The Deacon's Plot.

A reasonably good man was Deacon Pilsey, as times went, but if he had a weakness it was for making things in general go about as he wanted them to. Not an overbearing man by any means, and certainly not a violent one, but with wonderfully cute and quiet and subtle ways of his own, by which he brought matters about without letting other folks know how the thing was done. When a man is accustomed to have his own way he makes up his mind pretty easily, but there was one point of all others upon which Deacon Pilsey had been set and fixed for years, and the care of which lay heavy on his mind, for the time had come when, in his judgement, something deep required to be planned and all his skill exercised in carrying it out. To a mind like his, that had taken a perfect measure of every other village, and for miles around it, there could be little difficulty in selecting his tools and assistants, and he had no need of counselors. That was how he came to be talking so confidentially with Joe Gaines, as the two stood by the yard-gate.

"Why, deacon," said Joe, "I always thought you liked Bob Humphrey. He's a tip-top fellow, and a good match for any girl I know of."

"So he is, so he is," replied the deacon. "Can't say a word agin him. Know him from a boy. Can't forbid him the house, or any of that sort of nonsense; but, then, he can't have Irene Wyer."

"I don't see how you'll help it, deacon. You're only her guardian, and she is about of age."

"Not for a year yet--that's how the will reads--and she's in my own house, you know. I guess I can fix some things, specially if you'll turn in and help me. You're a lawyer, Joe Gaines, but you're a young one yet, and I'll give you the fattest fee you ever dreamed of if you'll only hitch teams with me, and see that Bob Humphrey don't get the upper hand."

"Well, if that's what you're after, so it's all right and square, I'd as lief earn a fee one way as another. What's your programme?"

"Well, you know there's nigh onto thirty thousand a coming to Irene Wyer, in her own right, and I've took the best kind o' keer of it. It's been a mighty sight of trouble, and all along I've thought of my son Scott."

"Scott Pilsey?" interrupted Joe. "Why, he's in California."

"He won't be long. He's comin'

SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1872.

DEMOCRATIC EFFORT.

From the general tenor of the Democratic press throughout the country, the terrible agony of dissolution is apparent. Some of the leading papers give evidence of quiet submission to the decrees of popular requirements, while others, whistling to keep their courage up, are maintaining their usual indifference, catching each ray of hope, as it appears upon the political horizon, hoping that at the last hour a reprieve may be granted, a "Matchless Sanative" discovered, or a something may be unearthed from the ruins of their once powerful organization, that will invigorate a corrupt body politic, with cohesive power, to unite the scattered fragments, caused by the explosion of the Cincinnati shell.

Many of the terrified are looking forward to the Baltimore Convention, as the panacea for the ills which affect the party; while others of less faith and courage, have yielded to the new party, and have decided themselves, in favor of Greeley and Brown.

The indications are, that the Baltimore Convention will widen the differences which already exist, and will result in a respectable portion of the delegates sustaining the Cincinnati nomination; while the unwashed will insist upon the suicidal policy of running a straight Democratic ticket; that is, provided the originating idea of this whole reform movement "to defeat Grant," is of less consequence to them now, than partisan reputation.

From our position of observing the warring elements of opposition against Gen. Grant, we can only extract evidences of aid to the Philadelphia nominees. The recoil from the efforts to cripple Gen. Grant, is the element for disrupting the Democracy.

CONGRESS.

Congress will adjourn about the middle of June. The Amnesty bill has become a law, having been signed by the President. It is estimated that it will relieve the political disabilities of 150,000 leading rebels. It also relieves the Cincinnati platform of one of its strongest planks. Among the rebels enfranchised, are Alexander H. Stephens, (Vice President of the Confederate States,) ex-Gov. Wise, H. V. Johnson, R. B. Rhett and Wade Hampton. Some two hundred of the ringleaders are denied the right of voting; including Jeff Davis, ex-Senators Clay, Toombs, Benjamin, Hunter and Wigfall; ex-Gov. Vance and John C. Breckinridge; Generals Johnston, Beauregard and Capt. M. F. Maury; ex-Secretaries Jacob Thompson, Graham, of North Carolina and Conrad of Louisiana.

The bill is not to our liking, we have never favored amnesty to rebels. The tax and tariff bill has been amended, reducing the duty on salt fifty per cent. The tax on imported wools and iron is lower, while tea and coffee are admitted free. The total reduction of tariff and internal revenue will be about $40,000,000 a year. The prospects are, that the habeas corpus suspension bill will become a law; also that in some form, the Civil Service bill will be passed.

