipers of Holland will manage the lodge, Michael Gerry the ski school, Roy Herron will operate snow making machines and care for the runs, and Adelaide Brondyke will operate the motel.

Management is torn between the desire for snow and the desire to complete several loose-end tasks which can be accomplished better without snow. Meanwhile, the Carousel scene which lies a half mile south of Macatawa Park is a beehive of activity, widening roads, building better bridges, improving parking lots and grooming ski runs.

There is some snow for the beginners ski bowl nicely designed for inexperienced skiers with gentle slopes and easy rope tow returns.

Access from the new parking area to the lodge is over a firm footbridge. A second is planned.

The basement area has been turned over to tow tickets and is arranged for four lines. There will be benches for lounging.

Many trees have been removed from the T-bar hill, a large hole has been filled and the entire hill groomed. There is ample space at the crest for reasonable movement.

The beginner bowl also has been cleared of trees. Beginners start here and then graduate to the more challenging slopes for experienced skiers.

There are a chair lift, a T-bar, J-bar and three rope tows for the big hills which boast 10 or more runs.

A new dam has been built at the creek to control pond water levels for snow making operations. There are two new air compressors boasting 900 cubic feet per minute. The process calls for pumping water from a suction well in the pond, blowing it up the hills with compressed air in freezing temperatures. Temperatures of 27 degree and lower are ideal.

Inside the lodge, both kitchens have been remodeled. Plans call for serving snacks and light meals at present.

The management has been encouraged over the interest in family memberships and interest from youth groups. Emphasis this year is on families and youth for wholesome enjoyment of winter sports.

The lodge with its huge windows, spacious rooms and bright red carpets are all decked out for Christmas, making a beautiful picture in its rustic setting.

Burglar Breaks Into Convent

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — A burglar allegedly stole Christmas presents, sent nuns into hiding in St. Andrew's convent early today and then pulled a knife on a policeman at headquarters, authorities reported.

Police Captain Nick Treviso identified the invader as Raymond Plankey, 27.

Treviso said one of the sisters at the convent said there was a burglar in the convent.

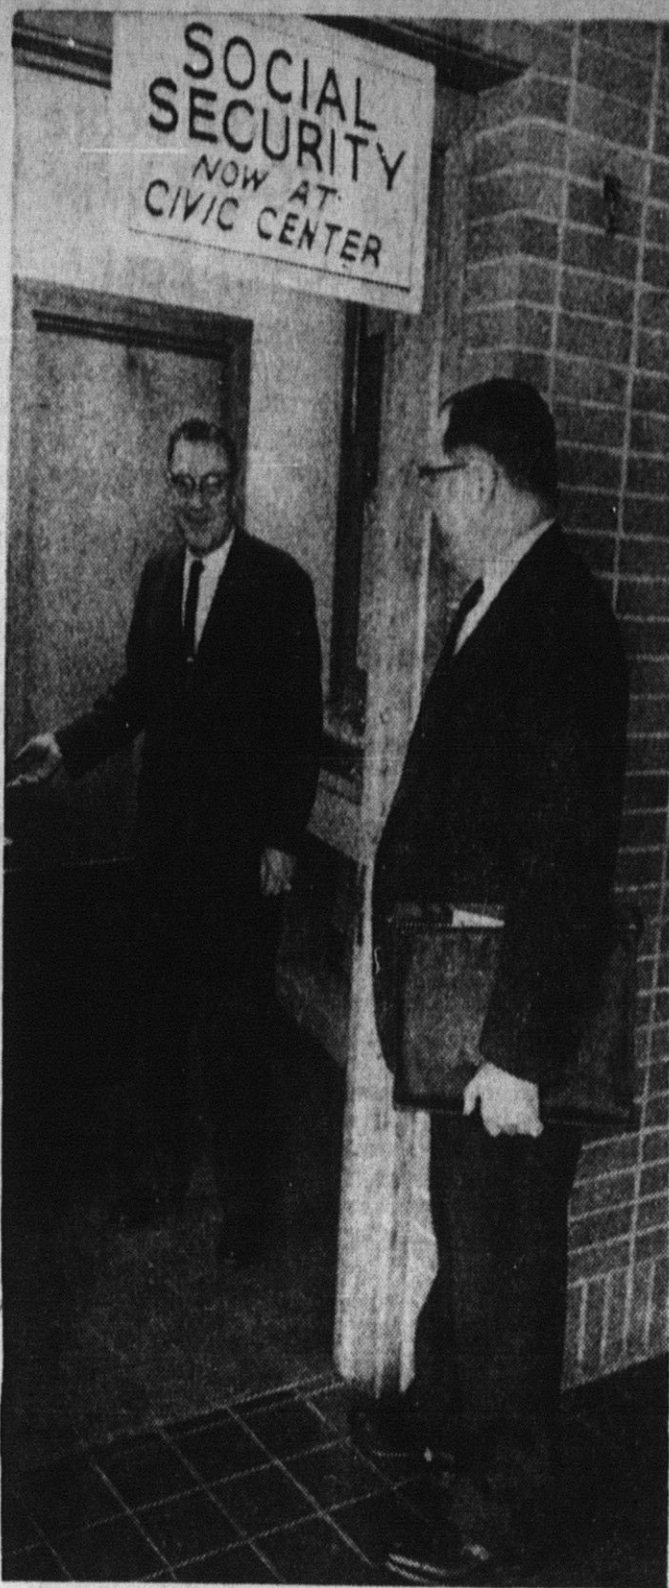

Police said the sisters went into hiding until police arrived and took Plankey into custody. He had in his possession several gift packages taken from under the convent Christmas tree, police said.

At police headquarters he pulled a knife, put it at the throat of officer Richard Terpstra, who broke away after inflicting a neck scratch, police said. Terpstra and two other officers subdued Plankey and locked him in a cell.

Treviso said two warrants have been issued against Plankey, one charging breaking and entering and the other assault.

Police Ticket Driver

Holland police ticketed Nelis Ray Bude, 46, of 371 Waukazoo Dr., for failure to yield the right of way and for driving on an expired driver's license after the car he was driving collided with one driven by Rosemary Lugten, 18, of route 2, Hamilton, 12:08 p.m. Wednesday at Central Ave. and Ninth St.

Social Security Office Moving

Hereafter, representatives from the Grand Rapids district office of the Social Security Administration will meet the public in Civic Center instead of the post office.

Starting Tuesday, Dec. 26, Robert J. Barber, field representative of the district office, and other personnel will be in the small ticket office just south of the entry at Civic Center. The cloak room and at times other offices will be used for conferences.

The move to Civic Center from the post office is made in the interest of local people who hereafter will not have to climb to the second floor. Parking also is a factor.

The city of Holland is providing the space in Civic Center. District representatives will be at Civic Center every Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Persons also are welcome to go to the district office in Grand Rapids, 50 Ransom Ave. NE, which is open Tuesday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and on Monday from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Barber estimates that some 10,000 persons in Ottawa county are receiving Social Security benefits. Persons from Hamilton, Saugatuck and other close-in areas of Allegan county also use the Holland office. Representatives are in Allegan on Wednesday.

Among the services the office offers: Help get statement of earnings credited to Social Security records. Assist in correcting errors in record. Assist in filing a claim for retirement, survivors or disability insurance cash benefits. Assist in signing for the voluntary medical insurance part of Medicare. Assist in reporting events that might affect benefit payments. Assist in claims for health insurance benefits. Provide information and literature about rights and responsibilities.

One service remains at the post office. Applications for Social Security account numbers and for replacement of lost Social Security cards may be obtained at the stamp windows.

Corporation Opens 2nd Plant

Thermotron Corporation, an international company manufacturing environmental test chambers and located at 937 South Washington Ave., has grown from a one-man organization in 1962 to an organization with more than 100 employees and sales associates internationally.

The corporation has added an additional plant at 917 South Washington Ave., which is devoted to the sheet metal fabrication of stainless steel and other materials required by the Thermotron environmental test chambers.

Officers of the corporation are Charles F. Conrad, president; Milton Steketee, chief engineer; Keith L. Dadd, sales manager; and William Strating, CPA and controller.

The outlook for future growth is excellent, officials said. Thermotron Corp. has some research and development contracts for solid state heat transfer devices which will permit refrigeration without machinery or gases.

It happened this way. Last Friday, all students of Lincoln elementary school attended the Christmas art show in the Hazel Forney Herrick Art Center at the high school. After all the splendor of the woodland animals at the Christmas Fair, the children went into another room where Santa Claus pitched his ho-ho-hos. The little girl turned her back on him and refused to talk to him.

