GEN. GRANT AS A STATESMAN.

So fully have the demerits of Gen. Grant's administration been written up by his opponents, and kept before the public, that many of his warmest supporters in 1868 begin to fear that these bitter assertions may prove too true. In the depraved human heart, error finds an easy lodgement, where truth is shunned, and virtue ignored, which, with the natural skepticism of men, makes it the more easy to believe such reports as an opponent may iterate and reiterate from a purely selfish motive, without stopping to investigate the truth or falsity of such report.

We believe this truism holds good relative to the politics of our country. By a persistent and well systematized plan for operating, the enemies of Gen. Grant are falsely accusing him as wanting in devotion to principle, and lacking in the essential qualifications requisite to a successful administration of public affairs. Let us investigate this matter, without prejudice, fear or favor, giving to truth its just reward. By comparing the past with the present, and the present with the future, we can claim for Gen. Grant a higher order of statesmanship than is generally accredited him.

His military career has reflected glory and renown upon our nation, and history informs us that military success cannot be achieved, only by men of a high order of intellect. An ignorant man may stumble upon success occasionally, but the mind to plan the capture of Vicksburg, Richmond, and Lee's army, together with the planning of the Sherman campaign, tested the military capacity of our Commander-in-Chief, and his success is proof of capacity equal to the emergency. The opponents of Gen. Grant seldom allude to these brilliant achievements, they are as distasteful to them as water is to the victims of hydrophobia, they quietly acknowledge his superiority as a General. Let us see what he has done, and how he has shown himself as a statesman.

In his inaugural message, he says: "The office has come to me unsought; I commence its duties untrammelled; I bring to it a conscientious desire and determination to fill it, to the best of my ability, to the satisfaction of the people."

I shall on all subjects have a policy to recommend, but none to enforce against the will of the people."

Thus we see him assuming the duties of Chief Executive, at the outset, indicating a desire to do for the people, ignoring the claims of politicians as of greater moment, that those of the rank and file of the nation. By closely scanning his messages, we find him earnestly recommending measures for the education of the young.

The working man is never forgotten, "persons before things" is the key-note of his statesmanship, when he states: "The true prosperity and greatness of a nation is to be found in the elevation and education of its laborers." Agricultural interests are favorably mentioned, commerce commands his attention, and manufactures are encouraged.

Gen. Grant's Indian policy, the future historian will record as an honest effort to civilize a barbarous people, through the influence of kindness and love. No one act of his life can be more creditable than the interest he has taken in these people, from whose good will, no political benefits can be reaped.

The above comprise only a small portion of Gen. Grant's statesmanship, and we believe that would our people be more thorough in seeking the truth of history as vindicated by his works, Gen. Grant's statesmanship would hold as honorable a position as that of any former President, and that the anathemas heaped upon him, would be shown to have originated among those politicians whom the President has refused to honor, and for which the people should sustain him. We evidently have a man for election to the office of President from the people. Striving for this interest, proclaiming that "Laws are to govern all alike, those opposed to as well as those who favor them." Is Gen. Grant found wanting? Is his administration a failure? Yes, he has failed to gratify some political schemers and has thereby incurred their intense hatred. We shall hear much repining over his failure from those whose wish is father to the thought; but the American people will not heed them. Their strong arms bore him triumphantly through the war and into the White House and they are going to sustain him. THEY NEVER FAILED AND THEY NEVER WILL.

DEMOCRATIC PROSPECTS.