Judge Stanley Mathews, was temporary Chairman of the Cincinnati Convention. On assuming the chair, he made a speech, during which he said: "The poison of corruption pervades the whole Administration." Having taken time for reflection and repentance, he writes to a friend, acknowledging his error. He writes:

"Nothing connected with the disgraced and disgraceful convention gives me so much pain as your note calling attention to this statement in my speech. What I said was wholly unpremeditated. In the next place, the extract you make, does not represent the truth of my statement. On the contrary, I have no reason to believe, and never have believed the present Administration guilty of corrupt conduct or motives. I ought to have expressed myself so as to have avoided any such charge. What I wanted to say had reference to the general corruption of political life, whereby personal and party ends seem substituted for the public good; and the latest and best illustration of which I am free to say is now found in the action of the very convention, in which my statement was made. I am greatly chagrined at the whole matter; my own participation in it included. Perhaps I have discovered, not sufficiently soon, that, as a politician and President maker, I am not a success. Your friend,

STANLEY MATHEWS."

DROWNED.

Another Victim to the Rum Traffic.

From the Allegan Journal.

A young man, named Myron Ward, aged about 20 years, took a boat ride early Saturday night, tumbled out of the boat and was drowned. He was a brick-maker by trade and was in the employ of Messrs. Brownell & Parker, who had paid him $7 the day he was drowned. It appears that young Ward had worked in the forenoon at the brick-yard, and after receiving his pay he came to the village and went on a spree, and then took his fatal boat ride on the Kalamazoo River. A bottle of whiskey was found in the bottom of the boat after Ward fell into the pond. Thus has perished another victim to the liquor traffic. He leaves a widowed mother to mourn his loss.

A word with our village liquor sellers:

What other conclusion can we arrive at, when we see them, in the very presence of ruin and infamous disgrace caused by their nefarious traffic, still continue to deal out their poison, and add daily, new victims to their holocaust of souls. Some will sell, even to the poor inebriate, who is tottering on the very brink of a drunkard's grave; but are they worse than those who lend their aid in creating an unquenchable appetite in those who have not got so far under their influence, but that noble purposes and manly deeds may yet be expected of them? We say it is not so bad for them to pour their deadly viands down the throats of the miserable sots whose remaining days can only be a curse to society, as to tempt the young, the talented, the energetic man, from whose influence and action the world expects some good.

We rejoice to see that public sentiment is increasing against this mean business, of making drunkards, paupers, beggars and criminals, for the sober and industrious to support, and that under our new and wise statute, many places in this State have been rid of the vile curse, it is to be hoped that our own fair village will soon have no occasion to fear the renewal of such a disgraceful scene as occurred in it last Saturday.

The body of young Ward had not been found as we go to press on Monday forenoon. The pond was thoroughly dragged, but without success. The body has probably lodged among some sunken logs or timber.

JUDGE BEAMAN'S SPEECH.

We give below the speech made by Hon. F. C. Beaman of Lenawee County, at the Republican State Convention lately held at Jackson:

I esteem it a high duty, he said, in substance, to be called to preside over your deliberations. I cannot refrain from saying that I am taken by surprise. I had supposed myself out of political life. Indeed I should not have come up here had it not been for the fact that I was present on this spot 18 years ago at the birth of this same Republican party which we propose to perpetuate. I have always loved that party and rejoice in its reunions. From statements made in certain quarters lately, one might have supposed this was to be a funeral instead of a convention; that the party was sick and about to die, and be buried under the oaks where it was born. I am happy to say such is not the case. It is not going to die; we shall never bury it. [Applause.] At the time of its birth it was a sickly looking infant. When it lay in its swaddling clothes King Cotton was reigning in all his glory. The whole land was under the control of the slave power. It seemed hardly possible that the party could survive. Horace Greeley, Carl Schurz, Lyman Trumbull and Charles Sumner tenderly watched over and rocked the infant's cradle. They nourished and sustained it until it had attained a vigorous growth.

And now let me ask, what has it done? In 1856 it gave the State to Fremont. Four years later it gave the whole Nation into the keeping of Abraham Lincoln. The Southern States, fearing that the scepter was about to depart from Judah, had resolved to destroy the Union. They inaugurated a war such as history knew nothing of. In that day of extreme peril what was it rescued the country from slave power? What party was it that rallied to the support of the Union, and snatched the dagger from the drawn hand of the assassin? It was the Republican party. I don't say there was no Democrats ready to lend a helping hand, but I do say that from the Democratic party as an organization no aid was received. The Republican party closed out the Rebellion; it brought back the seceded States; it restored order. It had a severe struggle under Andy Johnson, but survived and continued its work. The National debt, which at the close of the war was regarded by all foreign powers, and by not a few of our own people, as one always to remain, has been reduced, nearly $312,000,000 having been canceled during the present Administration.

