Already Engaged.

There was a motley gathering in the large, old fashioned house of Deacon Simily.

All the people living within a half a dozen miles of the deacon's prairie home had come together by special invitation to enjoy his hospitality. Circumspect elderly people were there, a score of them. Fun loving, light-hearted ones enough to dance two sets at a time without enlisting a goodly array of "chubby" kissable babies who were in plenty likewise, quietly setting on maternal lap, or toddling about at the risk of being spirited away by some baby-loving old maid.

The young people were enjoying themselves in the ash floored kitchen, the thick doors of which prevented their merry doings being seen or scarcely heard by their grave seniors in the parlors and sitting-room. They danced, sang songs, and played at various games until refreshments were served after which they sat down in semi-circle before the great blazing log fire to wait for some leading spirit to propose something new in their diversion.

Maurice Whitacre, the eldest, but by no means the least attractive person in the room, sat down by the side of Olive West, and slyly stole her handkerchief on purpose to make her coax him to give it back, which he finally did by tying it round her neck, that he might have a good chance to kiss her. His very fingers tingled when he came in contact with her white neck, but he did not kiss her, though he could not have had a better chance than he had when she turned her peachy cheek towards him for his impudence.

Maurice had never kissed a woman in his life except his mother, though he was thirty-five, and he dare not do it then before all those eyes, even though not one was looking his way. Maurice knew that Fred Glover, who was sitting so glum over in the chimney corner, would give a good deal to sit right where he was, and had Olive smile on himself, and that made him feel still better. He liked to think he was making that conceited fellow jealous.

"Girls, what do you say to taking a sleigh ride?" "Oh, let us have a sleigh ride by all means!" exclaimed half a dozen at once.

"I'm afraid our papas and mamas will want to go before we get back," said a demure little miss, who was amusing herself by pinning a gentleman's coat sleeve to the waist of a lady's dress, the two appendages being convenient near each other.

"Not a bit of it," answered a wide awake chap, who had just come from the other room. "They are just brought up another bushel of apples, and Uncle Grimshaw is about to begin one of his long stories. We can drive to Walton and back before he gets through."

This settled the matter. Two or three of the young men went out to get the horses and sleigh ready, while the others helped the girls on with their wrappers.

Maurice Whitacre kept close by the side of Olive, determined that Fred Glover should not cheat him out of her company for the ride. But in the entryway some one jostled against him, and he lost sight of her until he reached the sleigh.

There was no moon, and but for the snow the night would have been pitch dark, not a star being visible, so that objects could be seen more distinctly. Maurice mistook Fred Glover's madcap sister, Mary for Olive. He seized her hands, helped her into a seat, hand sprang in beside her.

"Olive, are you warm? Let me fix this robe around you--so." Then Mary knew that Maurice had made a mistake, and her black eyes shone mischievously under her hood.

"Olive is with Fred, thanks to Maurice's stupidity," thought she. "Well, I shall have something to laugh about for a month, and who knows but I may be the means of getting Fred a wife?"

The bells jingled merrily, and the horses almost flew over the beaten snow. The night was bitter cold, and Maurice moved closer to his companion, holding the robe, and finally he put his arm around her, drawing her nearer to him, and asked her again if she was comfortable.

"Yes thank you," came in a whisper from under the fur-trimmed hood which almost covered her face. Mary shrunk a little from his close embrace, and earnestly hoped he would not declare himself just then.

After her whispered answer to his question, Maurice fell to talking in a whisper, too, and it was not long before a thought of proposing then and there entered his head.

"Why not tell her how I love her now as well any time, and then if she consents to marry me, I can let that fop, Fred Glover, admire her and look daggers at me as long as he pleases," and with this Maurice put his face close to Mary's so that no one should overhear him and whispered:

"My darling, I love you."

There was no response, but Mary, who felt herself in a dilemma, was putting her wits to work to help her out of it; so when he asked her bluntly if she loved him, and would marry him, she answered:

"Mr. Whitacre, I esteem you very highly, but--I am already engaged."