As the time for the Democratic Convention at Baltimore draws near, the prospects of the straight out, simon pure, unadulterated Democrats appear to brighten. A straight Democrat may possibly be nominated at Baltimore. Although a few of the Eastern and Western States are instructed to favor Greeley in the Convention, yet we can gather but little hope from these indications, unless supported by the old war horses of the party. As a general rule, they do not support Greeley and Brown. Nearly all the more influential Democratic papers have repudiated Greeley, and signify their intention of seceding from the Baltimore convention, and put in the field a Democratic ticket. It is a bitter pill for a free trade Democrat to swallow Greeley, with his uncompromising, high tariff policy. In the South, Mr. Greeley is more unfortunate, his well known secession sentiments at the commencement of the war, has given him a few prominent friends among the ex-rebels, and whatever they can do for him may be expected, yet such influence is at this time, very limited in that section of our country. But few States are controlled by that class of Democrats, hence but little support can reasonably be expected from the Southern States. Mr. Greeley's strength must develop itself in the great Northwest, and if that is not sufficient to carry the Baltimore Convention, then a division of the party may be expected, a large share of the Democratic party supporting a straight ticket, a portion only, supporting Mr. Greeley. In the Territories we discover an uncompromising hostility against anything but straight Democracy. What the Baltimore Convention will do is of course uncertain, but from present indications, there will be manifested irreconcilable opinions causing a division that will not be healed, proving the dismemberment of the party and the disorganizing power, by which the elements of strength are scattered, and the once powerful Democratic party being dissolved into forgetfulness.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The failure of the treaty of Washington, so far as it relates to the settlement of the Alabama claims, is at last conceded by the President. Secretary Fish called on the President on receipt of Mr. Schenck's dispatch with the note of Earl Granville, as to the manner of disposing of the business of arbitration, on the 25th, and the President said the only course was to meet the pretensions of the British government in their own language.

Accordingly Mr. Schenck was yesterday instructed to abandon the arbitration. Mr. Schenck's instructions specify that this government declines to become a party to a joint application for adjournment, if moved by Great Britain. This government cannot be a party to any understanding whereby Great Britain submits her argument conditionally. The obligations of the treaty being reciprocal and unequalled, if the British government have a desire to withdraw from arbitration, they must do so without asking the consent of this government. If such notice of withdrawal as suggested in Granville's note be given, it will be the duty of the American agent at the council to repeat it very decidedly in terms which our self-respect will make necessary. Such notice would instantly terminate all further negotiation on the part of this government. Bancroft Davis has been instructed in accordance with the above.

PUBLISHER'S CONVENTION. — The second annual meeting of the East Shore Publisher's Convention is called to meet at Manistee, Tuesday, 30th July, at 3 P. M. It is hoped the Press of the Shore will be fully represented.

RETURN OF SENATOR FERRY.

RECEPTION AT HOME—SPEECH ETC.

On Wednesday last, Hon. T. W. Ferry arrived home from Washington, and in the evening an impromptu gathering of his friends and fellow-citizens welcomed him at his home.

The Grand Haven Cornet Band performed several appropriate airs, and Mrs. Ferry appeared on the veranda of his residence and was warmly greeted. Capt. Henry G. Club welcomed the Senator in a few appropriate remarks.

MR. FERRY'S RESPONSE.

Hon. T. W. Ferry was greeted with loud applause. He expressed, in an appropriate manner, his gratitude at this expression of confidence and undiminished trust. Three steps in his representative capacity had he taken, in which he had striven to faithfully represent them in the halls of the National Congress, and, as his friend, the Captain, had well said, it was demanded as a right that the West should have a representative on the higher floor to speak for the interests for the same scrutinizing people.

As from the waters of Huron, (continued Mr. Ferry,) so from the waters of Michigan, there should be some one who should speak for you and with you—speak for the State of Michigan—the State we love so well; the State of my nativity, and the State of all my cherished memories. Most gladly do I respond to you to-night, by accepting this tribute of your confidence. I feel fortified in the high trust with which you have assigned me. [Cheers.]

Nay, my friends, more than an idle tribute is this demonstration at my own homestead. You who know your representative; you who know his faults, and his fidelity, if he has such, are the best extemporizers of tributes to your public servants. Here, where I have grown up with you, with all the associations that bind you and me together; where everything speaks of home; here we can find one spot, an oasis, where all party spirit is hushed. Here we come together, irrespective of party, with greetings that renew our obligations and bind us together with those ties that make us inseparable as a people, let us be near or distant. [Cheers.]

It is not for me to speak of what I have done. I have but barely stepped upon the threshold of the high position with which I have been entrusted. I stopped and hesitated ere I stepped to the higher walks of duty, yet I come back to the constituency that has so generously confided in me at the close of my first year, and find that I have not lost any hold upon those who know me so well. [Cheers.]

I well understand, my friends, while listening to the popular applause, that when we gather in that higher field of duty, we are placed under the scrutiny of listening Senators. We are obliged to arm ourselves for the conflict necessary to beat down opposition. I feel grateful for this demonstration, indicating as it does, your approval, and that as a public servant, you believe I have thus far done well. [Cheers.]