What was the condition of Jackson at the birth of the Republican party? How has it grown and flourished under that party's policy? Never before has the country been so full of activity, wealth and prosperity. Never since the first organization of this Government has there been an administration more successful than the present. [Applause.] Then why throw it overboard; why disband it and organize a third party? What has it done, or what outrage has the President committed that they should receive such treatment? Will you abandon them and take refuge in the Cincinnati platform? [Cries of "never."] Lyman Trumbull and others profess great solicitude for the Constitution. Gen. Grant has, they complain, used the military arm of the Government in the South. And for what has it been used? To vindicate the National authority against treason and disorder. Had it not been used, Gen. Grant would have deserved to have been hanged from the Presidential chair. That Constitution is not worth a snap of the finger which is not able to protect unoffending citizens.

Why has Horace Greeley, the great foster-father of Republicanism, abandoned it? If the President has not fairly represented its principles, why abandoned them as well as him? Why anticipate the action of the party at Philadelphia, unless they feared it would take the wind out of their sails, and show that it was not principles but men they worshipped? They pretend to believe the work of the Republican party is done. I tell you it is just begun. The Southern States are full of rebellion to-day. Restore the reins of Government into the Democratic party and the National debt will be repudiated, the Confederate debt assumed. Disrupt the Republican party and you throw away all the fruits of the war; in vain were the millions of money and thousands of lives lavished to save the Union if the rebels are to be welcomed back to power. While I may not say that Grant should be renominated for the Presidency, I will say we have never had a more successful, economical and patriotic administration than that of Ulysses S. Grant. [Prolonged applause.]

A NEW WORK.—Wanted—Agents to sell in all the States and Territories the Book of the Age, which will be ready for delivery on and after the first Tuesday in November. The work is illustrated with costly engravings, among which may be mentioned:

First Engraving—The model type of disinterested patriotism in Horace, who defeated the nomination of William H. Seward; who thought to defeat the nomination of Abraham Lincoln in the midst of the war, who supposed to prevent the re-election of U. S. Grant, that the nation may have for President not the conqueror of Jeff. Davis, but his fawning bawler.

Second Engraving—Amnesty. Being a Universalist, and believing theologically in the final amnesty of all devils, I am in favor of political amnesty and restoration of power to all rebels.

Third Engraving—Sackcloth, illustrative of the humanity of defeat and the depth of chagrin—to Greeley, Jeff. & Co.—in not securing the reins of Government and the desecration of Arlington, by planting roses on the graves of the rebels as well as patriot soldiers. N. B.—A prompt notice of this work, by all newspapers, irrespective of party, will entitle editors to a copy on its publication. Address, TRIBUNE, New York.

PATENTS.—The following patents were issued to citizens of Michigan for the week ending May 14th, 1872:

Grain Separator for Threshing Machines—J. W. Breeze, Canandaigua. Spring Bed Bottom—N. W. Clark, Clarkson. Lamp Cleaner—L. Granger, Armada.

Whip Socket—S. C. Hamlin, Ypsilanti. Blind Slat—Daniel Kelley, Muskegon. Car Coupling—J. L. Mereness, Constance.

Check Rein—R. B. Robbins, Adrian. Combined Walking Stick and Stool, C. G. Young, Fenton. Alarm for Money Drawer—J. M. Case, Lansing. Baling Press—F. B. Wallin, Saugatuck.

The National Workingmen's Association met at New York, a few days since, and nominated Gen. Grant for President, and Hon. Henry Wilson of Massachusetts, for Vice President. A series of resolutions were passed, endorsing the Administration; favoring the reduction of the National debt; the settlement of the Alabama claims; the eight hour law; a low rate of interest, encouraging ship building; and giving the United States' mails to American built ships.

The Scientific American states that sewing machine patents run out this year, and if the "ring" do not succeed in getting a renewal, (and it is thought that they won't) that the best sewing machines must come down to about $20 or $25. A congress investigation committee has found that the Singer, Wheeler & Wilson, Grover & Baker etc., cost only $12 to actually manufacture. Ye gods, free us from rings, monopolies, subsidies etc.

LANSING, May 24.—The Senate met at a quarter past eight o'clock this morning, 27 Senators being present. They were in session 30 minutes, and a vote taken resulted in an acquittal of State Land Commissioner Edmonds. The vote stood 16 to 11. At 10:30 the Senate adjourned sine die.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Little Delaware's delegates are instructed to favor Grant and Colfax.

With the liberals nowadays it isn't half so bad for a man to have been a rebel as to come out for Grant.