She indicated in her puerile but strong voice that Santa Claus just hadn't ever come through for her. She'd asked him for things a couple of times and hadn't received them.

The student guide who was squiring four or five kindergartners through the show was concerned about the crying child. At home he told his father about it. Something had to be done.

They established identity of the child with Lincoln School Principal Ivan Compagner who described the family (the child is one of five children) as disadvantaged.

Anyways, the boy is going to play Santa Claus for the child.

He represented the 23rd district consisting of Ottawa, Allegan and Van Buren counties and one township in Barry county.

Sen. Volkema had been in Holland Hospital for tests from Nov. 13 to 20. He had been scheduled to speak on open housing before a Sunday School class in First Reformed Church Sunday morning.

About two years ago, he collapsed on the Senate floor of what physicians called exhaustion and presumably had made a good recovery.

His death slices the GOP majority in the state senate to a single vote with Republicans now holding a 19-18 edge over Democrats. A special election will be called to name a successor, but it was expected dates would not be selected until Gov. George Romney returns from his world tour.

A staunch supporter of Gov. Romney, Volkema nevertheless opposed Romney's state income tax proposal earlier this year. But he failed to receive support from his GOP colleagues and the measure passed last summer.

Before entering politics, Volkema taught at Holland Christian High School for 10 years and also served 10 years as sports director for radio station WHTC. He served on Holland's City Council for nearly four years, resigning when he was elected to the senate. He was succeeded by Dr. Hollis Clark Jr.

Sen. Harold Volkema Dies of Heart Attack

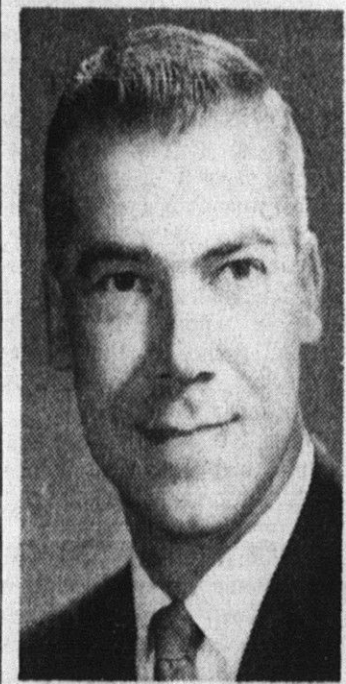

Local Man Stricken At Age 37

Former Teacher
And Councilman
Stricken at Home

State and local leaders Monday mourned the passing of State Sen. Harold J. Volkema, 37, (R-Holland) who was dead on arrival at 9 a.m. Sunday at Holland Hospital. A post-mortem later revealed he died of a massive heart attack. He was stricken about 8 a.m. in his home at 197 West 22nd St.

Mayor Nelson Bosman requested all businesses and organizations in the city to fly flags at half mast until after the funeral.

Sen. Volkema was serving his second term in the state senate. He was elected in 1964 and reelected in 1966, this time for a four-year term. He represented the 23rd district consisting of Ottawa, Allegan and Van Buren counties and one township in Barry county.

Sen. Volkema had been in Holland Hospital for tests from Nov. 13 to 20. He had been scheduled to speak on open housing before a Sunday School class in First Reformed Church Sunday morning.

About two years ago, he collapsed on the Senate floor of what physicians called exhaustion and presumably had made a good recovery.

His death slices the GOP majority in the state senate to a single vote with Republicans now holding a 19-18 edge over Democrats. A special election will be called to name a successor, but it was expected dates would not be selected until Gov. George Romney returns from his world tour.

A staunch supporter of Gov. Romney, Volkema nevertheless opposed Romney's state income tax proposal earlier this year. But he failed to receive support from his GOP colleagues and the measure passed last summer.

Before entering politics, Volkema taught at Holland Christian High School for 10 years and also served 10 years as sports director for radio station WHTC. He served on Holland's City Council for nearly four years, resigning when he was elected to the senate. He was succeeded by Dr. Hollis Clark Jr.

Volkema was an active member of Faith Christian Reformed Church. He operated Volkema Book Store in Holland, and at one time operated two book stores here. He served 13 years with the Holland National Guard company.

Volkema was a graduate of Holland Christian High School, class of 1948, and Calvin College with the class of 1953. He did graduate work in administration and political science at Michigan State University, Western Michigan University and the University of Michigan, obtaining a master's degree from the latter.

He was a member of the Holland Fish and Game Club, the Chamber of Commerce and had worked for the United Fund. He formerly was a member of the Holland Jaycees.

Volkema was chairman of the Senate education committee.

Volkema's death was the third legislator within the year. House Speaker Joseph Kowalski (D-Detroit) and Rep. James S. Nunneley (R-Mt. Clemens) both died earlier this year.

The Senator is survived by his wife Shirley; five children at home, Thomas, Barbara, Jane, Mary and James; his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Claus Volkema of Holland; a brother, Kenneth of Sudbury, Mass., and a sister, Mrs. Jay (Jean) Boes of Zeeland.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday from Faith Christian Reformed Church with the Rev. Charles Steenstra officiating. Pall bearers will be Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood (R-St. Louis), Sen. Charles O. Zollar (R-Benton Harbor), Sen. Milton Zaagman (R-Grand Rapids), Sen. Robert Vander Laan (R-Grand Rapids), Rep. Melvin De Stigter (R-Benton Harbor) and U.S. Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, (9th district Michigan).

Yule Cheer Provided In Allegan

ALLEGAN — "Tis the season to be merry," proclaim the gaily lighted store fronts that greet the harried last minute shopper pacing Allegan downtown streets for that last buy before the "big week-end." But for many less fortunate families the old caroling verse would not apply, and it would be a dreary Christmas, indeed, were it not for the efforts of Allegan's Christmas spirited schools, churches and civic groups.

This year's Christmas cheer for 51 underprivileged homes in and around the Allegan locale, comes again in the form of welcome baskets of clothing, canned goods, toys and money distributed by the Allegan Public Schools under the directorship of community school director Jim Tackmann.

Armed with a list of families provided by Allegan County Bureau of Social Aid, local churches and school administrators, Tackmann coordinates the efforts of local churches and civic groups for the distribution of Christmas baskets.

"My job is to prevent duplication and see that no one is left out," said Tackmann. He also has the task of seeing to the purchase of goods for those gifts and the fitting of each basket to the various families' need. In the event that donations are lacking, the public schools foot the bill for those baskets without donors.

"However, this year," Tackmann said, "our quota has been completely filled, thanks to wide community interest in the program."

Besides the Christmas basket program, there are local Christmas parties for children such as the one sponsored by the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, and the annual Christmas shopping tour and wrapping party sponsored by the Allegan Jaycees.

Dr. David Klein Receives Award

Dr. David H. Klein, Associate Professor of Chemistry at Hope College, has been awarded a Science Faculty Fellowship by the National Science Foundation.

He will spend the 1968-1969 academic year in study and research in the field of chemical oceanography, at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography in La Jolla, California. The Scripps Institution, which is a part of the University of California includes about 150 scientists who are studying the biology, chemistry, geology, and physics of the oceans.

Dr. Klein will be carrying out research on the precipitation of solids from sea water, in collaboration with Dr. E. D. Goldberg, Professor of Earth Sciences at Scripps. The specific research problem is a laboratory study of the rate and mechanism of precipitation of barium sulfate from sea water, a process which takes place in the oceans.

Tribute Paid Sen. Volkema

State Sen. Harold R. Volkema's chair in the Michigan State Senate in Lansing was draped in black Monday and flags flew at half mast in Holland in tribute to the young senator who died Sunday of a heart attack.

In Lansing, Acting Gov. William G. Milliken said, "He has dedicated much of his life to the service of others as a legislator. He worked diligently and fought hard for the interests of his constituents and his state."

Chairman Elly Peterson of the Michigan Republican party said: "The untimely death of Sen. Volkema has taken from the Republican party one of its most promising young men. Had he lived, I am sure that his potential would have carried him far in politics."

In Holland, Mayor Nelson Bosman proclaimed flags at half mast, adding, "I am shocked to learn of his death."

Echoing the tribute from Milliken, State Sen. Sander Levin (D-Berkley) newly elected Michigan state Democratic chairman, said, "I am deeply grieved by the death of Sen. Volkema. The loss of a colleague in his prime is shocking to a of us. His gentle and earnest nature will be sorely missed."

James Barkel Dies at 56 In Hospital

James Barkel, 56, of 2881 152nd Ave. died at 7:20 a.m. today in Holland Hospital. He entered the hospital Monday. An autopsy was scheduled for today.