I have not been unmindful of interest in my own home. Without knowing what the future may bring forth, having your confidence, support, and approval, I shall prove invulnerable to every foe far or near. It is a source of pride to know that, at your national capital, Grand Haven has achieved some degree of note. It will be my constant effort to do justice to those who so cordially cling to me. [Cheers.] You have to-day proven an antithesis to the aphorism that a "man is not without honor save in his own country." I come here upon the threshold of my home, and your plaudits meet me with the expression "well done good and faithful servant." It is my only cherished reward. With your example I have returned to my own cherished home, feeling that here I have supporters, and with your approval I shall go back reassured, to perform my duty upon the floor of the American Senate. [Cheers.]

Mr. Ferry went on to refer to the rapid improvements effected in Grand Haven during his absence of seven months. He referred with pride to the magnificent hotel, which he said reflected so much credit on the large-hearted man who had conceived the plan and brought it to its pleasant degree of completion. From its summit the marks of progress in almost every square of the city could be seen, showing signs of prosperity everywhere. It was only a very few years ago that there were but three small huts on the shores of Grand River, and now the place has expanded into a municipality. —Daily Herald.

Andy Johnson is unspeakably happy again. He has received, at last, another nomination for an office—that of Congress-man-at-large, from Tennessee. The Labor Reform Party—the same party that nominated Justice Davis for President—nominated Andy. This party has not been fortunate in its nominations. It hoped that Davis would be endorsed by the Cincinnati Convention. It now hopes that Andy will be endorsed by the Tennessee Democratic party. And would like to go to Congress again where he would make the next session interesting and lively, by "swinging around the circle, and presenting members with copies of the Constitution and the flag. If Greeley should be President, Andy would be handy to have around to tell Horace what he knows about vetoes, civil service reform, etc. —Detroit Post.

A party writes: "Please say to the man that made an attempt to burgle—street, between the hours of two and three o'clock on Sunday morning, that if his present infirmity does not interfere with his doing so, to make one more trial at his earliest convenience, and bring his winding-sheet and coffin plate with him. I have his burial certificate ready, and signed by Smith & Wesson in six volumes."

GRANT OFFICIALLY NOTIFIED OF HIS NOMINATION—HIS LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE.

The following is a copy of the official letter notifying President Grant of his nomination, which was handed him by the President of the Philadelphia Convention:

WASHINGTON, June 10.

President Grant:

Sir: In pursuance of our instruction, we, the undersigned, President and Vice Presidents of the National Republican Convention, held in Philadelphia on the 5th and 6th inst., have the honor to inform you of your nomination for re-election to the office of President of the United States. As it is impossible to give an adequate idea of the enthusiasm which prevailed in unanimity, which hailed you as the choice of the people, we can only add that your election, as necessary to the peace and prosperity of the country, we ask you to accept of the nomination.

The letter is signed by Thomas Settle, President, and all the Vice Presidents.

The following is the President's reply accepting the nomination:

EXECUTIVE MANSION,

WASHINGTON, June 10.

Hon. Thomas Settle, President of National Republican Convention, Paul Strabach, Elisha Baxter, C. A. Sargent, and others, Vice Presidents.

GENTLEMEN: Your letter of this date advising me of the action of the Convention held at Philadelphia on the 5th and 6th of this month, and of my unanimous nomination for the Presidency by it, is received. I accept the nomination, and, through you, return my heartfelt thanks to your constituents for this mark of their confidence and support. If elected in November, and protected by a kind of Providence in health and strength to perform the duties of the high trust conferred, I promise the same zeal and devotion to the good of the whole people for the future of my official life, as shown in the past. Experience will guide in avoiding the mistake inevitable with novices in all professions, and in all occupations. When relieved from the responsibilities of my present trust by the election of a successor, whether it be at the end of this term or next, I hope to leave to him as executive, a country at peace within its own border, at peace with outside nations, with a credit at home and abroad, and without embarrassing questions to threaten its future prosperity.

With an expression of my desire to see a speedy healing of all bitterness of feeling between sections, parties or races of citizens and the time when the title of citizen carries with it all the protection and privileges to the humblest that it does to the most exalted, I subscribe myself,

Very Respectfully,
Your Obedient Servant,
U. S. GRANT.