Ex-Senator Hendricks, of Indiana, says he would regard Greeley's election as a public calamity.

Jefferson Davis cheered the Greeley men in Jackson, Miss., by making them a brief visit last week.

Ex-Senator Joseph P. Fowler and Hangman Foote are chief of the Tennessee supporters of Greeley.

It is said Hendricks was to have been Davis' Secretary of State, but somehow things are not turning out that way.

The new rules of the Republican Party of Philadelphia provide for direct votes for candidates in making nominations.

The Westliche Volksblatt, the German organ of North-west Missouri, came out Wednesday strongly in opposition to Greeley.

The Cincinnati Enquirer can't resist perpetrating its little joke. It says Greeley had no wire pullers for him in the Convention.

The Selma (Ala.) Times asks if the people will permit such an insult as the erection of a monument to John Brown at Harper's Ferry. The Times supports Greeley.

The Philadelphia Age says it is altogether out of the question to think of Hon. Charles Francis Adams as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency.

A leading Democrat in the West is a little doubtful about going Greeley, and expresses himself thus: "I would stoop a great way to conquer; but to stoop so far and get licked after all, wouldn't be agreeable."

AUGUSTA, Me., May 21.—The Republicans of the Third Congressional District met in Convention to-day and unanimously nominated Hon. J. G. Blaine for representative to Congress from that District. This is Mr. Blaine's sixth nomination.

The Reunion and Reform Association of St. Louis, composed mostly, if not entirely, of intelligent Germans, has most explicitly repudiated the nomination of Greeley and Brown, and express its regret that Adams and Groesbeck were not nominated at Cincinnati.

The Republican Convention to revise the rules governing the Republican Party in Philadelphia Thursday adopted the Crawford County system of holding elections. Nominations will hereafter be made by popular vote, delegates and conventions being done away with.

W. S. Robinson, one of the Massachusetts signers of the Cincinnati address, denounces the result of the Convention as a "bad ticket, nominated by corruption and blunders," and he wishes another attempt to be made; if it is not too late, to hold a Reform Convention that shall not be a failure.

Correspondents in Virginia ridicule the idea that Greeley is popular among the colored people of that State. They remember what part he took in foisting Walker, the "Liberal," upon them as Governor in 1869. The results of his administration have disgusted them with Liberalism.

An Oregon correspondent describes the Democratic candidate for Congress as a plain, sandy haired man, "not advanced enough to wear a white shirt, though he succeeds in surmounting his woolen overshirt with a paper collar, which shows that he belongs to the present age."

The Boston Journal decides that Horace Greeley's venerable uncle, who has just died in New-Hampshire, was a man of sound judgement and wise foresight, and one of his last remarks was: "Horace will never be President of these United States! He is not the man; I know him! He is not the man."

In an address on Memorial Day, May 1, at Montgomery, Ala., Col. Paul H. Hayne said: "The conduct is not over, nor have its issues perished! When the banner of conservatism was vaunted at Appomattox, the great battle was adjourned simply—carried over to a different field, dominated by different forces."

The Richmond Whig says that John Harmer Gilmer, Esq., who has represented that city in the Virginia Legislature and in other positions of honor and trust, and who has heretofore been a Conservative, is so bitterly opposed to Mr. Horace Greeley that he publicly declares his resolution to vote for Grant and to stump the State for him.

A disgusted Democrat editor out in Wisconsin manifested a willingness in advance to endorse Cincinnati, but since the event he expresses himself thus: "When they ask us, who have voted the Democratic ticket and advocated free trade for nearly forty years, to swallow Horace Greeley, the father of protection, for the standard-bearer, who has advocated all sides of all questions (except the tariff) that have come before the American people for the last thirty years, we beg leave most respectfully to flounce, and will not wait till 'next week' to say so."

It is reported that Senator Ferry, of Connecticut, whose re-election has been announced as such a great Liberal victory, has written a letter disapproving the nomination of Mr. Greeley. It also seems to be understood that, if any pledges or promises were made by anybody to the Democrats to secure their votes, they were made without his authority or knowledge, and will be repudiated by him.

GREELEY AND THE DEMOCRATS.—Horace Greeley made an address last fall before the Trumbull County (Ohio) Agricultural Society. He is doubtless sorry for it. In the speech he said: "I saw, the other day, a suggestion that I would probably be the best Democratic candidate to run against General Grant for President. I thought that about the most absurd thing I ever heard or read. If the Democratic party were called upon to decide between Grant and myself, I know that their regard for what they must call principle would induce nine-tenths of them to vote against me. Why? I am a decided enemy of that party, even in its most respectable aspects."

WM. VANPUTTEN,

8th St. Holland, Mich.