Maurice held her firmly for a moment, while his mind took in the hopeless meaning of her words, then his arm dropped like lead.

Throughout the reminder of the ride he spoke not a word, and Mary was equally silent.

"He will never venture to speak to Olive again and Fred will win her," thought Mary, as she noticed the effect her words had on Maurice.

Mary was thoughtful, not intentionally wicked. She did not realize the extent of the wrong she was doing, and considered the affair in the light of a practical joke, which her brother might improve to his advantage.

When they returned to the deacon's, Maurice assisted Mary from the sleigh and proceeded with her to the kitchen, where he sat down before the fire in a fit of abstraction, from which he was at length aroused by a banter of his companions. He looked up to see Olive West--his own Olive, as he had hoped a few hours before--gaily talking with Glover, who was leaning over her chair.

During the rest of the evening Olive shunned Maurice assiduously, and for a good reason. She, with Fred had occupied the seat directly behind Maurice and Mary, and had witnessed his tender advances, had heard whispered, "My darling, I love you," and during the rest of the ride she listened to Fred's never failing flow of small talk, without knowing or caring what he said. Maurice had never told her in words that he loved her, although his actions had often told her that he did; and yet now she had plainly heard him avow his love for another. The weeks passed by. Maurice met Olive often, and Fred was constantly by her side. Olive seemed the happiest of the happy, though a careful observer might have seen that her cheeks were thinner and less rosy than formerly. Maurice moped and grew misanthropic. He only went to the little neighborly gatherings because he knew that Olive and Fred would be there, and he felt a savage delight in scowling at them both, and muttering malediction against Fred. He wanted to make Olive think that her engagement did not cut him in the least, and it occurred to him that the surest way to do it would be to get married before her.

But to whom? He stood leaning against the mantle, while he ran eyes over the different groups assembled in Mrs. May's parlor. There were young girls and old maids, pretty maidens and homely ones, blondes and brunettes--

THE REPUBLICAN MEETING.

Capt. J. P. Rexford of Tennessee, spoke to our citizens on Wednesday evening last, upon the political issues of the day. The Capt., hailing as he does, from a State where the Ku-Klux flourish, improved the occasion by telling us what he knew about said organization.

He claims that the tale is not over told, when it is said that hundreds of men lie buried beneath the soil of the South, for no other reason than daring to maintain that freedom of speech and opinion, guaranteed to them by the Constitution of the United States. There in the South property qualification is still the evident desire of the ex-slaveholders, and every effort is being made by that class of citizens, holding the territory, to bring the laborers under subjection to capital, thereby establishing a kind of serfdom, as humiliating and dependent as slavery.

In order to accomplish this state of things, a system of espionage has been established, watching the efforts made by parties willing and anxious to secure those precious boon of American civilization: education and freedom of speech.

The determination of the Ku-Klux operators is to force the working man to pay tribute to capital, and to do this, they must oppose the building of school houses and educating the people. Education is a bane to the Southern idea of life. Social ostracism is just as requisite to carry out their designs as it is to defeat Gen. Grant for the Presidency, and the Ku-Klux are organized to do this work, and are doing it pretty effectually. If Horace Greeley be elected President he will aid them in their hellish designs.

The captain spoke at considerable length, reviewing the political situation, holding the audience to a late hour as by magic closing by reviewing Gen. Grant's record and according him the highest place on the pinnacle of fame as one of the most self-sacrificing, modest, unassuming men known among the great men of the world. Although the meeting was an impromptu affair, no previous notice having been given a fair sized audience was present and seemed to have been well satisfied that the meeting was a success.

The Holland Light Guard Band was present and enlivened the occasion with some of their best music.

A vote of thanks was given to the captain when three rousing cheers were given for Grant and Wilson and the meeting closed.