GENERAL NEWS.

Tennie C. Claflin has been elected Colonel of the 5th Regiment, (colored) receiving 192 votes, to 50 in opposition.

It seems that Hart, Oceana county, is to be honored with a visit from the Vice President and family. Mrs. Colfax writes to a friend that they will be in Hart this summer.

A Bay City pastor declines an addition of a hundred dollars to his salary, for the reason, among others, that the hardest part of his labor heretofore had been the collection of his salary, and it would kill him to try to collect a hundred dollars more.

The War Department has taken the precaution to reinforce all the forts on the Southern and Gulf coasts with the newest pattern and largest calibre of ordinance, while the Navy Department has accumulated large stations on the Southern and Gulf coasts, in accordance with the desire of the Government, to be prepared for all emergencies.

Senator Schurz has given private assurance that he will not advocate Greeley's election before the people, and that his sympathy is with Free Trade movements. The letter says, in conclusion, that the committee feel assured that Greeley is not as strong as one month ago, and his defeat at the polls, in November will not be difficult to accomplish.

Horace Greeley made an address last fall before the Trumbull County, Ohio, Agricultural Society. He is doubtless sorry for it. In the speech he said:

"I saw the other day a suggestion that I would probably be the best Democratic candidate to run against Gen. Grant for President. I thought that about the most absurd thing I ever heard or read. If the Democratic party were called upon to decide between Grant and myself, I know that their regard for what they must call principle would induce nine-tenths of them to vote against me. Why? I am a decided enemy of that party, even in its most respectable aspects."

POSTAL CARDS.—At the late session of Congress a law was passed to provide one cent postal cards to be sent through the mails. It will be an open card, having on its face a one cent stamp, and lines for the address. The opposite side is ruled for writing. The price of the card with stamp is only one cent.

The postage on circulars and other transient printed matter, which has heretofore been two cents for four ounces or less, will be under the new law one cent for two ounces or less, and circulars formerly costing two cents, will be one cent.

GRAND EXCURSION.—Grand Haven will celebrate our National Holiday in a creditable manner. The committee appointed to solicit funds to defray the expense of a celebration in or near the city, have secured nearly $800.—Daily Herald.

The Grand Haven Herald is calling for gas pipe in that city; we suppose if the city would lay the pipe the citizens would furnish the gas, if not, we can spare some from this city, fresh, pure, generated daily. It's poor stuff to live on though.

Side-walks 12 feet wide are now laid on Eighth street, between River and Cedar streets. The contractors, Messrs. Blom & Aling are driving up this way, and we hope that the good time coming for this end of the town is not far distant.

Providence permitting, a sermon will be preached by Prof. Crispell to the graduating class of the Theological Seminary at Hope College, on Sabbath—tomorrow evening. Services in the College Gymnasium, to commence at 7½ o'clock.

The strawberry season is fully up on us; great quantities of this delicious fruit are now on sale at the different markets in this city, readily commanding 15 cents per quart. The fruit is very large, equal to what we saw at Benton Harbor and promises a large yield.

H. VAN DER PLOEG.

Mercury has averaged little less than 100 in the shade, the past week. Doff your beavers gentlemen, the Dog Star or some other star is in the ascendant. The oppressiveness of the heat is sensibly diminishing the 200 pounds we are proud of, by dissolving it into a liquid state, against which we utter a solemn protest. But so long as the mercury will play with the nineties, we may expect nothing better.

We learn from a private source that a fearful riot occurred at Manistee, on Thursday last. The whiskeyites attempted to take the city by storm; they formed in line and marched through the city with a jug of whiskey as the standard, fully armed for fight. The whole official force of the city was brought into requisition to quell the disturbance. Six of the leaders were arrested and lodged in jail, and the remainder fled.

We this week publish advertisement of propeller Ira Chaffee. The Fanny Shriver is to run in connection with this splendid steamer for Chicago, making it the cheapest and most pleasant route to travel. The Chaffee is a new boat and thoroughly fitted for the comfort of passengers; those of our citizens going to Chicago by water will find it their advantage to patronize this route. See ad. in another column.

