Road Cuts Protested In Ottawa

GRAND HAVEN — At a public hearing on the 1970 proposed budget for Ottawa County before the Board of Supervisors Tuesday, Ronald Bakker, engineer-manager of the road commission protested the elimination of $300,000 from the general operating budget for road construction.

The road commission plans improvements to 15.6 miles of county roads in 1970 and he said it is important that the money be appropriated for better primary county roads. "We get demands for better - surfaced roads from all sides," Bakker said.

Atty. Randall Dekker of Zeeland said he has many contacts with the office of Judge of Probate Frederick T. Miles and urged that the salary of Mrs. Harriet Yonkman, register of probate, be increased. She is also register of juvenile court, he said, and should be paid more than the deputies in other offices. Salaries included in the 1970 budget for Mrs. Yonkman and the chief deputies in the offices of the clerk, treasurer and register of deeds are $8,138.

Members of the Tri-Cities League of Women Voters were present and one asked who is responsible for improvements to Robbins road in Grand Haven, east of US-31. They were told that the city has control of the street but can assess only property owners on the north side of the street for improvements as it is a city limit street.

The board will meet today and Thursday. On Friday the board will inspect the infirmary and farm at Eastmanville, now known as Community Haven.

The board will meet until its task of reviewing the 1970 budget is completed. Most of the time at remaining meetings this week will be spent on budget study.

Man Given 5-15 Years In Stabbing

ALLEGAN — Howard Cruthird, 65, Alton, Ill., was sentenced to serve 5 to 15 years in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson by Circuit Judge Chester A. Ray Monday on a manslaughter charge.

Cruthird, a migrant farm worker, was charged in the stabbing death of William Cason, 51, Council Bluffs, Ia., also a migrant worker, following an altercation July 9 in a tenant house on the Gordon Babbitt farm near Ganges.

Cruthird first was held on an open murder charge. A Circuit Court jury deliberated over 12 hours last month before finding him guilty of manslaughter.

Drug Probe Leads To Fifth Arrest

A fifth person was charged by Holland police Wednesday as a result of the investigation conducted in connections with the raid at a house at 70 East 13th St. Friday night and the seizure of five pounds of marijuana.

Robert Lubbers, 17, a Hope College student from Holland who resides at Kollen Hall, was apprehended by officers today and charged with being disorderly in that he did knowingly loiter in or about a place where an illegal occupation or business was being conducted.

Lubbers pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned in Holland District Court today and was released without bond on his own recognizance. He is to return for sentencing at 1 p.m. on Nov. 13.

Police are continuing their investigation.

Zeeland GI Is Part Of Berlin Patrol

Cpl. Max Elenbaas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Elenbaas, 1977 South Maple, Zeeland, has been in the service since January, 1966, and has spent the last two years in Germany as an MP on Berlin's Lake Wannsee, according to Stars and Stripes publication which did a feature article on the corporal and his job.

The MPs patrol the waterway, which divides a portion of Berlin's east and west borders, in groups of two aboard diesel boats. The patrols run twice a day, seven days a week from spring thaw until winter ice closes the channel. Elenbaas is patrol leader and his partner is Sp-4 Bill Brinks of Grandville.

The East Germans employ similar watercraft to patrol the Soviet-controlled half of the lake and canals and Elenbaas describes the main point of the patrols as a show of force.

Signs are posted along the canals to warn Americans not to enter certain restricted areas of the canals which are, however, open to West Berliners. Cpl. Elenbaas explained that an unpleasant incident could occur if an American wandered into the Communist sector of the waterway. West Berliners are safe in the area as long as they remain on the Allied side.

In remarking on harassment which might be suffered at the hands of the East Berlin patrols who also maintain a watchful eye on the American MPs, Elenbaas said about the only thing the East Berliners do is to rush past an American boat as fast as possible and then watch the MPs rock in the resulting wake. MPs on the patrol boats are armed with .45-caliber service pistols in quick-draw shoulder holsters and would not hesitate to use them if an East German boat should happen to cross the dividing line of the canal.

It's not an exciting job, Elenbaas says, and the patrols watch out for swimmers and boating accidents and on rare occasions will pick up someone swimming to the freedom of the west.

Guarded towers line the east shore of the waterway and Elenbaas pointed out that there are always two or three guards in each tower. At first the towers were guarded by only one man but defections from the East became so numerous that soon two guards were posted at each tower and finally three to keep a watchful eye on the American cruisers and to look out for any attempted breaks for freedom from the East.

Cpl. Elenbaas, who is a 1963 graduate of Zeeland High School, is married to the former Linda Hossink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hossink of Grand Rapids, former Holland residents. She is with her husband in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Elenbaas expect their son home for Christmas.

Dairy Farm Water Compliance Date Is Set for Nov. 1

Michigan dairymen have until Nov. 1 to comply with the farm water supply requirements of the Michigan Department of Health.

Marvin Heft, Allegan County Extension agent, says full compliance will give you and other Michigan milk producers the maximum market opportunities for milk and its products both in and out of state.

Michigan State University Extension Bulletin 597, available from the county extension office, has full information on building a water system that will be in compliance.

Heft says every farmer should review his own situation with the milk inspector. "He will probably be able to help you avoid some unnecessary expenses," Heft points out.

WASHINGTON — U.S. Rep. Guy Vander Jagt (R-Cadillac) was one of 15 Republican members of the House to receive a surprise summons to the White House for a conference with President Nixon late Thursday afternoon.

Seldom does the President invite a small group of Congressmen, not in leadership, to the White House for such an informal give-and-take session. The President outlined everything from inflation to Vietnam and asked their reactions as they talked informally in the Oval office room of the White House.

Nixon was especially interested in their reaction to his message asking for more activity in Congress on his proposals, especially to his crime message.

Vander Jagt was the only Michigan member among the 15 including Robert McEwen, New York; J. William Stanton, Ohio; Dr. Tim Lee Carter and George Snyder, Kentucky; John Buchanan, Alabama; Clarence Brown, Ohio; Henry Smith, New York; Donald Bertzman, Colorado; Earl Erlenborn, Illinois; Wendell Wyatt, Oregon; Jack Edwards, Alabama; Chester Mize, Kansas; and John Dunca, Tennessee.