Telling the truth is not a habit with Brick Pomeroy, but he can do it when he tries. As witness the following graphic description of the Democratic party: "A pack of fools! A congregation of cowards under the lead of thieves! Three million men afraid to move! An army of men without a leader—a mob without a head—a host without a name or an idea! Where are the captains, the generals, the leaders, the organizers of the party? Asleep, drunk, stealing, or making bargains with political enemies?"

THE SITUATION AT GRAND RAPIDS.

K. Schaddelee, the would-be Representative at Grand Rapids—Hon. Z. Chandler—Democratic Ku-Klux—The Grand Rapids Times, etc., etc.

GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 7, 1872.

From our own Correspondent.

Mr. Editor:—After four or five desperate efforts and as many failures, the Greeleyized Hollanders of this city have had a little success in drumming up their fragments for a political meeting. Several attempts have been made to organize a Greeley Club. While giving up nearly all hopes of succeeding, they conceived the happy idea of making one more effort, and go abroad for their speakers. They did so, and Messrs. K. Schaddelee and G. Van Schelven, of your city were advertised in both the "Dolly Varden" morning papers, and the "dark lantern." Handbills were thrown all over the city, inviting all to come and hear the distinguished speakers from abroad.

But to the meeting, K. Schaddelee dare not attempt to open the meeting, so Col. McReynolds the would be Congressman, was brought out, they soon got sick of hearing his falsehood, when they called out the great stumper K. Schaddelee; Mr. S. tried his best, it is said to make the Hollanders believe that he knew it all, and they must do as he said; he admitted that Grant was paying off the public debt, that slavery was abolished and yet only by voting for Horace Greeley would the country be saved and we would all go to Heaven on his back. Some of our Hollanders thought S. a minister, he was cheered by one of his hearers who had a "brick in his hat," and "snakes in his boots," it seemed to be hard work for him to say what he knew was not so. We would advise him to stay at home and attend to his own district for we tell him that nine-tenths of our Holland vote will be given to Grant and Wilson.

But where was Van Schelven, speaker No. 2; he showed his wisdom by staying at home. On Saturday evening the Hon. Z. Chandler addressed a large audience in front of the Rathbun House, the crowd was so large that teams could not pass, only by running over the people, the Democrats were jealous because Chandler was talking to too large a crowd, and in order to break up our meeting they set their Ku-Klux at work; it is said that they hired a hack driver to go through the crowd, and through he must drive; he was soon captured; it was a put up job, the Democratic Ku-Klux attempting to break up our meeting and so our Greeley Times comes out the next morning crying Ku-Klux in Grand Rapids, and so there was Mr. Times.

Mr. Editor, have you or any of your readers ever heard how our Times came to be a Greeleyite? I presume not; but it was in this way. Last year he blowed and cursed the Democratic Mayor and Council, and did not get any city pap; the new Council being stronger Democratic, and knowing that he would blow at them if they did not give him any, they voted him his share of the city printing; and in this way he became a Democrat and turn-coat; and now the city fathers and policemen are angels in his eyes.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 8.—The Newark charter elections resulted in over 5,000 Republican majority, being a gain of nearly 1,000 over last year's charter election, and more than 3,000 over Governor Parker's majority last November. The Republicans carry 13 out of 15 wards, and elect 12 aldermen. The new Council will stand 90 Republicans to 10 Democrats.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The election in the District of Columbia to-day was attended with but few disturbances. Gen. N. P. Chipman, Republican, and the present delegate to Congress, was re-elected by 5,600 majority. The Republicans also elected 19 out of 22 delegates to the Legislative Assembly.

OMAHA, Oct. 8.—The election passed off quietly. A full vote was polled and the Republican State and Congressional ticket elected by about 5,000. This, Douglas County, which may be considered a Liberal strong-hold, gives an average Republican gain of about 100.

HARTFORD, Ct., Oct. 8.—One hundred and twenty out of 168 towns in this State have been heard from. Fifty-eight elect the entire Republican ticket, and in 24 the officers are divided between the two parties. The Democrats have gained eight towns which were wholly Republican last year, and the Republicans have gained eight towns which were Democratic last year.