Through the influence of Senator Ferry an appropriation of $10,000 has been secured for the improvement of our harbor, and $4,000 to build a house for the Light keeper. This amount of money judiciously expended will place our harbor in a condition to admit any draft of vessel, and secure to the mariner a safe retreat, adding an other to the list of good harbors on the east shore. Our neighbors at Saugatuck have an appropriation of $15,000.

The Military Company have so far succeeded toward organizing in this city as to have elected the first three officers as follows: Captain, Wm. H. Joslin; 1st Lieutenant, G. W. McBride; 2nd Lieutenant, C. Van Landegend. A Committee consisting of the three officers elected and G. Van Schelven and U. De Vries was appointed to draft the constitution and By-Law for said company. They are to meet next Thursday evening to complete the organization.

Heber Walsh, the enterprising proprietor of the City Drug Store, is building a large addition to his store; the large increase of trade increases stock demanded, said stock requires increase of room, which will require increase of labor, which labor will require increase of stamps, said increase of stamps adds increase of revenue to our city, the increase of our city increases the population (not at City Drug Store) of this county, the increase of this county increases the trade of Mr. Walsh, so we hope our friend will keep on increasing.

An accident occurred on the Chicago and Mich. Lake Shore R. R. on Tuesday last, south of St. Joseph. A freight train collided with the gravel train, demolishing thirteen cars and two engines; no one was seriously injured. The freight train left Lincoln one minute ahead of time, and as the trains met on a curve of the road that one minute delay required may possible have averted such a catastrophe. We learn that superintendent Morrison discharged both set of men at once, he will allow of no carelessness among employees on his road.

Parties of this city are preparing to erect a building 22x80 ft. of brick three stories high, for a Boot and Shoe manufactory. It is to be built in the latest and most approved style of architecture; the lower floor to be used for retail trade, the upper floor for the manufacturing and wholesale of goods. Labor saving machinery is to be introduced, and knowing the parties to be men of energy, we predict for them a successful business career. We are glad to chronicle such evidences of growth and prosperity in our beautiful city, and hope that others may be encouraged to add their influence in favor of manufacturing enterprises.

"ICE CREAM."—We confess our astonishment when we reflect that we have here a city "beautiful for situation," prosperous, and containing a population of several thousand happy citizens, yet we cannot boast of, or even point to an ice cream parlor in the city and the mercury "up among the nineties." Now then, we have only to add why is this thus?—Daily Herald, June 21. This is not thusly with us; we have the desirable "parlor" in this city, and if thou wiltst "up among the nineties," come up and see us, enjoy with us the delicacies of the weather. Our citizens patronize such an institution, and avoid the plague shops that flourish in some cities; this is thusly with us, a happy family indeed.

During Friday evening of last week, while Dr. B. Ledebor was attending the meeting of the Common Council, his horse and carriage was stolen. The horse was standing hitched near the City Hall building, when some time during the evening, some miserable thief took possession and drove it off. Search was immediately instituted and officers placed upon the alert, in hopes of capturing the scoundrel; nothing could be obtained; the next morning a farmer from the country might have been seen driving the doctor's horse. It was found hitched to a fence, some miles from the city, evidently having been hard driven during the night. It is thought that the horse was taken by a scamp who was very anxious to elude the officers of the law, who were endeavoring to capture him for stealing a yoke of oxen the night before at Pigeon River.

THE UNION FAIR.—President Griggs is using all the means in his power to make the second Union Fair at Grand Rapids a more decided success than the first one. Money has been raised to build a Fine Art, Hall, and the work is already in progress. Thirty-six acres of ground has been added to the Park and is being properly fenced. The Pomological Society, with President Thompson at its head, are striving to eclipse their last year's exhibition, and we have no doubt that from the abundance of this season's growth, and the increased interest of Horticulturists the number of exhibitors will be largely in excess of last year. We hope our Horticultural friends in this vicinity and county will fully appreciate the advantages of the Fair, and be prepared to participate, with specimens of fruit etc. It advertises our fruit lands abroad, thereby inducing emigration, enhances the value of property. We hope Holland will be represented at this Fair.

