It is the purpose of Western Theological Seminary to prepare Christians called by God to lead the church in mission.

Established by the Reformed Church in America in 1866, Western Theological Seminary is an evangelical and ecumenical community of faith and learning in the Reformed tradition that serves the church of Jesus Christ. In covenant with the Reformed Church in America, Western equips men and women for Christ-centered, biblically based, theologically integrated, culturally sensitive, mission-oriented, Christian leadership.

Western welcomes students from the Reformed Church in America and also from many other Christian traditions. It is a community of faith, teaching, and learning which engages in theological scholarship and which offers graduate degree programs and continuing education for clergy and lay leaders in the church.

Welcome to Western

Western Theological Seminary is dedicated to educating men and women to serve the world through the church of Jesus Christ. It nurtures students’ spiritual, theological, and professional development through courses in professional ministry fields, active practice in various ministry settings, biblical and theological study, and through its life as a community within the larger body of Christ.

Professional Ministry

The primary purpose of this seminary is to prepare those who find their vocations in the ministries of the church of Jesus Christ: those who will preach, teach, counsel, pursue justice, help others in need, and evangelize in fellowship with the church. At Western this task has always been uppermost.

Western was established by the Reformed Church in America in the last century to provide clergy for the burgeoning new churches of a Dutch immigrant population. Today Western continues to serve the Reformed church by preparing men and women for the tasks they will face as ministers and educators in churches and church-related organizations, chaplaincies, and missions. Western also welcomes students from many denominations and benefits from the enriching perspectives they bring. Increasingly, students with a wide variety of vocational goals come to Western to deepen their Christian witness within those vocations.

This focus on applied ministry is central to Western’s mission. Faculty members bring practical ministry experience as well as strong academic credentials to their teaching task. Western’s professional degree programs are structured within an overarching context of on-site learning and personal growth, called Formation for Ministry. Students find their studies placed in context as they work in a variety of short- and long-term ministry placements.

Western students work hard to prepare for the challenges they will face after graduation. They learn and practice the basic skills of ministry. They grapple with the relationship of the gospel to our culture and what ministry might mean in twenty-first century North America. They explore specific ministry settings, become acquainted with a variety of people in church vocations, and strive to clarify their own callings. They prepare to take places of leadership and service in the church.

Theological Study

But ministry is about more than skills, and seminary is more than job training. It’s a place for concentrated biblical and theological study. Central to the curriculum is the study of the Bible – its languages, history, themes, and interpretations.
Built around that center are studies in the history and traditions of the church, in theology, and in the foundations and practice of ministry – ethics, pastoral care and counseling, preaching, and more.

Western’s faculty is committed to its scholarly task and participates actively in the larger community of scholars. Professors hold memberships in the professional organizations of their fields and regularly publish books and articles. Often, and in a variety of ways, they provide leadership in the continuing search for greater understanding of the church’s faith and mission.

The faculty is no less committed to its educational task. With a faculty/student ratio of approximately one to twelve, Western can provide the intimate atmosphere that best fosters learning. Professors are easily available for formal and informal academic support and often serve outside the classroom as valued mentors and spiritual guides.

Western students build a foundation in biblical studies, theology and history, and the traditions of the church. This foundation enables them to minister out of the deep heritage of the church’s accumulated wisdom and continuing faith. They are well prepared for further academic study, if they so choose. They are given tools not only to understand the faith and wisdom of the past but also to continue to seek out new understandings the world and the church need today.

Community

Western is a community of students, teachers, staff, visitors, and friends united by a common task, but more fundamentally united by a common faith. Western is a community of faith. The chapel has often been called the heart of Western Seminary, and with good reason. Daily worship and weekly communion provide the context for taking up daily challenges, celebrating milestones and victories, mourning losses, and meeting each other before God. Here we remember who we are.

But if the chapel is the heart, Western’s main artery is the hallway that connects the chapel at one end of the building to the library at the other. Between the poles of prayer and study, faith and knowledge, lie the classrooms and offices in which much of the work of the seminary takes place. Access is direct and open to professors, staff members, and other students, and all are invited to mingle daily at a morning break in the Commons, to share news and friendship.

Between classes students can interact, relax or study in the student lounge, located in the lower level under the business office. With computer workstations, a variety of tables, a small kitchen, and a sitting area with couches, easy chairs, and a TV, the lounge is an ideal place for fun and fellowship.
Student housing, too, fosters a sense of community. Townhouse apartments are arranged around a central green where students find pleasant, modern living spaces able to accommodate families as well as single people. Student-led social events provide opportunities to get to know other students, faculty, and staff. Bible study groups encourage spiritual growth. In all these ways Western seeks to build a community to which all can belong.

Western is also part of communities beyond its walls. Recognizing its participation in the larger church, Western provides continuing education for congregational leaders, both lay and ordained; sends representatives to various assemblies, boards, and commissions of the Reformed church; and participates in ecumenical associations. It also encourages the active involvement of students, faculty, and staff in their home congregations.

Western has also realized its need to serve more directly in its host community and beyond. Acting on that awareness, Western houses a midday hot meal program, run by a local relief agency and staffed by volunteers. The seminary also operates a nonprofit store in Holland's popular downtown shopping area. The store makes the work of artisans from around the world available to shoppers, while promoting self-help and fair profits for the artisans.

This is an urgent time for the church of Jesus Christ. The challenges of the next century are already making themselves felt. Western students will graduate to serve the church in the traditional roles of pastor and teacher, but also as counselors, scholars, chaplains, and in a host of ministries that would have been unimaginable a generation ago. Western Seminary is dedicated to providing them with the finest possible preparation for ministry in the twenty-first century.