The President so enjoyed the session that he extended the scheduled time and Vander Jagt missed his plane to Muskegon where he is speaking to a Republican group tonight.

West Ottawa Okays Site For School

The West Ottawa Board of Education Monday night approved a site for a new school housing sixth, seventh and eighth grades to be built in the vicinity of the high school.

The district's high school site is sufficiently large to accommodate such a school, but the northern portion is "land locked" and the district will seek additional property to provide access other than from the high school development.

West Ottawa district will vote Nov. 24 on bonding the district for $4.2 million to build and equip the new school, provide a four-room addition to Glerum School, renovate Beechwood School and minor remodeling at Pine Creek School.

The official enrollment of the district as of the fourth Friday in September as 4,040, 44 up from last year's total of 3,996. This includes 2,235 in eight elementary schools, 960 in junior high and 845 in senior high.

A report on adult education revealed 34 enrolled in high school credit courses, listing 23 from Holland, 10 from West Ottawa and one from Hamilton.

Another 152 are enrolled in courses other than academic. The board is studying a recommendation from the driver training department to use automatic transmission equipped automobiles for highway training. The friction clutch system would continue to be used in regular training.

A report on district counseling was given by Norman Bredegg who works with children in the district of all ages, often with family groups. As district counselor, he handles referrals from parents, teachers and students.

Allegan Plans Hearings On 1970 Budget

ALLEGAN — Despite inflation and salary increases, Allegan county's board of supervisors has managed to come up with a 1970 budget which will hold the line as far as property taxes are concerned.

The tentative budget approved by the board is actually $55,067 less than 1969's record $2,080,310 budget.

A public hearing on the $2,025,243.65 budget has been set for 11 a.m. on Monday, Oct. 27, in the board of supervisors room of the county building.

Total budget requirements for 1970 are $2,717,961.55, including $241,087 for the extra-voted bridge repair and replacement fund, $120,543.58 for road operating purposes and $241,087.16 for the medical care facility sinking fund.

Biggest general fund item is the $243,831 budgeted for the probate court's child care fund. The $195,885 allocated for the sheriff's department ranks second and the $180,000 budgeted for the county health department is third.

As it wound up its October session, the board appointed former supervisor Greg Nulty, of Otsego, to succeed Francis Brower, of Hopkins, as a member of the Allegan County Social Welfare Board.

Nulty will be one of two new appointees to the board. A state appointment has gone to Mrs. Donald J. Stehower, of Hamilton, to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Ross Alexander, of Fennville, for a term which will expire Oct. 31, 1970.

Dr. G. A. Vander Voord, Wayland, was appointed county medical examiner to fill the vacancy left by the death of Dr. Clyde Dickinson, also of Wayland.

Mrs. George Berry, of Allegan, was named to succeed Mrs. O. J. Armstrong, also of Allegan as a member of the Allegan County library board.

Supervisors also approved county building alterations and treasurer's offices room for new mechanical equipment and change the circuit court jury room into a law library, moving the jury room to the present library.

Computers Considered At Holland Hospital

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of six articles on the proposed data processing program being considered for the city of Holland.)

If computers do come to Holland, 55 per cent of the time available for data processing might be required by the Holland City Hospital.

This was the conclusion reached by the Alexander Grant Company, a New York based management advisory service, after an extensive study of the feasibility of a data processing system for the city of Holland.

The growth of medical knowledge and the increase in medical records makes a new system for faster and more accurate data processing necessary, comments Don Strange, Assistant Director for General Administrative and Fiscal Services at Holland Hospital.

"The computer can process such an infinitely greater volume, so much more accurately, and faster, than humans," Strange adds.

If the proposed data processing program is adopted, Strange says, Holland Hospital could begin its use of computers with a financial information system, handling all accounting. Eventually, a total information system, reaching more departments in the hospital and directly affecting patient care, could be set up.

According to Strange, the use of computers would shorten the time span in acquiring basic data. Administrators would have more recent data to work with, helping them to make more accurate estimates of service claims, department budgets, and adjustments with insurance companies and Medicare officials.

The hospital payroll, which includes almost 600 full and part time employees, now takes one week to complete. A computer could handle the payroll in one hour, Strange says, eliminating many clerical hours of work.

Requisitions could automatically be deleted from inventory data, and when a minimum inventory was reached, that item could be listed on a reorder form. Since there are over 8,000 separate items in the hospital's General Stockroom and Pharmacy, this could eliminate a number of manhours, and help to control the human error that occasionally necessitates costly emergency purchases of supplies.

Data processing of inventory would also make it possible to update prices frequently, eliminating discrepancies between the actual and expected costs of supplies.

Timely data could save money for the hospital by making a need apparent while that need could still be easily handled. For example, Strange claims, future building needs, predicted by a computer, might be met now while worker and construction costs are lower.

Accurate information, quickly available, might bring down the length of a patient's stay, Strange notes, since less time would need to be spent waiting for test results and other data.

A shared-time program with other branches of the city government, as proposed by the Alexander Grant Co. Study, is not the only plan being considered for the hospital. Hospital accounting, Strange feels, is unique in its detail and calls for expertise. In an all-city shared time plan, programmers would be generally qualified to work with data from each branch of the city government, but may not have in-depth knowledge of certain types of data processing needed by the hospital.

For the hospital, one alternative would be a shared-time program with other area hospitals. Strange explains that, unlike other branches of the city government, the Hospital could make independent arrangements for computer service. It is not known what would then become of data processing plans for the rest of the city.

Both Strange and Hospital Director Frederick S. Burd feel that the hospital administration has gone about studying the data processing proposal in a businesslike manner. "They've done their homework," Strange comments.

Representatives of the Hospital board, administration, and accounting departments, along with City Auditor John Fonger, visited Parkview Memorial Hospital in Fort Wayne, Ind., last September, to study first-hand the use of data processing equipment in a hospital. Parkview Hospital, more than twice as large as Holland's hospital, has exclusive use of a GE115 computer, similar to the GE115 computer being considered in Holland.