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 8.—Danford, Republican, gains in Belmont County, in four townships, 205 over the vote of 1871, and gains 100 in Steubenville. Pease townships gives Danford 241 majority. Short Creek townships give Danford 241 majority, a gain over Bingham of 6. Danford's majority in Steubenville is 450.

VICTORY.

Great Rejoicing in the Republican Camp.

Pennsylvania 30,000 Republican Majority.

Ohio 20,000 Republican.

Indiana 1,000 Republican.

Nebraska 5,000 Republican.

Indulge 4,000
GLORY ENOUGH FOR ONE DAY.

Advices from different States in which elections have been held during the week, indicate large Republican gains. Reports show that the disaffection in Pennsylvania amounted to but little; Gen. Hartranft running fully up with his ticket, electing a delegation to Congress of 18 Republicans to 9 Democrats, with a majority of 30,000. In Ohio, the Republicans carry the State by 20,000 majority, electing 14 Republican Congressmen to 6 Democrats.

In Indiana we have probably elected 8 Congressmen to the Democrats 5. Nebraska is also Republican.

In commenting upon the result the New York Tribune of the 9th says: "We have been cheated out of Pennsylvania, but have made great gains in Ohio, though not enough to carry the State, and have nothing discouraging from Indiana." Forney's Philadelphia Press says: "Greeley's doom is sealed. It would be folly to allege that Hartranft's majority is the result of fraud. We believe it to be legitimate, and that Gen. Grant has polled the ticket through. In any ordinary circumstances it would have beaten out of sight."

Every State has more than justified the expectation of the friends of the Administration, this splendid triumph virtually settles the Presidential contest. Still we would urge our Republican friends to relax no effort to make the triumph in this State complete and overwhelming. We must follow up the success, keep step to the music of the Union and carry Michigan through the fight with a clean 40,000 Republican majority. Every Republican in the State should be encouraged by the news of this week to work with greater energy and aid in securing this great victory.

Let Michigan be the banner Republican State of the Union.

QUITE ENOUGH OF GREELEY.

A Card From Hon. Jacob Ferris.

To the Editor of the Eagle.
SIR:—Together with many other Republicans, I hailed the formation of a new party which was to be led by men of professed purity of character, as a promise of good to the country—especially when Civil Service Reform was to be made a corner stone.

Believing our civil service system to be a source of evil in the administration, when the Cincinnati Convention nominated Horace Greeley, with reform in that civil service as a principle clearly put in issue, I cheerfully accepted the platform and the nominee. The Cincinnati platform asserts "fidelity" as constituting the only valid claim to public employment; yet the first time Mr. Greeley is called upon to construe that proposition he declares publicly, in language that cannot be misunderstood, that those who will support him in the election shall be appointed to office—thereby repudiating the "fidelity" which we were told should constitute the only valid claim to office, and adopting the hateful doctrine that "to the victors belong the spoils."

Again: as a soldier I cannot support a man for President who will descend to an untruthful attack on the soldiers and sailors who periled their lives in the defense of the flag. This Mr. Greeley did in his recent speech at Pittsburgh, in which he utterly misrepresents the language and the spirit of the heroes there assembled.

Again: The doctrine of secession for any cause is odious. That doctrine has been condemned by argument and by the sword. Now, Mr. Greeley deliberately repeats his blunder of twelve years ago (which in the agony of that hour might be forgiven); he solemnly affirms the right of a majority in a State to sever the connection of the State with the Union, though against the will of all other members of the Union; in so doing he dignifies the success of faction with the name and the rights of revolution.

Regarding Horace Greeley as one of our ablest public men, yet in view of the above suggestions, I cannot longer support him for President of the United States.
JACOB FERRIS.

MURDER.