Community Life

Many of Western’s students come to this seminary out of the Reformed Church in America to prepare for ministry in the context of their denominational home and to deepen their understanding of the Reformed heritage. A significant number of others come from many different denominational backgrounds as Western increasingly becomes a center for theological study in the West Michigan area. While many students enter directly into a degree program, others come simply to test the possibility of a ministry vocation or to enrich their own theological understanding. In addition, each year a number of international students and practicing clergy come to Western to study for advanced degrees. Together these men and women form a student body that is diverse in age, in life and family circumstances, in experience, education, race, and tradition.

As each new class enters, its members become not only part of Western’s student body, they also become part of a community that includes faculty and staff as well. The seminary is itself a member of the community of Holland, Michigan, and of the Reformed Church in America. Western works to promote a sense of community at all these levels. Within Western, activities from chapel to basketball are open to all and regularly mix professors, students, administrators, and staff in worship, social, and study settings. Such gatherings promote understanding and open doors to deep friendships and individual care. Looking outward, Western encourages students to build ties to its larger communities in a variety of ways. These include becoming involved in local church life, serving or eating at the Community Kitchen, serving as student representatives to a variety of church bodies, and learning about the denomination’s worldwide mission through international study opportunities. Following are brief introductions to some aspects of community life at Western.

The City of Holland

Western Seminary is located in the heart of Holland, Michigan, on the southeastern shore of Lake Michigan. A wide variety of industry and commerce provides a prosperous economy, while Holland’s proximity to larger urban areas (25 miles to Grand Rapids, 150 miles to Chicago, 170 to Detroit) makes a whole spectrum of cultural activities and other services accessible to Holland residents.

Holland is also a deeply religious city. In the 1840s, a group of Dutch Reformed Christians separated from the state church in the Netherlands. Soon they began to come to America looking for a place to worship according to their beliefs and to escape the poverty many of them faced in the Netherlands. Led by the Rev. Albertus Van Raalte, some of those immigrants founded Holland in 1847. Although today people of many ethnic backgrounds and religious beliefs call Holland home, the city remains a strong center of activity for the Reformed Church in America. In addition to Western Seminary, Hope College, one of three Reformed church colleges, is located here, as are many vital Reformed church congregations.

Holland's active religious life is an advantage for Western students, who find many options open to them for worship, for membership in local congregations, and for places to practice ministry. Holland is also home to a number of service-based ministries, as people of faith reach out to those who are struggling in this community and in more distant parts of the world.

Worship and Spiritual Growth

Chapel services, led by faculty, students, and visiting preachers, are held every morning during the academic year. These take place both in Western's John R. Mulder Chapel and the more informal setting of Semelink Hall, and encompass many styles of worship.

Students also participate in seminary-sponsored Bible studies, liturgical dance groups, choruses, dramatic productions, or other activities, depending on their interests. In addition, the city of Holland and nearby communities are filled with opportunities for worship, musical performances, retreats, spiritual conferences, and small-group study.
Fall Retreat
Each academic year begins with a day-long retreat for students, staff, and faculty at the Geneva Camp and Conference Center, located north of Holland on the Lake Michigan shore. The day’s study, worship, and recreation in the relaxed and beautiful outdoor setting afford students and their families an opportunity to become acquainted with each other and the entire Western community.

Table Fellowship
Students are invited to gather with faculty and staff each morning for refreshments immediately following worship, and for all-seminary luncheons once each month. Lunch at the Community Kitchen (p. 13) is open to students. Holidays and special events also provide opportunities to celebrate by eating together.

Student Council
The Student Council is made up of representatives from each class and two faculty advisors. It sponsors social activities and athletic events, addresses academic concerns, common worship, involvement in mission, and social action. It meets regularly during the academic year.

Seminary Publications
The Commons is a newsletter for Western alumni/ae and friends. It is published three times a year.

The Reformed Review is a theological journal published three times a year by Western Seminary, with a circulation of 2,800 readers.
The Community Kitchen

The Community Kitchen is sponsored by the Community Action House and Western Seminary, and operates out of the seminary Commons. The kitchen is staffed by volunteers from local churches and the seminary, and feeds about 100 people five days a week, year round. Midday in the Commons is a time and place where people of all backgrounds, incomes, faiths, and social positions are welcome to nourish their bodies with food and their spirits with the companionship of others. Students are invited to volunteer their time, if possible, and to join others in this ministry that links Western with the community in which it resides.

The Bridge

A few short blocks from Western's campus, Holland's downtown thrives with specialty shops and galleries that attract local shoppers as well as thousands of visitors annually. One of the shops, The Bridge, is an unusual type of "specialty" store—a third-world store staffed entirely by volunteers. The merchandise is purchased from cooperatives of artisans around the world who depend upon their work for economic survival. Because The Bridge bypasses expensive importers and operates with minimal overhead, it can offer reasonably priced handmade goods to shoppers and insure a fair return to the artisans who produce them. The Bridge is owned and operated by Western Seminary.
The Gospel and Our Culture Network

Western Seminary houses the administrative offices of the Gospel and Our Culture Network, whose work is coordinated by Professor George Hunsberger. The network is a collaborative association of church leaders who share the purpose of providing useful research regarding the gospel’s encounter with North American culture and encouraging local action for transformation in the life and witness of the church.

The network was born out of the need for a fresh discovery of the meaning of the gospel in the midst of the rapid cultural changes taking place in our part of the western world. It exists to help churches develop mission identities; that is, to become communities who are able to show what it means to believe the gospel, and to live and speak in terms of that belief.

The network consists of pastors, scholars, church administrators, students, and others involved in ministry from a wide range of denominational backgrounds and geographical locations across the United States and Canada. Members meet each other to talk, to share research and conduct new research together, to develop resources for local ministry, and to encourage other creative efforts toward partnership and renewal. For more information, please visit www.gocn.org.