"We've involved our people in this study. It's not something being done on a high level and imposed on a lower level," Strange says. For the past one and one half years, personnel from different levels in the hospital have been attending data seminars conducted by the American Hospital Association.

As a result, Strange notes, there is no real fear of job loss at the hospital, and employees look at the computer in terms of what additional services it can offer, and not as a threat to their positions.

Clerical positions could be eliminated gradually, City Auditor Fonger explains, as personnel leave and their positions are not refilled. Persons now employed at the hospital would not be removed, he notes.

The computer might also save money by eliminating the future need for high-level, costly personnel, who may have to be hired to handle hospital data if computers are not adopted.

Burn Victim Now Serious

Dewitt Pollard, 43, Joliet, Ill., truck driver who was most serious of four persons burned in the fire at American Aerosols Inc., 636 East 40th St., Oct. 14, was listed in serious condition at University Hospital, Ann Arbor.

He sustained burns over 60 per cent of his body and is undergoing treatment in the burn unit at Ann Arbor. His condition had been critical.

The other four persons burned, Donald Gibbie, 33, Diana De Feyter, 20, and Brian Cook, 19, all of Holland, were listed in good condition at Holland Hospital today.

Regular operations resumed at the firm on Monday with the employees putting in a 6-day work week. Officials who are completing figures on the damage are contemplating going to a second shift.

Citizens Group To Go to Court

Local Realtor Speaks To Womens' Guild

Mrs. Alwyn De Haan, president of the Women's Guild for Christian Service of the Third Reformed Church, welcomed members to their October meeting on Monday night.

A short business meeting was held, including the acceptance of a slate of officers for 1970, presented by the nominating committee.

Mrs. W. Rhodes, chairman of the Christian Action Committee, was in charge of the program. Devotions were led by Mrs. Mark Walvoord.

Mrs. Rhodes introduced the speaker, Eugene Vande Vusse, a local realtor, who talked about the housing problem in the Holland area.

With new industries coming into the area, homes are badly needed for the families of imported workers, he said. A group of business men have formed an organization called Hazah in the attempt to furnish such housing.

The Kemper Circle with Mrs. T. Van Oosterhout as chairman, provided refreshments. Mrs. D. Oosting and Mrs. J. Zuidema poured from a table decorated with fall flowers.

Ottawa County Rescinds Dog License Boosts

GRAND HAVEN — The Ottawa County Board of Supervisors Wednesday rescinded action taken previously this month in boosting dog license fees after Prosecutor Calvin Bosman ruled that fees could not be legally raised unless damage by stray dogs to livestock is excessive.

Fees for 1970 will continue at $1 for males and unsexed dogs and $2 for females. The proposed boost of $3 per dog had included paying township treasurers 30 cents instead of 15 cents for handling the sale. Bosman pointed out that the 15-cent fee is set in state statutes.

The county's new 21-member board is struggling with its first annual budget and Chairman William Kennedy of Allendale called for full-day sessions today, Friday and Monday with morning sessions starting at 9 a.m. and afternoon sessions at 1:30 p.m.

Vander Jagt Answers Nixon Query

By Esther Van Wagoner Tuft
WASHINGTON — President Nixon is expected to "go to the public" via television "just as FDR did on radio" to explain his policies.

A 1969 version of the fireside chat of the 30s is one of the anticipated results of the conference President Nixon had in an informal talk Thursday with 15 Republican members of the House including Guy Vander Jagt of Cadillac.

The President was encouraged to make this approach after listening to the answers the Congressmen made to his question: How do the people in your district feel about administration policies?

Vander Jagt, who urged the President "to go on television and get his message across the nation," frankly told the President: "Your domestic programs for reform, I believe, are exciting and imaginative and your peace policy for Vietnam could have overwhelming support in the 9th Congressional district. However, I am not certain whether you have succeeded in getting your message across to the people. I don't know whether you have made the people aware that your domestic programs are innovating and your Vietnam policy is new and imaginative."

Personally, as a result of the conference, Vander Jagt is convinced of two things: "We have turned the corner in Vietnam" and "Nixon really has a policy of peace."

Accompanied by Colleen Fueling of Fort Wayne, Ind., Miss Bryan demonstrated a wide range of talent in selections from the musicals, "Oliver!" which was timely since Holland Community Theatre's production of that musical opens Friday at Holland High School; the Rodgers-Hammerstein all-time success "Sound of Music," Miss Bryan's own favorite "The Man of La Mancha" and selected favorites by Irving Berlin.

A quick-change artist, Miss Bryan appeared variously as Oliver, Fagin and Nancy in "Oliver!" favorites of "Who Will Buy This Wonderful Morning," "You Better Pick a Pocket or Two," "As Long as He Needs Me" and "Consider Yourself." Miss Bryan characterized this musical as a nice play which ends happily and the good guys don't go to jail.

Included in "Sound of Music" were the title theme, also "Favorite Things" and "Climb Every Mountain." In "Man of La Mancha," the Cervantes story of Don Quixote, the songs were the main theme plus "Dream the Impossible Dream," "Little Bird Serenade," and two contrasting numbers by a tough girl confronted by kindness the first time.

Irving Berlin favorites included "Sun in the Morning," "Lovely Day Tomorrow," "Say It With Music," "Remember the Night," "No Business Like Show Business," "Always," "Doing What Comes Naturally" and with audience joining in "God Bless America," the great song written 30 years ago.

First Lady's Press Secretary in City

"It's awfully nice to come home again," Gerry Van der Heuvel, press secretary for Mrs. Richard Nixon and former president of the Women's National Press Club in Washington, said Saturday.

Mrs. Van der Heuvel is in Holland for the weekend in connection with activities for Homecoming Week at Hope College. Friday night, she addressed Hope's Second Century Club in Phelps Hall describing her work with the First Lady and with the First Family.

Perhaps the busiest time was the world tour last summer which followed the Apollo 11 moon walk in which the President's party traveled 26,000 miles in 12 days — a sharp contrast to Jules Verne's "Around the World in Eighty Days." Highlight of the trip, Mrs. Van der Heuvel felt, was the warmth of the greeting by thousands and thousands in Communist Romania.