We learn from the Coldwater Republican that a most brutal murder was committed a few days since, in the town of Kinderhook. A Mr. Wm. Ryan seduced a Miss Martha Wedge, a few months since, and left for Missouri. A few days ago he returned and renewed his love, and suggested marriage, provided she would dispose of the child. Drowning was suggested. The suggestion was at once acted upon. She took the child, walked out onto a plank which lay in the edge of Silver Lake, deliberately threw it in and watched it gradually sink to the bottom. Upon returning to her home, inquiry was made as to the missing child when she informed her parents that she had drowned it. During the night the child had risen to the surface and was found at the spot designated by her. She was arrested, together with Ryan, and they are now safely lodged in jail awaiting examination. It is claimed by some that the woman is deranged which perhaps may account for this strange proceeding.

The adjustment of Carl Schurz's account with the United States Treasury, for his services as Minister to Spain, leaves a little balance due from Carl of $1,103.91. For the last month he has been speaking daily (Sundays excepted) at the rate of $250 a speech. This has yielded him $6,500. Allowing ten dollars a day for traveling expenses, board and lodging, and five dollars more for lager, pretzels and Rhine wine, and there is still an unappropriated remainder of $6,050. The statement shows that he is not in a condition of extreme poverty. He is in no danger from the "wolf." Is it too much, therefore, to ask that he step up to the captains of office and settle?—New York Commercial Advertiser.

China is constructing a navy. In fact, the Celestials already have a fleet of twenty armed steamers, ranging in size from two hundred tons, manned and officered by the natives and principally employed in the suppression of piracy. An able European naval architect has been engaged to superintend the buildings of several first class iron clads and the indications are that the Western power which next enters into a conflict with China will have to send something besides heavy old transport and wooden frigates.

The New York Herald holds the Greeley State ticket in sovereign contempt. The nomination of Kernan and Depew, it says, "will damage the Liberal Republicans in New York more than the loss of 20 Vermont or Maine. They have in these nominations belittled their movement, and by a mixture of ignorance and recklessness paved the way for the success of the regular Republican State ticket in November thus giving a great State to the Administration which they might have possibly secured for their own candidate to the Presidency."

We have made an accurate computation of the time it will take for the Liberals and Democrats, according to the ratio of gain in the recent elections, to get control of this country. We find that if they keep up their spirits, and hold together as they do in North Carolina and Maine, they will come into power in about 74 years. This is not very cheering, but is better than nothing.—Missouri Democrat.

Wednesday was the anniversary of the great Chicago fire. The telegrams say the Chicago folks celebrated it quite generally, many of the business men by moving into their new quarters in the rebuilt portion of the city. Both the Times and Tribune devoted half their space to a review of the great calamity and the wonderful restoration.

The Arizona diamond humbug is thrown in the shade by the New York Herald sensation story about the manufacture of diamonds at a foundry in Brooklyn by a combination of various chemicals. The author of the story says that 15,000 pounds of diamonds have been made, and half of them have sold for $24,000,000.

An exchange informs us that "Greeley said to his hearers in Pittsburgh: 'You belong to one of the great Hives.' And then declared by inference, 'I want to Bee President.' A spectator remarked: 'It is too thin Honey!' Greeley was truly sweet on Pittsburgh, and he will regret it when they sour on him in Pennsylvania."

It has been discovered by the New York Tribune that "Northern Alabama is alive with a glowing Liberal settlement." The glow probably comes from a burning school house or negro's shanty. Glowing liberalism of that kind has been very prevalent in many sections.

The North German government recently sent a very large order for locomotives and cars to this country. No one manufactory in this country could fill it in the time required—one year—and it was divided between a number of large establishments.

"Brick" Pomeroy is willing to make an affidavit that he was offered $50,000 to support Greeley.

Prof. Francis Leiber, the well-known historian, died suddenly in New York on the 2d inst., of heart disease.

Local News.

THE BIG BOOT TO BE MOVED.—We are informed that J. O. Bakker will occupy his new brick store next week.

We notice that U. De Vries is putting up a new building next door east of L. T. Kanter's & Co. It is to be used as a harness shop.