Judy Bos, administrative assistant, and George Hunsberger, GOCN coordinator
CONnECTS (CONtinuing Education for Christian Training and Service) is the umbrella over all of Western Seminary’s continuing education opportunities. It includes lectures, workshops, special events, and international travel seminars, as well as regional off-campus events.

Western’s annual guest lecture series brings scholars and church leaders from a variety of fields to campus to address students, faculty, and the interested public on topics of current interest to the church and the theological community. Frequent one-day workshops draw local church leaders together to work on practical ministry issues. Students are encouraged to attend these events to build their understanding and skills and to meet future colleagues in ministry from across the denominational spectrum.

Special events provide diverse opportunities for learning and celebration hosted by the seminary, alone or in cooperation with other local associations and churches. Several endowed conferences enable Western to bring internationally recognized scholars and some of the most exciting and challenging voices in the contemporary church to campus. Guests have included pastoral theologian Eugene Peterson, Old Testament scholar Ellen Davis, Christian educator James E. Davison, and church leadership consultant Lyle Schaller.

Seminary intercultural travel experiences to Europe, Israel, Latin America, and other sites often are broadened to include participants outside the student body through CONnECTS.

Western also provides classes and speakers for regional continuing education throughout the United States and Canada.

Professor George Brown, Jr. is the interim CONnECTS director.
Facilities and Resources

Classroom Resources and Beardslee Library

Western Seminary provides a learning environment designed to meet the special requirements of theological education. Special audiovisual resources, such as video- and audio-recording/playback, overhead and film projection, and sound amplification equipment, are available. All learning areas are handicapped accessible.

In addition to the classrooms in the original building, seminar rooms are found on the second, third, and fifth floors of the Cook Center for Theological Research. Learning labs with video equipment, used in conjunction with small-group and counseling sessions, are found in the basement of the Cook Center.

The John Walter Beardslee Library, also housed in the Cook Center, is the seminary’s center for access to information resources supporting student studies, faculty research, and area ministries. Beardslee Library’s resources include more than 100,000 books and bound periodicals. Approximately 1,300 books are added to the collection each year. Current periodical subscriptions number close to 400. Library users find information on the collection through an automated system shared with Hope College’s Van Wylen Library.
Beardslee Library and Van Wylen Library maintain reciprocal borrowing privileges and work cooperatively to develop strong collections for each institution. In addition, seminary students and faculty can request materials from libraries across North America through interlibrary loans. Students also have access to the vast information resources of the Internet through terminals in the library.

Several special collections complement Beardslee Library's core of materials. The Bast Preaching Resources Center provides a growing collection of sermons and homiletical instruction. An area on the library's fourth floor is devoted to church school curricula from a wide range of publishers. A large collection of photographic slides depicts archaeology, church history, church art, and architecture. The Kolkman Memorial Archive (housed at the Joint Archives of Holland in the Van Wylen Library) contains papers documenting the history of Western Theological Seminary and of the Reformed Church in West Michigan.

The Cook Center for Theological Research provides an excellent environment for study—offering study carrels, tables, reading areas, a seminar room, and computer access to the library's catalog on each floor. Audiovisual equipment and computer workstations are available for student use.

Beardslee Library is a member of the American Theological Library Association, the American Library Association, the Michigan Library Association, and the Michigan Library Consortium.

Bookstore

The seminary bookstore operates during the school year and offers required textbooks and other books of interest to seminarians, most of them at a discount. Credit is available to students and can be arranged at the business office.

Counseling

Western provides short-term personal and family counseling and referral services to full-time students and their spouses. Students taking fewer than three courses each term may use the counseling service as availability permits. Western also offers a variety of enrichment and group experiences to facilitate personal growth and wholeness among students.
Housing

Western Seminary offers on-campus apartments to its students. Apartments are available as single bedrooms, communally sharing kitchen and living rooms, or as one-, two-, or three-bedroom units. Handicapped accessible units are available. Many of Western’s students live in an on-campus townhouse complex, which is built around a central green that includes play space for children. These units are recently built, pleasant, economical, and adjacent to the classroom building. They are equipped with air-conditioning, dishwashers, and laundry facilities. The townhouses are an especially attractive option to families with young children and are within walking distance of an elementary school, parks, churches, and the downtown shopping district.

Students are advised to make their plans early, as space is limited and the seminary cannot guarantee housing to all students. Townhouses can be rented by contacting the business manager, who will also help locate housing in the greater Holland area for those who do not wish to live in seminary housing or if none is available (see “Housing,” p. 60, for details).

"The Bible is more than just a collection of ancient stories about strange people in faraway lands. It is, in a very real sense, our story. Watching students come to that realization is one of the most exciting things about teaching the Bible."

Before joining Western's faculty, Carol Bechtel taught at the Presbyterian School of Christian Education in Richmond, Virginia. She has also served as a teaching fellow at Yale Divinity School and as interim pastor of the Turn of River Presbyterian Church in Stamford, Connecticut. A musician herself, Dr. Bechtel finds that the great works of church music can open new windows on scripture for students both within and beyond the seminary. She is the author of two such study guides: Hallelujah! The Bible and Handel's Messiah and Sowing Tears, Reaping Joy: The Bible and Brahms's Requiem. She has also written Glimpses of Glory: Daily Reflections on the Bible, is a monthly columnist for Presbyterians Today, and is working on a commentary on the book of Esther for Interpretation.