Mr. Barkel was employed by the Hart and Cooley Mfg. Co. for 31 years and just recently was named secretary-treasurer of the 25-year Club. He was a member of Sixth Reformed Church and was serving as an elder in the consistory. He also served as deacon in the church was a Sunday School teacher and a member of the Men's Chorus and choir.

He was a charter member of the Holland Township Fire Department which was started in 1948.

Surviving besides the wife, the former Connie Ver Hulst, are the following children, Mr. and Mrs. David (LaVonne) Dekker of Holland; three sons, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Barkel of Norfolk, Va., Robert H. and Steven J. at home; four grandchildren, Tim, Dianne, Dean and Jonathan Dekker; a brother, Harold, of Holland; three sisters, Mrs. Hazel Steggerda of Holland, Mrs. Victor (Ethel) Stevens of Alma, Mrs. John (Beulah) Bouwman of Holland, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Schutt of Zeeland.

Mercury Here Soars to 58

With winter arriving at 8:17 a.m. Friday, Mother Nature made the most of the last day of autumn today by pushing the mercury up to 58 degrees at 11 a.m. And she dumped .90 inch of precipitation during the night and morning.

The 58-degree reading was not a record for December. A 65-degree December reading was recorded in Holland in 1951.

It's been a crazy mixed-up season. Snow arrived so early that local residents had a hard time raking autumn leaves. Precipitation in October and November was far heavier than usual, bringing only two snowfalls.

There has been no snow so far in December, but some is predicted tonight and Friday.

Church Crowded For Volkema Rites

State officials headed by Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken led the procession for last rites Wednesday afternoon for State Sen. Harold R. Volkema, 37, who died Sunday of a heart attack.

Lt. Gov. Milliken, accompanied by Robert Danhof of Gov. George Romney's staff, flew to Holland, arriving at Tulip City airport. Also present were two Congressmen, Edward R. Hutchinson of Fennville and Guy Vander Jagt of Cadillac, the latter serving as a casket bearer. Vander Jagt had been a senator colleague of Volkema for the first two-year term. Officials formed a guard of honor at the entrance to Faith Christian Reformed Church which was filled. The service also was broadcast.

The Rev. Charles Steenstra, church minister, said he would not eulogize the departed but would give a message for the living, basing his text on Paul's Letter to the Romans, Chapter 8, verse 28. "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to His purpose."

There is comfort and strength in this happy verse, he said, adding that it is a brace for despondency and a rich source of inspiration.

He said everybody asks the same question "Why?" in the case of the death of a younger person, particularly the bereaved, and the answers usually lie somewhere beyond understanding.

This does not mean we never have doubts, he said, but he pointed to a loving Savior who directs all things to the advantage of His people.

Negotiator Seeks New Meeting

Board Releases
Details of Two-Year
Salary Proposal

The situation in Holland public schools remained unresolved Tuesday.

After a 1½-hour discussion Monday afternoon, teachers voted 95-93 "not to vote" on the Board of Education's two-year package which would have boosted salaries the second year in a range of $6,600 to $10,500.

Ted Boeve, chief negotiator for the Holland Education Association, said the teachers' negotiating team would try to set up another meeting with the Board to discuss several items which he said remain unresolved.

Hopes for a prompt settlement and a possible adjustment in salaries before Christmas were dispelled by Boeve who explained that, had a vote been taken on the board proposal, it would only serve as a guide and would be referred to "our attorneys in Lansing" for review before a master contract could be signed. He felt this would take at least a month.

He pointed to negotiations on a school calendar and sundry other subjects.

The Board of Education pointed to a statement Aug. 23 signed by Mrs. Nona Penna, HEA president, stating that the only items outstanding in negotiations were salary and fringe benefits.

Monday's presentation to the teachers was made by Boeve and Mrs. Penna. The latter serves as HEA president on master contract negotiations. Paul Klomprens is serving as HEA president on all other functions. All members of the negotiating team spoke along with individual teachers.

The negotiating team made no firm recommendation to the teachers.

The Board of Education today released details of the two-year package, as follows:

	1967-1968	A.B.	M.A.
1	5,950	6,350
2	6,150	6,550
3	6,350	6,750
4	6,550	6,950
5	6,750	7,150
6	7,050	7,450

10	7,850	8,250
11	8,250	8,650
12	8,550	8,950
13		9,250

	1968-69	A.B.	M.A.
1	6,600	7,000
2	6,800	7,200
3	7,100	7,500
4	7,400	7,800
5	7,700	8,100
6	8,000	8,400
7	8,300	8,700
8	8,600	9,000
9	8,900	9,300
10	9,200	9,600
11	9,500	9,900
12	9,800	10,200
13		10,500

Previous HEA votes had shown overwhelming opposition to board proposals, usually in the neighborhood of 200-7.

James O. Lamb, president of the Board of Education, said the board still feels it is committed not to deficit spend, and the two-year package would have kept finances solvent this year, but would provide substantial boosts the second year.

Undefeated Maroons Take 59-53 Win

Holland Christian's basketball team survived its toughest test so far this season, in defeating the Panthers of Grand Rapids East Christian, 59-53, Tuesday night in the Civic Center before a sellout crowd.

The Maroons led nearly the entire game, the largest margin being 24-11 early in the second quarter. However, every time the Maroons started to open up a lead, East Christian would come back, and while not being able to overtake the Maroons, they did succeed in giving them a good scare, and kept the outcome of the game in doubt until the last minute of play.

The difference in the game was the strong rebounding by the Maroons, who gathered in 44 rebounds to 28 for the Panthers. It was in this department that Jim Vogelzang really came through, as he picked 18 off the boards.

After East Christian held a 4-3 lead Vogelzang put the Maroons ahead with a basket at the 5:30 mark, and they pushed the score to 14-4 before the Panthers could score again. Christian held an 18-9 first quarter advantage.

Baskets by Bob Haven and Dan Brower, along with two free throws by Haven, gave the Maroons their 13-point lead. East Christian then went into a press, and although the Maroons had little trouble breaking it, they missed the easy shots, and this seemed to inspire the Panthers and they came back to score the next seven points to cut the margin to 24-18. The Maroons held a 28-20 lead at the half.

Scoring two baskets in the first half minute of the third period, the Panthers sliced the margin to four points. Ron Kleinhuizen's two-pointer with 3:35 remaining in the quarter, brought the Panthers within one, 39-38. Brower and Steve Buschouse scored for the Maroons, and they entered the final period with a 43-40 edge.

The Maroons maintained leads from eight to four points throughout the final quarter, but it was not until Bob Van Langevelde connected on four straight free throws in the last 30 seconds, that the game was secure.

Both teams played a tight defense, which resulted in several turn-overs, and in a poor shooting percentage by both teams.

The Maroons took 65 shots and hit on 22 for 33 per cent, and the Panthers made 21 of 66 attempts for 31 per cent.

At the charity stripe Christian made 15 of 24 with Van Langevelde hitting on eight of nine, and East Christian connected on 11 in 21 tries.

The Maroons were led in scoring by Van Langevelde with 16, Brower 13 and Buschouse 12. Kleinhuizen had 21 for the Panthers and Doug Hoeksema 13.

Christian is now idle until Dec. 29 when they meet Grand Rapids Central Christian in Grand Rapids.

Two Cars Collide on Grand Haven Street

GRAND HAVEN—Cars driven by Jay Henry Ellens, 29, of 0-8488 Taylor St., Zeeland, and William Eugene Brame Jr., 24, Grand Haven, were involved in an accident on US-31 at Taylor St. in Grand Haven at 3:32 p.m. Tuesday.

Brame, eastbound on Taylor, stopped for the stop sign and then continued across US-31, colliding with the Ellens car. Police charged Brame with failure to yield the right of way.

Ellens' car was damaged, but he and Brame were not injured.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Taylor St. and US-31, where the two cars were traveling in opposite directions.

Good Humor Prevails at Sentinel Party

The usual good humor prevailed at the Christmas breakfast for employees of The Holland Evening Sentinel Wednesday in Hotel Warm Friend.

First, there was the parade of food which ranged from pork chops, sausages, ham, bacon, scrambled eggs and hot cakes, to the more prosaic regulars of juice, coffee and toast. There was cooked cereal for the ulcer victims and colorful strawberry cream pie or fresh pumpkin pie for the hardy.

The exchange of gifts—mostly gag items—provided plenty of laughs. There was a bat for a girl for her personal protection, a football for the feminine sports reporter, and toys aplenty for the young in heart. Others listed colored aspirins for psychedelic dreams for harried editors and backroom superintendents, and nose plugs for the chap who quit smoking so he won't smell other cigarette smoke.

