W88-0304. Board of North American Missions.
Records, 1849-1982. 3.50 linear ft.

Abstract

Formerly known as the RCA Board of Domestic Missions. Informally begun in 1786, it became official in 1844. Rev. Wyckoff of Albany, New York, was commissioned to visit Holland in 1849. Based on his testimony the Board of Domestic Missions provided economic support for Holland’s ministries. In 1961, the Board changed its name to the Board of North American Missions. Further evangelical expansion reached Mexico, the Appalachians, and Canada. The collection consists of articles, correspondence, manuals, maps, minutes, publications, and reports associated with the Board of North American Missions. Some materials address various ethnic converts, primarily American Indians.

History

Formerly known as the Board of Domestic Missions, it began in 1786 as a way to send the Gospel to areas of need. By 1844, there was an official Board of Domestic Missions. Rev. Wyckoff of Albany, New York, was commissioned by this board to visit Holland in 1849. Based on Wyckoff’s testimony, the Board of Domestic Missions provided economic support for Holland’s ministries. In 1961, the Board changed its name to the Board of North American Missions. Further evangelical expansion reached Mexico, the Appalachians, and Canada.