Dr. Bechtel is also a member of the Commission on Christian Worship of the Reformed Church in America.
Tom Boogaart has spent a lifetime immersed in the scriptures, as a student and teacher in the Netherlands, in England, and later at Central College in Iowa and at Western. The biblical vision he has gained has sent him deep into the issues facing Western Christians, especially the difficulty they have relating the spiritual and material worlds. Dr. Boogaart works to help his students renew their own biblical vision; he has also worked to bring his to life by helping initiate such ministries as The Bridge, the Community Kitchen (see p. 13), and Witness, an organization of support for women in church leadership.

Dr. Boogaart has extended his teaching ministry outward by leading many retreats and seminars and by teaching nearly weekly in area churches. He is the author of two books and many articles in Perspectives, a Journal of Reformed Thought, and Western’s Reformed Review.

"I help students recover the sacred in the scriptures; that is, its power to bless them and energize their ministries. Together we explore the ways Western culture has silenced the scriptures, and together we listen again to its song of peace."

During that time the church became one of the fastest growing congregations in the United States, as well as one of the largest in the Reformed Church in America.

Dr. Brown is a frequent speaker at church renewal events and student gatherings. He has served on the Reformed Church in America’s Board of Theological Education, the Hope College board of trustees and the executive committee of “Words of Hope,” a worldwide radio ministry. He writes often for the Church Herald, the Reformed Review, and the Sunday School Guide and is the author of Witness Among Friends and Let’s Preach Together.
"I try to teach the New Testament in a way that helps students understand the gospel more deeply. That means understanding both the central message of Christian faith and the different ways in which that faith was lived out in the New Testament church. Understanding the unity and diversity of the New Testament is critical to understanding how Christians are to minister today."

Jim Brownson's dedication to understanding the message of the gospel in its first-century context and translating it for twentieth-century people began when he was a young pastor learning to preach. It continues today as he teaches a new generation of preachers to understand the New Testament more deeply. Dr. Brownson also serves Western as Academic Dean.

His scholarly interests range widely and include hermeneutics, synoptics study, Johannine literature, and New Testament Christology. He is also an active leader in the Reformed Church in America, having served as chair of its Commission on Theology, and he continues to serve on the certification committee of the RCA's Ministerial Formation Coordinating Agency.

"Made in the image of God, we are relational beings. One can say that we are our relationships! Pastoral ministry occurs within and is determined by specific relationships, for it depends on the relational ties that empower its effectiveness: one's relationships with one's self, with God, with others, and with nature. Furthermore, health, wholeness, and holiness are found in these relationships. I see my call as educating and empowering seminarians and clergy to redefine their core relationships so that they can support and guide individuals, families, and congregations to redefine their ways of being in the world."

Born in South Africa, Jaco Hamman left his native country in 1993 to pursue further training in hospital chaplaincy with the Association of Clinical Pastoral Education. After two CPE residencies, his interest in the emotional, relational, and spiritual experiences of people became the focus of a Ph.D. dissertation at Princeton Theological Seminary.

He has clinical experience as a marriage, family, and group therapist and served as a hospital chaplain for the Dutch Reformed Church in South Africa.

Dr. Hamman has a special interest in assisting denominations in understanding the emotional process (or the story that is never told) of congregations, clergy, and theological students. He has served as a pastoral-theological consultant in the U.S. and South Africa. He is also an ordained pastor in the Reformed Church in America.

He has written for numerous journals and is currently writing a book on the relationship between a pastor's call to ministry, experience of ministry, and his or her person.

Professor of Missiology

B.A. Belhaven College

George Hunsberger brings to the teaching of missiology a rich variety of personal experience. Ordained in the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), he has been a campus staff member of InterVarsity Christian Fellowship; a pastor; a missionary team leader for Africa Foundation in Nairobi, Kenya; and a teacher at Princeton Theological Seminary and at his alma mater, Belhaven College. He came to Western in 1989, where he continues his special interests in exploring how the gospel speaks within and across cultures and in fostering congregations in North America who are missionaries for the encounter of the gospel with Western culture.

Dr. Hunsberger is coordinator of the Gospel and Our Culture Network in North America, whose administrative home is Western Seminary, and he edits the network’s newsletter. He is the author of Bearing the Witness of the Spirit: Lesslie Newbigin’s Theology of Cultural Plurality, co-author of Missional Church: A Theological Vision for the Sending of the Church in North America, and co-editor of Christian Ethics in Ecumenical Context: Theology, Culture, and Politics in Dialogue and The Church Between Gospel and Culture. He has also contributed many articles and reviews to missiological, Reformed, and Presbyterian journals.

“Churches in North America can no longer do business as usual, because the culture has changed. We must recover what it means to be a body of people sent on a mission. This requires leaders who know God, who teach with insight, who form genuine Christian community, and who can lead congregations into their missions.”

Ph.D. in Christian dogmatics and divinity, University of Edinburgh

Chris Kaiser began his professional life as a scientist and went on to become a theologian, and his teaching vocation has always included working to build bridges between his two disciplines. He has been part of Western's faculty since 1976. He has also served as lecturer at the University of Edinburgh and at Calvin Seminary in Grand Rapids, Michigan, and has been a resident member of the Center of Theological Inquiry in Princeton, New Jersey. There, he conducted research on the interaction of science and theology during the Renaissance and the 18th century. He is a frequent contributor to theological journals, and his 1991 book, Creation and the History of Science, was awarded a John Templeton Prize for Outstanding Books in Science and Religion. An expanded version of that book, entitled, Creational Theology and the History of Physical Science: The Creationist Tradition from Basil to Bohr, was published in 1997.