There was a miniature tool kit and carpenter aspirins for the supervisor of The Sentinel's remodeling program, a toy soldier for a prospective draftee, a bell instead of a whistle for a winded referee, a big bottle of bubble bath for a man pressman, and a striptease pencil for the leading bachelor.

And there was a miniature telephone for a newsroom staffer, presumably for use in obtaining Christmas locals.

Not so funny, but correspondingly more appreciated, were the bonus checks handed out by Editor - Publisher W.A. Butler. The entire work force was back at work by 8 a.m.

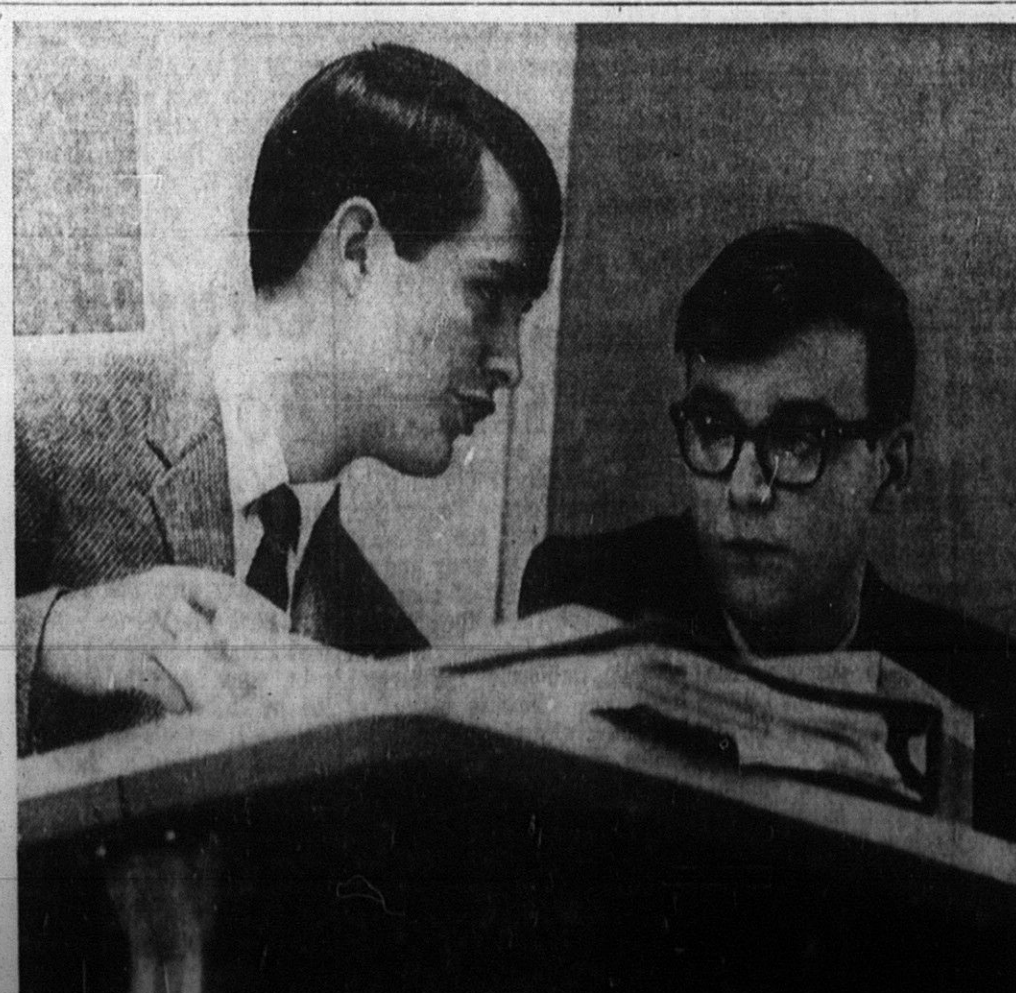

The gymnasium was decorated by the children of the school for the program. Decorations included stained glass windows, designed and painted by the students, wreaths, candles and other Christmas decorations.

AAUW Group Charmed By Evening of Music

An evening of music delighted the members of the Holland Branch of the American Association of University Women at their meeting Thursday at Snow Auditorium.

Two worlds of music were opened to the members through the harp selections of Mrs. John Barlow and the early baroque cantata performed by the Holland High School Madrigal Ensemble and Stringed Trio.

Accompanied on the harpsichord by their director, Harvey Meyer, the students sang "Jesu, Meine Freude" by Dietrich Buxtehude. This work represents an early baroque composition done by a small group of instrumentalists and vocalists in an informal manner. Such a composition was excellent for entertaining and was light in nature. Its modern parallel would be the improvised jazz ensemble as it is known today.

Dawn Stassen, Katherine Hamm, and Katherine Vande Bunte comprised the stringed trio.

In the Madrigal Ensemble were Elaine Heneveld, Michele Miles, Lois Veenhoven, Barb Bobeldyk, Joan Boeriger, Monica Karle, Marc Aalderink, Harold Hill, Steve Nash, Russ Bremer, Peter Fox, Frank Liveness and Randy Vining.

Michele Miles and Harold Hill were awarded scholarships to Interlochen last summer and Peter Fox, Harold Hill and Randy Vining were accepted by audition for the All-State Honors Choir this year.

Mrs. Barlow, who was harpist for the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra and who has taught at several colleges, played a number of selections composed by her former teacher, Carlos Salzedo. Mrs. Barlow explained that Mr. Salzedo represents a contemporary composer for the harp and has done much for it.

To honor him, she played a number of his miniature pieces. Included in these were a gavotte, two short stories, "Night Breeze" and "On Donkey Back," and "Florentine Music Box." The audience enjoyed singing "Jingle Bells," accompanied by the harp.

Many questions were directed to Mrs. Barlow and Mr. Meyer about the characteristics of the harp and baroque music.

A social hour followed the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dan Paul, Miss Florence Oiert, Mrs. George Daily and Mrs. Henry Steffens.

On March 8 and 9 a Print fair will be sponsored by the AAUW in the Civic Center.

Dutch Score 89-77 Win Over East

EAST GRAND RAPIDS — Even a mediocre performance by Holland High's basketball team was enough to top East Grand Rapids 89-77 here Friday night.

The win improved the Dutch Valley-Coast conference mark to 4-0 and dropped the Pioneers even further, to 0-4. Overall Holland is 4-1.

Scoring 31 points would be exceptional for most players, but for Dan Shinabarger, Holland's senior guard, it was an average night. In maintaining his 30.5 average this year, Shinabarger hit on over 50 per cent from the floor but faltered at the free throw line, making nine of 20.

Shinabarger played his usually fine defensive game along with junior guard Dave De Witt, who was Holland's mainstay throughout the game. De Witt added 15 points, his season high, but was even more valuable on defense as he plagued the Pioneers and forced them into several bad passes.

A six-point spread was the widest Dutch margin midway in the first period, but it dwindled to only two points at the end of the period, 23-21. The teams were nearly matched in shooting percentages with Holland hitting on eight of 17 for 47 per cent and the Pioneers shot seven of 13 for 54 per cent.

In the second quarter the Dutch maintained their shooting percentage but East dropped to a dismal 25 per cent giving the Dutch an opportunity to increase the margin.

Holland led at the half, 46-36. Holland picked up 26 points in the third quarter, half of which were supplied by Shinabarger.

A 25-point lead with 1:30 left in the period was Holland's widest margin but also lulled the Dutch into complacency.

The quarter ended with Holland leading, 72-48.

The Pioneers peeked at the Dutch lead, paring it to nine points late in the game. Holland suffered the loss of three starters, forwards Bob Pete and Max Bush and center Dave Gosselar, two early in the period which hindered the Dutch scoring power. As an equalizer the Pioneers also lost two of their starters in the fourth quarter.

In the second half Holland hit on 15 of 36 for 40 per cent of their shots while East Grand Rapids connected on 13 of 35 for 37 per cent.

The Dutch also controlled the boards as they grabbed 21 offensive and 26 defensive rebounds while East collected 11 and 18 respectively.

Coach Don Piersma commented after the game that the "team had become too relaxed following the 25 point lead in the third period. We were very sporadic in our shooting and defense as we were the previous game. We didn't rebound well and have much work to do before we meet Muskegon Heights on Friday. We were also very poor at the free throw line which hurt us very much."

"Bob Pete was suffering from a cold and was not playing with full strength which was also a definite factor," Piersma added.