On Tuesday evening of this week, Rev. E. J. Heeren and wife left our city for India, their chosen field of Missionary labor. Mrs. H. is the daughter of Mr. A. Vennema, one of our highly respected citizens. She has been for a few years connected with our Public School as one of its Teachers, where her services gave entire satisfaction, her religious devotedness is of a high order. Mr. H. is of German descent, and can preach almost equally well in the German Dutch and English languages. His father was an elder of one of the Reform churches of Illinois. His Preparatory, Academical and Theological studies were pursued here at Hope College. Having received his Professional certificate from our Theological Seminary here, he was licensed and ordained to the Gospel Ministry by the Classis of Wisconsin, for the Foreign Missionary Work. He is sent forth by the Missionary Board of the Reform Church in America, but sustains special relations to the Classes of Holland, Wisconsin and Grand River. He is to be connected with the Classis of Arcot, India, within the bounds of which he is to labor. During his school years he was a member of Hope Church. His unusual diffidence and christian simplicity, his marked conscientiousness and christian devotedness secured for him the esteem of the whole congregation and the strong attachment of all the members of the church. He is emphatically "a brother beloved" in Hope Church and in the Institution from which he has gone forth—its first offering to those who are "perishing for lack of knowledge." On Sabbath evening last, a farewell meeting was held, according to previous arrangements, in the first Ref. Church to give and receive a public adieu. In making these arrangements, either through an unaccountable oversight or something far worse, Mr. Heeren's Pastor, Church and Institution of learning were entirely ignored. If such a lack of etiquette could be ascribed to thoughtlessness or ignorance, many christian hearts would be relieved. The exercises of the occasion were deeply interesting. Mr. H. gave his parting address to those of his friends who were present, and Dr. Van Raalte—and a better or more fitting one could not have been chosen—gave the farewell to the Missionaries. Long, very long may the good impression made, abide. (Communicated.)

Twenty Years From Now.

The following is supposed to have been written in 1892, by Max Adler, who imagined himself a witness of the terrible scenes which occurred at the time of which the story tells. The English satire, "The Battle of Dorking," supplied the suggestions of this prophetic tale.

THE CONQUEST OF AMERICA.

You ask me to tell you, my children, of the events which immediately preceded the destruction of the once great American Union, and the capture of the country by the present European rulers, and to say something also of the cause which led to these deplorable results.

In the fall of 1872, Horace Greeley, the editor of a newspaper in New York, was elected President of the United States. The people voted for him because they thought he was an honest man. And so he was. But he was also vain and weak, and he entertained certain fanatical and preposterous notions—about agricultural matters, for instance,—which he was determined to force upon the people at all hazard, and despite all oppositions. He believed, among other things, that every man ought to go to the West to earn his bread, and long before he was chosen President he used to advise everybody to move to that region as a cure for all the disasters that could befall the human family.

DRIVING THE SEABOARD POPULATION WEST.

As soon as he reached the Executive Mansion which we used to call the White House, President Greeley organized an army of 200,000 men, and proceeded to force the entire population of the seaboard States westward at the point of the bayonet. The utmost violence was used. Those who resisted were shot down, and their dead bodies were carried off to a national factory which the President had established for making some kind of fantastical fertilizer. All the large cities of the East were depopulated, and the towns were entirely empty.

ALL EUROPE IN ARMS AGAINST AMERICA.

In the meantime the President was doing infinite harm to the country in another way. His handwriting was so fearfully and wonderfully bad that no living man could read it. And so when he sent his first annual message to Congress—the document was devoted wholly to the tariff and agriculture—a sentence appeared which subsequently was ascertained to be "Large cultivations of rutabagas and beans is the only hope of the American nation. I am sure." The printers not being able to interpret this, put it in the following form, in which it went to the world: "The Czar of Russia couldn't keep clean if he washed himself with the whole Atlantic ocean once a day!" This perversion of the message was immediately declared war.

Just at this time President Greeley undertook to write some letters to Prince Bismarck upon the subject of potato rot, and after giving his singular views at great length he concluded with the statement that if the Emperor William said that subsoil plowing was better than bone dust, he was a "liar, a villain and a slave!" Of course the Emperor immediately declared war, and became an ally of Russia and of England, against which latter country Mr. Greeley had actually begun hostilities already; because the Queen, in her speech from the throne, had declared the Tribune's advocacy of a tariff on pig-iron incendiary, and calculated to disturb the peace of nations.