Mrs. Van der Heuvel's first big job for the Nixons was Julie and David's wedding last Christmas — a task made slightly easier since she had arranged her daughter Claudia's wedding the summer before. Claudia is now Mrs. John Redford III and she and her husband are with the Peace Corps in Brazil and expect to return next June. They had entered the Peace Corps immediately after graduation from college, John from Harvard and Claudia from Radcliffe.

Free Enterprise System Cure Says R. LeFevre

Government and education are running roughshod over the rights of citizens, according to the president of Rampart College who spoke to Holland Rotary Club Thursday noon, and he said it's time these two institutions were checked.

Robert LeFevre, president of the college located in Santa Ana, Calif., spoke on "What Next for Free Enterprise?" and his prediction was "uncertainty."

The free enterprise system, and the profit motive that is fundamental to it, is the best answer to our country's social ills, according to the speaker. But government interference with normal markets and the laws of economics will not permit the full benefit of free enterprise to be realized, he said.

In commenting upon education, LeFevre said many students are fomenting social unrest through the use of government agencies and funds. He cited the Office of Economic Opportunity as an example.

LeFevre granted that young people today do have valid criticisms of "the establishment." He said many representatives of the latter profess Christianity, but do not live it; they decry stealing, but permit the government to take their money through taxation and give it to others; they say killing is wrong, but they permit war.

Student groups are now being formed to combat the work of SDS and similar organizations, he said. These are already busy on various campuses, talking and publishing in behalf of the free enterprise system, and he called upon the business men present to give their moral and financial support when called upon.

LeFevre, who is in Holland to fill other speaking engagements associated with a seminar he is conducting this weekend was introduced by Charles R. Sligh Jr., program chairman.

WE'RE KILLING OURSELVES

A girl who shall here be called Melissa Jones was a pretty creature, in love with life, bent on a career of service in nursing. The past tense is necessary: Melissa Jones is dead. So is Bill Abercrombie, the father of two young children; so are Dan and Elsa Levitz, who had just begun to enjoy retirement after long years of work and community involvement.

The names are fictitious; the rest of it is all too real. Those people, and thousands of others, have two things in common. One is that they all died last year in automobile accidents. The other is that, in each case, had they fastened their seat belts they might still be alive today. Safety authorities estimate that 8,000 to 10,000 of the more than 50,000 killed in auto accidents last year would not have died had they made use of this safety device.

This is only one factor, though a highly important one, of the many that contribute to the nation's increasing highway death toll. The common failure to fasten restraining belts is given particular emphasis by John D. Lawlor, executive vice president of the National Safety Council, in commenting on the Council's most recent auto accident report. "The wearing of safety belts," he says, "is the most sensible defensive measure motorists can take."

Lawlor also rightly focuses attention again on alcohol, which plays a part in at least half of all highway fatalities. As the report says, figures on alcohol in highway deaths "include not only the problem drinker, but also the one-too-many socializer." It adds: "If a driver must drink, no more than one normal drink per hour, with an hour's lapse of time from the last drink, should be the rule."

The office cynic once remarked, "Quotation doth not an editorial make," and that is true. Still, reiterating the words of expert observers is often the most telling way to stress a point. One last quote, then, from Lawlor's comment: "Americans are needlessly killing themselves mainly through ignoring common sense safety measures. There are few accidents that can't be prevented, yet people take a fatalistic viewpoint toward accidents rather than adopting a 'preventable' attitude. Most motorists refuse to take all the precautions necessary for safe driving."

What are the consequences of this? Last August, the National Safety Council reports, had the melancholy distinction of bringing the highest monthly traffic toll in history: 5,640 deaths. During the first eight months of this year, 36,330 people were killed on our streets and highways, a three per cent increase over the number in the first eight months of 1968. Many improved model cars on the road these autumn days. What we need worse is a lot of improved drivers.

NATIONAL DAY OF PRAYER

At about this time of year, for some years past, it has been customary for the incumbent President to set aside a National Day of Prayer.

This year President Nixon has designated Oct. 22 as the date, and says in closing his Proclamation: "And I ask that on this day the people of the United States pray for the achievement of America's goal of peace with justice for all people throughout the world."

Whole volumes have been written about the nature of prayer and this is not the proper forum to discuss it. But few would disagree that prayer consists of more than merely making requests, but includes also the element of keeping one's spirit open to the leading and promptings of the Almighty.

The difficulty of prayer in wartime was well put by the sainted Lincoln in his Second Inaugural. Spoken during a fratricidal Civil War, referring to the North and the South, he said: "Both read the same Bible and pray to the same God, and each invokes His aid against the other . . . The prayers of both could not be answered. That of neither has been answered fully."

The recent Vietnam Moratorium showed there is a division of opinion within the country today. Some sincerely believe our presence in that war-weary land is immoral and wrong; others support it to the hilt, and some even urge further escalation if our present efforts to withdraw, fail.

We commend the observance of the day, not in the spirits of having already ourselves prejudged the case, but rather in the spirit of devoutly seeking out His will for our future path.

Reforms among God's People
II Kings 18:1-6; 23:21-25

By C. P. Dame

Leadership is important. It makes a difference who governs a nation and what kind of a man the pastor of a congregation is. This lesson tells about two godly kings of Judah—Hezekiah and Josiah. Through committed believers God promotes revivals.

I. A wise, godly leader is a blessing to a nation. Last week we learned about the end of Israel, the northern nation, consisting of ten tribes. This lesson fixes our minds upon Judah which lasted longer than Israel. Judah also suffered from bad leaders. Ahaz was one of them. He was the father of Hezekiah. He was an idolater and locked up the doors of the Temple. When he died the nation was in a deplorable political and religious condition. The king paid tribute to Assyria. He offered his own son to Moloch as a sacrifice and he erected altars to pagan gods in every corner of Jerusalem and in every city of Judah.

Hezekiah, at the age of 25, began to rule and "did that which was right in the sight of the Lord." Why he did this we do not know. He gave first attention to God. He opened the doors of the temple and gave orders to clean it and restore worship. The priests and Levites cooperated. He did all he could to destroy idolatry.