Holland, June 1, 1872.

Local News.

Being desirous of largely increasing the circulation of the News during the coming Presidential Campaign, we make the following liberal offer: All persons remitting One Dollar will receive the paper until the close of the year. Any one sending a club of ten or more, at $1 each, will be entitled to an additional copy free. We want a thousand new subscribers to the DOLLAR NEWS before the 5th of June next.

N. Kenyon has removed his Banking office into Wm. Van Putten's Drug store.

The next annual meeting of the State Medical Society will meet in Grand Rapids on the 12th day of June next.

Mr. R. K. Heald has added machinery to his already extensive manufactory, for the purpose of making doors, sash and blinds.

Wm. Van Putten has removed his stock of Drugs and Medicines into his new store, corner of Eighth and River Street.

PICNIC.—The teachers of Union School had a boat ride and Picnic Dinner near the mouth of Black Lake, last Saturday. They report as having had a very pleasant time of it.

Friend Ryder of the Phoenix Hotel is building a large addition to his house, as also laying a plank walk in front of his house; he keeps a good House now, and is determined to do better.

We notice that Street Commissioner Woltman is busily engaged in cleaning the rubbish from 15th street in this city. There is no opposition to this work so far as we can hear. Strange!

Rev. Philip Phelps, President of Hope College, started for the East on Wednesday last to attend the General Synod of the Reformed Church of America. Rev. A. T. Stewart is expected to leave on Monday next.

We have received a communication from one of our most highly esteemed friends and fellow citizens, replying to our article "Outside of Seeds" published last week, although it is much longer than we like to publish, we will give it entire in our next issue.

The schooner NESTOR, which has been re-built during the past winter was successfully launched on Thursday last; the Contest is now 107 feet long with a carrying capacity of about 90 cords of wood. Capt. Symonds is to command her.

FISHING.—We do not remember of ever having seen such large quantities of fish caught, as are being brought into town for a few days past. The boys are evidently having fine sport this season; and we fear many of them to the neglect of lessons at school.

Lawrence & Wilson have opened their new Restaurant and Billiard Hall on Eighth street, in the building formerly occupied by C. Brandt. It is tastefully and elegantly arranged, and will no doubt command a full share of patronage.

CLOSE QUARTERS.—One of the employees of C. & M. L. S. R. R. on Thursday evening last in attempting to jump upon a car, while in motion, made a misstep and fell in between the depot platform and the car, when, by hugging his position closely and keeping quiet until the train had passed, he escaped with his life and several bruises about his face and head.

The contract for furnishing lumber for side-walks for this city, was on Monday awarded by the committee to the following persons:

G. C. Jones, 50,102 ft. pine, at $12.00 per m., and 39,498 ft. hemlock, at $10.00 per m.

J. Van Dyk & Co., 9,000 ft. hemlock, delivered, $9.95 per m.

J. E. Kellogg & Sawyer, 80,000 ft. pine, at $12.00 per m.

The contract of laying the side-walks was awarded to Blom & Ailing. The walks on Eighth street to be 12 feet wide, to be laid 15 inches above grade for 85 cents per rod; all other walks to be laid for 65 cents per rod. The work is to be completed within sixty days from date of letting. The contract of delivering the lumber from mills and depots was awarded to M. Nysser, and G. H. Bender, at 75 cents per m.

DEMOCRATIC CITY CONVENTION.—The untitled Democracy of this city met in full force at the office of Hon. M. D. Howard, on Monday evening last, for the purpose of electing delegates to the County Convention, and to organize for the Campaign. Eight persons promptly responded to the call. Dr. B. Ledebor was elected Chairman, and G. Van Schelven, Secretary. Delegates were apportioned to the several wards as follows: First ward, 2; Second ward, 1; Third ward, 3; Fourth ward, 1. Delegates were elected from the different wards as follows: 1st ward, B. Ledebor, J. O. Doeburg; 2nd ward, Heber Walsh; 3rd ward, W. H. Joslin, G. Van Schelven, John Ryan; 4th ward, Jacob Van Putten. The above named gentlemen were constituted a City Committee.

BASE BALL.—The first Match game of Base Ball was played last Saturday, between the Eagle Club of Grand Haven and Hope College Club of this city. G. W. McBride of the Occidental B. C. acted as umpire. Hope College Club winning the victory. The following is Grand Haven may feel a just pride in her Base Ball club for they are true gentlemen, and although they went home losers; they went with the best wishes of the boys here, and with many hopes for their success in the coming contests (with other clubs) from all who know them. Come again.

"BASE BALL."