Dr. Kaiser has served on the Theological Commission of the Reformed Church in America and is active in the World Alliance of Reformed Churches and the Gospel and Our Culture Network.
Paul M. Smith
Director of Beardslee Library,
Associate Professor of Theological Bibliography and Strategic Planning Coordinator

A.B. Hope College
M.Div. Western Theological Seminary
Th.M. University of Toronto: Victoria University
M.A. University of Iowa

"Theological education today occurs in what some have called 'the culture of the screen.' The electronic communications media have drastically changed the ways in which we intersect with, and learn about our world. As director of Beardslee Library I seek to acquire and make available a variety of media – books, journals, computer programs, Internet connections – that will enhance our efforts to train leaders for the church. I also attempt to help students reflect theologically upon the effect computers have in our lives."

Courses:
DM820 Candidate Seminar
TF555 Theology & Ministry in the Computer Age
"An exciting dimension of my work is the development of Children and Worship, which is an ecumenical and cross-cultural approach to the Christian formation of young children in worship."

Sonja M. Stewart
Professor of Christian Education and Director of the Master of Religious Education Program

A.B. Muskingum College
M.R.E. Pittsburgh Theological Seminary
M.Div. Western Theological Seminary
Ph.D. University of Notre Dame

Sonja Stewart’s career in religious education has been marked by a string of innovations which reach from founding a cooperative nursery school in the First Presbyterian Church in Holland (where she was director of Christian education), to designing and implementing Western’s M.R.E. In-Ministry Program, to developing a Children and Worship curriculum and training workshop.

Her Children and Worship program, which combines biblical storytelling and worship with young children, has drawn enthusiastic support from children and their teachers across ecclesiastical and national boundaries. Along with annual training workshops at Western, Dr. Stewart has brought the program to many U.S. and international locations. The Church Herald issue, “RCA People of the Century,” featured Dr. Stewart for her influential work leading congregations into new ways to worship.

Dr. Stewart’s many publications include journal articles, articles in the Guide to Curriculum Choice and Harper’s Encyclopedia of Religious Education, the book Young Children and Worship (written with Jerome Berryman), and Following Jesus: More About Young Children and Worship. She also serves her home congregation as elder for worldwide ministries.
David L. Stubbs
Assistant Professor of Ethics and Theology

B.S. Stanford University
M.S. Stanford University
M.Div. Princeton Theological Seminary
Ph.D. Duke University

A central interest of David Stubbs’ scholarly work is the impact that different philosophies and cultures have had on the Church’s theological and ethical imagination. That interest found particular focus in his doctoral dissertation on the concept of participation in Christ and sanctification in the modern Reformed tradition.

His interest in theology and ethics has not been purely academic, however. David has worked in college ministries and worship leadership for many years, served as a construction manager for Habitat for Humanity, taught English in China, and participated in and led several mission service projects in the U.S., Argentina, and Mexico.

Dr. Stubbs is currently working on a project on theology, ethics, and worship. He has published and presented in areas such as narrative theology and ethics, the theological ethics of Karl Barth, Eastern Orthodoxy, and the impact of Anglo-American postmodernism on ethics.

"Christian ethics and theology are all about making connections – connections between the patterns of God’s activity, the shape of our living, and the patterns of our thinking. What a privilege it is to help students at Western better discern those connections. Students must develop such discernment as they prepare to lead the people of God further into ways reflective of our glorious and crucified God – and as they learn to protest and strive against ways within our church and society that are not.”

Courses:
TF110  Thinking Theologically
TF121  Christian Ethics
TF545  Ecclesiology, Politics and Economics
MT250  Seminar in Intercultural Hermeneutics
Theology is articulating the faith of the church for each new age. When it is grounded in scripture, responsive to the needs of the church, and open to the leading of the Holy Spirit, it fulfills its task as a servant of the church. My own call to ministry is to help students see the great beauty, drama, and strength of the gospel— and then, how to express the gospel for the church today.

Leanne Van Dyk
Professor of Reformed Theology

B.A. Calvin College
M.A. Western Michigan University
M.Div. Calvin Theological Seminary
Ph.D. Princeton Theological Seminary

Leanne Van Dyk combines her love of teaching with a passion for the work of theology and a conviction that the teaching theologian must always keep in mind the present needs of the church. Her years in San Francisco, where she served on the faculty of the San Francisco Theological Seminary, sharpened her focus on the issues of cultural diversity that face the church today. She brings to Western an excitement for the rich resources within the Reformed tradition that speak theologically across cultural and religious boundaries.

Dr. Van Dyk has also served as a member of the Core Doctoral Faculty at the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley, California; as a member-in-residence at the Center of Theological Inquiry in Princeton, New Jersey; as a member of the Wabash Center’s Consultation on Theological Education; and on the Catechism Committee of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.). She is the author of The Desire of Divine Love: The Atonement Theology of John McLeod Campbell and serves on the editorial boards of Perspectives, Journal of Reformed Thought, the Banner, and the Scottish Journal of Theology.
Robert E. Van Voorst
Professor of New Testament

B.A. Hope College
M.Div. Western Theological Seminary
S.T.M., Ph.D. Union Theological Seminary (NY)

Ordained in the RCA, Bob Van Voorst served for twelve years as the pastor of Rochester Reformed Church in Accord, NY, while he pursued doctoral study. In 1989 he became a professor of religion at Lycoming College, a United Methodist liberal arts college, and served for three years as chair of its religion department. While teaching college, he was an interim pastor in four Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) congregations, preached widely in north-central Pennsylvania, and was a visiting professor in Westminster College in Oxford, England.

Dr. Van Voorst has written frequently on theology and ministry in the Reformed Review and the Church Herald. He has also authored six books, including the textbooks: Building Your New Testament Greek Vocabulary (2nd ed); Readings in Christianity (2nd ed); Anthology of World Scriptures (3rd ed); and Anthology of Asian Scriptures. The Ascents of James is a recovery and commentary on a second-century Jewish-Christian text; Jesus Outside the New Testament examines traditions about Jesus from pagan, Jewish, and Christian documents before and after the New Testament. Dr. Van Voorst has been named in Who’s Who in America and Who’s Who in the World for his contribution to religious studies.