In order to promote the true religion he took drastic measures to crush the false religion his father had promoted. Due to Hezekiah's leadership the people responded and the religious life of the nation was quickened. For years the Passover Feast had been neglected but Hezekiah restored it. This was a great event in the life of the nation.

II. A reformation benefits a nation. The father of Josiah, Amon, like the father of Hezekiah, was an idolater and his grandfather was Manasseh whose reign hurt Judah terribly. Josiah began to reign at the age of eight and when he was sixteen he began to seek the Lord.

The outstanding event in Josiah's reign was the finding of God's law in the temple. Mark the fact—God's law was lost in God's house. Is the Bible lost today in some sanctuaries dedicated to His service? The law of God was found when by order of the king the temple was being repaired. When the king realized what God demanded in His law he noted that the nation had fallen far short.

The king threw out of the temple the false prophets and destroyed the symbols of "the host of heaven" and burned all the paraphernalia used in the worship of idols and defiled the high places and slew the priests and tried to destroy idolatry root and branch.

The Passover was again observed successfully. "For no such passover had been kept since the days of the judges" (II Kings 23:22). The reformation that took place was directed by the king who loved the Lord and the nation. We need leaders in the churches today who show the earnestness and zeal Josiah revealed.

Changing World Is Real Challenge, Beahan Says

"Perhaps nothing in this changing world changes so much as change itself," Msgr. Hugh Michael Beahan of Grand Rapids told Chamber of Commerce members at their annual meeting Thursday night in Holland Christian High School.

Speaking on "The Beleaguered Minority — Those Over Thirty," Msgr. Beahan, a member of the Aquinas College faculty and a radio-television personality, sought to give the "older generation" an insight into today's changing world, one so full of change that a generation no longer is 25 years but more likely to be telescoped into five years.

"What in the world is going on?" is the question on all sides from mature people in today's world in which riots, campus disorders, changes in the church and above all, rapid communications, put oldsters into a state of confusion," Msgr. Beahan said.

As an example, he pointed to four Dartmouth sophomores who worked out a computer problem in a single afternoon which had taken all the "brains" at Los Alamos 18 months back in the early days of World War II.

He spoke of the frightening changes brought about in today's world in which a single football championship commanded an audience of 73,000,000 but the person watching at home does not think of himself in an audience of 73,000,000. His association is on a one-to-one basis.

He spoke of the emotional impact watching Sen. Kennedy's funeral — one that after 10 minutes one had to break the tension if only going to the kitchen for a drink of water. Then he spoke of television conditioning, a situation in which people have assimilated a lot of change without realizing it. He said a person watching the news during a dinner can eat his dessert while watching the Vietnam war and seeing people die.

"Years ago a lady teacher would be dismissed if caught smoking, yet today schools are designed with smoking lounges. That's probably all right, she has a right to smoke today — and also a right to lung cancer if she wants it," he quipped.

And if today's world were not puzzling enough, Msgr. Beahan pointed to the next 40 years — an age in which the museum piece of Apollo 11 will be viewed as mediocre junk and people will wonder how it ever got to the moon.

In viewing the generation gap, Msgr. Beahan pointed to the 1920's and 30's as an era of peace, vastly different from today's world with its draft, the bomb and economic opportunities never envisioned during the depression.

"Memories play tricks," he said, "so when a man says 'Now, when I was your age . . . he really can't expect to have his son see that world at all. And don't forget, the elders are now imitating youth too. If you don't think so just look at all the sideburns. Most men lack the courage to go all the way and have a beard!"

He said wishful thinking will not bring back the old world and it's best to try to see the differences in the identity crisis. "You don't have to buy it but you must try to understand it," he said.

Harvey Butler served as toastmaster. Brief talks were given by James Hallan, retiring president, and James Bradbury, new president. Executive Vice President Roscoe Giles recognized retiring directors. Close to 250 attended.

357 Attend Conservation County Tour

The annual Conservation Education Tour for the schools of Ottawa County was held Thursday, with a total of 357 students and adults braving the rain to attend. Those attending saw conservation practices on three different farms that are common on dairy farms, general farms and orchards.

The tour began at the apple storage of Henry Schuallier. Kenneth Burger of the Ottawa Area Intermediate School District office, who was responsible for reservations and scheduling, handed out tour guides.

Willis Boss, Extension 4-H youth agent gave each group a summary of the stops and told the students who to look for at each stop. After the orientation Dick Machiele, County Extension Agricultural Agent, explained the operation of the apple sorting and cleaning machine with the assistance of George Schwallier.

Stops 2 and 3 were combined because of wet soil. Plans had been made for students to see a tile trencher in operation but the soil was too wet to tile. Sherman Hecksel, a local tile contractor, had planned to demonstrate the installation of tile since so very little of the tile job can be seen after it is installed.

At stop 2 and 3 Homer McGhie, Area Engineer of the Soil Conservation Service talked to the groups about the importance of proper outlets for both surface and tile drainage. If the sod chute had not been constructed on this farm surface drainage would have caused a gully in this field on the Leonard Schwallier farm.

At the fourth stop Bill Allred, District Conservationist of the S. C. S. told the group about the wildlife pond of Fred Riplo. The pond is about a quarter of an acre in size. It is 80 x 200 feet and has 14 feet of water in it. It is spring fed and has been stocked with fish including some rainbow trout. The pond is also used by birds, deer, water fowl and other wildlife. The pond is also used for swimming. Allred explained the importance of having water safety devices near all ponds.

Stop 5 was back on the Leonard Schwallier farm. Tom Ayers representing the Cowbell Seed Company explained the corn research plots and the importance of research in providing us with enough food to eat.

At the sixth stop Bill Antonides, Soil Conservation Technician of the S.C.S. talked to the students about the importance of cover crops to protect orchard land from eroding. Antonides said orchard farmers originally thought that orchards had to be clean cultivated. Today they are producing more and of better quality with sod. The vegetative cover protects the soil from washing which eliminates gullies in orchards which are hard to cross with spray equipment and other machinery.

The seventh stop was the most enjoyable to most of the students. They visited the dairy barn of Leonard Schwallier who is a director of the West Ottawa Soil Conservation District.