On Friday the Dutch entertain Muskegon Heights at 7:45 p.m. in the high school fieldhouse.

Gala Garden Club Tea Fetes Past Presidents

The warm spirit of Christmas filled the home of Mrs. William Winter Jr., who entertained members of the Holland Garden Club at their annual Christmas Tea on Thursday afternoon.

Approaching the home on a clear crisp afternoon, members viewed the outdoor tree, hung with pine cones spread with peanut butter and rolled in bird seed and tied with red ribbons. The tree had been done by the children in the special education classes, under the guidance of the members of the Garden club Therapy committee.

Members were greeted in the foyer by the hostesses Mrs. Winter, the club president Mrs. Paul McIlwain, the co-chairmen for the event Mrs. Robert Long and Mrs. Harold Jacoby and Mrs. Harold Fairbanks. The foyer had been done by Mrs. Leonard Zick who placed a pine cone and fruit wreath tied with green velvet bow on the inside of the door, and strung angel lights across the mirror and angels on the hall table.

The living room sparkled with its fresh green Christmas tree decorated by the hostess with assorted ornaments, holiday figures and vari-colored Italian lights. The mantel held a pair of matching hurricane lamps with avocado candles. Over it hung a beautiful pine cone and sweetgum ball wreath of gold tied with avocado and pink bows.

The coffee table was the artistry of Mrs. Robert De Nooyer who used a pair of exquisite Renaissance gold cherubs holding votive candles. This was surrounded by permanent greens with flecks of silver and soft pink bows.

Mrs. Maurice Bennett placed an arrangement of red carnations set in a green frosted urn with holly and scotch broom on a red velvet draped cloth on one of the living room tables. Mrs. Austin Bocks did an arrangement of pine branches and ash berries in a brass urn on a side table.

In the dining room guests were delighted with the medieval cast iron, silver coated candelabra set on the buffet, which was enhanced with avocado green candles and filled with fugi mums, greens and holly. It was the creation of Mrs. Stephen Sanger. The tea table was laid with a white cloth and centerpiece of fugi mums and holly set in a silver footed tray and admired by frosted glass birds. This was done by Mrs. McIlwain.

The kitchen was done by Mrs. Gil Moeller who hung a straw wreath and placed a blue compote of holly and blue candles on the table. The den displayed the true meaning of Christmas where Mrs. August Overway arranged a rough hewn wooden crèche with straw and papier mache figures of stark white gazing at the holy family, also done in stark white.

Mrs. Franklin Van Alsburg decorated the stair rail by placing a candle arrangement on the newel post and hanging a large pine cone wreath at the top of the stair.

The master bedroom featured a Victorian double frame covered in green velvet with a frosted hurricane candle on one side of the frame and a petite bouquet of frosted wheat and straw flowers in the other, set on a table, and done by Mrs. Sanger. The other bedroom was arranged by Mrs. Gil Van Haven who used a white flower tree surrounded by angels and angels hair.

Mrs. James Jellison did an arrangement in the upstairs baths, using a unique kissing ball made of pink dyed carnations, gold glitter grapes and holly hanging from a pink satin tubing bow. She also arranged fresh holly and pale green poinsettia in a flat green dish with lighted candles in the other bath. Mrs. Stanley Curtis placed a potpourri of rose petals in the master bath.

The guest bedroom was done by Mrs. Sidney Tiesenga and Mrs. Curtis. Here a gold flagree easel held a madonna print with gold wrought candlestick holding a votive light, was set on the dresser.

The boys' bedroom was done by Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Russell Van Dyke. They used pixies, holly red candles and red bows as their theme.

All past presidents were presented a fresh flower corsage made by Mrs. Leonard Dick.

Pouring throughout the afternoon were Mrs. W. A. Butler, Mrs. Fred J. Pickel, Mrs. William Schier, Mrs. J. Donald Jencks, Mrs. T. Fredrick Coleman, Mrs. William Vandenberg Jr., Miss Gertrude Steketee and Mrs. Carl Cook all past presidents.

Serving as tea chairman was Mrs. Jencks, assisted by Mrs. W. J. Murdoch, Mrs. Dick, Mrs. Moeller, Mrs. Van Dyke, Mrs. Lawrence Williams, Mrs. Ronald Robinson, Mrs. Robert Japenga, Mrs. A. Bondy Gronberg, Mrs. Robert Wolbrink and Mrs. Garrell Adler.

WANTED - PRESTIGE WORKMANSHIP

Here we go again. Freddie Brant has been spotted as a fake. He had taken the name of Reid Brown, added an MD as his credentials and gone to work as Dr. Brown. And from what the townsfolk in Groveton, Tex. have to say about him, he was doing an excellent job and pulling in patients from all the little towns around Groveton. Even though he doesn't have the credentials, the people of Groveton want him back and on the job.

We aren't going to put in a defense for Freddie Brant or anyone else who is a fake, but this isn't the first time that we have had people glad to continue with a proven imposter. It hasn't always been a doctor, it has also been a teacher and in fairly complicated disciplines. On the whole, these people have won the hearts of those whom they have served.

Maybe we do have something that all this tells us. America has a mania for titles and degrees. We have almost come to the point where the degree guarantees ability to do the job, certainly a bad bit of logic. But the imposters have shown that the mass of people aren't really impressed. The ability to do what is necessary when the job is at hand is all they expect. Of course this notion must have some restraints, but basically it is sound.

Maybe we ought to get back to some of this simple evaluation. A man ought to be proud of being able to do a job and do it right, and not of his pedigree. Maybe some of our academic institutions could put some of this ordinary thinking into practice. The world can use thousands of young people who can do a good job. What that job is isn't too important. A man's dignity ought to be related to the fact that what he does, he does well. That's really what the world is waiting for.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, Dec. 24
One Greater Than The Prophets
Malachi 3:1-4; 4:2, Micah 5:2-4
By C. P. Dame
This year the Christmas lesson is from the Old Testament. Two passages from Malachi, and one from Micah tell about the coming of Christ. May study of this lesson add to our appreciation of Christmas—the coming of Jesus into a sinful world.

I. God sends messengers. "Behold, I will send my messenger," so said God hundreds of years before he came, through Malachi, the last of the Old Testament prophets. There was a period of four hundred years between Malachi and John the Baptist during which no prophetic voice was heard. The Old Testament contains many prophecies regarding the coming of Jesus. The study of Messianic prophecy is interesting. Malachi ministered to the Jews who had returned from the captivity in Babylon. The prophet foretold the coming of God's messenger — John the Baptist who would come to prepare the hearts of God's people for the coming of Jesus. A study of John and his ministry is fitting.

Take note of the fact that Malachi first refers to John the Baptist and then to "the messenger of the covenant," namely Jesus who is greater than the Baptist. The Lord's coming will be like "a refiner's fire and like fullers' soap." Now fire burns and purifies, it burns what is corrupt and purifies gold and silver from dross. The purification process will begin with the priesthood, the religious leaders of the nation, whose need was deep. Observe that Malachi not only spoke of the evils of his time but he also prophesied regarding a better day. The judgments of God purpose to usher in more consecration.

II Jesus is the Sun of Righteousness. The Old Testament contains various names of Jesus. The Christ is the Sun. He is the Light of the World. The Old Testament believers, lived in a time of shadows, we live in days of light, because Christ has come. The sun is self-luminous—so is Jesus, who is the source of all light. They who walk with Christ walk in the light, they who follow Him not walk and live in darkness. Note the phrase, "healing in its wings"—meaning that Christ brings physical, mental and spiritual health.

III Christ is the world's final ruler. The last part of the lesson text is from Micah who lived before the exile. When the wise men came to Jerusalem asking for the new born king, Herod assembled the Jewish leaders who told him that Christ was to be born in Bethlehem, and they quoted Micah. Now Bethlehem means "House of Bread." It was famous because it was the birthplace of David. A greater than David would come from this place and make it more famous.

Micah portrays the Messiah as the Shepherd and the Ruler. Note both terms. A shepherd cares for the sheep—Jesus is the great shepherd of our souls. And He is our Ruler, Lord of all, so we call Him, the Shepherd-king. Millions adore and obey Him—do you?

Gala Charity Ball Attracts 1,000 in Civic Center

Highlight of the social season in Holland was the Junior Welfare League 13th annual Charity Ball which was held Saturday evening in the Civic Center with 1,000 persons attending.

Using as their theme "Roses in December," the 75 enthusiastic and hard working League women made this a memorable occasion for the entire community — and all for the sake of the League's projects.

Proceeds from this year's ball are earmarked for a fine arts program for Holland area children in the spring of 1968 and also for other League projects involving children.