The electors of the city of Holland are called to vote upon a proposition to issue the bonds of said city, not to exceed the amount of ten thousand dollars payable in ten years, for the purpose of paying the expense of grading and the further improving of Eighth Street in said city. The bonds already voted to be issued for such purpose, not being technically legal, it is but proper that our citizens take such measures as will make the action legal. The bonds we understand are already negotiated, only requiring this action to satisfy the provisions of law. We hope every voter will turn out and vote for the loan. To quiet the apprehension of those who may fear this loan is called for in addition to the one already voted, we would say that this call covers the old loan of $7000 with an additional $3000 for increase of expense (if necessary) to complete the work already commenced on Eighth Street, be sure to vote for the loan, and encourage improvements.

Yesterday we attempted to visit the different departments of our Union School, and succeeded only so far as the High School department. We there found Prof. L. C. Miller, the Superintendent of the School experimenting with Oxygen Gas, illustrating its combustible qualities, we became so interested in his experiments that we were unable to visit other departments ere the hour for dismissal arrived. Prof. Miller has through the influence of the School Board secured a variety of chemical and philosophical apparatus. Among which, we saw Pike's Patent Air Pump, Pike's Electrical Machine, an Orrey, Globe, a compound Blow Pipe, Bunsen's Battery, Leyden Jar, Plates for dancing images, Electrical Bells, an extra Prism for analyzing Light, Magensburg Cups or Hemispheres, with all the accouters for performing many interesting Philosophical and Chemical experiments. The High School Department, under the immediate supervision of Prof. Miller, consists of the 'A' and 'B' classes. The A class is expected to graduate the coming year. The Higher or 'A' class is composed of 5 members; the 'B' class of 9 members, with a prospect of a much larger class entering the ensuing year. Too much credit cannot be given to our School Board, and Prof. Miller, for the energy displayed in overcoming the many difficulties met with, in organizing this feature of our public school. By the establishment of a High School Department, students of a higher grade follow as a natural sequence, and the apparatus necessary to illustrate the principles of these higher studies used intelligently, furnishes a stimuli or incentive for the pupils in the lower departments to reach this higher grade of study. Having apparatus for illustrating principles affords both information and gratification. The classes in this department exhibit a clear understanding of the different subjects treated of, and we believe that under the thorough instruction of Prof. Miller, they will graduate with honor to themselves and satisfaction to their friends.

We intend to visit other departments of the school as soon as circumstances will permit.

Port Huron and Lake Michigan Railroad.

We have received from Hon. T. W. Ferry the daily Globe of May 28th, in which we find the following action relative to the railroad lands in this vicinity:

The Committee on Public Lands reported the bill with an amendment, to add as an additional section the following:

SEC. 2. That all bona fide purchasers of or settlers on lands embraced within the limits of the said grant, their assignees or legal representatives, being innocent purchasers of the lands they claim or occupy, having in good faith purchased from parties holding and selling said lands under and by virtue of a certain decree of the circuit court for the county of Oakland and State of Michigan, rendered on the 8th day of December, A. D. 1863, in a certain cause wherein Morgan L. Drake was plaintiff and the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad Company and others were defendants, shall have the right, so soon as the said Port Huron and Lake Michigan Railroad Company shall have complied with the conditions of this act, and before the said lands shall be certified by the Governor of the State of Michigan to said company as herein provided, to present to the United States district judge of the western district of Michigan the evidence of their title and purchase as aforesaid, and if their title be derived by purchase from persons holding under the sale made under the decree of the court as aforesaid, and upon the depositing in the court for the benefit of the said Port Huron and Lake Michigan Railroad Company $1 25 per acre, each one so proved to have been purchased as aforesaid, then the said district judge shall certify these facts to the Secretary of the Interior, whereupon the said Secretary shall cause patents in fee-simple to be issued to said settlers or purchasers for the lands embraced in their respective purchases and to each separately; and the remaining lands not thus patented to settlers, occupants, or purchasers as aforesaid shall be conveyed directly to the said railroad company according to the terms of the first section of this act.

Mr. FERRY, of Michigan.—"This is a question between two railroad companies looking to the completion of substantially the same line of road, and the Board of Control of the State of Michigan have been unable to determine the question of right between the two. This bill substantially decides as between the two, and as more or less of our citizens had purchased under a decree of the State court it assures to such citizens as have in good faith purchased of parties who purchased under that decree, their title by the payment of $1.25 an acre, the Government price, for the benefit of the Port Huron and Lake Michigan Railroad Company; and it also provides that the proof of these innocent purchases shall be made before the United States Judge of the western district of that State, within which district the lands lie. The bill has the approval of and has been reported by the committee, and I think there can be no objection to it. Its object is to protect innocent purchasers of these lands and insure to them a valid title for their purchases."