"The life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ witnessed by the New Testament is the foundation of the Christian faith. The health of the church in every age – and the effectiveness of its ministers – is directly related to how well it builds on this biblical foundation in interpretation, teaching, and preaching. Teaching the New Testament to Western students preparing for various ministries is a high calling and a stimulating, rewarding experience."

Degree Programs

Master of Divinity

Master of Religious Education

Doctor of Ministry

Master of Theology

Non-Degree-Seeking Students

Other Programs
Western Seminary offers programs leading to four degrees:

Master of Divinity (M.Div.)
Master of Religious Education (M.R.E.)
Master of Theology (Th.M.)
Doctor of Ministry (D.Min.)

The Master of Divinity degree prepares students for ordained ministry, and the Master of Religious Education degree leads to professional education and youth ministries. These programs also provide foundational training for ministries in such areas as missions, evangelism, education, counseling, social service, chaplaincy, and theological research.

The Master of Theology degree program is a one-year program of graduate study beyond the M.Div. The Doctor of Ministry program provides advanced study for ministry professionals.

All of Western’s degree programs seek to impart a theological wisdom which is grounded in scripture, informed by the history of the church and its doctrines, and engaged with our contemporary world. The professional programs also provide opportunities to deepen this wisdom through the actual practice of ministry.

Western offers classes on a traditional daytime schedule, on a one-day weekly schedule in the M.R.E. In-Ministry degree, and in the evening. It’s possible to earn almost half of the necessary credits toward an M.Div. degree in evening courses.
Master of Divinity

Director - George Brown Jr., Ph.D.

The Master of Divinity (M.Div.) is the degree program that ordinarily leads to the ordained ministry. It requires a minimum of three years of full-time study to complete the degree. The applicant usually must have completed a Bachelor of Arts degree or its equivalent from an accredited college or university.

A Suggested Guide for College Students

College students interested in pursuing theological education should seek a balanced undergraduate liberal arts program. The liberal arts equip the college graduate with foundational knowledge for theological studies. Following is a suggested guide:

ENGLISH—literature, composition, and related studies. At least four semesters.
SPEECH—at least two semesters.
HISTORY—ancient, modern European, and American. At least three semesters.
PHILOSOPHY—orientation in history, content, and method. At least three semesters.
SOCIAL SCIENCE—psychology, sociology or cultural anthropology, economics, political science, and education. At least six semesters, including a minimum of two semesters of psychology.
FOREIGN LANGUAGES—four semesters of Greek, including two of New Testament Greek. A modern European language such as German or French is also desirable.
RELIGION—several courses in the study of Christian and non-Christian religions.

Minimum Undergraduate Requirements

The admissions committee is guided by the following criteria in determining the minimum liberal arts content of a bachelor's degree or its equivalent for an applicant to Western’s M.Div. Program:
- two semesters of world civilization or world history;
- one semester of English composition or two advanced English courses with substantial writing requirements;
- one semester of English literature;
- one semester of philosophy;
- one semester of psychology;
- one semester of sociology or cultural anthropology.

Requirements for the Degree

The Master of Divinity (M.Div.) degree requires 96 semester credit hours. All M.Div. candidates are required to take introductory courses in the Biblical, Theological, and Christian Ministry Fields, as well as Formation for Ministry courses called Learning Webs. In addition to the required courses, students select courses around a particular vocational emphasis.

M. Div. orientation is held each year during the week prior to the beginning of the first semester and is a required component of the program. During orientation, students are introduced to the M.Div. curriculum and receive information crucial to seminary life. They are assigned to peer groups for the first-year learning web. Through worship, conversation, and spiritual autobiography, they begin to form a community of faith and learning. And they undergo evaluation of their capacities and competencies to provide a baseline for future growth and to help each one set individual learning goals.
Formation for Ministry
Director – Matthew Flocling

Formation for Ministry is the dimension of the M.Div. program that provides a place where knowledge gained through academic study can be integrated with experience in day-to-day ministry. It helps M.Div. candidates form pastoral identities, develop and practice ministry skills, and gain intercultural experience in ministry. Formation for Ministry has several components: learning webs, teaching churches, a Christian formation retreat, an intercultural immersion, peer groups, and mentors. (See page 75 for Formation for Ministry course descriptions.)

Learning Webs

A learning web is a design for experiential learning. Through the learning web, men and women who are preparing for leadership in the church blend their ministry experiences, classroom learning, and theological discernment into a well-integrated theological education. This innovative approach is accomplished at Western with the help of the following specialized resources:

- A learning web team consisting of the faculty team, peer group facilitators, and teaching church mentors, who meet regularly to coordinate the M.Div. candidate’s formation for ministry and to confer about the candidate’s progress.

- Ministry settings—called “teaching churches”—in which students can observe, experience, and practice ministry, and an experienced pastor or layperson—called a “mentor”—who can serve as a model and guide.

- Weekly seminars led by professors and adjunct faculty of Western Seminary in the areas of specific subjects such as Bible, theology, history, preaching, worship, care, teaching, and evangelism.

The Flow of Formation for Ministry

There are three learning webs, one for each year of the three-year M.Div. Program.

The first year M.Div. candidate begins the academic year by participating in an orientation seminar. Here the candidate meets the rest of the entering class of students, begins to build a community of learning and faith, is introduced to the curriculum, and learns about the expectations of the first-year learning web.