Ball gowns showed a versatility in length, in style, in color and materials. Hairstyles, too, showed imagination.

Two bands played dance music continuously from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. The John Carrington Orchestra and The Best Accommodation were enjoyed by the overflow crowd of dancers. Printed programs listing patrons were distributed at the door.

One of the high spots of the evening was the grand march led by the League officers with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mass at the head.

Mrs. Mass reported that all proceeds are not yet turned in, but the largest portion will be used for the fine arts program and the rest for other League projects involving children.

The fine arts program will be accomplished with the cooperation of the recently formed Holland Council for the Arts.

The commission signed orders for purchase and rights for grading a frontage road along county property in section 29 of Zeeland township for a future frontage road to be put in by the Michigan Department of Highways in conjunction with the construction of proposed I-196.

Members were informed that new traffic lights on North River Ave. just north of Holland are working effectively, providing for a smoother and more efficient flow of through traffic. The work was done under contract with the Holland Board of Public Works.

Several residents of Leonard Rd. in Eastmanville protested the tree removal program which is being carried on in the county, removing all trees within 10 feet of the edge of pavements along primary roads. Such work is nearly completed, the commission explained, adding that utility companies are cooperating in relocating all poles within 10 feet of the pavement.

The commission explained that trees are removed to improve safety for drivers. Following a discussion on the proposed Eastmanville bridge construction project, engineers were instructed to investigate possibilities of a "stage construction" program whereby portions of the new bridge could be used for traffic while construction is going on. Such an arrangement would permit use of the old bridge and new bridge instead of erecting a temporary bridge.

Settling of New Holland St. at 48th Ave. at the site of the Wyoming pipeline construction has been corrected in part and should be satisfactory for the winter months, the commission was informed.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 27.

Little Attention Given Protest Vote at Hope

Although the referendum vote was publicized for several weeks, only 16 per cent of the student body of Hope College cast votes Friday in a nationally sponsored election on Vietnam policies and draft policies.

Only 303 students of a total enrollment of 1,841 went to the polls which had been set up in one of the busiest places on campus.

On the question, "Generally, do you favor the present U.S. policies in Vietnam?" the vote was 192 no and 111 yes.

On the question, "Generally, do you favor the present U.S. policies on the draft?" the vote was 190 no and 102 yes.

But a share of protesting students reversed themselves on strongly worded resolutions condemning the United States on its stands.

On the question, "Do you favor the National Student Association's student resolution on Vietnam?" the vote was 138 no and 122 yes. This was a six-page resolution, typed single space, condemning U.S. intervention in Vietnam and urging "departments of universities to refrain from entering into defense or defense-related contracts which assist directly in the war effort."

On the question, "Do you favor the NSA Student Congress resolution on the draft?" the vote was 131 no to 122 yes. This NSA resolution called for "immediate abolition of the present Selective Service system" and opposed "any system of forced service to the government."

Some 50 students refrained from voting on the latter two resolutions, probably discouraged by their length.

The election was sponsored by the Hope College chapter of the National Student Association. Similar elections were held Friday in 300 other colleges and universities which have member chapters. All results will be sent to a central headquarters where statistics will be correlated.

INFORMAL DISCUSSION—Peace Corps director Jack Vaughn (second from right), speaks with students at Hope College Friday at an informal meeting on the college campus. After the discussion, Vaughn spoke to students in the Winants Auditorium. Vaughn, who left for Washington later Friday, was accompanied by two Peace Corps volunteers who recently returned from their missions. One of the volunteers, Patricia Johnson, of Hawaii, who served in Thailand, is pictured fourth from right.

Peace Corpsman Speaks at Hope

Jack Vaughn, director of the Peace Corps, described his organization as the only way to lead the world to a better unity and understanding in an address at Hope College Friday.

"This seems to be a season for developing a lot of experts on peace," said Vaughn. "Peace isn't running a newspaper ad against our policy in Vietnam, but peace is biting your tongue a 1000 times. Peace is frustrating."

Vaughn described the goals of the organization which he has been director of since January, 1966.

"Our Peace Corps can only provide the framework, it's up to the individual to make it work. In a real sense, the Peace Corps leads to nothing, yet in a true sense it leads to everything," he said. The Peace Corps now sends volunteers to 58 different countries.

"Never in the history of the United States have we sent Chiefs of Mission that have been as young as our Peace Corps volunteers," he explained.

Directors of Peace Corps missions average 27 years of age, Vaughn said.

Vaughn expressed concern against the protest of the draft and Vietnam war.

"I am a little alarmed to see that people have such an outspoken position against our war in Vietnam when they will take sides in the Arab-Israeli war or when they will ignore a civil war such as that in Nigeria."

Vaughn urged the Hope students not to sell themselves short but urged them to have confidence that they can accomplish their goals.

Vaughn spoke in Winants Auditorium before 150 people and has been on the Hope Campus since Thursday evening. He left later for Washington.

Vaughn brought with him two Peace Corps volunteers, Pat Fitch and Patricia Johnson, who have just returned from their missions and who spent some time talking with Hope students. They also will be leaving for Washington this afternoon.

'Messiah' Proves Thrilling Experience for Audience

Dimnent Memorial Chapel on Hope College campus was crowded Thursday night for the 35th presentation of Handel's oratorio "The Messiah" which this year was given as a tribute to the late Dr. Gerrit Van Zyl for his more than 40 years of teaching on Hope campus. Dr. Van Zyl died Sunday of a heart attack in Gresham, Ore. The tribute was announced by Chaplain William Hillegonds preceding the invocation.

As always, Hope's presentation of Handel's great work was moving and enjoyable, a well coordinated effort of choruses, arias and recitatives and orchestral works, backed by the organ.

As conductor, Dr. Robert Cavanaugh led his well trained choruses through the magnificent choruses, with accompaniment by the college orchestra which had been trained by Robert Ritsema, new to the music department this year, and backed by Roger Davis at the organ. The latter provided accompaniment for all solos except the profound bass aria "Why Do the Nations?" by Richard Schreiber of Chicago, who used orchestral accompaniment for the powerful work. In this final thundering repeat, he turned to the chorus.

Joyce Morrison of the Hope College music faculty sang the beautiful soprano selections for the third time, having previously appeared at Hope Messiah presentations in 1963 and 1965. The composer, many believe, tipped the scales in favor of soprano selections in that they are happier and more joyful than many another selection in this masterpiece. Miss Morrison sang these "joyful" arias with enthusiasm, culminating in the final "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" which, indeed, brought into full flower the intent of Handel's great message.

Equally effective in solo presentations were Contralto Evelyn Reynolds of Champaign, Ill., particularly in the beautiful "He Shall Feed His Flock," and Tenor Robert Johnson of Chicago who set the mood beautifully in his first solo presentation, "Comfort Ye My People."

Choral selections show many moods but the joyous "Hallelujah Chorus" was the climax with chorus, soloists, orchestra and organ joining in a mighty tribute. Following tradition, the audience rose for the chorus. The masterful "Amen" chorus was sung with all the enthusiasm of the "Hallelujah."

Court Will Revive Mooi Libel Action

The Michigan Court of Appeals has revived a libel action reversing an Ottawa Circuit Court dismissal in the case of Mooi Roofing Co. of Holland against Local Union 211 of the United State, Title and Composition Roofers, Damp and Waterproof Workers Association of Grand Rapids, affiliated with AFL-CIO. The action, in an opinion dated Dec. 8, remands the case back to Ottawa Circuit Court for further proceedings.

Mooi Roofing Co., affiliated with the Christian Labor Association, had sought judgment after the AFL-CIO local placed an "informational" picket on the construction site of Holiday Inn in Holland in October, 1966. The original suit quoted damages of $30,000. The local roofing firm alleged that the defendants "untruthfully and maliciously" stated to the public that the company was paying "substandard wages."

A National Labor Relations Board investigation revealed that local 211 was in violation of the labor law and negotiated a settlement to the extent that it would terminate action and post notices for 60 days stating it would no longer picket the job site.

The court case involved the question whether a state court had jurisdiction of such a libel action because it was closely related to the labor dispute over which the NLRB had also asserted jurisdiction. The Ottawa court dismissed the action on a motion for summary judgment. The new action reverses this dismissal, thereby reviving the case.

The appellate court opinion states that a suit for defamation arising out of a labor dispute is not re-empted by the federal act governing the NLRB and therefore the granting of the motion for summary judgment was not proper.

Former Holland Resident Dies

Former Holland resident, John J. Windemuller, 73, of Highlands, Texas, died Nov. 19 of complications from injuries he sustained in an auto accident Nov. 13 near his home.