Read the advertisement of F. A. McGeorge, who has opened a new and complete stock of groceries and provisions, in the rear of D. Bertsch's store.

Capt. Geo. W. McBride of this city has spoken several times during the week for Grant and Wilson in this county; no need of it Mc. the jig is up, time and let us get ready for the trial.

A Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows is to be instituted at Saugatuck on Thursday the 17th inst., an invitation has been extended to the brethren of Holland City Lodge to attend the ceremony.

Our old friend R. B. Newnam of Saugatuck is stopping with J. O. Bakker, and we learn that it is quite probable that he will take up a permanent residence with us. "A word to the wise is sufficient," brother Newnam.

IMPROVEMENT.—The improving of Eighth street is being rapidly pushed to completion; a little hitch has occurred in grading, but we presume this will soon be remedied and the work completed to the satisfaction of all concerned.

DEATH OF HON. W. H. SEWARD.—An Auburn dispatch announces the death of Hon. W. H. Seward at his residence in that city on the 10th inst. The sudden announcement has caused profound sensation throughout the country as it was entirely unexpected.

NAVAL ACADEMY.—We notice that the examination of Cadet Midshipman at Annapolis that J. P. Underwood of Saugatuck, Mich., has been appointed Master, a position creditable to himself as to his many friends who are watching his progress.

The designation of the Michigan and Railroad has been changed to the Canada & Michigan Mid-Railroad, the Canada Southern Company agreeing to iron and equip road. The grade of the road has been established from St. Clair to Keweenaw.

DE WALK.—A new side walk is nearly completed on the south of Eighth street from Cedar to I streets. This will give us a convenient side walk from the quarter post eighth street near the lake, to the M. L. S. R. R. depot. Surely who we are not a progressive people.

Books at the University show the number of 265 students in the Law Department in the last year, a slight decrease in Law, decrease of about 90 in the Literary. This shows an increase in the medical Department over the same last year, a slight decrease in Law, decrease of about 90 in the Literary. The number of new students that applied for admission to the medical Department thus far is 161, a gain from the corresponding time last year.

RECEIVED.—We have received "Dream of a Free Trade Paradise" and other sketches, by Cyrus Elder; it is a pamphlet of 96 pages, printed on tinted paper, and treats the subject of free trade as a dream or fancy; every man should read it, published for the "Industrial League," 416 Walnut St., Philadelphia. Also Wood's Household Magazine for October, edited by Gail Hamilton; contents in this number is par excellence. One dollar per year. Published by S. S. Wood & Co., Newburg, N. Y.

A CARD.—We the undersigned, who were passengers on board of the train on the C. & M. L. S. R. R. on Tuesday evening of last week, having read in the Grand Rapids of this city an article reflecting upon the conduct of conductor Cory and the other employees of the road, at the time of the accident, beg leave to state through the columns of your paper that all insinuations of a character intended to reflect upon the general good management of the road and the gentlemanly bearing of conductor Cory, and other employees of said road are false; further, that every precaution was used that was presumed to be necessary to avoid the accident and we hereby beg leave to tender our thanks to conductor Cory and all employees on the train for courtesies extended to us on that occasion, for the solicitude manifested for the safe conduct of the local passengers to their homes. An invitation was extended for all to take a seat upon the tender and locomotive, and assurance given that great care would be taken in running, to preserve the comfort of the passengers.

V. V. CAMPBELL, J. W. MINDERHOFF, MRS. MINDERHOFF.
The above card was handed us for publication, thinking that injustice had been done by the imputations of the Grand Rapids article, we publish it, and would also state that we were a passenger on the afternoon train, and if any stop for repairs was made, as the Grand Rapids article alleges, we were in blissful ignorance of it. We enjoyed our ride with perfect self-composure, not knowing that the astute editor of the Grand Rapids was aware of the many imperfections that existed. For the convenience of great men, all trains should be supplied with a few well-furnished bed-rooms, for special convenience in time of unavoidable accidents or delays, and not force such a discomfort as sleeping in a neighbor's bed instead of our own, which is "soft as downy pillows are." It is to be regretted that accidents even occur, but if they do, be a man and bear them with fortitude.