A primary setting for the M.Div. is the teaching church. The teaching church provides the M.Div. candidate with an opportunity for supervised ministry. During the first year, the M.Div. candidate will meet weekly in a peer group, under the supervision of a trained facilitator who helps the group reflect critically on ministry experiences. With the help of the members of the peer group, the faculty, and the teaching church mentor, the candidate explores three areas: cultural awareness, spiritual formation, and discernment of call.

First-year courses are designed to interact with the themes and learning goals of the first-year learning web and with the candidate's ministry experience in the teaching church. The January term consists of a spiritual formation retreat.

Caring, teaching, and evangelizing are themes of the second-year learning web. The resources of peer group, learning web seminar, teaching church experience, mentor, and second-year courses all focus on these three themes. The January term consists of an intercultural immersion, in a place like Chiapas (Mexico) or Israel.

Preaching, worship and group leadership, and theological vision for ministry are the themes of the third year. The resources of peer group, learning web seminar, teaching church experience, mentor, and third-year courses all focus on these three themes. The January term consists of a course focusing on church government and standards. At the beginning of each year's learning web, the M.Div. candidate's initial capacities and competencies related to that year's three themes are assessed.

Basic Requirements
In order to graduate with an M.Div. degree, a candidate must successfully complete the following Formation for Ministry requirements: three learning webs (FM100, Being Formed in Christ and Discerning God's Presence; FM110, Engagement with Christian Practices in Ministry Settings; and FM120, Taking Responsibility as a Leader); participation in FM101, Retreat for Christian Formation, and FM111, Intercultural Immersion
Experience; and completion of 800 hours of experiential learning in a supervised setting (400 hours of which must be full time).

Procedures Leading to Ordination

Each denomination has its own procedures for enrolling, supervising, and examining candidates for ordination. M.Div. candidates should check with their pastors or denominational officers regarding specific instructions for ordination in their particular denominations.

An M.Div. candidate seeking ordination in the Reformed Church in America must apply to his or her classis through the home church consistory for a Certificate of Fitness for Ministry. This certificate and the M.Div. degree are required for ordination in the Reformed Church in America. Western's faculty reviews M.Div. candidates annually and recommends to the board of trustees that it grant the certificate to those candidates who are deemed "fit for ministry."

Western Seminary works in a close partnership with other denominational boards and candidate committees responsible for the formation of men and women for ordained ministry.

Master of Religious Education

Director - Sonja M. Stewart, Ph.D.

The Master of Religious Education (M.R.E.) program is designed to train people in the equipping ministries of the church and society. Graduates have found employment in such vocations as Christian education direction, youth ministry, church music, hospice care, adult ministries, early childhood ministries, and in some cases as pastors of churches. The program has two tracks: a two-year residency program and a three-year "in-ministry" program for people currently engaged in a ministry setting. Applicants usually must have completed a Bachelor of Arts degree or its equivalent from an accredited college or university.

M.R.E. In-Residence

The Master of Religious Education In-Residence degree requires 60 credit hours for graduation. The following courses are required: EM410, 411, 412, 471, 472, 501, 510, 511, 512, 514, 576, 647, and 710. Students also must complete five self-designed learning projects called ministry units. Up to three additional learning units may be completed as part of the program.

The M.R.E. In-Ministry program is designed for people already engaged in a ministry setting. It can be completed in three years. It consists of a one-week intensive seminar in August of each year, followed by classes held on Thursdays only to accommodate work schedules. Some courses may also be offered in the evening.

Doctor of Ministry

Director - George Brown, Jr., Ph.D.

The Doctor of Ministry (D.Min.) degree program is designed for pastoral leaders who wish to deepen their understanding and practice of a particular area of ministry. At the same time, the program challenges the participant to cultivate a life-long habit of continuing education that enriches all areas of pastoral competency.

Western’s D.Min. program is distinguished by its self-designed character and consultative process. Self-designed learning means that candidates have the flexibility to shape the program around their particular learning needs, while at the same time facing the challenge of developing a clearly defined focus in the program. Candidates must be able to work collaboratively with peer learners and a two-person faculty supervisory committee.

The curriculum consists of two self-designed learning units and one elective in each of the first two years and a major project related to the candidate’s ministry in the third year. Two intensive three-week seminars in May-June during each of the first two years and a two-week project seminar during the same period in the third year constitute the residency requirements of a 48-credit-hour curriculum.

A major second dimension of this in-ministry program concentrates on the candidate’s growth in four basic areas intrinsic to ministry:
- Ministry as pastoral and educational
- Ministry as collegial
- Ministry as empowering
- Ministry as God’s servant role in the world

Applicants must have served a minimum of two years in ministry after receiving the Master of Divinity degree or its equivalent. Three to five years or more of ministry experience is preferred.
Master of Theology

Director - Staff

The Master of Theology (Th.M.) program assembles a community of international scholars who pursue advanced study to enhance their ministries. By design, the twelve-month (25 semester credit-hours) program provides for focused research and reflection within the context of cross-cultural dialogue.

International and North American applicants must have completed an M.Div. degree or the equivalent, have three years of practical experience in ministry, and have the ability to relate theological study to the social, cultural, and historical contexts of their ministries.

Core requirements include an orientation seminar held each year in August (1 semester credit-hour), one seminar in contextual analysis (1.5 hours), one seminar in contextual theology (1.5 hours), one seminar in research design (1 hour), one seminar in intercultural hermeneutics (2 hours), and completion of a master's thesis (6 hours).

The remaining 12 hours of course work are taken in the candidate’s chosen focus area, in consultation with his or her advisor and the Th.M. director. These courses are chosen from among the upper level courses in the M.Div. or M.R.E. curriculum.