In a letter to life-long Holland friend, Chris Korose, owner of the former Green Mill Cafe here, and a resident of the Netherlands Hotel, Mrs. Windemuller told how her husband's car had collided with another in a thick fog while Windemuller was returning home after taking his grandchildren to a bus stop.

Korose said that Windemuller, who was a careerman in the U.S. Navy, had won the heavy-weight championship of both the Atlantic and Pacific fleets shortly after World War I. Korose taught Windemuller to box more than 50 years ago in Holland.

Before his death, Windemuller worked on a horse ranch he and his son-in-law owned in Highlands, Korose said.

Volleys From Ambush

At first thought, Christmas and carnivals have little in common but the "Christmas Fair" theme of the Holland High School Christmas art show has proved to be one of the most popular themes in Christmas shows which have been an annual highlight ever since the new high school was built.

The visitor will find all his little animal friends of other years engaging in a brand new experience — a Christmas fair — and if you have never associated yuletide sparkle and glitter with summertime carnival fun, you have only to look at the central ride of seven reindeer riding sedately on the revolving carousel...all in sparkly white. That carousel top is a nylon parachute, if you're interested.

Besides the three motorized rides (the others contain mammoth sized bugs and animals) there are the usual attractions of the midway...a callopie, a fortune teller, a shooting gallery, a turtle-hare race, a ride into a tunnel with Santa Claus much in evidence on one seat, a tunnel entrance with cute pack rats, and the usual ticket takers and sellers...all from the kingdom. There also is a beauty pageant, performing circus animals in a cage (with an outsider looking on enviously) and a share of spectators on a bleachers surveying the happy scene.

So popular have the woodland figures become in the last few shows that plans call for continuing them in next year's show...and possibly beyond that.

"Besides," Mrs. Robert Visscher, one of the three art teachers, says, "our graduates like to return and look for a favorite figure they designed a year or two ago and find him nicely repainted with a new expression on his face. It's like finding an old friend." There are 150 figures in the exhibit, ranging from 12 inches to five feet in height.

More than 200 art students (about 30 per cent of the entire student body) are engaged in some activity or other. The art rooms also are turned over to Christmas...and a new feature is to have Santa Claus on duty at all times. This well padded high school student carries on quite some conversations with youngsters and oldsters...and comes up with such fascinating suggestions as a new Mustang, a new stereo tape recorder...nothing trite about him!

Adding to the circus atmosphere, popcorn and cotton candy are for sale, but coffee and cookies are on the house.

And those favorite stained glass panels from a few years back are on display too...just as beautiful and exciting as ever.

Putting on a show of such proportions involves more than artistic effort on the part of kids. There was the problem of motorized equipment for the three rides...and this was solved by Harry Gladden of General Electric who spent hours getting the equipment properly installed and adjusted. Midway in the show, they conked out and it was a matter of tearing them down and putting them together again.

And Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sootsman of Battle Creek devoted hours to the show — even taking some of their vacation time. Sootsman is a recreational director at the Veterans Hospital at Battle Creek, and was instrumental in getting a huge stock of carnival tapes for added atmosphere. The Sootsmans have a mobile summer home adjacent to the Visschers in Douglas.

'Of Thee I Sing' Trio

Many other persons and some firms aided in providing equipment and knowhow.

But the biggest thrill of all is to see young America at its best...earnest high school students bursting with pride serving as hosts, welcoming guests and explaining their art techniques.

Fine performances like this are shown not only by art students, but on many other fronts and by students in many other schools.

It's always a heartening experience to share that fine sense of achievement, and to renew belief in the conviction that there is far more right with America than wrong with it.

Here's another tidbit on the school front, although it happened quite some time ago.

In studying safety, a group of youngsters in Washington School decided to make Police Officer Marty Hardenberg the central figure of their newest project, and proceeded to draw a smiling policeman, flanked by youngsters.

They titled it "A Community Helper" and "The Policeman Is Our Friend."

The narrative continued: "The policeman works to protect us."

We can help him in his work. We help him when we follow rules.

We help him when we are careful."

Under the heroic sized figure was "This Is Mr. Hardenberg."

Marty pays periodic visits to elementary grades emphasizing safety. He is always well received, and teachers and administrators have been grateful for the fine relationship he maintains with children through his songs and magic.

A seven-year-old proved this point when after a visit to the police station he said, "The best way to say thank-you is by us showing we practice safety-first."

Religious Trio To Entertain Vietnam Troops

GRAND HAVEN — A butcher, a baby food salesman and a radio station operator will borrow $11,300 each to go to Vietnam over the Christmas holidays and attempt to prove that music is an international language.

They are Douglas Tjapkes, operator of radio station WGHN at Grand Haven, Ernie Hansen of Muskegon, who sells baby foods and Gary Bomgaars, a Muskegon butcher.

The three, who were boyhood friends in Muskegon, have been a religious singing group for four years. Tjapkes plays the piano and the two others sing.

The trip to Vietnam will start Dec. 25 after the three have Christmas with their wives and children. The junket will be part of an evangelistic crusade in Vietnam and the Far East sponsored by World Vision International, although the three will finance their own way.

The trio is featured on four radio station broadcasts and is known as the "I Sing of Thee," trio, singing mainly religious hymns, old folk songs and light Gospel.

Although the musicians will play and sing for U.S. troops, they also will sing at South Vietnamese gatherings.

"We were apprehensive about singing to people who can't understand our language...but music is an international language. The Vietnamese are impressed by the fact that the white Christian brothers care enough to come all the way across the seas to sing for them. This is our opportunity to show them we care for them," Tjapkes said.

The group also will visit Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, Formosa and Thailand in addition to appearances in Vietnam.

West Ottawa Swimmers Take Second Victory

WYOMING — West Ottawa's swimming team edged out a tough Wyoming Godwin squad 55-50 Thursday night in the Godwin pool.

The Panthers were paced by senior letterman Chuck Seidelman and co-captain Kirk Steketee who tallied two first places apiece.

Steketee erased the pool record in the 200-yard freestyle with a 1:58.8 clocking, bettering the record of 2:00.4 which he had established last year, and a Godwin pool record. His other first place was registered in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of :53.3.

Seidelman posted a pool record in the 50-yard freestyle recording a :23.7 time. In the 100-yard butterfly, he tallied a first place with a time of :59.5.

An outstanding show was also put on by junior co-captain Chuck Nienhuis who outflanked his opponents by more than a lap of the pool in the 400-yard freestyle. His first place was 4:27.3. He also swam a close second to Steketee in the 200-yard freestyle.

Bringing home the remaining first place for the Panthers was the 400-yard freestyle relay team, composed of Mike Zavadil, Rob Fisher, Jon Heller and Jim Six. Their 3:53.3 time won the event and also carried the meet for the Panthers who were up by only one point going into the final event.

The meet opened with the Panthers taking second in the 200-yard medley relay. Swimming the event were Terry Rithamel, Dan Meyers, Dave Doornewerd and Jim Six. Steketee and Nienhuis then gave the Panthers the lead after the second event, which was maintained by Seidelman through the 50-yard freestyle, and Chris Raphael who placed second in the 200-yard individual medley.

After the diving competition the Panthers held a six-point deficit as Dana Rigerink received one point for third place off the boards.

Seidelman, aided by Terry Rithamel in the 100-yard butterfly brought the meet to within three points, 27-30, and Steketee made the difference two, 32-34 after the 100-yard freestyle.

In the 100-yard backstroke, Danny Meyers took second. The score was 35-40 when Nienhuis and teammate John Boes swept the 400-yard freestyle and again gave the Panthers a two-point lead, 43-41.

The rest was left to the final swimmers. Raphael and Doornewerd came from way behind to take home second and third in the breaststroke, and with the final first place, the Panthers went home victorious.

Coach Henry Reest predicted the meet could go one way or the other by one point, and was happy to see the five-point victory.

The Panthers, now 2-2 in dual competition, will travel to Grandville High School to participate in the Southwestern Invitational Relays, Thursday Dec. 28. The next dual meet will be held at Rockford, Jan. 6 at 7 p.m.

Shinabarger Scores 38 For Holland

Scoring his career high of 38 points, senior guard Dan Shinabarger sparked the Holland High basketball team to an 83-61 win over Grandville Friday night in the fieldhouse.

The win, Holland's third in a row, gave the Dutch a 3-0 Valley-Coast Conference mark.

Shinabarger, improving his season average to 30.5 in four games, again demonstrated his value to the Dutch both offensively and defensively, as he harassed their back court men, intercepted their wayward passes, and executed an effective fast break.