The bill passed the Senate as amended.

Notice.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Common Council of the city of Holland, at their meeting held on the 17th day of May, adopted the following resolution: Resolved, That the Common Council of the city of Holland, agreeable to a certain petition of H. Walsh and others, and in accordance with title 4, of the amended and revised Charter, approved 1872, alter that part of Eighth street, between River street and Cedar street, by widening the same 16 feet, 8 feet to be added on each side. A meeting of the owners of the land, or real estate, their agents, or representatives, on both sides of said Eighth street, between River and Cedar streets, and the Common Council of the city of Holland, will be held at the Council Rooms, on Thursday, June 18th, 1872, at 7 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of taking such further measures as may be required by law for securing the right of way for the widening of said street.

By order of the Common Council of the city of Holland. CHARLES F. POST, City Clerk.

INSURE WITH THE OLD

"North America"

INS. Co. OF PHILADELPHIA, PA.

(ESTABLISHED 1794.)

Why? Because it is the oldest Ins. Co. in the United States.

Because it was the first to pay its Holland losses in Ready Cash.

Because it has paid over $26,000,000 losses.

Because it has a surplus (over and above its debts) of more than any two Ins. Co's. in the United States.

Because it has a surplus of more than five times that of all the other Ins. Co's. in the city combined.

For proof, read the (Jan. 1872) Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of New York.

Policies issued at the Holland agency, as low as by any other responsible Company.

A Little Girl's View.

I'm only a little girl, but I think I have as much right to say what I want to about things as a boy. I hate boys, they're so mean they always grab all the strawberries at the dinner-table, and never tell us when they are going to have fun. Only I like Gus Rogers. The other day Gus said he was going to let off some fire-works, and he let Bessie Nettle and me go and look at them. All of us live in a hotel, and his mother's room has a window with a balcony. His mother was gone out to buy some creme de lis to put on her face, and he'd went and got eleven boxes of lucifer matches, and ever so many pieces of castile soap; he stole them from the housekeeper. Just when she went to put them in the closet, Gus went and told how Mrs. Nettle wanted her a minute, and while she was gone he grabbed the soap and matches, and when she came back he watched her; and she got real mad, and she scolded Della (that's the chamber-maid), and she said she knew she did it, and I was real glad, because when I was turning summersets on my mother's bed the other day Della slapped me; and said she wasn't going to make the bed twice to please me. Then Bessie and me stuck the matches into the soap like ten pins, and Gus fired them off, and they blazed like anything and they made an awful smell, and Gus went and turned a little gas on so his mother would think it was that.

We get our dinner with the nurses, cause the man that keeps the hotel charges full price for the children if they sit at the table in the big dining-room. Once my mother let me go down with her, and I talked a heap at the table, and gentleman that sat next to us said, "little girls should be seen and not heard." The mean old thing died last week, and I was real glad, and I told Della so, and she said if I went and said things like that I couldn't go to heaven. Much she knows about it; and I wouldn't want to go there if dirty things like she is went there. Yesterday Mary, our nurse, told Bessie Nettle's nurse that she heard Larry Finnegan was going to marry her. Larry is one of the waiters, and he saves candies for me from the big dining-room; and Bessie Nettle's nurse, said: "Oh, Lord! what a lie!" and Bessie went into her mother's room, and her little brother said she nipped him, and Bessie said, "Oh, Lord! what a lie!" and you should have heard how her mother did talk to her, and went and shut her in a dark room where she keeps her trunks, and didn't let her have nothing but bread and water, and Gus Rogers went and yelled through the key-hole, and said, "Bessie, the Devil is coming to fetch you," and Bessie screamed and almost had a fit, and her mother told Mrs. Rogers, and got Gus licked, and Gus says he's a mind to set the house on fire, and burn her out.

One day I went into the parlor and crept under the sofa, and there wasn't anybody there. They don't let dogs nor children go into the parlor, and I had to creep under the sofa, so nobody could see me; and Mr. Boyce and Miss Jackson came in and sat down on the sofa; and he said: "Oh, Louisa, I do love you so much," and then he kissed her, for I heard it smack. And then she said, "Oh, Thomas, I do wish I could believe you; don't you never kiss anybody else?" And he said, "No dearest," and I yelled out, "Oh, what a big story! for I saw him kiss Bessie Nettle's nurse in the hall one night after the gas was turned down." Didn't he jump up; you bet, and he pulled me out and tore my frock, and he said, "Oh, you wicked child you, where do you expect to go to for telling such stories?" And I told him, "You shut up. I ain't going anywhere with you." I wish he would die like that other man, so I do; and I don't care whether he goes to heaven or not.