Those attending included 122 from Holmes Elementary School, 109 from Grand Haven Junior High, 43 from Jenison Christian School and 68 from Bursley School.

The tour is held each year with the cooperation of the Ottawa County Cooperative Extension Service, the Ottawa Area Intermediate School District, The West Ottawa Soil Conservation District and the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

'Oliver' Rehearsals Hit Top Stride as Date Nears

With rehearsals in full swing and the actual performance date rapidly approaching, members of the cast of "Oliver" are hard at work. Two of the members of the cast are Rosie Krumm and Victor Torbeck.

Rosie Krumm is an elementary school teacher in the Zeeland school system. She is a newcomer to Holland Community theatre as far as having as acting part in a play. She has sung with a folk singing group and a chorus while in college.

Victor Torbeck is manager of administration at Parke-Davis and Company. He came to Holland last December with his family. The production of "Oliver" is his third production since his arrival. He played Mr. Twimble in "How to Succeed" and worked on set construction for "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." In "Oliver," Mr. Bumble is the head of the workhouse where Oliver lives. Mr. Bumble rules the workhouse with an iron hand, but not the Widow Corney who is the matron. The two characters are married in the play and Mr. Bumble becomes the henpecked husband.

"Oliver" will be presented in the Holland High School auditorium on Oct. 24, 25, 30, 31, and Nov. 1. Curtain time will be 8:15 p.m. Tickets are available from any member of the cast or by calling the Holland Community Theatre any evening.

Number of Minority Group Students Increases Slightly

A survey of Holland Public Schools taken Oct. 6 reveals that the percentage of minority group students increased only .23 per cent since 1968.

Minority group students now make up 10.13 per cent of Holland's public school students. In 1968, this percentage was 9.9. For the survey, Orientals, Negroes, American Indians and Spanish Americans were counted as minority students, but Superintendent of Schools Don Ihman notes that Spanish Americans make up the largest minority group in Holland.

The greatest increase in minority students is shown in the Washington, Van Raalte, Lincoln and Longfield elementary schools. Lakeview, Maplewood and Montello Park, and the city's Junior and Senior high schools also record slight increases.

In the Apple Ave., Federal, Harrington, Holland Heights and Jefferson schools, the percentage of minority students has dropped since 1968.

Ihman feels that the survey reflects a residential shift by the Spanish - Americans. As these families become more affluent, he explains, they are able to move into newer housing on the south and east sides of the city. Their children then attend different schools.

The Spanish - American students have not proved to be a discipline problem, Ihman stresses.

'Third Pollution' Film, Discussion Challenge AAUW

"Pollution and Solutions" was the topic at the meeting of the Holland Branch of the American Association of University Women Thursday evening in Durfee Hall at Hope College.

A film "The Third Pollution" showed the mounting problem of solid waste removal in various cities across the nation. Throw away bottles and plastic containers compound the problem of garbage disposal. Add to this the junked automobiles and industrial wastes and people would think there is no solution to pollution.

Landfill operations resulting in beautiful parks is one answer to the problem. The film depicted many cities using this method. Other cities are solving the problem with an incinerator without a smokestack. Some cities process their solid wastes into usable products such as charcoal, granular plant foods and soil conditioners.

Using the film as a basis for discussion, a dialogue was presented to the members by Mrs. Leslie Beach, Human Use of Urban Space chairman and Mrs. Harold VandeBunte, This Be-leaguered Earth chairman.

Mrs. William Rocker, program chairman, urged the Holland Branch to take action on this problem — be a lobbying device — to show their concern.

AAUW president, Mrs. Steven VanGrouw, introduced new members. Mrs. James DeVries, treasurer, presented the budget to the members.

Mrs. Stuart Padnos, Community Action House chairman, announced there will be a Conversational Spanish class starting Oct. 27, 7:30 p.m. at Holland High School.

Mrs. Delbert Michel announced the Hon. Gerald Ford, House Minority Leader, will speak on American Foreign Policy at Grand Valley State College on Nov. 5 at 8 p.m. This is open to the public.

Dates for the book sale are Oct. 24 and 25 at the Civic Center. According to Mrs. Don Rohlick, Fellowships chairman, there will be many more books than in previous years.

C. Vander Werf Attends College Presidents Meet

BOSTON — Independent liberal arts colleges, according to some of their presidents, have less student unrest than larger universities because most of the nation's 500 liberal arts institutions make an effort to keep the lines of communication open.

This view was expressed Sunday by a group of Midwest college presidents who feel their attitudes toward the students make the students become a part of the school.

William B. Crist, executive secretary of the Midwest College Council, said "the colleges agree that one of the major factors contributing to campus unrest is a lack of communication among the three campus constituencies — administrative, faculty and students."

Four of the council's 10 member colleges were meeting here as part of a cooperative admissions conference. Those attending were presidents John A. Brown, Linwood College, St. Charles, Mo.; Vance Rogers, Nebraska Wesleyan University, Lincoln, Neb.; Calvin Vander Werf, Hope College, Holland, Mich.; and John Howard, Rockford College, Rockford, Ill., chairman.

Zeeland Blanks Sailors, 20-0

ZEELAND — Bob Lamer and Mike Zylstra of Zeeland teamed up Friday night to lead Zeeland to a 20-0 victory over South Christian in the Chix Homecoming football game.

Lamer who is an excellent college prospect tossed three touchdown passes to Zylstra to lead the Chix to their fourth win in the conference. Zeeland has only dropped one game in that came early in the year to powerful Northview. The Chix have an overall mark of 5-1 while the Sailors are 2-4.

The Chix scored their first score of the game in the first period on a 13 yard pass from Lamer to Zylstra. Butch Wyngarden kicked the first of two extra points for the winners.

Pete Vander Ploeg set up the second score of the game for the Chix in the second stanza by blocking a punt which led to Lamer's second TD pass of the game to Zylstra. The pass play covered eight yards.

With 3:23 left in the game in the fourth stanza, Lamer completed his fine evening by tossing a 19 yard pitch to Zylstra.