Western Seminary allows those who wish to register for courses without enrolling in one of the four degree programs to apply for non-degree-seeking status (see “Admissions”, p.58). Non-degree-seeking students may audit courses or take courses for credit. Those wishing academic credit for a course must complete all assigned coursework for the class.

Non-degree-seeking students may not register for more than 15 semester credit hours without receiving permission from the academic dean. FM courses and directed-study courses are not available to non-degree-seeking students.

Applications are available from the registrar’s office. All non-degree seeking students must have the B.A. degree or its equivalent.
Other Programs

In addition to its regular degree programs, Western participates in other programs of specialized theological study.

For those working in, or preparing for, education and youth ministries in the Reformed Church in America, Western offers help in completing courses for the RCA Associate in Ministry Certification Program. Western can help students choose appropriate courses to complete the certification requirements; it also provides special short-term intensive classes in the required core areas.

Western Seminary is also a sponsor of the Hispanic Summer Program, a two-week academic program that takes place every summer at a different site in the United States or Puerto Rico. Hispanic students, as well as others who are bilingual and who are interested in Hispanic ministries, may enroll in a maximum of two courses for two credits each. Courses in the Hispanic Summer Program cover a wide range of the theological curriculum and are always taught with the Latino church in mind.

Western participates in SCUPE, the Seminary Consortium for Urban Pastoral Education, located in Chicago. SCUPE offers specialized intensive courses and internships in urban ministry.

Rev. Mark Poppen '80
Director of Admissions

Applicants for Master of Divinity or Master of Religious Education degrees:

Western offers two graduate degrees oriented toward ministerial leadership—the Master of Divinity (M.Div.), which ordinarily leads to ordination, and the Master of Religious Education (M.R.E.) degree, which is the foundational degree for a variety of Christian education ministries. Applicants seeking admission to the M.Div. or M.R.E. degree programs can obtain an application packet containing appropriate forms and instructions from the registrar or the director of church vocations.

Applicants to Western's M.Div. or M.R.E. programs must have earned a bachelor of arts degree or its academic equivalent from an accredited college or university in order to be admitted as a candidate for either of these degrees. In some cases an applicant without a bachelor's degree, but with exceptional compensatory qualifications, may be admitted to the degree program under a special provision of the Association of Theological Schools (ATS) standards. Such acceptance will normally be provisional pending satisfactory academic performance during the first semester.

A 2.5 grade point average (GPA) is required for admission to the M.Div. and M.R.E. programs. An applicant with less than a 2.5 GPA may be admitted on probation if the admissions committee believes there are exceptional compensatory qualifications and potential for academic success. However, a GPA of 2.5 or higher must be sustained at the seminary to qualify for the lifting of academic probation and continuation in the degree program.

Transfer students:

Western Seminary accepts credits from other graduate theological schools accredited by the Association of Theological Schools. Students seeking to transfer to Western's M.Div. program must earn at least 30 semester credit hours in residence during the senior year. Students seeking to transfer to Western's M.R.E. program must earn at least 18 semester hours in residence at Western.
Applicants for advanced theological degrees:
Western offers two advanced theological degrees: the Doctor of Ministry (D.Min.) and the Master of Theology (Th.M.). Applicants seeking admission to either of these advanced degree programs can obtain an application packet containing appropriate forms and instructions from the director of the D.Min. Program or the director of the Th.M. Program.
Applicants to Western’s D.Min. or Th.M. programs must have earned an M.Div. degree from a school accredited by ATS or an equivalent accrediting body in order to be admitted as a candidate for either of these degrees.

Non-degree-seeking applicants:
Persons interested in taking courses for personal enrichment, to equip themselves for a specific ministry within a congregation, or to explore a sense of vocation must complete a Non-Degree-Seeking Student Application form and submit an official transcript of undergraduate or graduate degrees or courses from an accredited college, university, or theological school. Applicants can obtain the application form and further information about non-degree-seeking status from the registrar.

Western Theological Seminary admits men and women of any race, color, national, and ethnic origin to all the rights, privileges, programs, and activities made available to students at the school. It does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national, or ethnic origin in administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and other school-administered programs.

For additional information about admissions procedures for specific degree programs, see the appropriate section under “Degree Programs” (pp. 44-54). Application deadline for fall admission: July 15.

Housing

Applications for on-campus housing can be made after a student is accepted to Western. In 2001, rents ranged from $400 to $600 per month depending upon the apartment’s location and number of bedrooms.

The townhouses are an especially attractive option to families with young children. They are within walking distance of an elementary school, parks, churches, and the downtown shopping district. In addition to the townhouses, the seminary owns traditional apartments and houses near the campus.

D.Min. Program

The tuition charge is $7,500 for the three-year program, plus three fees of $30 for application, registration, and graduation. The student may arrange a payment schedule with the business manager.

A continuation fee of $400 is charged for each additional year beyond the first three years in the program.

Insurance

Students should carry adequate hospitalization and life insurance for themselves and their families. A program with G-M Underwriters is available at the seminary. Term life insurance of $175,000 is also available through the Reformed Church in America to new and transfer students by application. Students who want to participate in these programs must fill out application cards in the business office within 30 days of the first day of class.

Financial Aid

The programs of student aid at Western Seminary are designed to help students meet their minimum educational expenses as they prepare for Christian ministry. The estimated total cost of educational and living expenses for nine months ranges from $11,590 for single students to $16,435 for married students. Students should estimate costs carefully, based on their particular needs and situations.

If a student cannot match the expected expenses with equivalent income, savings, and assistance from his or her home congregation, the student should request financial aid application and FAFSA forms from the business office. The seminary will arrange a program of financial aid based upon a completed financial analysis. Scholarships, loans, and work opportunities are available to help meet educational costs. A statement of Western’s student loan refund distribution policy is available from the business manager.