CUT WORMS.—An exchange says: It is very annoying after having set out a nice lot of sweet potatoes or cabbage plants, to see them cut down one by one by cut worms. We have tried ashes, lime, soot, and in fact everything we ever have heard of, but never found anything effectual, until, by accident, we found three or four of the worms one morning gathered under a small board which had been left by some children on a sweet potato hill. Acting upon this hint, we placed small pieces of boards large chips etc., all through the patch, and we trapped them by hundreds. The boards must be lifted early in the morning, and on very warm days again about noon. A little care for a few days will clear these pests out of the garden. One trial will satisfy any person of the merits of this plan.

A Rag-picker's Fortune.

From the Albany (N. Y.) Journal, April 29.

About two years ago Catharine Jacobs, about eighty years of age, rented the two front rooms at 21 Monroe street. She lived alone, not desiring even the neighbors who lived on the same floor to visit her, at any rate after a specified hour in the afternoon. She was in the habit of making rag-picking and begging excursions, which, combined with the aid she received from the leading Episcopal church and from various benevolent sources, enabled her to enjoy comparative comfort.

On Friday evening last the sound of a heavy thump was heard on the floor of Mrs. Jacobs' apartments by the neighbors underneath, but supposing that something had fallen—a chair perhaps—no attention was paid to it. Soon after, a lady who had been in the habit of calling on the old woman and rendering her assistance, dropped in, as usual, and found Mrs. Jacobs lying on the floor helpless from a paralytic stroke. Assistance was called and the poor woman was placed in bed and a physician sent for. At ten o'clock next morning she died.

The neighbors assisted in laying her out and preparing her for burial on Sunday. On removing the bed on which she had lain, it was discovered that concealed in and underneath it were a large number of gold and silver coins and greenbacks, and a small bag full of gold. This lead to further search, and in various parts of the two rooms, in pieces of crockery and about the hearth, more coin was discovered. This was carefully laid aside, to await some one to make a disposition of it, and that one arrived.

About nine o'clock in the evening a man apparently sixty years of age stopped in the restaurant of Mr. Tobin, corner of Chapel and Monroe streets, and inquired the exact location of 21 Monroe street, saying that his mother, whom he had not seen for forty years, resided there, as he had been informed. He was directed to the place and left. Shortly afterward he returned and said he had found his mother, but found her dead. He then inquired where he could spend the night, and was directed to the City Hotel. The next day he called again, and saying he had to make arrangements for the funeral, again went to 51 Monroe street. After the funeral he took possession of everything of value in the house, which he packed up, remarking that he was satisfied that he had come on. The furniture he distributed among several of the neighbors. He then left, and has not since been seen.

From statements he made to the neighbors while here it would seem that his name is John Beachman, a son of the old lady by her first husband, and that he is now a resident of Washington, where he is employed by the Navy Department. When he was about eighteen years of age she married for her second husband one Jacobs, a colored man and boss chimney sweep. After the marriage he ran away, and his mother never heard from him since. By her second husband she had several children, none of whom are living. Her husband subsequently died.

The son, after leaving home went to sea, and visited nearly every quarter of the globe, but finally married and settled down in Washington. His wife dying, the desire came upon him to look once more upon the face of his mother, and he returned to the city with the above result after an absence of forty years. The money found in and about the room and furniture is variously estimated at from $4,000 to $5,000.

SLANG.—Girls, don't talk slang! If it is necessary that any one in the family should do that, let it be your big brother, though I would advise him not to adopt 'Pigeon English,' when there is an elegant, systematized language that he can just as well use. But don't you do it. You have no idea how it sounds to ears unused or averse to it, to hear a young lady, when she is asked if she will go to some place with you, answer, 'not much!' or, if requested to do something she does not wish to, to hear her say, 'can't see it!' Not long ago I heard a young miss who is educated and accomplished, in speaking of a young man, say that she intended to 'go for him' and when her sister asked her assistance at some work, she answered, 'not for Joe!'

Now, young ladies of unexceptional character and really good education, fall into this habit, thinking it shows smartness to answer back in slang phrases, and they soon slip flippantly from their tongues, with saucy pertness, that is neither ladylike nor becoming. 'I bet,' or 'you bet,' may be well enough among men who are trading horses or land; but the contrast is startling and positively shocking, when a young man is holding the hand of his lady-love, to hear these words issue from her lips. They seem at once to surround her with the rougher associations of his daily life, and bring her down from the pedestal of her purity, whereon he had placed her, to his own coarse level.

I know the bright-eyed girl who reads this, will think the matter over, do what is right, and discard slang and unladylike phrases.