Coach Ken Postma of Zeeland said, "Mike Lowe and Zylstra made some dandy catches for us tonight while Chuck De Pree did another outstanding job for us on defense."

The Chix hope to notch another win under their belt when they travel to Kelloggsville next Friday.

Rumohr, Frank Lead Hope To Victory

Hope College delighted her returning alumni Saturday afternoon as the Flying Dutchmen picked up their first football victory of the season 24-22 over Olivet.

More than 3,000 Riverview Park fans watched the Dutchmen climb out of the MIAA cellar and up their season record to 1-4-1. Olivet slipped to 1-5.

Passing was the strong point in Hope's offensive attack this season, depending on an aerial scoring pass for the deciding touchdown, but it didn't involve either quarterback Groy Kaper and split end Bill Bekkering who had entered the game leading the MIAA in their respective departments.

Instead, it was the combination of halfback Harry Rumohr and tight end Rich Frank who teamed up for a 64 yard scoring pass that put Hope ahead 24-15 in the fourth quarter.

Rumohr successfully completed three of four passes after taking pitchouts from Kaper.

Kaper, who was the league's leading passer going into the game, was limited to just four completions in 17 tries for 41 yards.

Both he and Olivet quarterback Eric Witzke had to buck steady breezes on alternate quarters, but it didn't seem to bother the Comet signal caller as he connected on 13 of 25 aerials for 121 yards. The successes put Witzke back on top of the league passing race, a spot he held a year ago.

Sophomore kicker Mike Hinga provided Hope with what proved to be the winning margin as he booted a 40 yard field goal in the first two minutes of play. It is believed that Hinga's boot was the longest in Hope College history.

Hope went ahead 11-0 early in the second period when Rumohr charged 26 yards around left end after snaring a Kaper pitchout. The run climaxed an 86 yard drive.

Linebacker Bill Ash put Olivet on the scoreboard midway through the second period when he grabbed a stray Kaper pass and returned it 54 yards into the end zone.

Hope turned around with the ensuing kickoff and marched 80 yards in 16 plays with Kaper plugging the final four inches on fourth down to give the Dutchmen a 17-8 halftime margin.

Olivet trimmed the lead to 17-15 when fullback Gary Cummings raced around his own right and 16 yards for a score.

Rumohr's touchdown toss to Frank came after freshman safety Dave Johnson picked off a Witzke pass on the Hope 46.

Business Activity Increase Seen In Grand Valley Area

ALLENDALE — According to statistics released by Marvin G. De Vries and William A. Peterson, of the Department of Economics and Business of Grand Valley State College, the composite index of business activity for the Grand Valley area of Western Michigan (Kent, Ottawa and Muskegon counties) increased in August to 164.2 from its July level of 161.3. This 2.9 point increase, while still below the November peak of 165.4, continues the upward trend begun in May.

Since the Grand Valley index is deflated, the upward trend is not affected artificially by increases in the general price level. The index responds to changes in retail sales, construction, employment, industrial electric power use and check writing activity.

New car production in Detroit probably accounts for most of the increase in business activity in this western part of Michigan. Increases in employment in the fabricated metal products industry of 3.8 per cent and in industrial power consumption of 3.6 per cent made the greatest contribution to the latest increase in the composite index.

Residential construction activity increased by 1.8 per cent while non-residential construction declined again this month by 4.5 per cent. Bank debits which reflect check writing activity dropped for the first time since May 1968 by 1.5 per cent. Retail sales showed a slight increase.

All components of the index are seasonally adjusted which means that movements are not affected by forces determined to be the result of calendar month features alone.

Holland's Max Glupker, Lamb Shine

MUSKEGON HEIGHTS — Two of Holland's All-State football candidates, Max Glupker and Larry Lamb put on quite a show Friday night as they led the Dutch to a 37-12 victory over the Tigers of Muskegon Heights.

Mr. quarterback, Glupker, tossed three touchdown passes to Lamb to bring his TD passes for the season to 10 which is believed to be a Valley Coast record. The man with more moves than a "cat" Mr. Lamb hauled in seven of the nine completions that Glupker had which was good for 210 yards.

However, the victory was a

Max Glupker

costly one for defensive half-back Ted Boeve, who broke his collarbone and will be out for the rest of the season.

The victory sets a showdown for first place in the VCC next Friday when the Dutch play Grand Haven. The Bucs defeated East Grand Rapids, 17-6 Friday for their third conference win. Holland is keeping right in pace with a 3-0-1 mark in the league.

The first half was all Holland's as the Dutch completely dominated the game. But in the second half the Tigers came to life for their homecoming crowd to score two TDs.

Neither team mounted much of a running game as the Dutch only picked up 35 yards on the ground to 29 for the losers. However, in the air the Tigers threw 43 times and completed 21 for 223 yards.

Calvin Terrel the fine quarterback of the Heights went back to pass on almost every play as the evening was filled with aerials.

Muskegon Heights made two early mistakes which led to the first two Holland TDs. The first came in the first quarter when they tried a pass on fourth down deep in their own territory. Holland took over and scored on an eight yard run by Ken De Boer. The extra point kick was no good and the Dutch enjoyed a 6-0 bulge.

With 3:16 left in the first 12 minutes the Tigers again gambled in their own territory with Glupker going right back to work by hitting Lamb on a 12 yard touchdown pass. Glupker's pass to Fritz Steininger, who was a "demon" on defense, increased the margin to 14-0.

Kirk Beertuis, of Holland, made one of the defensive gems of the game in the second period as he ripped into Wayne Neal on a pass play and knocked Neal to the earth and in the process intercepted the pass to the delight of the Dutch fans.

Glupker called for the bomb to Lamb and the speedy receiver raced down the left sideline to haul in a pass on the Tigers 40 yard line and sprinted down to the 10 before Neal pulled him down. The play covered 60 yards.

On the next play De Boer scooted into the end zone for another touchdown. Glupker came right back to hit Lamb for the two points conversion.

De Boer set up the final Dutch score before the intermission by returning a punt deep into enemy territory. However, it took a fourth down pass from Glupker to Lamb to notch the score. The TD pass covered nine yards.