The Dutch punched off to an early eight point lead after a scoreless first three minutes. They led at the end of the first quarter 20-8. Six of the Bulldogs' points were scored by their leading scorer, Tim Mekkes, who piled up a total of 19 points.

Holland's defense weakened and was never again as effective as the first period, giving the Bulldogs new life. Grandville pulled to within six points but a scoring flurry by Shinabarger and forward Bob Pete pushed the Dutch to a halftime margin, 40-28.

Holland opened the third period with a rash of baskets by Shinabarger but the Dutch defense again faulted narrowing the margin to eight points midway in the period. The Dutch again held the third period margin, 62-49.

In the fourth period it was again Shinabarger who eclipsed all players, grabbing rebounds, setting up plays, and tipping in his own baskets.

Holland hit on 55 per cent of their shots in the first half, and an incredible 63 per cent in the second half, making 19 of 30. Grandville hit an anemic 30 per cent of their shots in the first half and 31 per cent in the second half.

For the first time this season Holland lost the boards as Grandville took 20 offensive and 15 defensive while the Dutch compiled a total of nine and 28 respectively.

Coach Don Piersma commented after the game on Shinabarger: "Shinabarger played his finest game. Dave De Witt also played an exceptional game at guard. We just weren't able to work the ball in as much as in previous games."

Dutchmen Chalk Up 4th Victory

A second half effort sparked Hope College to its fourth consecutive basketball triumph Monday night as the Flying Dutchmen topped Manchester College 95-76 before 2,000 Holland Civic Center fans.

Trailing by six points at halftime, coach Russ De Vette's Flying Dutchmen stormed back with 58 points in the last 20 minutes to up their season record to 4-1.

Manchester shot a sizzling 57 per cent from the floor during the first half to carry a 47-41 lead into the locker room. The Spartans relied on consistent outside shooting to hit 21 baskets in 37 attempts while Hope was firing a frigid 37 per cent.

Things changed in the second half as Hope made 21 baskets in 43 tries while Manchester was collecting only 12 field goals in 42 tries.

The score was tied nine times in the first half as Manchester led most of the way. Hope held only a momentary 22-20 lead with 9:32 left in the half. Manchester pulled away from a 27-27 deadlock with four straight points to lead for the rest of the half.

Hope wasted little time gaining the lead at the start of the second half. The Flying Dutchmen scored nine straight points to go ahead 50-47 with 17:40 left to play.

Manchester tied the score at 51-51 before Hope senior Floyd Brady sank a free throw to put the Flying Dutchmen ahead by one point. A pair of baskets by Manchester's All-American Dick Harris in between a bucket by Hope's Bruce McCreary put the Spartans ahead 55-54 with 15:12 showing on the clock.

Hope took the lead to stay in the next minute as Brady scored a pair of baskets and McCreary added another to make the score 60-55. Manchester never came closer than four points the rest of the game as Hope used its board strength to build up a healthy lead.

Hope's domination of the boards spelled the big difference in this outing. The Flying Dutchmen held a 63-38 edge in rebounds with Brady collecting 21 and Van Huis 16.

All five Hope starters scored in double figures. Brady was high with 24 points while Van Huis, playing his best game of the season added 17. Senior co-captain Gary Rypma and McCreary were next with 15 points apiece while freshman Barry Schreiber added 14.

Harris, an NAIA All-American as a junior, led Manchester with 21 points before he fouled out of the game with two minutes to play. Next was Jerry Walther with 14 points while teammate Phil Weybright added 13.

Hope finished with a 43 per cent shooting average with 38 baskets in 88 attempts. Manchester shot at a 41 per cent clip with 33 baskets in 79 tries.

Hope was whistled for only 13 fouls in the contest against 27 for Manchester. The Flying Dutchmen sank 19 of 33 free throw attempts while Manchester made 10 of 15.

The victory evened the all-time series between the two teams at four victories apiece. Hope is idle until Dec. 28 when the Flying Dutchmen begin action in the Union College Holiday Tournament at Schenectady, N. Y.

Christian Captures 4th Straight

LUDINGTON—Holland Christians basketball team chalked up its fourth straight win Friday, by defeating the Ludington Orioles here, by a 77-53 score.

Ludington, with two baskets by guard Terry Smith, moved to an 8-3 lead before the Maroons scored on baskets by Bob Van Langevelde, Jim Vogelzang and Bob De Nooyer, giving them a 9-8 lead which they never lost. Led by three baskets by junior center Dan Brower, the Maroons moved to a 23-12 first quarter lead.

Van Langevelde and Brower each had six points in the opening period, while Kevin Schroeder, Don Thomas and Smith each scored four for Ludington.

Forward Thomas did some excellent shooting from the corners for the Orioles in the second period, scoring five baskets. He accounted for 10 of the Orioles' 15 points in the quarter. Christian, with all five starters notching baskets, maintained a 37-27 halftime margin.

The first half play of the Maroons was an obvious let-down from their fine performance against Muskegon Christian last Friday. However, in the third period the play was much improved, as the Maroons, with fine team play, worked the ball in to Steve Bushouse and Brower for easy baskets.

Defensively the Maroons also became more aggressive, and held the Orioles to only five third period baskets. The third quarter found the Maroons enjoying an 18-point, 58-40 lead. Bushouse scored eight points in the period.

Coach Art Tuls again had a chance to use all the players he had available, and the Maroons maintained leads of around 20 points throughout the final stanza. Bob Haven's third basket gave Christian a 75-49 lead with about two minutes remaining, for the biggest spread of the game.

Thomas was high point man in the game with 21, while Smith netted 10 for the Orioles. The Maroons enjoyed balanced scoring with Brower leading with 19, followed by 16 for Van Langevelde, 12 for Bushouse and 11 for De Nooyer.

Once again Christian's height paid off as the Maroons scored several baskets on tip-ins, and they outbounded the Orioles 34-16, in addition to taking 76 field goal attempts, compared to 55 for Ludington. The Maroons hit on 46 per cent of their shots and the Orioles on 42 per cent.

At the charity stripe the winners hit on nine of 16 attempts, after making only one of five in the first half. The Orioles ended with only seven of 16.

President Of Board Resigns

West Ottawa School Board President William Sanford submitted his resignation to the board at its monthly meeting Monday night. He is being transferred out of state by his employer, Roamer Yachts.

Supt. Lloyd Van Raalte presented Sanford with an honorary high school diploma and expressed regrets of the board in losing the services of this member who has been on the board since July, 1959.

Sanford replied, "I have enjoyed my service with the board immensely and have learned a great deal from the experience. The composition of the West Ottawa board is tremendous and the administrative staff is superb. Working together in educating children is the business of a board of education and here at West Ottawa, this business is being carried out."

Vice President Louis Van Slooten will succeed Sanford as president.

After a lengthy discussion, the board accepted the conditional 1967-68 budget submitted by the superintendent calling for $2,248,407.14, earmarking 79.37 per cent for instruction.

The instruction budget calls for $1,687,125.84. Less transportation, 83 per cent of the budget is for salaries.

A gift of 180 copies of the booklet "Trees to Tulips" by Ruth Keppel of Holland was accepted with gratitude. It will be used by eighth grade social studies classes. Wayne Nyboer, social studies chairman, found Miss Keppel's book in Herrick Public Library and had several conferences with the author. The book is dedicated to the late Albert C. Keppel.

Supt. Van Raalte led a discussion on the appointment of a lay chairman to head a building committee for new construction in the district. Recommendations are expected at the next meeting.

The following personnel appointments were approved: Calvin Langejans, chairman of music; Nancy Norling, staging director for such functions as baccalaureate and commencement; Mrs. Jane Breen, teacher in charge of Glerum School for the rest of the school year; Phyllis Holt, elementary teacher for next semester. The board raised pay for adult night school instructors from $4 to $5 an hour.

Neil Kalkman reported the building and grounds committee toured all school forests belonging to the district Dec. 9 and found all forests filled with trees 15 to 25 years old. The Ventura forest recently was pruned by students. The committee recommended trading a parcel on New Holland St. for one of 143 acres closer to the school. The recommendation was accepted.

The superintendent presented a report on automatic security measures at the high school in which Horne's in Holland would monitor the building during hours when school personnel are not in the building. Any abnormal sound would be amplified on a high frequency minor and the sheriff's department would be immediately notified. Since 98 per cent of the necessary equipment already is in the building, other equipment would cost $150 and the monthly maintenance would be $16.25. The board okayed the proposal and was informed the equipment would be in operation by Christmas.