Unhappily this was not the full measure of our disasters. The President had sent to the Emperor of Austria a copy of his book, "What I Know," etc., with the autograph upon a fly-leaf. The Emperor mistook the signature for a caricature of the Austrian eagle, and he heartily joined in war against the United States; while France was provoked to the same act by the fact that when the French Minister came to call upon Mr. Greeley to present his credentials, the President, who was writing an editorial at the time, not comprehending the French language, mistook the Ambassador for a beggar, and without looking up handed him a quarter and an order for a clean shirt, and said to him "Go West, young man, go West."

PRESIDENT GREELEY AND CABINET HANGED.

So all these nations joined in making war upon the United States. They swooped down upon the coasts and landed without opposition, for these portions of our unhappy country were absolutely deserted. The President was afraid to call away the army from Kansas at first, for fear the outraged people on the Plains would come east in spite of him. But at last he did summon them to his aid, and it moved to meet the enemy. But it was too late. Before the troops reached Cincinnati the foreigners seized Washington and all the country east of Ohio, and had hung the President, Cabinet, and every member of Congress.

UTTER RUIN OF THE REPUBLIC.

You know what followed—how Prince Frederick William of Prussia ascended the American throne, and the other humiliations that ensued. It was a fearful blow to Republicanism—a blow from which it will never recover. It made us who were free men a nation of slaves. It was all the result of our blind confidence in a philosopher but was actually a fool. May Heaven preserve you, my children, from the remorse I feel when I remember that I voted for that buccolic old editor.

The Battle Between Farmers and Wool Buyers.

There are several million pounds of wool in Michigan which the woolen manufacturers are anxious to obtain at as cheap rates as possible. That is perfectly legitimate for the wool buyers. If they, for instance, can buy 1,000,000 pounds of wool at 55 cents per pound, when it is worth 65 cents, they make 10 cents on a pound or $100,000, which is a nice plum to take. That amount of money instead of remaining in Michigan among the farmers, goes to Boston, and Boston rejoices.

The question is which party shall make this profit, the wool producer or the wool manufacturer? That is the struggle and that is the contest. There is not a pound of good clean Merino wool in Michigan that is not worth 65 cents per pound and the farmers can figure this thing for themselves. Let it be conceded that the foreign wool market governs the domestic. Australian wool, scoured, can be landed in New York at $1.30. At 50 per cent shrinkage for fine Michigan fleeces this is equal to 65c. for them. The N. Y. Economist, excellent authority, says:

"From all we can learn we think that buyers will be willing to take the wool from the farmer on about this basis, to say—

For Ohio wool 65¢@67c, average.

For Michigan wool 63¢@65c, average.

For New York State wool 60¢@62c, average.

These wools will cost in market about 8c. above these figures, and will then be at about their relative value as compared with foreign wool. Whether the farmer will be willing to accept these figures we cannot say. It may be some time first; but we confidently predict that the final settlement between the farmer and the buyer will be at about the figures at which foreign wools can be obtained, giving the preference of course to the domestic staple at the same price.

Whether the wool clip of this country shall bring 65 cents, is a matter between buyers and sellers. We firmly believe that Merino wool, clean, is worth 65 cents to-day. In two weeks it will be selling for that unless there is a decline in gold. It is claimed that the reduction of the tariff, 10 per cent, should make a reduction in the price of wool. So it does; if it had not been for that wool would have brought 68¢@70 cents. But this reduction is partly balanced by the price of gold which is now 114.—Grand Rapids Times.

During the month of May seventeen convicts have been received at the State Prison against sixteen in April. One was sent for perjury, one for murder in the second degree, two for forgery, one for burglary, one for breaking into a store in the night time, with the intent to commit larceny, two pickpockets, one for bigamy, one for false pretences, one for robbery, one for larceny one for larceny and robbery, and one for assault with intent to kill.

SURE DEATH TO POTATO BUGS.—We find that the Colorado potato bug is beginning to make its appearance in some portions of Oceana county. By making a strong decoction of mandrake root and sprinkling the same on the vines, the bugs will disappear. The decoction should be boiled out of doors, since the odor is unpleasant and sickening.—Oceana Times.

If a girl displays a practical talent for any one thing, a special aptitude for something better than plying her needle, cooking of meals, scolding her servants, or crimping her hair, why should not that talent be as carefully developed as though she were a boy?