Glupker hit Lamb on a quickie for the two points to give the Dutch a commanding 30-0 lead at the intermission.

The third period was scoreless as the Dutch were a little down after such a great first half lead.

Terrel scored the Tigers' first TD on a 14 yard scamper in the final period. Terrel came right back to fire a 27 yard strike to Dan Smith for another score to pull the host team within 18 points of Holland at 30-12.

Lamb scored his last touchdown and the final one for Holland in the fourth period on a 71 yard pass, run play from Glupker. On this play Lamb cut down the sideline, faked in and went straight down the field to grab in the long bomb. In fact, Lamb was too fast for the pigskin, as he had to retrieve for the catch and then jaunted into pay dirt.

Assistant Coach Ray Backus said, "the boys did a good job in the first half for us but after we had such a big lead they were just flat in the second half."

The Dutch will be traveling to Grand Haven for the game of the year in the VCC next Friday night which will decide who will reign as conference champs.

Presbyterians Hear Panel On Two Projects

A panel discussion on the Community Action House and the 261 Coffee House was the program presented at the Wednesday meeting of the United Presbyterian Women with men of the congregation of First Presbyterian Church as guests.

Mrs. Russell Valleau, coordinator for involvement and action; Dr. David Myers of the steering committee of Community Action House and James Baar, seminary student who directed last summer's activities at the coffee house explained the activities of the programs, sponsored by the Churches United for Social Action, a group of eight Holland area churches.

Recognizing the need for a coffee house and drop-in center, steter Baar, some businessmen and many young people started 261 this summer. It has become partially self-supporting and since it has filled a need for so many young people will continue through the school year, he told the group.

The Community Action House, according to Dr. Myers, is primarily an information center to help people find the specific assistance they need. The house gives both sources of reference and volunteers who can provide emergency babysitting and transportation service. Dr. Myers also gave a brief account of the history of the Churches United for Social Action.

It was stressed that both these establishments need church support and contributions from interested individuals.

A question and answer period was followed by informal discussion over refreshments.

Preceding this presentation, Mrs. Wayne Pynnone, coordinator for interpretation of mission conducted a dedication of the Least Coin. The worldwide Fellowship of the Least Coin is composed of women who give their least coin, a token, all of which are used for worthwhile projects in many countries.

Hawks Dominate Game, But Still Lose, 16-14

CALEDONIA — Coach Wayne Tanis' Hamilton Hawkeyes did everything but win their football game Friday as they dropped another heartbreaker to Caledonia, 16-14.

Statistically speaking Hamilton dominated all phases of the game but two measly points on passes after touchdowns by the winners were the difference.

The victory lifts Caledonia to a 5-1 overall mark and 2-1 in the Expressway League while Hamilton is 1-2 in the loop and 2-4 overall.

One major thing should be pointed out in Hamilton's defense. The Hawks have dropped four games but were never really out of any of them. A break here or a break there and the Hawks could easily have a 6-0 or 4-2 mark.

Dave Mattman pacer the Hawks ball carriers by picking up 136 yards on the ground. Danny Knoll followed with 104 yards.

Hamilton scored the first touchdown of the game in the first period on a five yard run by Knoll. The two point conversion failed as a pass went astray. But the Hawks enjoyed a 6-0 lead.

West Ottawa Loses Heartbreaker

WYOMING — West Ottawa's football team lost to the powerful Wyoming Vikings 14-8 here Friday night in front of a large crowd.

The Panthers gave them a run for their money as they came out of the first half with an 8-0 lead.

West Ottawa, led by Don Helder, took the opening kickoff and moved the football to the Wyoming two yard line before being stopped on downs by the tough Wyoming defense.

The Vikings got the ball but were unable to move it. A quick kick on third down gave the Panthers the ball in Viking territory.

West Ottawa again drove the football to the Wyoming two yard line before giving up the ball on a fumble.

Wyoming's first play from scrimmage found them stopped in their own end zone for a two point touchback by the alert Panthers defense with just 1:09 left in the first quarter.

West Ottawa scored early in the second quarter to add to their slim lead. Jon Helder ran the football to the Vikings seven yard line. Quarterback Les Zomermaand scored on a keeper on the next play from scrimmage. The try for extra point fell short which left the score 8-0.

The Panthers had another opportunity to score when they recovered a Viking fumble on Wyoming's 39 yard line. On fourth down, Tom Kruithof took a short pass from Zomermaand into the end zone. The play was called back because of a 15 yard penalty.

With little time left in the first half, Wyoming marched to the Panther 40 yard line for their deepest penetration of the half.

The first half ended 8-0 with West Ottawa retaining the ball throughout most of it. The Panthers dominated the total yards department in the first half with 189 yards to Wyoming's 44 yards.

The second half was a complete turnaround with the Vikings showing why they aren't ranked No. 2 in class B for nothing.

Wyoming took the second half kickoff and began a sustained drive which started on their own 35 yard line. Fine running by back Doug Poskey moved the Vikings to the Panthers one yard line. Quarterback Jim Courter ran it in for the score with 6:55 left in the third quarter. Wyoming's try for extra point failed which left the Panthers holding a 8-6 lead.

West Ottawa had trouble moving the ball on the ground and through the airways as Wyoming's defense stiffened.

The Vikings struck again early in the fourth quarter as Wyoming's fine quarterback marched them down to the Panther's seven yard line. Courter passed to end Bill Buchanan for the Vikings second score with 10:23 left in the game. Courter ran in the two point conversion.

The score now stood 14-8 with time running out on the Panthers. West Ottawa took the ensuing kickoff and moved the ball to the Vikings' 34 yard line before being stopped by the rigid Wyoming line.

Wyoming got the ball and retained it until the Panther's defense stopped them on the ten yard line with just 1:31 left in the game.

Zomermaand went to the airways and moved the Panthers to mid field. Time ran out on West Ottawa as the game ended 14-8.

Wyoming controlled most of the second half while picking up 141 total yards to the Panthers 46 yards.

Wyoming now stands 5-0 in the O.K. Red League while West Ottawa is 3-2 in the league.

The Panthers entertain Springfield Lake at the West Ottawa field