One Year Ago.

One year ago the 9th of this month Holland was destroyed by fire, dim were the prospects of our citizens who had lost their all, as the light of that memorable morning dawned upon the ruins of our beautiful city, bringing to full view the desolation surrounding them. The city was covered with a thick curtain of smoke. The fire which had performed its work, but a vestige remained to remind us of what strides in civilization and worldly progress we had made. All around were only the charred remains of what only the few hours before, was the pride and sole of declining years. The rich, and the poor, the aged and infirm, were alike thrown upon the charities of the world, but with strong hands and willing hearts, relying upon "Him who doeth all things well," we have in great measure succeeded in re-building and re-establishing a large portion of our city; the first anniversary of our second growth finds us still buoyant with hopes for the future, determined to press forward in the work of reconstruction, until this city shall have become what our most sanguine friends have predicted for it.

But while we have thus prospered during the past year, let us not forget that the hand of Providence supplied us, encouraged us, and strengthened us in all our efforts, let us not neglect to qualify ourselves to appreciate the abundance of charity which has so materially assisted us in rising Phoenix like from the ashes; let us strengthen our faith and learn "to love our neighbor as ourselves," for the good we know is in them, and thank "God" that our misfortune befel us in a christian land and among christian people, whose sympathetic hearts made willing sacrifices for our relief. Not alone were we in our calamity. Not alone are we striving to re-build our city. Chicago burned and Chicago re-built. Peshtigo destroyed and Peshtigo restored. Manistee ruined, Manistee as good as new. All this history in one short year. The happy October days bring to mind the ever memorable event of October, 1871, and long may we cherish the memory of our feelings of thankfulness as we received the tender acknowledgement of sympathy, from a charitable public.

New goods are arriving daily at the various stores in this city, and business is likely to be more lively than for some weeks past; farmers are putting in their appearance looking good natured over the fact that produce is in fair demand, for that the late elections indicate the safety of the Republic for four years longer.

On Thursday morning, the 3d inst., Albert Foster, of Otsego, was arrested at Plainwell, on the charge of shooting eleven head of cattle belonging to his neighbors. It seems that Foster on visiting his farm the night before, discovered the cattle on his premises, and let them remain until morning, when he went out prepared with a gun and shot them. Directly after, he endeavored to run away on a gravel train, but the people of Otsego telegraphed to Plainwell to stop him, which was done by Marshal Randall, of that place. On Friday he had a preliminary examination which was continued until Monday, when he was bound over to appear at the Circuit Court. The people are very much incensed against him and say he cannot come back there to live again.—Allegan Democrat.

PLEASURE EXCURSIONS ON

Black Lake & Lake Michigan

We wish to inform our citizens and the public generally, that the steamer Fanny Shriver, of Holland, can be chartered any day or evening during the summer season of 1872 to run excursions on Black Lake and Lake Michigan, for the small sum of FIVE DOLLARS. We put the price down to the lowest figure, so that any one family, can afford to take pleasure trips during the hot, sultry summer season, and enjoy the cool and refreshing air of Lake Michigan. We wish to have it fully understood, that on trips when the boat is chartered, no persons will be allowed to go, only those parties that chartered the boat.

STEKETEE & KIMM'S Holland Stomach Bitters.

These Bitters are good for all diseases arising from a derangement of the stomach. As a corrective, it cannot be excelled. Pleasant to the taste, assists digestion, and keeps the system generally in good condition.

Reason why we have so great a Demand for

OUR BITTERS.
First—Because they are more food than other Bitters. Second—Because the Bottles are as large as a great many Bitters which sell for $1.00, while ours are sold for the small sum of FIFTY CENTS.

Directions.—One-half wine glass before each meal. Take one-third Bitters (and two-thirds liquor, and you will have a pleasant drink.) Sold by dealers generally.
